American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

CONSULTING ATTORNEY,

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind can charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, FEBRUARY 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept. 17, 1855, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made ON TWICE rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1860. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the fluid becomes vitiated and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor where one will it may not lay its battery. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is transmitted by the contaminating germ, from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the rod of retribution, and will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt matter, wherever it may settle, the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or forms. This foul corruption, if not expelled from the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by diseases which, though not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin direct in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are diseased, their minds weak, their energies and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate the body with food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active vegetables which have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from the destruction consequent on it. Some should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

AYER'S

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, BONE PAINS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, DYSUREIA, OR ROSE OR ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief that "spring medicine" (which is falsely so called, for it should be taken at all seasons) is needed once a year to clear up the vitiated humors, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their operation, yields to them. Being sugar coated, they are pleasant to take, and free from injury. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, producing the healthy action of all the living vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or broken down by disease, proceeds to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they meet the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is prepared to furnish gratis, Ayer's Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Fever, Inflammation, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what to use when afflicted with distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior compounds have been put forth, and have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents us with the same essential elements, and gives of course the True Standard. Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find, in every instance, certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—hence its astonishing success. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the blood for different diseases: FOR COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS indicating CONSUMPTION, use No 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVERWORK, or any DEBILITATING CAUSE. For PROSTRATION No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by Drops and carried immediately into the circulation, so that what you gain you retain. The No 4 is for FEMALE WEAKNESSES, IRREGULARITIES, &c. See special directions for this. For SALT RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, ULCERATED, and all CHRONIC SKIN DISEASES, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of the "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, even in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only compounding known for CHILDREN TEETHING; DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which other compounding in Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

Morning Chronicle.

☞ At the New Hampshire Methodist Conference, held at Manchester, the Committee on Temperance reported as follows:

Resolved, That we recognize in the traffic in intoxicating liquors, the prolific source of poverty, increase of taxation, wretchedness in families, irreligion vice and crime, thereby becoming a powerful influence antagonistic to the spread of the Christian religion, and all good enterprises and reforms among men.

Resolved, That we deeply regret the indifference and apathy existing in our communities in reference to this subject; that the law has not been more generally enforced; that it has been so inefficient and powerless from the want of a healthy public sentiment, and the hearty co-operation of the people.

Resolved, That, while men have looked to legal coercion to stop the sale and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage—as though the law would enforce itself, and accomplish the desired results—moral suasion has been sadly neglected, individual responsibility has been thrown off, and the hearts of the people have not been in the work; their consciences and sympathies have not been sufficiently aroused and perseveringly enlisted in this work of reform.

Resolved, That, while we bid God speed to all organizations which seek the suppression of intemperance, we welcome any efforts to a more systematic and efficient course of action, founded on a sure and permanent basis.

Resolved, That, as Methodist ministers, we will continue unabated our efforts in this cause, cordially uniting with ministers of other branches of the Church of Christ; and will earnestly endeavor in all suitable ways, to urge forward this great reform to a universal and glorious triumph.

Rev. A. Folsom moved to add the following:—

"We greatly lament the extensive use of tobacco which prevails at the present day. We believe it leads, in many cases, to the use of alcoholic drinks. As Christian ministers we ought to discountenance its use in the most decided manner, both by precept and example."

Mr. Folsom's motion called out a little good humored discussion. The report was adopted.

TRY.—Try for a day, I beseech you, to preserve yourself in an easy and cheerful frame of mind. Be but for one day, instead of a fire worshipper of passion, the sun worshipper of clear self possession; and compare the day in which you have rooted out the weeds of dissatisfaction, with that on which you have allowed it to grow; and you will find your heart open to every good motive, and your life strengthened, and your breast armed with a panoply against every trick of fate; truly you will wonder at your own improvement.—Jean Paul Ritcher.

THE CHAMPION STALLIONS, Ethan Allen and George N. Patchen, are matched to contest three races, May 16th, 23d, and 30th, each for $1000 a side, half forfeit; and the owner of Patchen gives fifty dollars for choice of track. He will probably select the Fashion Course, Long Island.—Ethan has done his mile in 2:24 1-2, and Patchen in 2:25 1-4.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely necessary to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1860.

☞ A Washington item of the 9th says: The bill for the admission of Kansas into the Union is to be called up to-morrow in the House, and the calculation is that it will pass by 20 majority. Its success in the Senate is doubtful, at least with the boundaries proposed by the Wyandotte Constitution.

The slave power and its servants in the Senate will undoubtedly do something—anything—no matter what—to keep Kansas out of the Union till after the Presidential election. They know their time is short, and do not wish to shorten it still more.

THE ARREST OF MR. SANBORN.—The violence which was used to secure the arrest of Mr. Sanborn is almost universally condemned by moderate men of all parties. We find in the Boston Herald some remarks upon the question whether the attempt to arrest Mr. Sanborn was not altogether ill-advised, which, coming from a Democratic source, are worthy of attention:

Passing over the question whether the Senate or their Sergeant-at-Arms, or somebody else ought to have known that the arrest could not be legally made by a constable of Massachusetts, endorsed as a deputy; without asking whether the officer ought to have gone boldly in the daylight and performed his duty, rather than to approach Sanborn's house stealthily in the dark, and secure an interview with him by a decoy letter; we may be permitted to inquire whether the attempt to arrest Sanborn was not altogether ill-advised.

THE SANBORN CASE IN WASHINGTON.—The Traveller Washington correspondent writes, that "the arrest of Sanborn and the action of Mass. Supreme Court has created quite a sensation there. One statesman remarked that he wondered the officers had not shot the prisoner rather than have given him up; another said he wondered Sanborn had not shot the officer rather than have suffered arrest."

NEW BANKRUPTCY LAW IN ENGLAND.—The English Attorney General has introduced into Parliament a new bankruptcy law, which will greatly reduce the costs of such proceedings. Under the present law of that country there is great delay with an enormous expense, amounting to at least thirty-three per cent. By this reform the whole swarm of officials who have hitherto fattened upon estates without rendering any service therefor, will be swept away.

☞ The schooner Alice Rogers, Capt. Drailey, from Jamaica, with sugar for Philadelphia, arrived at Hampton Roads on the night of the 4th; and the next day the captain offered two negro boys, twelve and fourteen years old, for sale, at $1000 for the two; but before he could dispose of them, the Surveyor of the Port, Mr. J. B. Cary, got information of the matter and seized the vessel. The circumstances are such as to justify the belief that the captain did not come honestly in possession of the negroes. The captain says that they were given to him by their mother, but his statement is contradicted by some of the crew. The name of one of the boys is on the vessel's articles, but the other is not. The vessel belongs to Nova Scotia.

☞ Thomas Hillard, a fisherman belonging to the fishing schooner E. C. Brown, of Rockport, Mass., died suddenly on board that vessel, in Portland harbor, on Monday, April 9. Hillard had been on shore during the forenoon, drank freely of strong drink, and was so much affected by it that he was led to the vessel by two of his companions, and put into his berth to sleep off the effects of his debauch. At 3 o'clock they went to call him, and found him dead. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that the deceased came to his death by the excessive use of intoxicating liquors. Hillard was 33 years of age, belonging in Rockport, and leaves a wife and two children.

☞ At Charlestown, Mass., at about a quarter past 12 o'clock, Saturday night, officer Chamberlain, in passing the large three-story wooden building, corner of Chelsea and Jay streets, discovered flames bursting out of the side of the building. He immediately burst open the doors, and entered an apartment occupied by Abram Madden, tailor, who, together with another man, was lying helplessly drunk on the floor. The loose clothing in the room was in flames, and the fire had spread within eight inches of the head of Madden, who in a few minutes would have been burned to death. The officer, with the assistance of the Navy Yard watchmen, just then off duty, extinguished the fire. The house was occupied by about fifteen families,—men, women and children—whose lives would have been involved in extreme peril but for the timely discovery of the fire.

☞ There is a factory-operative in England, the oldest extant, now in his 90th year. He still works daily.

OUR EXETER CORRESPONDENCE.

EXETER, April 9.

Dear Chronicle:—There is little news or excitement of any kind here at present.—The Temperance Conference was well attended, Thursday evening, but there is no mistaking the fact that the friends of prohibition in this place are either few, or what amounts to the same thing, exceedingly lukewarm.

A Town Meeting was held, Saturday, to see if the town would authorize the Selectmen to appoint an agent to prosecute infringements of the liquor law, when, after some discussion and considerable loud talk, the whole subject was indefinitely postponed.

There was no mistaking this vote, and it clearly demonstrated the truth of an assertion made by Rev. Mr. Fletcher, in the first meeting held—that "the highest Christian and moral sentiment of this place, in the church and out, is in favor of liquor selling and liquor drinking." In the meantime, the bars and drinking shops are closed, though doubtless considerable is sold secretly to the initiated.

As it is now "Court time," there will probably not be an effort to commence public selling till after Court adjourns, when it is believed a determined effort will be made.

The Mayflowers are blooming in the woods about here. I gathered a beautiful bunch the first day of April; and on getting up the next morning found the ground covered with snow. They have been on my table the past week, and by their bright cheerful looks, and grateful perfume, seemed to thank me for taking them out of the storm.

The escape of two prisoners from the jail has been incorrectly reported by the Ballot, in such a manner as to do injustice to Mr. Brown, the excellent sheriff and jailor. The prisoners were brought to the jail by other officers, and by them allowed to escape, before they were delivered up to the jailer. The Ballot does not manifest as much sensitiveness in this case, to the reputation of its party officers, as when it undertook the defence in advance, of a Deputy Sheriff (for prosecuting a Christian minister for selling a hymn book in his own tent, in a camp meeting, because he objected to the Sheriff selling refreshments near the meeting,) against the storm of Democratic indignation, which, unfortunately for the Ballot, never came. Mr. Brown is undoubtedly very kind to the unfortunate who visit his institution, and there is a disposition in some quarters to injure him on this account; but no case of remissness in duty can justly be laid to his charge. Our jail is a model institution, where prisoners are not treated as reprobates beyond the pale of kindness and sympathy.

We learn that the site of the late fire is to be rebuilt with a handsome brick block the coming summer; if so, the place will gain by the fire, though the loss comes heavy on individuals in two or three cases.

Yours, truly, ALEXIS.

FIRE AT LITTLETON, N. H.—The correspondent of the Boston Atlas says the scythe factory, in Littleton, with its machinery and stock, together with four other buildings near by, was totally destroyed by fire, on the morning of the 4th inst. The fire originated in that part of the building occupied as a forge shop. When discovered it had made such headway that its progress could not be arrested. A small portion of the machinery, tools and stock was saved. It is supposed to have caught from a spark, lodged on the fine dust on the beams. Loss $3500; insured for $2000.

☞ The Republicans of Douglas county, Kansas, called together to elect delegates to a State Convention which is to send representatives to the Chicago Convention, passed unanimously a resolution in favor of the nomination of Wm. H. Seward. A resolution was also adopted, denouncing the testimony of ex-Gov. Charles Robinson, before the Harper's Ferry Investigating Committee, as a malignant assault upon the purposes and integrity of the old free State party, and a gross defamation of the character of the great struggle which resulted in the overthrow of the slave power in Kansas.

AID FOR JOHN BROWN'S FAMILY.—Mr. Redpath writes to the N. Y. Tribune that he has private letters from Port au Prince which state that at least $25,000 (of American money) will be contributed by the people of Hayti to the family of John Brown; and he is assured, also, by a gentleman who has just returned from the Island, that $21,000 in specie have already been collected and deposited for the family of the brave man whom they style: "JOHN BROWN, Martyr a la Cause des Noirs."

Notice.—Persons having business of importance to transact at the Mayor's office, are informed that his Honor will "drop in" there for ten or fifteen minutes, when he next passes through the city.

☞ Gerrit Smith continues to improve in health. All the old vigor of mind has returned.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, April 9.

SENATE.—Mr. Sumner introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire into the capture of the Mexican steamers off Vera Cruz by the United States sloop-of-war Saratoga.—Adopted.

Mr. Wilson gave notice of a bill to effectually suppress the slave trade.

Mr. Davis's resolutions were then taken up, and Mr. Chestnut made a speech in their favor.

A motion by Mr. Hunter to take up the Indian appropriation bill of last year was lost—24 to 24. Adj.

HOUSE.—John Cochrane introduced a bill for preventing vessels of any government, inclusive of those under subventions with any such government, from carrying aught save bullion and specie, and neither passengers, letters nor freight for hire, under penalty of seizure.

Mr. Morse offered a resolution, which, after amendment, was adopted, calling for all information concerning the slave trade, together with instructions given to naval officers on the subject, and the opinion of the President whether further legislation is necessary.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the report of the Covode Investigating Committee, asking for the arrest of Augustus Shell.

Mr. Winslow made a minority report, maintaining that there is no authority vested in the committee to inquire into private contributions of any person, unless it be first determined that such contributions were made for corrupt purposes.

Mr. Covode raised a question as to the right of Mr. Winslow to make a minority report.

Mr. Winslow maintained that he did so as a question of privilege.

Mr. Winslow raised a point of order, that Mr. Winslow's course was irregular under parliamentary law.

The Speaker declared Mr. Covode entitled to the floor.

Mr. Winslow appealed from the decision of the Speaker, but his appeal was tabled by 125 to 59.

Mr. Covode wished to postpone the consideration of the subject, in order to allow Mr. Hickman to report on the President's protest.

After calling the roll, during which there was much confusion, the report was recommitted, on motion of Mr. Stevens—105 against 80.

Mr. Hickman, from the Committee on the Judiciary, made a report on the President's protest, refuting the position of the latter.—The Committee recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the House dissents from the doctrines of the special message of the President of the United States, of March 28, 1860; that the extent of power contemplated in the adoption of the resolutions of inquiry of March 5, 1860, is necessary to the proper discharge of constitutional duties devolved upon Congress; that judicial determinations, the opinions of former Presidents, and uniform usage sanction its exercise; and that to abandon it would leave the executive department of the government without supervision or responsibility, and would be likely to lead to a concentration of power in the hands of the President, dangerous to the rights of a free people.

Mr. Houston said that Mr. Taylor and himself were the minority of the Judiciary Committee, but for want of time they had not been able to get together to agree upon a joint report. Each had, however, prepared a separate report, both agreeing on general principles, and sustaining the President's special message. Mr. Houston's views were read.

Mr. Taylor, as one of the minority of the Committee, will read his views to-morrow.

Mr. Hickman submitted the motion that the reports be printed, and that further consideration be postponed till to-morrow week. Adjourned.

☞ The St. Louis Republican says Senator Hunter of Va. has written a letter to Illinois, urging the delegates appointed by the little faction of administration or anti-Douglas democrats of that State, to the national convention, to attend by all means, assuring them that they shall be admitted to the exclusion of the Douglas men, and intimating that their expenses will be paid. This is important, if true, and has the seeds of a precious error. Exactly so—but it seems improbable.

☞ A woman belonging in Roxbury, Mass., while on a visit to some friends in Sudbury last week, partook too freely of liquor, and becoming delirious started for home on Wednesday. She was taken back to the house, but escaped during the night, and was found the next morning drowned in a shallow pond about half a mile from the village. She was a native of Nova Scotia.

☞ Thirty years ago there were eight ropewalks in Nantucket, giving employment to nearly three hundred men. At present there is only one ropewalk on the island, and only two persons are employed in it—one of them is a man seventy-five years of age, who makes fishing-lines; and the other, who is eighty-six years of age, is employed in turning the wheel for him.

☞ The temperance orator, Mr. J. B. Gough, addressed an audience of three thousand persons in Exeter Hall, London, recently. At the close of the meeting a gentleman, whose name did not transpire, handed to Mr. Gough the sum of £90, to be applied to the purpose of furthering the interests of the movement.

☞ It is reported that the House Homestead bill will get Democratic votes enough to go through the Senate. Doubtful.

☞ On the occasion of a fire at Triadelphia, Montgomery county, Md., last week, Mrs. Anna Beckett, who resided in one of the houses, died suddenly from fright produced by the conflagration. She went out, and seeing the flames, returned, and falling upon a couch, was dead in two minutes.—She was about fifty years of age.

☞ Mr. Nathaniel Badger, of Manchester, N. H., committed suicide on Friday, by cutting his throat. He was 20 years of age. He was poor, and dreaded the Alms House. Mr. Samuel Baker of Weare, N. H., hung himself on Wednesday last. He was 80 years of age.

☞ A son of Mr. Edward Whiting of Southboro, aged 11 years, was killed on Friday by being dashed against a well by a horse, upon the back of which he had been placed.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No. 12 Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with your account; the medicine may be as good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,
WM MARKHAM.

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

BETSEY SANBORN.

Kensington, Sept. 25, 1835.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

The Town Meeting held in Exeter on Saturday last, was not very spirited. Wm. B. Morrill, Esq., was chosen Moderator; Jarvis McDuffie and Theodore Kellogg made some good remarks in favor of Temperance. After some remarks from others, the whole proceedings were indefinitely postponed.—News Letter.

Well, good reason for the meeting not being "spirited"—we understand no spirit is to be had in Exeter. Besides, this meeting was an anti-spirit meeting, anyhow. We should like to see a town meeting once that was not spirit-ed.

We would say to the editor of the Portsmouth Chronicle, that his "Old Fashioned Comforts" friend is not, at present, in this part of the State, but we doubt not that when he comes this way, he will accept the invitation, and go down to Portsmouth and help eat an "editorial goose," cooked in the old-fashioned way.—Exeter News-Letter.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

☞ The residents of Brookfield, Mass., will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the town on the 4th of July next. Rev. Lyman Whiting will deliver the oration. Preparations for the occasion have already been commenced.

☞ Joseph Dow, A. M., late of Hampton, is Professor of Ancient Languages and Mathematics in the Commercial and Collegiate Institute at Litchfield, Ct.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.—At a meeting of the friends of temperance, held in the Lecture Room of the 1st Church in Exeter, April, 5th, 1860, the following resolutions were presented by Dudley S. Palmer, Esq., of Concord, and unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That we recommend the holding of a Temperance Convention at Raymond, on THURSDAY, 19th inst., at 12 1-2 P. M., by the friends of the cause, residing in the first Councillor District, to deliberate, and adopt a plan for carrying into effect the Law for the suppression of Intemperance passed June, 1855.

Resolved, That a call for such a Convention be issued by the Chairman and Secretary of this meeting, and that all the Newspapers in said District, friendly to the cause, be requested to publish it gratuitously, at the earliest date possible.

Resolved, That the friends of this cause throughout the District are invited to attend, and give their aid in carrying it forward.

WM. L. JOHNSON, Chairman.

☞The Exeter News Letter understands that the Hub Factory of the Messrs. Brown was entered on the 30th ult., and a lot of shavings and other materials collected together near the stairway, it is supposed to fire the building.

A CONFESSION.—The Boston Journal of Tuesday evening, says:—

A private letter from Sandwich, N. H. states that a man named Harvey Weed, of that place, died March 30th, and just before he breathed his last, confessed that he was the murderer of Mr. Parker at Manchester. He said another man held the victim, and he stabbed him. This is all the information on the subject that is contained in the letter. Weed, the confessed murderer, was never suspected. He has been in California many years, but returned home sick.

Mr. Parker, it will be remembered, was called out of his house one night on the pretense that he was wanted at a house, the road to which lay through a tract of woods. On the way thither he was murdered, and his dead body found in the woods the next day. The murder created a great excitement at the time, and two men (brothers) were subsequently tried twice on charge of being the murderers, but escaped conviction.

CRISES.—It would be wrong to say that events are drawing to a crisis in Europe.—There is no such thing as a crisis, but every event, no matter how startling, is the result of a great system. But it is fashionable to talk about a crisis. Was the execution of our Saviour a crisis? Was the death of Cromwell, or the birth of Washington a crisis? Was the battle of Breed's Hill a crisis, or the surrender at Yorktown a crisis? They were all legitimate philosophical parts of a perfect whole; and so the eye of the historian must regard them.—Porter's Spirit.

FAITHFUL HOUNDS.—A pack of hounds run down a deer in Georgia, and remained by it in the marsh until they all froze to death.

Two deer hounds also ran a deer in that State a distance of thirty-six miles, swimming a large swamp. The noble animals kept guard over the dead buck for three days before they were found, and during that time never touched the game. They were almost perished, and one has since died.

☞Senator Wigfall, in his recent speech in the Senate, said "he believed a Southern army would winter in Boston, before a Northern one could reach Texas." No doubt, says the Atlas; the Boston police would put them in the lock-up.

☞ A correspondent of the Charleston Mercury urges the necessity of keeping a regiment of their volunteer troops in readiness for service during the month of the Convention.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an-hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

We would recommend to housekeepers a trial of the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot," which some families have had in use for over a year, and say they would on no consideration be without it, as it retains the whole of the strength as well as the aroma of the berry. One-fourth less coffee is required; and this is a consideration in these times. Ladies' Home Magazine.

OLD DOMINION TEA-POTS.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S
PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

THE ONLY PREPARATION worthy of Universal Confidence and Patronage.

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given, as space forbids for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefited by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn very gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling of arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

REV. J. A. LAVENDER.

To O J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Siamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced using it, that I feel it my duty to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of their hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will come off beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. I believe it all! Yours truly,

WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like. By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see nothing of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood.—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1851, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my gratitude to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $5 a bottle.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, Successful for 1857.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain and all other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching Patents, and of the claims of any Patent furnished by resulting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of civil and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, being the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 3, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, secured on TWICE rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1860. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously aggravated by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of the concrete or viscous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which generates in the blood, is productive of tenfoldgies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination, and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their blood is contaminated. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times possesses for the diseases prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expulsion of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of this fatal disease, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of this foul

THE PLEASURES OF AN EDITOR.—What a happy, even-tempered life is that of an editor—the editor of a Daily paper, for instance. He has nothing to do but to please his numerous readers; to write from one to three columns daily of solid matter, light frivolities, or witty or witless jokes; to answer all calls from the "devil" for copy, from friends who would felicitate him upon his agreeable vocation, from enemies who demand redress of grievances which he never thought of causing—demands made with a pistol, or a huge fist at his head; to praise all the tow-headed babies; to put all the newly married couples in small CAPS; to send all the recently deceased to "Abraham's bosom"—making a safe bridge for them over the big "gulf;" to pay full prices for all he receives, and gets the smallest pay for all his wares, under penalty of a threat to "stop my paper;" to advocate everybody's interest, while maintaining a stolid indifference to his own; to eat late hot suppers for the sake of being prepared to puff the caterer; to make his stomach the grand receptacle of all kinds of liquids and solids, early and late, solely for the privilege of telling of the generosity of the donors; to attend all the humbug pampy exhibitions, to read all the new books and pamphlets, and listen to all the complaints of the community, with a view to puff all around.

"GO for a lodge in some vast wilderness," where, with a short purse, a strong arm and a brave heart, we could coax an honest living from the virgin soil, and feel dependent for life and its blessings mainly upon that great Being who looks to the heart and judges righteously.—Bath Times.

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!

These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT IN KENTUCKY.—Cassius M. Clay's appeal to the citizens of Madison county, against the revolutionary committee that are attempting to drive the Republicans from that State, has appeared in the papers. After stating the case and saying that he has never identified himself with the radical abolitionists, he says he has always respected the rights of all men, and is equally determined to stand by his own rights and the rights of his friends.

We hardly think the committee will want to attack Mr. Clay; they understand that he is a man of his word, and eminently a man of pluck, that when an actual encounter commences, he dies or they do. His life has often been in jeopardy, when only his courage saved him. In his Frankfort speech of January, he was armed from top to toe, and was ready to answer not only word for word, but shot for shot. The following anecdotes was related of him four years ago:

In 1856, Rev. John G. Fee was advertised to deliver a lecture on abolition at a certain court house. When the day came a mob assembled and gave Mr. Fee his choice —to leave the place without lecturing or to be immediately tarred and feathered: he left. When Mr. Clay heard of this he went down to the court house, and gave notice that, on a certain day, two weeks from the date of notice, the Rev. John G. Fee would lecture on the abolition of slavery, and that he (Cassius M. Clay) would be there to see that the lecturer was not interrupted. The time came. The men were in the rostrum which had been prepared at Mr. Clay's direction. A large assemblage stood below. Clay stepped out in front and said: "Mr. Fee is going to lecture on Abolition. I don't altogether agree with him, but I like fair play; and I also want every other man to have his say. If any man offers to touch him, he'll have to do it over my dead body; and I am going to defend myself to the last." Mr. Fee lectured without interruption. The chivalry knew their man; they knew that Clay was not to be intimidated; and that he was an ugly customer to handle.

A NEW PLATFORM.—The Union Democrat, printed at Manchester, N. H., we suppose to be as accurate an exponent or organ of the National Democratic party as any in New Hampshire. In a leader on the approaching convention at Charleston, it constructs the following remarkable platform, promising to vote for the Democratic ticket, no matter who is nominated, or what his principles or those of his party may be.—The Democrat says:—

We shall not trouble ourself to write, nor our friends to read, a great deal of political matter for a week or two to come. We shall patiently await the action of the Charleston Convention, and our subsequent course will be governed somewhat thereby.

Let the action of that Convention be what it may, the Democrats of New Hampshire will never abate one jot or tittle of their hostility to our local Republican party. No matter what the platform, nor who the candidates may be, there are reasons of perpetual force to concentrate the Democracy of this state in a vigorous fight against the dishonest, mischievous and proscriptive policy of the party now in power. If we can't stand upon the platform, we will stand off of it and fight there; if the candidates are not our first choice, perhaps they will be our second or third; while the Republicans are certain to present us an alternative we can never accept.

The electric flash that records the action of the Democratic Convention will suggest our duty. If this action is satisfactory, as we have no doubt it will be, the canvass in this state will be contested with activity and hope; if not, at less cost of time and money, but with no less fidelity and zeal.

Fidelity to what? asks Uncle Toby.—Certainly not to any principle; for the writer expressly puts this fidelity on that ground. It must be, then, mere fidelity to party, right or wrong.

GOV. WISE AND THE HARPER'S FERRY COMMITTEE.—The correspondent of the Philadelphia North American says the ground upon which the majority of the Senate John Brown Committee refused to summon Governor Wise before them, is that the Governor addressed a letter to the chairman, stating that he had no information to communicate other than what had been already disclosed. This is a very extraordinary conclusion, in view of Gov. Wise's public declaration that he was possessed of information concerning the John Brown raid which "rubies" could not procure from him.

ENORMOUS VOTE.—The total vote thrown at the late election in Connecticut, was 88,292. At the exciting Presidential election of 1856 it was 80,325—an increase of nearly eight thousand this year. No State election ever approached the aggregate of votes before. A Republican victory in such a contest settles the character of the State.

☞ Patrick Finney, of Manchester, in attempting to jump upon the cars Monday night, at Lawrence, fell under the wheels, crushing one leg so badly as to render amputation necessary. He was partially intoxicated. He is about 30 years of age, and married.

IS THE DEMOCRTIC PARTY OPPOSED TO "SLAVERY?"—The New York Day Book, the organ of the National Democrats in New York, finds fault with Judge Bowlin, who stumped in Connecticut before election, for misrepresenting the Democratic party. The Day Book says of Judge Bowlin:—

He begins his speech by the declaration that it is an "atrocious and malignant lie" that the Democratic party is in favor of "slavery," and all his speech and speeches are based on this assumption. Well, is it true or it false? The question of "slavery" is in issue; it is the sole question of the canvass; and the Democratic party not being in favor of "slavery," of course it must be opposed to "slavery." Will Judge Bowlin say so? By no means. He would promptly declare that it was an "atrocious and malignant lie" to charge that the Democratic party was opposed to "slavery."—What then? It is the question—the sole question; and yet the Democratic party is neither in favor of nor opposed to "slavery," therefore the Democratic party is a fraud on the people, a humbug, a imposition, a miserable contrivance for enabling a fraction of the people to get office, and live on the labor and industry of better men than themselves.

Such is the unavoidable conclusion from the premises of Judge Bowlin and others now stumping the State of Connecticut, with high hopes of receiving a victory without changing the opinions of the people—of electing a Democratic Governor of that State by "anti-slavery" votes. But is it true? We deny it. We hold that the Democratic is a great, patriotic and glorious organization, combining within its ranks nearly all the patriotism, talent, bravery and statesmanship of the nation.

We hold, moreover, that it is in favor of "slavery"—that is, of the social subordination of negroes; and within the federal jurisdiction, will see to it that this so-called slave property receives the same protection, that is given to all other kinds of property.

SEEKING LIBERTY IN DEATH.—The Atlanta (Ga.) Locomotive, of March 30, relates the following, under the caption of "A devilish deed of a negro woman":—

"We learn, through a gentleman from Penfield, yesterday, that a negro woman belonging to James Lankford, of that place, becoming tired of life, threw three of her children into a well, said to be sixty-five feet in depth, and then jumped in herself. Curtis Lankford went down after them, and found her still living, and not seriously injured; when he reached her, she attempted to drown him, and it was only by main force that he subdued her and brought her up. The children were all dead. She is confined in jail, and will no doubt be hung as a murderess. She assigned as a reason for the rash and inhuman act, that she wished to die, and did not wish any of her children to survive her."

☞ The majority report of the Judiciary Committee on the President's Protest reflects the views of the following members of the committee: John Hickman of Pennsylvania (Anti-Lecompton Democrat;) John A. Bingham of Ohio, (Republican;) Thomas A. B. Nelson of Tennessee, (South American;) William Kellogg of Illinois, (Republican;) John R. Reynolds of New York, (Anti-Lecompton Democrat;) Christopher Robinson of Rhode Island, (American Republican;) Albert G. G. Porter of Indiana, (Republican.) These members, it will be observed, represent three distinct parties.

Mr. Redpath writes to the N. Y. Tribune that he has private letters from Port au Prince which state that at least $25,000 (of American money) will be contributed by the people of Hayti to the family of John Brown; and he is assured, also, by a gentleman who has just returned from the Island, that $21,000 in specie have already been collected and deposited for the family of John Brown.

This looks as if the poor negroes of Hayti had some pecuniary resources, and some moral strength; but the sum looks so large as to throw doubt on the amount.

☞ The Savannah Republican, which is not a rabid pro-slavery journal, declares it is a great mistake to suppose the Southern States will submit to issues got up by politicians, and vote for Douglas under the fear of Seward. It says the southern people "have no choice between Douglas and Seward, and the abolition raw head and bloody bones will scare nobody at this day," so that if Douglas is nominated at Charleston, the majority at the South will go for a third candidate.

☞ Burleigh says:—

The sudden sailing of Mr. Hart, Surveyor of the port of New York, has created great surprise. All sorts of reasons are given. One is the attachment of a Jewess and the remembrance of him and his son in a fortune—for Hart is a son of Abraham. Another is the detection of fraud. The real motive, I think, remains to be stated. Hart is a warm personal friend of Heenan, and he has gone over to stand by his friend and see the order of battle.

☞ The Boston Post says that a colony of fifty-seven persons will sail from New York for Africa in a few weeks, with the requisite machinery for raising and preparing cotton in the uplands of Western Africa. A subscription of $10,000 has been made in London, to be paid them as soon as the colony is established.

FRIENDSHIP.—When once you profess yourself a friend, endeavor to be always such: he can never have any true friends that will be often changing them.

FROM EUROPE.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 9.—Steamship Prince Albert, from Galway, Saturday, March 31, arrived at this port at noon.

Lord John Russell has stated in Parliament that the difficulties with the United States in relation to the San Juan question were approaching a settlement.

A warrant has been issued against the prize-fighters, Heenan and Sayers, to compel them to keep the peace.

The French papers treat the speech of Lord John Russell on the Savoy annexation with comparative indifference.

On Thursday there was a strong reaction on the Paris Bourse, and Rentes declined 65ffr. 85c.

There is nothing new relative to the Savoy question.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, the former resolutions were rescinded, and it was determined to raise £25,000 on a mortgage of the old cable, to be expended in efforts for its restoration.

The French Senate has indirectly rejected, by a large majority, numerous petitions requesting their intervention in favor of the temporal power of the Pope.

The Pope has issued an act of major-excommunication against all persons who counselled the late rebellion, invasion, or usurpation in the Romagna, and had sent a protest to all the governments of Europe against the annexation of the Legations to Sardinia.

The government of Austria has sent to the Germanic Diet a protest against the annexation of the Italian Duchies.

The official of Madrid Gazette publishes the preliminaries of a treaty of peace with Morocco. Morocco cedes all territory between the sea and the road to Anghera. The Convention of '59, relative to Manilla, &c., (Melilla?) is ratified. An indemnity of 20,000,000 piastres is to be paid to Spain by Morocco. In the meantime the Spanish forces continue to hold Tetuan. A commercial treaty is also guaranteed, and a Spanish Minister and missionaries are to be permitted to reside in Fez.—The treaty is to be signed at Tetuan on the 25th of April.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Charleston Courier, in speaking of the money raised by the Democrats to carry Pennsylvania, in 1856, has the following curious statement:

But all this effort would been unsuccessful, had not a business man in New York, who was a Fillmore man, and also a Spiritualist, received, as he believed, a special communication from departed statesmen and patriots, advising him that it was his duty to prevent the rumored coalition between the Americans and Republicans, whereby Fremont would have carried the State. This gentleman, accordingly, expened seventy thousand dollars of his own money for the purpose of preventing that coalition, and succeeded in it.

☞ The Providence, R. I., Evening Press, an independent journal, says:

The defeat is not a Republican defeat, for the nominations which have been defeated were in no proper sense nominations of the Republican party of Rhode Island. That is the reason why they were defeated. Everybody knows that had our present excellent Chief Magistrate, Gov. Turner, been re-nominated, instead of Mr. Padelford, in accordance with beneficent usage and sound policy, he would have been elected with nothing more than a formal opposition.

☞ The following is too good to be lost:

"The Courier says that Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island "represents the calico party —ringed, streaked and speckled." By this standard, Padelford, the Black candidate, represents the worsted."

☞ We some time since gave a detailed account of the new elegant and spacious Dry Goods Store, of Geo. W. Warren & Co., on Washington street, Boston—the finest in that city, if not in the country.—Their column advertisement this morning shows that they have a vast stock of new goods to select from, and also that the Chronicle is appreciated abroad (as well as at home) for an advertising medium.

☞ Since the death of Louis XV in 1774, no ruler of France has been born with the sceptre in his hand. Louis the XVIII is the only one who died on the throne, after passing the greater portion of his life in exile. The others perished miserably by violence, or languished in a stranger land.

☞ "Occasional," of the Philadelphia Press says the contest between the friends of Breckinridge and Guthrie at Charleston will be extremely animated.

☞ The Monroe (La.) Register says every genuine Democratic press in the United States is in favor of the nomination of Mr. Slidell for the Presidency.

☞ It is reported that Senator Clingman of North Carolina expresses the opinion that Douglas will win the Charleston nomination.

CASSIUS M. CLAY.—A gentleman from Madison county, Ky., writes a letter to the Louisville Journal, stating that Mr. Clay was "cruelly hoaxed" when he believed that everybody contemplated his assassination. The Journal says the letter came from a man of highest respectability and unquestionable veracity.

The Weekly Chronicle being issued one day earlier than usual, on account of Fast, necessarily contains no report of the Cattle Market.

An illiterate correspondent, who is given to sporting, wants to know when the "Anglo Saxon race," so much talked about, is to come off?

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, April 10.

SENATE.—Mr. Sumner presented the memorial of Mr. Sanborn, of Concord, Ms., in regard to the attempt to kidnap him.—Mr. Sumner narrated the circumstances attending the capture of Mr. Sanborn and his subsequent release, and said the act was conspicuous, both as regarded the man against whom the attack was made and the place where it occurred. The attempt was made at Concord, where a seizure was once before attempted, which ended in the revolution of these States. He moved the reference of the memorial to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Mason said that this man Sanborn was shown to be in correspondence with the man who was hung at Harper's Ferry as a traitor, or his friends. He had therefore been summoned before the committee of the Senate to testify. He (Sanborn) replied, refusing to come, on the ground that he feared personal violence. A warrant was issued against him, and the Sergeant-at-Arms sent deputies to arrest him, who did so, but he was rescued by a mob and afterwards discharged by Justice Shaw upon a writ of habeas corpus.

Mr. Sanborn's memorial was then read. He claims that he has rightfully resisted the summons of the Senate, and complains of his unwarranted arrest and the brutality attending it, and asks redress at the hands of the Senate.

Mr. Sumner wished to correct one statement which fell from the Senator from Virginia. Mr. Sanborn was taken from the custody of the pretended officers not by a mob, but by a writ of habeas corpus, enforced by posse comitatus.

Mr. Mason said that his authority was a letter from the U. S. Marshal. He moved to lay the memorial on the table until the process should be returned.

Mr. Sumner reluctantly consented, with the understanding that it should be called up when the process was returned.

The memorial was laid on the table.

The Homestead bill was taken up,—and Mr. Doolittle spoke in favor of the House bill.

HOUSE.—Mr. Taylor, a member of the Judiciary Committee, read his argument in support of the President's protest. He denied that the House has unlimited power to initiate or carry out an investigation of any kind, according to its mere will and pleasure. If so, this was not consistent with the great principle of law everywhere recognized where the rights of individuals are concerned.

[The House have no more right to call in James Buchanan, with or without handcuffs, than the Senate have to call in F. B. Sanborn in like manner. But they have just as much.]

Mr. Hickman moved that 20,000 copies of the reports be printed. The propriety of this was referred to the Committee on Printing.

On motion of Mr. Hickman the further consideration of the subject was postponed till Monday next.

Mr. Grow called up the bill for the admission of Kansas into the Union.

After a somewhat lengthy debate, Mr. Grow gave notice that he should ask for a vote to-morrow. Adj.

SUPPOSED LOSS OF THE SHIP FLEETWOOD.—The barque Ceres, Capt. Wheeler, arrived at New York on Monday. She sailed from St. Helena under charter of the British Government, March 15, with 232 Africans (which had been captured from a slaver by the U. S. steamers Mystic and Fulton) for Port Spain, Trinidad, where they were landed, having an addition of one by birth. Capt. Wheeler brings home a boat, the only relic of the ship Fleetwood, which was supposed to have foundered off Cape Horn. This boat was shipped on board the Fleetwood, and consigned to the Rev. George Pierson at Honolulu. When off Cape Horn, the vessel was leaking badly, and all efforts to keep her free were unavailing. Six of the crew took possession of the boat and left the ship, which was subsequently picked up by the ship Imogene, Capt. Williams, and carried into Pernambuco, and there purchased by Capt. Wheeler.

The Fleetwood was a vessel of 663 tons, and was built here in 1852, by Samuel Badger, Esq., and purchased by E. Dale, and J. Johnson, Boston.

THE ALLEGED CONFESSION OF THE PARKER MURDER.—It seems by the following dispatch from Manchester to the Boston Traveller that the report of the alleged confession of the Parker murder, by a man named Weed, which was communicated to the Boston Journal, was a malicious hoax:

The Parker murder confession story is a lie, and an imposition on the Journal, made, doubtless, for political effect. It was got up at Sandwich, to injure Wm. M. Weed, clerk of the Court of Carroll county, and a prominent politician. He has a brother in Manchester, named Harry M. Weed, who went to California in 1849, and returned three years since, and is now in the employ of the Amoskeag Co. He is the one referred to in the Journal. He is above all suspicion; is in good health, and is deeply grieved at the story which implicates him as the murderer of Parker. The story is not made to injury him directly, but to make Wm. M. Weed appear in Carroll county as a brother of a murderer. W. M. Weed is talked of as one of as one of the delegates to the Republican Convention at Chicago, to be elected soon, and it was thought probable that the story would diminish the chances of his election, and would not be contradicted in season to spoil the story for the purposes for which it was designed.

The Mr. Weed who is thus unfeelingly implicated in a cold-blooded murder, we are informed stands very high in the estimation of those who know him.

☞ Two strangers got into the lock-up on Wednesday, for stealing yarn from the front of a dry goods store in Daniel street. One of the men gave his name as Richard Colton, and said he was a wood carver.—The other called himself John Wilson, boiler maker. They professed to come from Boston, bound to Portland; and to have had their money stolen from them.

They wished to beg a pass on the railroad, and told false stories as the means of getting it. One of them had a book, doubtless stolen, McCullough's Commercial Dictionary, vol. 1, which is now in the City Marshal's hands—and if the owner will claim it, it may further bring out the thieves.

☞ An old and well established liquor dealer in New Bedford took his wife and child, the other night, to see the representation of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," and was so much affected that when he went home he made immediate arrangements to close up his business.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No. 12 Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1860.

SIR:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

☞ The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

We would recommend to housekeepers a trial of the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot," which some families have had in use for over a year, and say they would on no consideration be without it, as it retains the whole of the strength as well as the aroma of the berry. One-fourth less coffee is required; and this is a consideration in these times. Ladies' Home Magazine.

OLD DOMINION TEA-POTS.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of roasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

WORTHY OF
Universal Confidence and Patronage

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials o g can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that had been benefitted by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think I due. My age is about 50 years; the color of m hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five o six years since it began to turn to gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each o these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, agreeably surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling of arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the happiness of their wives to profit by my example, and see if it growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Sizemston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly bald-headed or have gray hair, and by the "Hair Restorative," the hair will return beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all! Yours truly,

WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like.—By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see some of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1851. I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes viz: large, medium, and small; the small hold half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the act of 1837.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him t. accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in these United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on TWICE rejected applications, and TWO APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1860. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the fluid becomes vitiated, weak and poisonous. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in any case on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of the corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, has formed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which governs in the blood, destroys the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in the scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by this corruption.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, which, if not eradicated, sends to the sepulchre. It lies in the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times and country has yet discovered for prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure not only scrofula, but also those other affections, which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, ERYSIPELAS, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ENTHEPSIA, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and MANY OTHER of the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular quality and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their operation can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search the system and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitality. As a family cathartic these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health so speedily restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many dangerous and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

Few are the cases of lung affection, so common and so dangerous as the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are frequent in our climate. While many inferior remedies have from time to time gained friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents all the same essential elements, and gives of course the True Standard. Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory, hence its astonishing success. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS, adapted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS inducing CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVER-EXERTION, and DEBILITY, and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINT and DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by drops and carried immediately into the circulation, giving instant relief. The No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for use. No. 3, for MERCURIAL SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of the "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS.

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and PERMANENT DISTRESS, NO PAREGORIC relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHEA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which other remedies of Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; they you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

THE SCRIPTURES have been construed to suit almost every purpose; but it remained for a late English sporting writer to adapt it to prize-fighting. He says:—

The first principle necessary to be observed is to "keep the body in temperance, soberness, and chastity." Indeed, the leading rules which guide the judicious trainer, might almost all be found in the New Testament. "To keep under the body, and bring it into subjection," is a precept of which no one knows the value better than the successful prize-fighter. The maxim "so run that you may obtain," is frequently forgotten by the candidates for literary, and scientific and forensic eminence, but never by the aspirant to the honors of the champion's belt. The boxer knows that he is nothing without training, so he trains diligently. But, as the "Oracle of the Ring" puts it, "the mass of mankind, who indulge in excesses of every kind—in too much eating, drinking, sleep, sloth, smoking, etc.—would go through the task of life, and discharge their respective duties much better, far quicker, and with vastly greater ease to themselves, did they submit to training." We believe this is true of every one of life's duties.

EXCOMMUNICATION.—A correspondent of the Independence Belge gives the following account of the ceremony that would be performed at the then expected promulgation of the Pope's excommunication of Victor Emanuel, King of Sardinia. As our last advices state that the bull had been issued, no doubt the ceremony has taken place:

"The ceremony will take place in St. Peter's Church, with great pomp. All the Cardinals will be present; the whole church will be hung with black; the crucifix will be veiled; and torches of yellow wax will be lighted and extinguished, one after another. There will be a grand procession of all the monastic orders of Rome, who will afterwards depart for their monasteries and convents, chanting the Miserere as they pass through the city. The person who gives me this information does not think the sentence of excommunication will be pronounced by the Pope himself, but by a cardinal selected for the purpose.

☞As an instance of the necessity of investigating cases where relief is asked for, the Rev. Mr. Blunt, at a meeting held in London, recently, said: "Not long ago, a woman had taken him in with a piteous story that her husband had not had a day's work for six months. It was true, for he was a night watchman."

☞The Legislature of Tennessee has adjourned, after a session of six months, and the bill to enslave free negroes is defeated through a disagreement of the two Houses as to details.

Model wives formerly took a stitch in time; but now, by the help of the Sewing-Machine, they take nine in no time.

The best way to condemn bad traits, is by practicing good ones.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely required to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, APRIL 14, 1860.

☞ The bill admitting Kansas into the Union passed the U. S. House of Representatives on Wednesday, by a vote of 134 to 73.

Mr. English said that as more than two-thirds of his political friends had voted against the bill, he had voted "No."

Only three members from the slaveholding States voted for the bill. An equal number from the non-slaveholding States voted against it.

Of course all the Republicans and North Americans voted for it.—and all the Northern Democrats but three. Every one can see where the shoe pinches.

We expect to see the Senate amend the bill, so as to disagree with the House, and keep out Kansas till after the Presidential election. And we also expect to see some craven papers in New England apologizing for this act of the Senate, and even trying (as the same papers did on the Postage Bill last year) to throw the blame on the House.

☞ On the 20th of March, there was a terrible fight in Rome. The liberal student's sung a voluntary Te Deum in a church, for the annexation to Sardinia.—The rector interposed, and left the house: the students followed him, and hissed him in the street. At 6 P. M., when everybody was riding or walking, the Pope's gen-d'armes came out, sword in hand, and cut through the crowd, wounding 50 or 60 men and women, and making some arrests.

The Rome correspondent of the London Post says that at the time of the massacre, his Holiness had 12,000,000 of scudi, the pious offerings of good Catholics, packed in boxes in the Vatican; so that, in case he should consider another Hegira necessary, the money for his travelling expenses is abundantly provided.

SOME PRINTING.—In the national House of Representatives, April 12th, 25,000 copies of the President's protest, and the reports of the Judiciary Committee on the subject, were ordered to be printed.

The consideration of the report of the Committee on Public Expenditures, proposing a reform in the public printing; and the French Spoliation bill: were postponed, the former to the 25th inst., and the latter to the 9th of May.

The Senate bill for a telegraph line to the Pacific came up, and was debated.

THE NOROMBEGA BANK, BANGOR.—The receivers of this bank have made a most unaccountably favorable report of its condition to the Supreme Court of Maine. There is now in cash in the bank $80,000, immediate assets amounting to $28,000, and other good paper amounting in all to $140,-000; while its liabilities are but little more than $100,000. The stockholders ask the Court to allow the bank to resume operations, a decision upon which application will be made hereafter.

A VINE WORTH HAVING.—A poor woman in the county of Santa Barbara, California, has only one grape vine. This bore, in 1857, five thousand bunches of grapes, each bunch weighing over a pound, yielding her the handsome sum of $4000.—When a girl, on leaving Monterey for her present home, she picked up a vine-cutting to drive her mule. This cutting she planted on her arrival, and such, after the lapse of seven years, is the result.

AN INFANT ON A RAILROAD TRACK. On Tuesday evening last, Thomas Hardin, engineer on the Albany and Vermont Railroad, discovered an infant, probably twenty months old, on the track between West Troy and Cohoes. He reversed the locomotive, but before the train was stopped it had passed over the child, whom all thought was killed; but to their surprise and joy they saw the little one crawling out from under the engine through the opening between the driving wheels.

☞ Mr. A. P. Benchley, formerly of Worcester, a watchman in the employ of the Gun Barrel Company, Lowell, while lowering goods from the fourth story of the building, Tuesday morning, accidentally fell to the ground, and was most shockingly mangled, from the effects of which he died in about half an hour. He was 60 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children.

☞ The first man ever hung in New Jersey was George Akers, during the Revolutionary war. He was hung for horse stealing. An exchange says "it is told by the oldest inhabitant that a great crowd turned out to see the sight, many coming a hundred miles and more; but great indeed were the sorrow and sympathy, when it was discovered, shortly after, that an innocent man had been hung, and that the alleged stolen horse had only run away."

THE DIFFERENCE.—Protestantism carries out its logic in freedom; Romanism, its logic in despotism;—the one has made the United States; the other has made Rome.

DEBATE ON EDUCATION.

In the U. S. Senate, Thursday, April 12, the bill to grant $20,000, for five years, to the public schools, was taken up.

Mr. Clark offered an amendment that a portion should go towards the education of the colored population.

Mr. Brown was willing the free negroes in the District should be educated in their own schools, and to authorize them to tax themselves for the purpose. He would go further, and say that if the Northern people would let the slaves alone, he would favor the education of the slaves. But for the interference of the North, this would have been done long ago. They gave their blacks a religious education, and would give them further instruction, but that Northern fanatics take advantage of their learning, and make them their own worst enemies.

Mr. Mason opposed the amendment. He thought it was a wise policy on the part of the Southern States to withhold education from the slades. Negroes, bond or free, form no part of our political society.

Mr. Wilson said that whenever the Republicans resist the expansion of slavery, they had lectures from the other side, on the equality of the races. The North don't seize black men and sell them for fear of their equality. The North was not unwilling to permit black men to learn to read the Bible.

Mr. Iverson said it was not true that slaves were not allowed to learn to read. They were not allowed to learn to write, for that would be dangerous.

Mr. Wilson—I am sorry the Senator don't understand the laws of his own state. I have the laws of Southern States in my room, proving what I say, and will produce them here.

Mr. Davis enquired whether Mr. Wilson believed in the equality of all men, black and white.

Mr. Wilson replied, so far as natural rights are concerned, he did. In mental and physical character he believed the African race inferior to the white race.

Mr. Davis—Does he mean in social and political rights in political and social equality, for what right means is a thing to be determined afterwards.

Mr. Wilson—I believe every human being has a right to his own life, liberty, and to act so as to secure his own happiness. In other words, I believe the Declaration of Independence, precisely and exactly.

Mr. Harlan asked Mr. Davis if he believed in the equality of every citizen of the United States. He alluded to some of Mr. Wilson's remarks as being offensive, and said that Senator spoke on his own responsibility.

Mr. Wilson disclaimed any intention of giving offence, but said, while he regarded duelling as a barbarous code, he should not shrink from uttering his sentiments freely.

Mr. Davis said, as the Senator disclaimed the intention to offend, that was sufficient.

No question was taken.

SOLVED.—The Manchester Mirror says, in regard to the Weed confession hoax:

Harvey M. Weed resides in Manchester; he went to California in 1849, and returned two or three years ago. Many supposed it referred to him, though the Journal spoke of Harvey Weed, without the M. He is in the employ of the Amoskeag Co., and was at work on repairs at the mills. * * *

Harvey M. Weed and William M. Weed called at our house, the latter direct from Sandwich, and able to solve the whole mystery. He came to Concord, on his way to Exeter Court, and hearing of the story in the Journal, came to Manchester to see his brother. William is a prominent politician in Carroll county, and Clerk of the Courts; and out of his political action, enemies have grown. The story was started doubtless to injure him, as people would naturally look with distrust upon a man whose brother was a murderer. It would indicate that there was bad blood in the family. A similar story was started in that town some months ago, that Harvey had died at Cambridge, Mass., confessing the murder. But when the citizens found that he was still alive at Manchester, the rebound was like the kicking gun, a damage to the inventors of the hoax. It was thought best to take a new and more extensive field of operations in the Boston Journal, remarkable for the accuracy of its news items and for its circulation. The promptings to it now have been to influence the Republican Convention soon to meet at Concord to select delegates to the Chicago Convention. Weed of Sandwich has been talked of as a delegate, and it might have been thought that the story would make him so odious that his defeat would be certain.

It might be so, but it might be anything else, almost as probably. Whatever it was, the author deserves to stand in the pillory, for trifling with the feelings of several families and of the public.

LOST HIS FOOT.—On Friday morning a young man named Peter Kimball jumped from a car when the train was in motion, below the freight depot in Manchester, and one wheel passed over his ankle. Amputation of the foot was found necessary, and the young man is recovering.

☞ A young man named Doyen, clerk of Avery Plumer & Co., flour merchants, Boston, who was sent to deposit $1000 in the bank a fortnight ago, has not since been heard of. All his habits, and circumstances, forbid the idea that he ran away. Foul play is suspected.

☞ The ministers of the Revolution, who were so far forgetful of their priestly duties as to enter upon the field of politics, are about to be remembered by a book, entitled "The Patriot Preachers of the American Revolution."

☞ On and after June 2, in Massachusetts, no person can be fined or imprisoned for single acts of drunkenness, except as "common drunkards."

☞ Wood is sold in Paris by weight, and rises in price as the mercury falls.

DON'T OVERSTATE THE CASE.—Our readers all know that we have often contradicted and corrected the statements, that more liquor is drank now than ever before, in this State; more sold, etc.,—and that we have done this, when the extravagance has been among friends of temperance, as well as when done, by its foes.

We have just seen a similar correction made by the Newburyport Herald; and we copy the whole of it, because it is particular and conclusive.

The Herald says, in giving an account of temperance in Essex county:—

The convention of the Sons of Temperance in this city was a successful meeting, and the reports from the various Divisions show how rapidly the Order is increasing. We rejoice in this, as it cannot fail to be a means of good. We were sorry to see, however, in the reports, statements which show that drunkenness abounds beyond all previous calculations, or some of the members are intemperate in language, though they may abstain from spirituous liquors.

We cannot believe that 400 barrels of liquor a week are carried into Haverhill, unless they reckon all that goes through the town on the Boston & Maine road. Four hundred barrels a week for a town of less than ten thousand population—20,800 galls. a year—is a monstrous story. That would be some two gallons a week for every man, woman and child in the town; or for a man, wife and three children—five being the average number in a family—there would be ten gallons a week, or a gallon and a half a day, which would keep the whole population drunk from New Year to Christmas.

About as ridiculous was the report of 300 places—150 shops and 150 private houses—where liquor is sold in this city. Where are these places? Consider first there are not 150 shops in the place, counting groceries, dry goods, market places, fish stalls, and old junk shops together. If the man who made the report will look into the Directory, he will see that the whole number of grocery stores—large and small—is 66. Add to these the apothecary stores, the hotels, the city liquor agency, and we have 78. Now, suppose that every one of these sells, and fifty private houses, and 22 eating and drinking saloons, and we then have but just one half the number stated; and everybody knows that is full twice as many as there are. The rum selling and rum drinking is bad enough in this city, and it is time that it was checked; but we need not make it worse than it is. Upon inquiry, last week, we could not learn that there was one place in Ward 1 and Ward 6, where they even suspected liquor was sold; and these two wards comprise one-third of the population, and two-thirds of the territory in this city. There are very few places in wards 2 and 5; but three and four are all rum; still the total number of selling places, we think, does not exceed seventy.

From the Exeter News Letter.

Mr. Editor:—I wish to ask through the columns of your paper, what I call a fair question. As I could not support my family in the style which I wished to by my regular business, I added to it liquor selling; and by that means I have been able to dress my family as well as anybody, and we have been noticed. Now, if I give up the liquor selling, we shall have to reduce our style of living, and dress very differently. My wife will have to do her own work, in a little time, and to dress much plainer. Will the people who talk so much about the right, the respectable, etc., be willing to notice us as they have done? I have not felt altogether easy when I have seen the ruin bro't in some homes and family circles, and have wondered why the friends of temperance suffered the traffic to go on. But then I hoped to get rich and retire; and I thought too, it was not any worse than to fail and pay twenty five or fifty cents on the dollar, and set up for a gentleman. Will some one competent to speak on the matter, answer my question. ONE IN EARNEST.

WHAT IS NEEDED.—We need for our dwellings more ventilation and less heat; we need more out-door exercise, more sunlight, more manly, athletic, and rude sports; we need more amusements, more holidays, more frolic and noisy, boisterous mirth.—Our infants need better nourishment than colorless mothers can furnish, purer milk than distilleries can manufacture; our children need more romping and less study.—Our old men more quiet and earlier relaxation from the labors of life. All men, both young and old, need less medicine and more good counsel. Our cities need cleansing, paving and draining. The Asiatic cholera, the yellow fever, the plague, and many other fearful epidemics are called the opprobrium of our art, and our fellow citizens appraid us with the feebleness and inefficiency of our resources in staying their fatal progress. When will they learn that although we do fail to cure these maladies, the more precious secret of prevention is in our possession, and has been these many years?—Dr. F. Hamilton.

☞ Before the adjournment of the Massachusetts Legislature, the members of that body presented to the Speaker a gold watch; to the Clerk, a silver pitcher; and to the Sergeant-at-Arms, a silver tea-set;—to the Door-keepers, silver ware of various kinds; and to the member who perpetually moved the "previous question," a butter knife.

☞ The Kansas City Metropolitan says that Senator Douglas is engaged in a "tight rope performance on Mason and Dixon's line," but as he has a "mighty small chance of legs than," it apprehends he will fall and break his neck, or hurt himself considerably.

A ruler who appoints any man to an office, when there is in his dominions another man better qualified for it, sins against God and the State.—The Koran.

Perhaps few persons are aware how much a habit of thought creates a power of thought.

CHURCHES IN CONCORD, N. H.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal says:

Through the indefatigable perseverance of Mrs. Eames, the wife of Rev. James Eames, rector of St. Paul's (Episcopal) Church, the society have consented to have chime bells placed in the tower of the church.

Owing to some dissatisfaction, a portion of the members of the Universalist church have withdrawn from the Society and hold meetings every Sabbath in Rumford Hall; both places of worship are crowded every Sunday. The latter pulpit is supplied by ministers from different portions of the State, &c., while the former continues to be supplied by Rev. Mr. Moore.

JUSTICE COURT, Auburn, N. H., Apr. 6. John Robbins was complained of before A. B. Shattuck, Esq., for selling one glass of liquor, to Robinson Brown, on the 9th of Feb. He gave bonds in $300 to answer at the April term of the S. J. Court, to be holden at Exeter.

Robbins was also charged with selling four glasses of liquor to Dennis Donnavan, on the same day. $200 bonds.

Another complaint for selling one glass of liquor to Wm. G. Cutler, on the 9th of March. $300 bonds.

HOW TO BECOME A GOOD HORSEMAN. Keep your head up, chin down, chest forward, shoulders back, elbows in, hands down, back in, belly out, feet forward, thighs fixed, knees in, legs close, heels down, toes in, loins loose, seat firm, hands tight, horse and rider well balanced; trot two hours every day without stirrups, then time and perseverance may make you a good horseman.

The New York Herald suggests Fernando Wood as one of the "five" candidates for the presidency at the Charleston convention. The addition of Wigfall for the vice presidency, we submit, should be at once fair and proper. Wood and Wigfall! Who could resist such an alliteration?

Why is the world like a piano? Because it is full of flats and sharps.

BETSEY SANBORN.

Kensington, Sept. 25, 1835.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., No. 1 School St., for his Panacea, Cough Drops, Conserve, Rheumatic Compound and Family Pills, and other of his popular remedies, will be promptly attended to.

☞ Why will people go and have a poor miserable picture taken of themselves? Because, all those do not know that they can procure for the same money, a fine finished picture, faithful and true as life itself, at in Congress Block, where the most superior likenesses are taken, and in all cases perfect satisfaction given.

N. B.—The beautiful little "give away" (cheap) pictures, are taken at this establishment, with a double lens Camera, (100 per day) by the celebrated Parisian artist—Monsieur Heavtontitorumenos.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases. BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,
WM MARKHAM.

TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Boundbrook, N. J., says it is the best medicine for Consumption in every stage, that has ever been known.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., BOSTON, and for sale by Wm. R. Preston, David Kimball, Nathan F. Thacher, J. H. Thacher, and B. Hutchings, Portsmouth; J. P. Packer, Greenland; and dealers everywhere. 4wd&w

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. It relieves upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We recommend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

POLICE COURT, April 11.—Before Justice Odell.—Richard Carlton and John Wilson, arrested for stealing yarn in Market Street, were brought up; each found guilty, and sentenced to jail for ten days, pay costs of prosecution and treble the value of the articles stolen. Mittimus issued.

The same Richard and John were charged with stealing yarn in Daniel street, also. The former was found guilty, and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs, $4.09; and pay treble the value of the property stolen. Wilson was considered not guilty and discharged.

This Carlton made desperate attempts to get out of his cell in the lock-up. He, with his hands, wrenched a bar of iron from the partition, and with the aid of this, pried off the iron strap, half an inch in thickness, which supported the door; and using this for a battering ram, tried to break out. This experiment having failed, using the iron strap for a lever, he attempted to break out the grates in the window. He succeeded in bending one considerably, but not enough to afford him any chance of escape. He is, doubtless, an old jail-bird, and has learned the art of jail-breaking, or he would not have come so naturally to attempt it at this time.

☞ Marshal Beck informs us that Fast Day in this city, was unusually quiet, and general order prevailed.—There were but few cases of drunkenness, and no arrests were made.

☞ It was reported that a severe fight occurred on Fast night at a rum hole at the Plains. The City Marshal with his Assistants went out there, but when they arrived, they found the house shut up, and all was quiet.

☞ The Dedication of the Brodhead M. E. Church took place on Friday afternoon. The house was crowded to overflowing. The order of services was as follows:

1. Voluntary by the Choir.
2. Invocation.
3. Reading of the Scriptures by Rev. D. P. Leavitt.
4. Hymn.
5. Dedicatory Prayer by Rev. J. Thurston.
6. Hymn.
7. Sermon by Rev. Dr. E. O. Haven, from Luke 2:14; Matthew 10:36; John 14:27.
8. Doxology.
9. Benediction.

ISLINGTON COMMON.

Messrs. Editors:—Please insert in your columns something cheering for the public good, viz: to increase the size of the public land at the terminus of Islington Road to fifty acres, to be ingeniously laid out in carriage ways and walks, and ornamented with shade trees; for the health and comfort of our families, friends, and visiting strangers. This is the most beautiful site in the county, and what I propose can be done at a trifling expense. Then discontinue all other street names, and establish that of Islington street from the river to Islington Common anticipated. Let the streets and sidewalks be graded and finished, at once, and of a generous width.

A CITIZEN.

DISTRIBUTION OF COAL.—An exchange says that one of the most remarkable features of the coal system of the globe, is its liberal distribution over the Northern hemisphere, where it is most needed. A peep into our coal bin convinces us that the learned writer is mistaken.—Providence Jour.

Ditto the Chronicle—and we had to call on friend Walker to equalize the "distribution" a little in our favor. We thought Summer was coming long ago—but it don't seem to get a'long.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Mr. Vandyke was before Mr. Covode's Committee and testified that his difficulty with the President, resulting in his removal, was occasioned because he protested against the federal officeholders controllig Democratic politics in the city and State. He had a long correspondence with the President. His testimony established the fact that George W. Baker, the Collector's brother, received pay for an office which did not exist by law.

The papers connected with the public stores of New York were sent to the House. Mr. Cobb admits in his letter that he did not intend to give the contract to the lowest bidder. George H Purser offered to perform the service at a reduction of 12 per cent., furnishing responsible securities. James O'Reilly proposed to take the contract at $25,000 per year less than Mather, McIntyre & Co., with abundant security.—Geo. W. Ditchfield offered to perform the work for 15 per cent. less than the present price.

☞ It is conjectured that the Democratic Senators will await the result of the Charleston Convention before they take up the bill admitting Kansas. If Mr. Hunter should be nominated, the desire will be to remove all such embarrassments as Kansas out of the way. If, on the other hand, any candidate obnoxious to the South should be presented, he may be compelled to shoulder this load and some others that are in reserve!

MAN'S ACCOUNT WITH WOMAN.—Look here; you must allow that women ought, as much as in her lies, to make this world a paradise, seeing she lost us the original garden. We talk as philosophers; and when all is said about what we owe to womau, you must allow that we have a swinging balance against her. There's that little matter of the apple still to be settled for.—Douglas Jerrold.

☞ Washington is alive with gossip about the proposed duel between Pryor and Potter. If anybody gets killed, we will make an item of it.

☞ Messrs. Stevens and Kittredge, of New Hampshire, have gone as passengers in the steamer from Boston to the Charleston Convention.

☞ Dr. Henry Carrow was shot dead in Nashville, Tenn., by P. P. Trewitt, Postmaster at Sparta in that State, while writing a prescription for his crazy-drunken patient.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.—The April term of the Supreme Judicial Court commenced at Exeter last Tuesday, Hon. Asa Fowler presiding.

The case of Wm. Berry, administrator, vs. Geo. G. Brewster, was tried on Tuesday and Wednesday. It is an action to recover money alleged to have been sent from California and Washington Territory to the defendant by the late Alfred M. Berry of Greenland. At the trial the defendant relied upon a lease, said to have been obtained from the heirs of A. M. Berry. The jury found that the release was fraudulent and void, and assessed damages for the plaintiff, the sum of $770.11. Hatch for plff. Hackett for deft.

On Wednesday evening the Court adjourned till Friday at 8 o'clock, on account of the Governor's Fast Day.

A large number of witnesses were in attendance before the grand jury, who are still in session.

HOW IT WAS OBSERVED.—Thursday last, which was recommended to be observed as a day of fasting and prayer by advice of Gov. Goodwin, passed very quietly in this city. People generally obeyed the injunction of the proclamation by refraining from their usual avocations. In the forenoon the several churches were well attended, and the afternoon devoted to pleasures suited to each individual taste. Quite a large party made an excursion to Frost's Point, where they partook of an excellent supper prepared by the host, Mr. Fitts, and enjoyed a pleasant dance in the evening.

The Governor's Horse Guards, on Thursday afternoon paraded for drill, at Concord, and also at Nashua. Fifty-six members paraded at Concord, in the Fatigue Uniform of the corps, and went through various evolutions under command of Lt. Col. Bellows, in the presence of a multitude of spectators. At Nashua about forty members took part in the exercises, commanded by Col. Stark. The Regiment is in a prosperous condition, and from all accounts, bids fair to become one of the finest military organizations in the country.

MAPES' SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME.—Within a few years a great variety of fertilizers have been offered to the public, as possessing considerable advantage over the raw manures, or the composted preparations of the farmer, and some of them have acquired and maintained a permanent reputation for utility and cheapness. Among the most celebrated of the manufactured articles is Mapes' Nitrogenized Super Phosphate of Lime, which received the silver medal awarded by the American Institute of New York in 1859. An evidence of its value is that the manufacturer, who now uses no other fertilizer, has the most profitable farm in the country. Mr. Shores, who has this article for sale, is able to furnish it in any quantity, at Boston prices, and also Poudrette and Peruvian Guano, each of which are in high repute in some sections.

☞ Our juvenile readers will not fail to call the attention of their parents to the announcement of Mr. Samuel Lamprey's Summer Term for instruction in dancing, which is to be found in another column. Mr. Lamprey has had excellent success as a teacher in this graceful accomplishment, during his residence in this city.

☞ Albert Blaisdell, Esq., Superintendent of the New Post Office Building in this city, has received orders from Washington to furnish the building forthwith for occupancy, so that it will probably be opened to the public use in a few weeks. The grounds outside are to be neatly graded and surrounded with an open iron fence.

BLACKWOOD.—The American edition of this popular magazine, published by L. Scott & Co., N. Y., has been received. It is as usual filled with articles, able, interesting, learned. Lord Elgin's mission to China and Japan forms the subject of its leading article. The Luck of Lansymede; the "Foreign Connection" of the House of Bull; Volunteer cavalry movements, &c., are titles of some of its other papers. Price $3 a year, with either of the Reviews, $5, with all of them $10.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP.—Are all the mothers who read the Freeman acquainted with this article, which we have advertised for the last few months? We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of this Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with cholic pains quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night.—Most parents can appreciate these blessings. We are entirely opposed to the prevalent practice of drugging infants, and would sooner lose our night's rest than consent to such a course; but here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege on any considerations whatever.

We have spoken of this Syrup for the benefit of our readers who are parents. We know its good value and have experienced some of the rich blessings which result from its use. Mrs. Winslow is no quack, but a woman of long experience as a Nurse and Female Physician.—Boston Christian Freeman.

THE HAPPY MAN.—He who is strong, and does a man's work; he who is going out to his daily toil leaves at home a beloved creature who loves and thinks of him alone, is by that very fact inspired with cheerfulness, and is happy all the day. A blessed thing it is to have by your hearth-stone a trustworthy and loving woman, to whom you can open your heart, with whom you can suffer. She will prevent you from either dreaming or forgetting.

A SECRET.—Love creates love, and augments it. The secret of loving each other much is to occupy ourselves much one with the other—to live much together, the closest and the most we can.

DRUNKENNESS IN EUROPE.—Theodore Paker, in one of his letters from Europe, published in the Liberator, says:

In Europe, you see many things which seem strange to an American. Take the use of wine. If I am right, the Europeans consume about 6,500,000,000 gallons of wine. In France, leave out of account the pasture land, which is not plowed, and the forests; of the actual arable land one-third is devoted to the culture of the grape! Yet there are immense districts where no wine can be raised at all. I see it stated that the government returns make it appear that the people of France drink 850,000,000 gallons of wine, and the calculation is that the amount is not much less than 1,000,000,000! Yet I don't believe there was as much drunkenness, in the year 1859, among the 29,000,000 people of France as among the 3,000,000 Yankees of New England.

I have been four months at Rome; there are wine shops everywhere; I am out of doors from three to six hours a day, and I have never yet seen a man intoxicated; now and then one is merry, never drunk. The Romans, Italians, French, &c., are quite temperate; they drink their weak wine with water, and when they take liquors, it is only a little glassful at a time, (which does not make a spoonfull.) I don't belive there is a bar in all Italy where men step up and drink rum and water, gin and water, &c.

In the North of Europe, and even in Switzerland, it is not so. The English, without help from the Irish and Scotch, drink about 600 or 700,000,000 galls. beer, every year, not to speak of the wine, spirits, &c., they take to wash it down withal.—There is drunkenness. So you find it in Scandinavia, in Holland, and in North Germany. How do you think the Americans will settle the drink question? Certainly not by taking merely to water, tea, coffee, &c. We shall have more beer, perhaps retara to the making of cider, and certainly plant vines where they will grow. Drunkenness is such a monstrous and ghastly evil, I would do almost anything to get rid of it. But sometimes think we have taken the wrong track. I am glad to see the license law introduced in the New York Legislature, and think it will do more good than our New England scheme of prohibition by force.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, Graduate Class of 1857.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to act as Solicitor in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it, inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has put him in possession of a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library, enable him to determine, by early advices, accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and diligent, and more capable of putting their application in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such a multiplicity of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very moderate charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept. 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on TWICE rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EXAMINED AND REVISED 1,000 specifications, and obtained 16 Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1860. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the blood becomes vitiated, weak and poor. Being in the constitution it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor between any two of the laws of life, destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and dirt, habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary, and constantly transmitted from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who visits the sins of the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of a tuberculous material upon which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, in ulcerous sores, and eruptions, which render in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from the inclemencies of life, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by diseases which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin, directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the vitals, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their health is impaired by this lurking influence, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rouse of the system from its debilitated condition. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, RHEUMATISM OR THE DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND DYSMENORRHŒA, ERYSIPELAS, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. We need only further hint that "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this preparation is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which good health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action yields to their influence. Being sugar coated, they are perfectly tasteless, and in their properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, rousing its dormant energies, and giving its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain and disease, finds ease in one dose, and finds health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they subdue the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis to any inquirer, a pamphlet, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness or Costive Habit, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. Has it been once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what auditor to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies flow upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

THE LAST DRINK.—Dan Jones has a wife, an amiable, accomplished, and beautiful lady, who loves him devotedly, but finds too many bricks in his hat. One night he came home tight, and was not very much astonished, but rather frightened, to find his worthy lady sitting up for him. She always does. She smiled when he came in. That also she always does. "You stayed out so late," she said, "that I feared you had been taken sick."

"Hic—aint sick, wife; b-but don't you think I'm a little t-tight?"

"A very little, perhaps, my dear, but that is nothing—you have so many friends, as you say, you must join them in a glass once in a while."

"Wife you'er too good—the truth is, I am d-drunk."

"Oh, no indeed, my dear—I'm sure that even another glass wouldn't hurt you.—Now suppose you take a glass of Scotch ale with me, just as a night-cap, my dear?"

"You are too kind, my dear, by half; I know I'm d-drunk."

"Oh, no, only a julep too much, love, that's all. Well, take a glass of ale at any rate; it cannot hurt you, dear; I want one myself before I retire."

The lady hastened to open a bottle, and as she placed two tumblers before her on the side-board, she put in one a very powerful emetic. Filling the glasses with foaming ale, she handed that one, with a bewitching smile, to her husband. Suspicions came cloudily upon his mind. She had never been so kind to him when he was drunk.—He looked at the glass, raised it to his lips—then hesitated.

"Dear, won't you just taste of mine to make it sweeter?"

"Certainly, love," replied the lady, taking a mouthful, which she was very careful not to swallow.

Suspicions vanished, and so did the ale, emetic, and all, down the throat of the satisfied husband. After spitting out the taste, the lady finished her glass, but seemed in no hurry to retire.

She fixed a foot-tub of water before an easy chair, for which the husband was curious to know the reason. A few minutes later, the gulp and splurge from the husband gave the answer.

The brick was gone when he rose from his easy chair, and he never after carried one home to his wife.

☞ Two Indians at Red River Settlement placed two large bags of gunpowder on a pan of hot ashes at a church door as they went in; which soon exploded terrifically, and nearly shook the meeting-house down.

NOT SO BAD.—The saying of a White Mountain stage driver to a New-Yorker sitting with him, "I 'spose if I went doun to York I should geawk reound just as yeou folks do up hear," is not bad.

Oliver Goldsmith once remarked that true merit consisted, not in a man's never falling, but in rising as often as he falls.

Scandal is a bit of false money, and he who passes it is frequently as bad as he who originally coined it.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller then is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say "It cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, APRIL 16, 1860.

FAST DAY.—The New Hampshire Gazette of Saturday finds fault with the Governor and Council, for not appointing the State Fast in Lent—and says:

As it stood, it was disregarded by many as a thing quite out of place.

The very next paragraph in the same paper tells the reader "how it was observed"—in terms like these:

Thursday last, recommended as a day of fasting and prayer, passed very quietly in this city. People generally obeyed the injunction of the proclamation, by refraining from their usual avocations. In the forenoon the several churches were well attended, and the afternoon was devoted to pleasures suited to each individual taste.

The Chronicle of Saturday says:

Marshal Beck informs us that Fast Day in this city, was unusually quiet, and general order prevailed.—There were but few cases of drunkenness, and no arrests were made.

The reader can probably draw his own conclusions as to the harmony of growl No. 1 with smile No. 2—and also whether a proclamation can be disregarded when it is generally obeyed.

The City Marshal's testimony shows that those Christians (if any) who were "offended by a Fast after Easter, were neither numerous nor noisy—for he says the day was unusually quiet—but little drunkenness and no arrests.

State Fasts in New Hampshire, as in all New England, are of Puritan origin, and are usually on the First or Second Thursday in the month of April, without reference to Easter, which day has been in March, ten times within the last 27 years.

In some New England States, Good Friday has been appointed as the State Fast: we think never in New Hampshire:—and it is hardly probable that our Governor and Council, as a general thing, are posted up as to the Fasts and Feasts of the Church or of the Churches, if it be proper so to speak.

It is fair to presume they would have no objection to appointing their State Fast in the Season of Lent; but it has been common to appoint different days in different States, very conveniently for many preachers.

The usage of a New England Fast Day in April, and a Thanksgiving Day in November, is more than 200 years old, and still unchanged.

☞ Garibaldi appears to maintain unabated his popularity in Italy, and his birthday, March 19, was celebrated at Rome by a Te Deum, intoned in a church by a party of students. As Garibaldi is a native of Nice, and as Nice is now a French city, it is remarked that he will probably represent that city in the French Corps. It will be a curious instance of the vicissitudes of life to see the defender of Rome, the exile of the marshes of Ravenna, the candle dealer of Staten Island, and the hero of the late Italian war, a member of the Imperial government of France.

SLANDER JUSTIFYING MURDER.—Wm. H. Burkley was tried in King and Queen county, Va., on the 5th inst., for shooting and killing Joseph Broach. A letter to the Richmond Enquirer says the charge was admitted, and justified upon the plea that Broach had willfully and maliciously slandered Burkley's daughter, a young lady still in her teens and at school. The court, after hearing the evidence, without argument from counsel, discharged the prisoner, who is one of the most respectable citizens of the county. The trial created intense excitement, and when the verdict was announced, the whole crowd of spectators rose to their feet and gave vent to the most hearty approbation.

THE CHELSEA "AFFINITY CASE."—Leonard W. Cheeney and Abigail Pratt, both of Chelsea, were arraigned in the Superior Court, Monday, on an indictment for adultery. The man pleaded not guilty, and the woman responded—"In the sight of my God and my conscience I am not guilty, but in the sight of the law I am guilty."—The counsel for the woman stated that she was laboring under a delusion produced by Spiritualism, and a plea of not guilty was entered.

☞ Not many days ago, in the Senate, Mr. Hale introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Naval Affairs to enquire whether any corporeal punishment has been substituted since the abolition of flogging in the navy, and by what authority; and what steps have been taken in regard to the recent murder on board a U. S. vessel, and what steps may be necessary for the protection of seamen on board United States and merchant vessels. Adopted.

Mr. Hale also introduced a bill for the protection of witnesses in criminal cases in the District of Columbia.

NEW CODE OF MORALS.—Senator Wigfall of Texas, "the illustrious Wigfall," declares that "poverty is a crime. The man who was poor had sinned, and there was a screw loose in his head somewhere."

☞ The Lynn striking shoemakers had a meeting on Thursday evening, and voted to rest their strike with the Journeymen Cordwainer's Association in the several wards of the city.

There were less than five hundred persons present at the meeting. Mr. Wyman submitted the resolutions and advocated their adoption. Mr. Dillon explained that every man was now at liberty to go to work when he could get his price; and if he could not get work, he must apply to the ward organization for assistance. He thought the strike was not a total failure, as it had partially cleared the market of shoes, and raised the price of work.

Mr. Hawley of Haverhill made a characteristic speech, throwing the blame on everybody in general and some in particular. He advised the jours to take their packs on their backs, and leave town; whereupon some of them returned the compliment and advised him to go back to Haverhill and take care of his own strike.

Several other speakers made remarks, and the meeting then adjourned. The Boston Journal's reporter adds:

The ward organizations referred to in the resolutions are composed of journeymen shoemakers, who bind themselves by their constitutions not to work for any manufacturer who employs other than members of the association. They can hardly be said to be in working order yet.

This closes the strike in Lynn.

The U. S. House of Representatives have passed a bill abolishing polygamy in every State and Territory of the United States.—Exchange.

The House of Representatives have not done any such thing! They have only passed a bill forbidding polygamy in the Territories, and other places within their jurisdiction,—i. e. forts, arsenals, navy yards, unorganized territory, etc. It does not touch a State.

SAD AFFAIR IN VIRGINIA.—A letter to the Richmond Dispatch from Harrisburg, Virginia, states "that a Mr. Sites was married in that county a few nights ago, to a Miss Devier, and that a party of young men attempted to serenade the new couple with tin pans, bells, &c. James Devier, a brother of the bride, went out and remonstrated, when the serenaders took to their heels. He however pursued them when one of them, named Smallwood, shot him dead."

☞ In Groton, Tompkins county, N. Y., a few days ago, a merchant was knocked down, jumped upon, and left for dead, by a machinist, who had discovered a criminal intimacy between his wife and the merchant. The merchant and the unfortunate woman were members of the Methodist Church, and for a year had been thrown much together at prayer meetings.

HARVARD COLLEGE.—A new house for the President of the College will be built immediately, a fund of $20,000 being available for that purpose. It was at first thought advisable to build on the site of the Music Hall, but the corporation have decided upon the vacant lot in the college yard fronting on Quincy street, and next the dwelling occupied by Dr. Walker while President.

A GOOD MOVEMENT.—The New York Assembly has passed a resolution appointing Wm. C. Bryant, Robert B. Minturn, Mason F. Coggswell, Alexander Hamilton, Jr., and Alfred Pell, commissioners to examine into the prison discipline system of the State, with a view of ameliorating the condition of discharged prisoners, and aiding them to reform their lives; the commission to report to the next Legislature.

CRUELTY TO SEAMEN.—In the United States Circuit Court, at New York, on Thursday, George Dawes, mate of ship Humming Bird, who had been convicted of manslaughter, in causing the death of a seaman named Humphreys, who fell overboard and was drowned, was sentenced to hard labor in the State Prison for three years, and to pay a fine of $500.

☞ George P. Burnham, Ex-State Liquor Commissioner of Massachusetts, has been placed in Insolvency. Attachments for $60,000 on his real estate are thus dissolved. One claim is founded on a note for $25,000, to A. S. Mansfied, to which Burnham objects, because it was given in payment for liquors, as he says illegally purchased.

☞ The marriage which took place some three years since, between Maria S. H. Tucker, of New Haven, and Alfred W. Upham of New York, the dead book agent, has been annulled on the ground of bigamy, and Miss Tucker has recovered $2000 damages.

☞ An old barn belonging to Ellen Conant, in Concord, Mass., nearly opposite the school of Frank B. Sanborn, and used by the party who attempted to take Mr. Sanborn away last week, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night.

☞ Peterson's Magazine, the Ladies' National, for May, contains a frontispiece, Saturday Night, fashion plate, and The Good Night.

HOMESTEAD BILL.

In the U. S. Senate, April 11, the Homestead bill was taken up.

Mr. Johnson of Tennessee replied to Mr. Mason's remarks of yesterday. He thought it singular that the Tennessee Senators were singled out as objects of attack. The Senator from Virginia seemed to think that the Senator from Wisconsin had thrown a flood of light upon the subject. His stomach was sick to nausea of this eternal agitation of the slavery question. He thought there was no connection between the homestead and slavery questions. The homestead bill was a great philanthropic, Christian measure, rising above parties; but he believed that if the ten commandments or the Lord's prayer were under consideration, the negro would be introduced somewhere. The country, north and south, was becoming tired of the eternal agitation of the slavery question. The homestead principle was introduced in 1791, under the administration of George Washington, who he believed was from the Old Dominion, and he signed the bill. He believed that he was as great a man as any of the modern lights, and he preferred following his guidance.—Jefferson also endorsed the principle, and he preferred being associated with Washington and Jefferson than with those who now represented Virginia.

The Republican party, being short of capital, had seized upon the homestead measure because it was popular, but it was originated before the Republican party existed, and was of Democratic origin. He replied to Wigfall's remark that poverty was a crime, and said if this were so, the country was full of criminals. Mr. Johnson discussed a large variety of topics, and in the course of his remarks said that Mr. Calhoun was more of a politician than a statesman. He had only established a sect.

Mr. Johnston was quite caustic in his allusions to the Senator from Virginia, and defended the Homestead principle at considerable length.

Mr. Mason replied that he was surprised that the Senator had poured out vials of wrath upon him. He supposed that they were on the same side of the channel and united by common interests.

Mr. WIGFALL further discussed the subject. He was tired of this twaddle about the people. He denied that the homestead bill was a Democratic measure, and asked when did it become a part of their platform. It has been adopted by the Republicans, and is designed to cut the throats of the Southerners. Anybody that denies that this government is a compact between the States, is no Democrat. He reiterated that the homestead bill constituted part of the Republican platform.

Mr. Pugh—Where do you find it in the Republican platform?

Mr. Wigfall (pointing to Mr. Seward and Lord Lyons, who were talking together on one of the sofas)—There it is talking to Lord Lyons. The British minister and the platform are together.

Mr. Pugh—I deny that the Republican platform says anything about the homestead bill. They have only taken it up according to their habit of picking up whatever they find lying about loose.

Mr. Wigfall apologized for referring to gentlemen by name, and then continued his remarks.

Mr. Brown moved to postpone the subject till Tuesday, as he wished to speak.

Mr. Wade was willing, provided they could obtain a vote on Wednesday.

Mr. Brown and others were willing to consent to this arrangement.

Mr. Douglas urged the propriety of fixing a day or the final vote.

The bill was then re-committed.

☞ Only a step from the sublime to the ridiculous.—Even so says Uncle Toby, as he reads how Pryor and Potter have not fought yet, and probably will not. A Washington item of the 13th, says:

No duel yet. In answer to a peremptory challenge from Pryor, Col. Lander, as the friend of Potter, accepted it, naming common bowie knives as the weapons. Chisman, as the friend of Pryor, protested against the weapon as vulgar, whereupon Lander offered himself as a substitute for Potter, with other weapons. Chisman declined, on the ground that Pryor had no cause of quarrel with Lander. Thus matters stand at present. Pryor is in Virginia, and thus far is ignorant of his second's proceedings.

The above is based on information obtained in Democratic quarters. The following is the Republican version: It is understood that after Mr. Potter replied to Mr. Pryor's first note that he would receive any message that might be sent him in the District, Mr. Pryor asked him if he would accept a challenge, to which Mr. Potter replied that he would inform whenever a challenge reached him. Mr. Pryor then sent him a challenge, to which Mr. Potter replied, referring him to Col. Lander to make the necessary arrangements.

The terms as proposed by Col. Lander to Mr. T. P. Chisham, were that Mr. Potter, though disclaiming allegiance to the code, would fight Mr. Pryor in any place indoors, or out of the District, with bowie-knives.—This was declined on the ground that the weapons were barbarous and inhuman, and not usual among gentlemen. To this Col. Lander replied that Mr. Potter detested the whole system of duelling as barbarous and inhuman, but being called to account for the exercise of free speech on the floor of the House, he consented, not being accustomed to the weapons of the duellist, to meet them in a way that would place them on equal terms, and to name the time, place, and weapons; but, as the weapons named by Mr. Potter were objected to, Col. Lander, without Mr. Potter's knowledge, tendered himself to Mr. Pryor, without restrictions, which was also declined, on the ground that he had no quarrel with Col. Lander.

The correspondence between the friends of Mr. Potter and Mr. Pryor did not close till this morning. It cannot be published until Mr. Chisham, who was Mr. Pryor's principal friend, can be seen and his consent obtained.

This is the end of the matter.

☞ Great damage was done on the rivers in central Ohio, last week.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—There has been a current rumor that certain gentlemen were waylaying Mr. Lovejoy to assault him. It was given out that Lovejoy was prepared for any emergency, and that his friends would keep constant watch of him, and defend him, so that if such a plot has existed, it has been deemed advisable to drop it. He will not be molested.

Before the Covode Committee to-day, Mr. Plitt testified that he received in 1856, from W. C. N. Swift, of New Bedford, Mass., about $16,000, to be expended in the Presidential election, with the understanding that he was to use his influence (if the Democracy triumphed,) in obtaining for Swift contracts for supplying the government with live oak timber.

KENTUCKY TROUBLES ENDED.—New York, Apr. 13.—A letter from Cassius M. Clay, dated April 10, says:—"Our troubles with the committee are, we trust, ended forever. We are left to the enjoyment of our constitutional rights."

The Grand Jury to-day brought in an indictment for piracy and murder against Hicks, alias Johnson. This is the case of the oyster sloop tragedy.

The New York Methodist Conference has been engaged all day in an exciting debate on slavery.

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible condition, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

EXETER, Friday, April 13.

The case, Mechanics & Traders Bank, Portsmouth, vs. Thomas Frisbie, of Kittery, was on trial. This action was brought upon a promissory note for $250. Defence was that note was given for an illegal consideration, and that Plfs. were not the bona fide holders of the note. The case was argued by Emery for Plfs. and Christie for Defts., and given to the jury on Saturday afternoon. Emery and Hatch for plfts., Christie and Wilcox for defts. It appeared in evidence that a son of Frisbie was accused of theft and other crimes, in Florida, and was followed and arrested in Kittery; that his father, to stop legal proceedings, gave this note, and afterwards refused to pay it, on above grounds.

On Saturday, the Grand Jury reported twenty indictments, and were discharged. Those made public are as follows:

Richard S. Richardson and Sarah Ann Healey, for the murder of Stephen Healey, at Auburn, March 6th. They plead not guilty. Hon. Wm. C. Clarke and B. P. Cilley of Manchester, were assigned as their counsel by the Court. It is understood that a strong effort will be made to postpone the trial to the next Term, at Portsmouth, as the woman is sick.

Stephen L. Emery—for receiving and concealing stolen property. Plea not guilty—case continued to Oct. term. Bail fixed at $500.

Sam'l. C. Lamos—2 indictments; for entering barn of Ammi R. Wiggin, and stealing harness—for entering shop of Edmund Giddings, and stealing oats, etc. Plea to each, not guilty.

James Happenny—setting fire to a barn in Portsmouth. Plea not guilty. Hackett for respondent.

Joseph Nickett—fraudulently disposing of shoe stock. Plea not guilty.

John Robbins—3 indictments for selling liquor; plea nol. con., and fined $50 and costs on each.

The Criminal Docket will be taken up on Monday.

ROCKINGAHM FAIR.—A meeting of the Trustees was held at Exeter on Saturday. It was decided to have a Fair next Fall—but the exact time, and the location, were not fixed upon—and the place chosen will doubtless depend somewhat upon the liberality of the citizens of Portsmouth or Exeter. Among the premiums, those for Crops of not less than 1-4 acre, are $5 for the best corn, $5 for second best do, ($1 for best bushel do. on ear;) $4 each, for best crop rye, wheat, barley, oats, potatoes; $2 each for best 1-8 acre crop onions or carrots.

☞ The Annual Commencement at Dartmouth College occurs Thursday, July 26. The address before the Theological Society will be by Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler, of New York city; the annual poem by Mortimer Thompson, (Doesticks) of the same city. Hon. Ira Perley will deliver a eulogy on Rufus Choate, and Hon. Edward Everett has been invited to address the united literary societies.

☞ The New Hampshire (Statesmrn) Political Manual, for 1860, will be published April 18.—It is a very convenient book, containing tables of Votes for Governor, President, &c. and much other information. 7 cts. in postage stamps, sent to McFarland & Jenks, Concord, will bring the book, post paid.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

☞ Friday, April 13, in Congress, was mainly devoted to private bills, as it ought to be.

In the Senate, Mr. Wilson's resolution relative to the slave trade was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Sumner presented supplementary papers to the memorial of Mr. Sanborn, containing an authenticated copy of the writ of habeas corpus in the case of his discharge. Mr. Sumner alluded to the fact that there was no resistance by a mob, as previously stated in the Senate, unless it was by the kidnappers who arrested Mr. Sanborn.—The Special Committee knew that ex-Gov. Wise was in possession of important facts relating to the Harper's Ferry affair, which he would not disclose for rubies, and threw down the challenge to the Committee and the country that he would not appear. Yet he was not summoned, and two Northern men, who knew nothing about the matter, were arrested—one put in jail, the other kidnapped.

Mr. Mason said so far as he spoke of the actions of the Committee, the Senate knew nothing of them. The Committee would report in due time.

Mr. Sumner replied that Mr. Wise was not kidnapped nor handcuffed—a fact that was apparent to all.

The papers and memorial were laid on the table.

A lady who had read of the extensive manufacture of odometers, to tell how far a carriage had been run, said she wished some Connecticut genius would invent a machine to tell how far husbands had been in the evening, when they "just stepped down to the post office," or "went out to attend a caucus."—Springfield Repub.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by strained; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an-hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in the manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

"ABUSE OF LIQUORS."—"There is still a large class who have not done prating about what they call abuse of liquor."—"If men would but use it without abusing it, all would be well," say they; and under this delusion they go on using it, as wasted millions have done before them, and are vainly striving to escape an abuse which is inevitable, which human experience proves is inseparable from its use. I do not mean to say that all who taste liquor will become regular tipplers, will become gutter-sots; but I do assert, that out of the mass of moderate drinkers, there will always be a considerable portion who cannot by any means be kept within the bounds of "moderation." I feel perfectly assured, sottishness of the very worse kind, with all its inseparable horrors, will continue to a greater or less extent, so long as the habit of using intoxicating drinks is continued; and that a generation of temperate drinkers, without drunkards, is an impossibility. The whole history of intemperance, written as it is, in letters of blood and prodigies of crime, and hecatombs of mangled wretches, prove this. No man at this day, not even the rumseller himself, believes that the practice of drinking can be generally indulged, without making drunkards of the most abandoned character. A community of tipplers, without sots, was never known; the world has never witnessed anything like it, or even an approach to it, and never will until the Almighty remodels the constitution of man.—Detroit Journal.

WORTHY OF
Universal Confidence and Patronage.

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefited by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with them, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dye. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Alamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all! Yours truly,

WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like.—By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. Send me a dozen certificates in the Mobile Mercury, or a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the greater portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1851, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, and more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, D. C., for the act of 1837.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions.—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the validity of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that success is MORE FREQUENT AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast amount of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full access to models of patents in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, more capable of securing a patent, application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications for patents, of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept. 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made no charge, received no compensation, for 11 APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1859. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the fluid become vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may break out in any one part or any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously called the mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, in all, by the general term, "the sins of the fathers unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, produces the consumption (so termed tubercles); in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which always lurks in the blood, undermines the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, find victims only in those who have in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in scrofula, and is rendered fatally by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in scrofula, and is rendered fatally by this taint in the system. Most of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must purify the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of man has been able to devise for the more prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the extirpation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIVE AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The purifying and curative virtues of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their purgative properties are such to remove prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

DISPEPSIA AND DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINTS, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DYSENTERY, DIARRHŒA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, AND for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So widely is the fame of its wonderful cures spread, so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in those who have been cured by it of dangerous diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thru t upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents a fixed proportion of the elements, and gives of course the True Standard.—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Nervous, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies with the same elements, and gives of course the True Standard.—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Nervous, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies with the same elements, and, as a result, we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies with the same elements, and we find the "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—hence its astonishing success. There are FIVE HUNDRED MILLIONS required to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT, LUNGS, including CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all those deficiencies and complaints arising from EXCESS, GENERAL DEBILITY, and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Nothing already prepared for absorption it is taken by the lungs and carried immediately into the circulation, so that whatever you gain you retain. The No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for these deficiencies. For RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price, of the "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in the proper dose, to a child, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflamation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain. It has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which other remedies for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; the only one safe upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

THE RIOT AT ROME.

The surgical reports to the Roman Government, made up to 22d ult., show that 147 had been killed and wounded on the outbreak on the 19th ult. The two brothers Barberi had been arrested on suspicion of being disaffected, at the French post, on the Piazza Colonna. Upon the spreading of the news of the arrest, the people rushed to the square from the small streets in the neighborhood. The sentinel called to arms, and the commander of the post, Captain Gorde, ordered his men to charge upon the people with lowered bayonets and clear the square. The narrow street of the Corso became blocked up, while the Papal gendarmes, on foot and horseback, came along charging furiously. There was all along the Corso only one outcry—"The women! the women! spare the women!" But some of the police officers ran up and down, crying —"Now you are at it, make an end of it. Close with them! Kill them all!" The lateral streets were penetrated, and lives were lost on both sides. Though quickly cleared by the sword, the Corso was as quickly filled up again by men armed with sticks and knives, breathing wrath and vengeance from scowling countenances, and cursing themselves for allowing themselves to be caught unprepared in the first instance, their object then being to liberate the two Barberi.

On the other hand, the Gendarmes appear also to have lost all control of themselves. They rushed into the cafés and cut down old men quietly playing at cards.—The American Vice-Consul was laid down with a severe stab in his side. Ladies and their attendants received severe wounds while sitting in their carriages. Children were killed in the arms of their mothers. Several of the French soldiers off duty were wounded in the melee, and sixteen French officers have sent challenges to Captain Gorde, who turned French bayonets against the people at the beginning of the fray. He has been expelled from the club and the officers' mess. The French general has not escaped censure. The officers believe he might have stopped the outbreak if he had exerted himself promptly at first. In his reply to a warrant on the part of the French officers, he would not admit that the gendarmes had exceeded their instructions. The colonel of that body had waited upon the French General, Guyon, to apologize for a casualty by which two French officers had been wounded; and this general had issued an order directing the French military to keep away from crowds and scenes of popular excitement. The arrests have been very numerous.—Boston Courier.

Lola Montez is lecturing in the West to immense audiences, and making heaps of money. The women refuse to patronize her; they generally show their consistency, however, in rushing to hear men whose character, compared with Lola's is blacker than midnight by the side of noonday. There are some offences which a woman never forgives in a woman, though the same act does not affect the standing of a man, in their estimation.—Newburyport Herald.

PREPARED.—One of the Pittsburg papers says that one hundred and eleven barrels of old Monongahela whisky have been sent to the steamer which is to take the Pennsylvania delegates to Charleston. It is patriotic to take the Pennsylvania beverage along, and we should think that with prudent and temperate management, the delegates of that State might make the above quantity last through convention week. We shall not be surprised to hear that, "as goes the Keystone delegation, so goes the convention."—Providence Journal.

A woman in Lyons, France, the wife of a shopkeeper, recently gave birth to her fifteenth child; she is only 40 years old.—Her eldest daughter married the brother of her second husband (she has buried her first husband) and has had by him one child. The shopkeeper's wife is consequently sister-in-law of her own daughter; grandmother and aunt of her child; while her daughter is the aunt of her brother, and child No. 15 is uncle of his aunt, and brother of his first cousin.

The Democrats of Missouri find much fault with the action of Governor Stewart, but attribute all his wanderings to confirmed drunkenness. He replies that they have no right to find fault with his intoxication, for he was drunk when they nominated him, drukk when they elected him, dunk when they inaugurated him, and drunk he means to be till the end of his term—Newburyport Herald.

A ROUNDABOUT WAY.—An Exchange says that at Brownsville, Texas, a Kentucky horse drover has purchased 900 horses and mules, which he intends driving to Springfield, Ill., and shipping them by railroad to New Haven, Conn.; whence they are to be shipped to the West Indies. No Yankee would take so much trouble as that. He would devise means to ship them direct from Texas, by water.

The Pope, it is said, has addressed a letter to Victor Emmanuel, breaking off all connection with and excommunicating him. His Holiness is not the first professed christian who has broken off all connection with "Prince Emmanuel."—Bath Times.

QUILP says those "Schools of Design for Women" ought to be shut up, at once. As if women, says he, had any need of instruction in the designing arts!—

"Wi tat private grief he has, that makes him say 'I, Ais e? We know not.—"

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!

These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, APRIL 17, 1860.

A ROYAL SPRIG.—It seems to be pretty certain that the oldest son of the lady-sovereign of England, known in court phrase as the Prince of Wales, is to come to these Western shores the next ensuing summer. The London Times approves of the project as a measure in pleasing and useful contrast to the immobility of the Georges.—The first and second of those Hanoverian-procured English monarchs made no other excursions than from England to their first home, while the third George was nearly as immovable as the Tycoon of Japan—his journeys being oscillations between London and Windsor—20 miles; while an excursion no more distant than Weymouth was regarded as a great undertaking. So says the Times.

It is announced that the squadron to convey the Prince of Wales to Canada on his forthcoming visit, will consist of the screw steamer Hero, 91 guns; the Ariadne, screw, 26 guns; the Flying Fish, screw, 6 guns; and the royal paddle yacht Osborne. The Prince will take his passage out and home in the Hero, one of the finest vessels of her class in the Navy. The yacht Osborne will be retained for service on the coasts and rivers of Canada.

☞ The Statesman says the Warren Silver, Lead and Copper Mine, at Warren, N. H., is now in active operation, being worked by a company comprising some of the most sagacious and wealthy men of Boston. It is under the superintendence of Mr. H. H. Shelden; about twenty-five men are employed, and a large quantity of ore is raised daily.—A fire occurred in the sugar camp of Mr. Nathan Gove, of Warren, last Saturday evening. A large quantity of sugar was destroyed.—A company has been formed to erect a large hotel on the summit of Moosehillock mountain.

☞ At a party given by Senator Thompson, at Washington, a few evenings since, two 'deadheads' availed themselves of the occasion to drop in and take a little cake and wine. They were, however, put out without calling out the fire department.—Such things are not unfrequent at Washington, where they do not believe that so little a thing as the lack of an invitation should keep a gentleman away from a party to which he wishes to go.

HOUSE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A Young Lady Instantly Killed.—We learn from the Lafayette (Ind.) Journal, April 10th, that on Monday last, about 12 o'cl'k, the dwelling house of J. H. Newton, in Wabash township, five miles from that city, was struck by lightning, instantly killing a young lady, Miss Isabella Pogue, who was sitting by a window in company with Mrs. Newton, the latter receiving a severe shock, but not being seriously injured. The fluid also set fire to the building. Mr. Newton, who was working in his garden near by, was not aware that the bolt had struck the building until called in by his wife, when he found the young lady lying on the floor. Every possible effort was made to restore her to consciousness, but without avail—life was extinct. In the excitement of the moment, they did not discover that the dwelling was on fire, and only discovered it in time to save themselves and the body of the young woman.

☞ Mr. Brown, of Mississippi, said in the Senate, on Thursday, that he would go for the education of slaves, if the North would only stop "agitation." Is this to be regarded as an offer for mutual compromise? Educate the slaves, and probably they would do their own agitating. Mr. Mason took the opposite ground, and was against all education for slaves. He would not only have them beasts, but ignorant beasts. He is logically as right as he is morally wrong.

☞ The Vicksburg Sun of Saturday, March 31, says that a negro man belonging to Mr. Woodfolk, on Deer Creek, was recently burned at the stake, for the murder of a negro woman. All the negroes on that and the adjoining plantations witnessed the burning. "His fate was decreed by a council of highly respectable gentlemen."

SHORT BUT EMPHATIC.—John Short, a burglar whose shortcomings placed him in the jail at Newport, R. I., and who broke out about a week since, has written a letter to the Mayor of that city, which is decidedly cool. The letter is dated Newport, and says:

"Mr. Mayor—I have taken the job of rebuilding the Pemberton mills at Lawrence, and will be obliged to absent myself from the city for some time in consequence. On my return I will take a contract for repairing the Newport jail, as in my opinion it is not of sufficient security for the incarceration of prisoners."

☞ We regret to learn that Prof. Agassiz is greatly afflicted with weakness of the eyes, in consequence of which he prosecutes his scientific labors with difficulty.

THE HORSE GUARDS.

The New Hampshire Governor's Horse Guards had a drill and parade on Thursday last, at Concord and Nashua. Col. Bellows put about sixty men and horses through a pretty severe, though interesting and exciting, drill of four hours, at Concord—as we had pleasant personal experience; and concerning the turn-out at Nashua, and the attractions of the institution (the corps) generally, Col. Beard, of the Telegraph, says:—

In the afternoon, the Governor's Horse Guards, belonging in this vicinage, with some volunteers who have aspirations after equestrian achievement, tried the mettle of their chargers on the fair ground. Making some pretensions to skill in horsemanship, and aspiring in our early days to the glory of a trooper, we had some thought of trying to revive our disused ability, and show how to "witch the world," and so forth; but remembering that we were quite out of practice, it occurred to us that perhaps we had better recline on the laurels won, rather than attempt to win new ones. Besides, we have to be very careful how we enter into temptation, for we have to confess to a weakness touching these same Governor's Horse Guards. We never think of them in their equipage, but we want to be there; but as Mrs. Partington might say, it is costive, and the proverb says, "Time is money." We have n't time. And so we have to nurse up our good resolutions, which have so little merit in them, and keep out of harm's way. * * * *

But here come the Governor's Horse Guards themselves, down the street, with horses prancing, bugles sounding, dolmans waving, and sabres gleaming. Many of them have the undress uniform, and a few with the fall toggery, except the shako, while the rear is brought up by humble citizens in common attire—a motley crowd.—The Cornet Band is at the head, and crowds hang on either flank of the novel array. The full uniform surpasses in brilliancy, showiness and jauntiness, anything of the kind in New England, and is of a style hitherto unseen there. * * *

And we learn that Col. Gage gave a very rich entertainment to the members of the Horse Guards at the Pearl Street House.

The ranks of the corps are filling up, and we learn that exertions will be made to muster a Company, to drill in this vicinity—in Portsmouth, Dover, Exeter, &c. This certainly ought to be done, seeing the Governor in whose honor the troop will first appear, is a resident of this section of the State.

OUR FARM OF FOUR ACRES, and the Money we made by it. From the 12th London edition, with an Introduction by Peter B. Mead, editor of the Horticulturist. 126 pages: published by C. M. Saxton, Barker & Co., New York.

The title of the book gives an idea of its purpose; but not of its contents. It is written by a lady, in a lively style, goes into detail; and while it is interesting, like any good story well told, is also instructive, as to how to do the things well.

Mr. J. H. Foster sells the book in this city.

☞ Prof. W. Williams of Boston commenced a Musical Convention at Salmon Falls on Wednesday last, and had a large attendance. He gave two concerts on Saturday and Monday evenings, assisted by Miss A. A. Horne of Dover, and Miss M. Durgin of Exeter. Prof. W. is a man of energy and ability, and well understands how to manage conventions and concerts.

☞ The three Southern Representatives who voted for the admission of Kansas were Messrs. Barrett of Missouri, Etheridge of Tennessee, and Webster of Maryland; and the three Northern men who voted against it were Messrs. English, Sickles and Scott. It is an honor to any measure, to be voted against by Sickles and English.

☞ The massacre of the people of Rome shows what Popery is in its true character. The cry to "kill all," so as to cause women and children to be among the victims, will remind the reader of a similar cry at another Popish massacre. The rulers of Rome are as savage and ruthless now as they were in the days of the Albigenses.

☞ The Boston Post says that in consequence of important professional engagements, Gen. Cushing will be unable to attend the National Convention at Charleston. Dr. Loring will also be prevented from attending by sickness in his family.

☞ Joel Puffer, a poor inebriate at the Pauper Farm, in Concord, attempted to commit suicide one evening last week, while suffering from an attack of delirium tremens. He inflicted a severe wound upon his throat, but will undoubtedly recover.

☞ The U. S. Senate Committee on Military Affairs has again rejected the proposition to call out a Texas regiment of mounted volunteers, and it may be considered dead.

☞ The Attorney General concurs with the Secretary of the Navy in justifying the capture of the Mexican steamers, and has given opinion to that effect. They are libelled at New Orleans as prizes.

☞ The colored people of New York are quarrelling about the proposition to send them to Africa, and they talk as coarsely as if they were white people.

Arrival of the Pony Express

FROM CALIFORNIA IN TEN DAYS.

ST. JOSEPHS, MO., April 14.—The first messenger on the Central Overland Pony Express, arrived here at 4 P. M., yesterday, with California dates to April 3d, and Carson Valley dates to the 4th. The messenger came through in ten days to a minute, he having left San Francisco at 4 P. M., on April 3d. Owing to the derangement of the wires between here and St. Louis, the reports were delayed till this morning.

The Rover, from Japan, brings 2700 tubs of rape seed oil, 300 bundles sea weed, 300 bundles cuttle fish, 1300 pieces of plank, and a miscellaneous cargo of Japanese produce. The Ovade for Hong Kong, takes considerable flour, 2000 feet of lumber, and $350,000. The Eagle Wing for New York takes 19,000 hides, 70 bales of wool, 60 casks of California wine, and other domestic products.

The State Capitol seems permanently located at Sacramento, $100,000 having been appropriated for the commencement of a Capitol building, which is to cost, when completed, $600,000.

The Japanese steam corvette Candinamurrah has been in the dry dock at Mare Island navy yard, and been put in complete order, free of charge.

The U. S. steamer Powhattan, with the Japanese embassy, consisting of seventy-two persons, arrived on the 28th. After repairs and coaling, she will proceed to Panama. The embassy propose to spend a month on the Atlantic side, and return via Panama in the Powhattan. The Roanoke is expected to be in waiting at Aspinwall to convey them in Washington. They are so well pleased with the Powhattan, that they express a wish to have her remain at Panama to convey them back to Japan.

The Powhattan brings advices from Japan to the 15th of February. The government of Japan had commenced stamping Mexican dollars, making them legal currency in that country, thus obviating one of the principal difficulties in prosecuting trade with foreigners.

The Powhattan arrived at Honolulu March 5, and remained there till the 18th. The Ambassadors were there received with all the formal honors. Private hospitalities were extended them on every hand, and the King and Queen welcomed them in appropriate terms. They were also entertained at a grand ball, given by the Powhattan, and expressed great delight at the gay and novel scene.

It is estimated that 3000 white men and 2000 Chinamen are engaged in mining on Frazer River.

Mining accounts are very encouraging. New diggings were being discovered in various places.

The news from Oregon and Washington Territory is unimportant.

FATAL MISTAKE.—In Wilmington, N. C., on Saturday evening last, Joseph S. Canady, a young mechanic, who had just purchased a dirk, while jesting with a companion, playfully struck his own breast with the knife, crying, "Lay on Macduff!"—His friend told him that he had stabbed himself. He stated that he had not, but upon looking at his breast perceived the blood, when he uttered "Good Lord!" and falling backwards in the door, died almost immediately. It is supposed that when he struck himself with the dagger, he intended to do so with the handle, as he had often done before, repeating dramatic quotations, and "suiting the action to the word."

STATE PRINTING.—We have received a copy of the Laws passed at the last session of the Legislature. The pamphlet also contains a pefect index to all the pamphlet laws passed since 1853, when the statutes were compiled. It is printed by Asa McFarland, State Printer. It is no disparagement to anybody else, to say that it is the handsomest specimen of State Printing ever done in New Hampshire. McFarland & Jenks are probably the best printers out of Boston and Cambridge, in New England; and their work will compare favorably even with that of those places.—Nashua Telegraph.

☞ Messrs. Harris & Chapman have just opened a new, elegant and commodious Apothecary Store on Colonnade Row, 130 Tremont street, corner of Winter st., Boston, fronting the Common. Mr. Theod. S. Harris is a son of Portsmouth, and well known as clerk for O. Tompkins for several years. The new firm will be found fully competent for their business.

BALTIMORE, April 16.—The steamship S. R. Spaulding, with the New England delegation to the Charleston Convention, arrived at this port at 11 1-2 o'clock this forenoon. Except a few hours when the ship was off Block Island, the passage has been extremely pleasant. Most of the ship's company will leave for Washington to-morrow morning. The ship will leave for Charleston on Wednesday evening. All are well.—Boston Journal.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Hon. Wm. Preston, Embassador to Spain, returned by the Baalbec, and has proceeded to Washington. It is asserted that he has negotiated a treaty with the Queen's government, whereby all the questions hitherto in issue between the two nations are adjusted and the most amicable ties re-established.

A Washington despatch says the President has decided to remove Geo. N. Saunders from the office of Navy Agent at this port. Mr. S. is a Douglas partizan.

THE FIRST STEP.—Rev. W. H. Eaton, of Nashua, delivered an earnest lecture upon temperance, at the City Hall on Sunday evening. His subject was the First Step, or Intemperance and its Associate Vices. His text was "As the Lord liveth and as my soul liveth, there is but one step between me and death." The sermon was addressed personally to a single young man.

DR. MOTT'S
CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.
An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.
The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions include its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:
IN DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.
In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.
In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.
It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.
In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.
In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.
In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.
In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.
The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.
In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.
In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.
No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.
Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of some bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

Piles.
All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.
BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.
Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.
This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.
The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.
Fier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 20, 1850.
Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may think most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.
Believe me yours, truly,

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to promote it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

EXETER, Monday, April 16.

James Happenny, indicted for setting fire to barn in rear of 39 Hanover street, was tried and found Guilty, and sentenced to two days' solitary and five years at labor in the State Prison. Bell for State; Hackett for respondent.

John Marden, indicted for malicious mischief in throwing a stone through the window of the dwelling of Josiah P. Carter, in this city. For the Chronicle.

FIVE OR TEN MINUTES' TALK ON MORALS.—The following brief outline and detail is suggested as a general standard for the modification of the personal habits of the business community; and though not deemed perfect, yet it is believed to be far better than what is now current.

Breakfast at 8 A. M., composed of the lighter kinds of food, viz., fruit, bread, milk, eggs, &c., or fish and the like.

Business and school hours from 9 to 12, and 1 to 3 o,clock, the interval of one hour at noon to be sacred to refreshment and exercise, walking, &c., with opportunity for a light lunch if needed.

This space of time would enable one to walk to the newly proposed "common" and ornamental grounds at the terminus of Islington street, and what a perfect blessing it would be to bank and office operatives, school teachers and children, storekeepers and their clerks, and all others of whatever occupation, to have such an opportunity for recreation.

Dinner (of the more solid kinds of food, as required,) at 4 o'clock.

Midnight banqueting to be discountenanced, as prejudicial to efficient business and working habits, as fatal to health and comfort, and as a stumbling-block in the way of all who need the influence of sound precedent and example.

Social evening visitings, parties, amusements, &c., 6 to 9 o'clock P. M.

Having above incidentally alluded to the proposed Common, it is highly proper to say more in regard to what seems to the writer to be a crying necessity of many old established towns, (which is happily obviated by most of modern plan,) viz., public breathing places and general play-grounds for children—of which a place the size of this city ought to have at least one principal and two or three smaller ones.

The only barrier that should be raised against this enterprise is in regard to means. All indebtedness on such account as well as almost any other, should be discountenanced as both impolitic and immoral. Let the work be laid out and prosecuted—

1, as far as voluntary services for days' hours' work can be procured.

2, let as much money be spent as can be obtained by gift and subscription. Numerous subscription papers might be made—by one for twenty-five cents and less—one for a dollar—one for five dollars—and one for ten dollars and upwards.

The above are merely hints and suggestions on subjects worthy of earnest inquiry and prompt and vigorous action. P. J. A.

QUICK. — Clipper ship Sierra Nevada sailed from Boston Dec. 24, and arrived in San Francisco March 31st, having made the passage in 97 days; and 14 days after her arrival, the fact was known in Boston, having been brought to the nearest telegraph station by the Pony Express.

Friends of the cause throughout the District are invited to attend, and give their aid in carrying it forward.

☞ We are happy to hear from Gosport that no strong drinks have been publicly sold there during the past winter: the prosperity last fall having crushed out the traffic there. It is to be hoped it may not be revived. The same is true of New Castle.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an-hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

Morning Chronicle.

The city was in a bad condition last Sabbath to receive an attack from the armies of the "Prince of Darkness." Five of our resident clergymen were absent, one was ill, and the people acted in the afternoon as though they were ill too, for most of them remained at home.—Bath Times.

WAIFS FROM WASHINGTON.

The following is from "Perley's" letter to the Boston Journal dated Washington, April 8th. It presents in a short compass a view of the Presidential battle field, and the position and prospects of the combatants.

News from the Presidential Camp; showing the chances of the candidates — The Republicans "Clinging Front" — Disposition to Rally under McLean and Fessenden.

The political contest in which the country will soon be engaged, is the all-engrossing topic here and the chances for each prominent candidate for nomination — at Charleston or at Chicago — are "quoted" very much like stocks in State street, some ranking among the fancies. Saturday night is the best time for learning how political matters stand; and your correspondent proposes to give the result of his last night's "grand rounds," from Capitol Hill to the aristocratic West End.

The Democratic army is not in that disorganized condition which would be supposed by those residing in a section of the country where the party is kept up by "patronage," over which the ins and the outs struggle like dogs over small bones, all the while snarling and snapping at, and abusing each other.

The Democratic army has a scout in every Post Office; a picket guard in every Custom House, Navy Yard and Arsenal; and a main guard of two thousand men in this city; with a full band of editorial trumpeters, whose blowing is rewarded by advertising patronage, while the remainder of the force is paid monthly from the Treasury. These paid Democratic guardsmen constitute the great strength of King Cotton's force, and they are all distinguished for their subservience to him. To use the words of "J. R." who is now their leader, when he was first a United States Senator, "When a man is once appointed to office, all the selfish passions of his nature are enlisted for the purpose of retaining it. The office holders are the enlisted soldiers of that administration by which which they are sustained. Their comfortable existence often depends upon the re-election of their patron."

Patron General Buchanan has had this idea in his mind, while rewarding of late the delegates to Charleston, and is a candidate, notwithstanding all his professions to the contrary. General Joe Lane comes next, with a martial reputation for available use in the contest, — and a very honest man he is, with troops of friends. Hunter, F. F. V., is a statesman of ability, and so wedded to free-trade that the New York importers can afford to give a million of money to secure his election. Breckenridge is personally popular, but he is partially "trumped" by the Guthrie faction, which counts on Jeff. Davis, Cushing, Seymour and the Peirce cohort generally. As for Wises Fernando Wood, Slidell, and other regular aspirants, their chances are "quoted" at low figures and so rather!

Douglas is with these, but not of them. They regard him as the West Point graduates do a civilian appointed in the army, and they would fain snub him and crush out his prospects. But the "Little Giant" is not to be put down, and if he is defeated at Charleston, it is by no means certain that he will not make a march his forces away from King Cotton, drums beating and colors flying, to serve as a nucleus for an independent movement. So much for the Democratic camp.

[Midway between Charleston and Chicago, lies a magnificent flag, cunningly wrought with brave old devices, and guarded by an "independent corps of gentlemen," each one a Major General, who pays heavy taxes, is slightly rheumatic and eminently conservative. King Cotton has encouraged this demonstration, which he may find serviceable, and it may amount to something. But so far there is no rank and file. Sam's boys prefer to take off their regalia and put it away, (it will keep) and enlist under one side or the other, than to train in a third party, headed by old fogies who had not the ability to keep together the cohorts they once commanded, but which gradually dwindled down into mere coporal's guards. This is the opinion of true-blue Americans, where Ever-it goes.]

Now we breath the free air of the North, where camp fires burn brightly, and there are thousands of free white men who consider that their interests need protection, and are more worthy of consideration than are the "chattels" of King Cotton.— They do not all endorse the doctrines advanced by some who profess to be, and who would fain constitute themselves, the Republican party, nor do they wish to see their ideas in any way mixed up with the tenets of that party. This is especially the case with the Americans, who know that at the Northwest the German vote controls the Republican party, but they are willing to unite against a common enemy. In short, it is believed that there is, in these United States, a large majority opposed to Democracy.

This allied army is rallied under the Republican flag; it subscribes to the Republican doctrine as established at the Philadelphia Convention, and expounded by Senator Seward, and until recently it was believed here that the able New Yorker would be selected at Chicago to head the host. But conflicts of every description are uncertain, and side-issues often embarrass the best of causes. The adroitness with which King Cotton terrified the timid with John Brown, and pelted the wavering with Helper's book, repulsed Mr. Sherman's "Old Guard," making it necessary to rally under a leader whose occupation of the Speaker's chair would have lessened the value of manufacturing stock, is significant. The results of the elections in Connecticut and in Rhode Island, with the returns from the local elections in Penn-sylvania, all have the same tendency.— And it is now said by the straightest Republicans "We wish to vote for Mr. Seward, but we prefer to win! Who can we elect?"

Judge McLean—all admit—would have been elected had he been nominated at Philadelphia four years ago. A self-made man—originally a Democrat—eminent as a legislator, an executive officer and a jurist—sound upon the great questions at issue— with a record unsullied by intrigue and no political or social associations of which he should be ashamed—it is believed that if he is nominated he can be elected. He is seventy five years of age, but is vigorous in mind and in body, and is personally popular.

Edward Bates is the candidate of the Blairs and many other prominent Republicans, who are sanguine that if he is nominated he can carry Pennsylvania and other doubtful States, as well as those true to the faith.

William Pitt Fessenden (who is probably better qualified to fill the Presidential chair than any man, except Senator Seward, in the Republican party) is spoken of for Vice President by the friends of Judge McLean and of Mr. Bates.

Cameron, Chase, Lincoln and Wade each have their warm admirers, but your correspondent is of the opinion that at the present time, there is a disposition on the part of the Republican forces to so "change front", as to bring all allies "into line," and to go into the contest with McLean and Fessenden as leaders.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, Rather than act of 1837.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or inventions,—and legal opinions rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered elsewhere, as the subscriber believes he can prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and if SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, enables him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. There, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a more competent and more trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which the patent has been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at more reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on TWICE rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1860. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor believe one who tells you that any is sacred from its ravages. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure water, and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or diseased matter, which in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain and, indeed, all of the vitals, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their sponsors are invaluable to this loathsome infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by a wholesome medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fearful malady. It is composed from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and for the purpose of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from a vitiated state of the BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular virtues and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating power, their mild yet searching and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitality. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health and energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of our household, but the more severe and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of the most remarkable cures of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health and energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of our household, but the more severe and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of the most remarkable cures of these properties, the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what medicine to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incidental to our climate. While many inferior remedies thru upon the community have failed and been discarded, this had gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents the same ANALYSIS in all specimens, and gives of course the True Standard.— Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—hence its astonishing success. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS inclining CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVER-USE, GENERAL DEBILITY, and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINTS, No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by drops and carried immediately into the circulation, followed by results as sure as fate. No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for each. For SALT RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of the "BLOOD FOOD.", $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and that too in terms of the warmest gratitude for its immediate relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING; DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflamation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics and other nostrums, which for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; that you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Some very waggish or very foolish people in France, have been seeking to have the French Senate—Napoleon III.'s own Senate—interfere in behalf of the Pope's temporal power being preserved to that ancient nuisance! Of course, they failed, as the Emperor does not keep up a Senate, with large salaries and appointments, and no duties, to help his enemies. The French Senate smothered the petitions in favor of the Pope, as summarily as the American Senate smothers abolition petitions. If the Pope wishes for a French Senate in his interest, he should have the Bourbons restored.—Traveller.

Mr. Wigfall's declaration, that "poverty is crime," is drawn from the abundance of self-knowledge; for he added, "I myself have been as poor as anybody," i. e., he has been one of the worst of criminals. The heaven-descended saying "Know thyself," seems to have descended upon Wigfall's head like a wig upon any other block, so admirably does it fit his case.—Traveller.

If a man shirks all exercise, and never uses his muscles laboriously, they become powerless from the very inaction; whereas continued and judicious exertion braces the nerves, and fits the man for still more severe feats of strength, until the miserably enervated specimen of humanity becomes a man in fact as well as name, and his descendants are pretty certain to be vigorous in body and mind likewise.

☞ At the Orphan Asylum in Lexington, Ky., the children recently ate by mistake some arsenic prepared for the destruction of rats. Twenty-one of the victims of this mistake were seriously poisoned, but, by great care, were saved from death.

Mr. Pryor has a wife and five children, and therefore has no right to fight a duel, his life being in pledge for his sons and daughters. Mr. Potter has a wife, and she is willing he should fight, so that he is under no domestic obligation to show the white feather.

A metropolitan paper says that the Haskin investigation caught a Tartar in Mr. Butterworth. It is right: the gentleman proved to be a tartar emetic.—Traveller.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18, 1860.

GEN. CALEB CUSHING.

He is certainly a great writer. In Gen. Cushing's letter to the Bangor Union meeting in January last, having referred to the probable election of a Republican Speaker of the House of Representatives, Mr. Cushing continues in the following terms:

If, after that, the two New England States which are soon to hold their annual elections—New Hampshire and Connecticut—shall not redeem themselves—shall not back square out of the cul-de-sac into which they have entered—if, in face of recent occurrences, they shall prove to be persistent in the policy of unconstitutional anti-slavery agitation and legislation in which they, in common with other Northern States, are engaged, it will become all persons in the Eastern States to look after the condition of their property, to wind up all great local enterprises, to sell out their bank, railway and factory stocks, and to betake themselves to hoarding gold against the day of disaster.

Gen. C. asks, What then?—and answers:

In a word, that which we have not yet had, but which all other nations have—cruel war, war at home; and in the perspective distance a man on horseback, with a drawn sword in his hand—some Atlantic Cæsar, or Cromwell, or Napoleon, to secure to the weary world a respite from the dissonant din of the raving ideologies of the brain.

The Boston Journal says, a Republican Speaker has been elected, and New Hampshire and Connecticut have not "backed square out of the cul-de-sac into which they have entered," but, on the contrary, have reiterated their devotion to Republican doctrines. But where is the selling out panic which Gen. Cushing predicted? And the prophet himself—who has seen him rushing off his stocks and turning all his property into gold? A friend of ours has had his eye on the General's fine library ever since the Connecticut election; but he begins to despair of seeing any of those books in the market. Perhaps some of the best editions will yet be brought into Boston by the "predatory guerilla bands roving up and down the country." But, seriously, did even Gen. Cushing ever write a more audacious piece of nonsense than the extract we have quoted?

ARRIVAL OF THE JAPANESE EMBASSY AT SAN FRANCISCO.—The U. S. steamer Powhattan, Capt. Pearson, bearing the flag of Com. Tatnall, arrived at San Francisco on the 27th of March, from Japan, via Honolulu. She brings the Japanese embassy, consisting of two principal Ambassadors, princes of the highest rank among the nobility of the empire, and two associates, who are nobles of nearly equal rank. These four are of the emperor's council. They are accompanied by a suite of sixteen officers, among whom are three interpreters, and fifty-two subordinates—making seventy-two in all.

They bring $100,000 to defray personal expenses, though the embassy is invited at the sole expense of the United States.—They were given the best quarters on board the Powhattan during the voyage, and arrived in good health and highly pleased.

The chief dignitaries are magnificently dressed in embroidered silk robes, each wearing a sword of beautiful workmanship. They have conducted themselves with great dignity and propriety. The Japanese carry an immense amount of baggage, including many boxes of presents to the United States government.

☞ Lovejoy's speech in the House, against polygamy and slavery, has been characterized as fiery, severe, and violent. These things are true,—and it is also true that they produced great wrath, and angry words from the slave side of the House.

It is worth while to recollect, in this connexion, that for about six weeks, the House was entertained by the pro-slavery orators, who poured out scores of speeches, at least as fiery, severe and violent as Lovejoy's—with only this difference, that Lovejoy was violent against slavery,—and they, violent against every freeman who dared stand up for liberty.

We think the violence were better omitted on all hands; but we can pardon much to the love of liberty,—little to the defence of slavery.

A "COMPROMISE GAUGE CAR" has arrived at New York from St. Louis, whose wheels are adjustable to the different gauges of railroad tracks. If successful, the plan will probably be adopted in many cases where it would be highly advantageous.—Such cars, coming over the Grand Trunk Railroad from Detroit to Portland, might continue their journey to Boston, without the necessity of laying down an additional track, as has been proposed, for the accommodation of the common broad-guage cars.

☞ The City Council of Lowell have appropriated $3000 for the purpose of celebrating the coming Fourth of July. The citizens will increase this sum, and a spirited celebration is expected.

LAMENESS.

Messrs. Editors:—I notice numerous instances in our community of one of the disagreeable terminations of an injury of the knee, viz., the permanent contraction of the flexor muscles of the limb, (or the cords in the hollow of the leg.) From a cut, a blow, a wrench, or from rheumatism, there is in very many instances a disposition on the part of the flexor muscles of the limb to contract, and if they are not properly, seasonably and perseveringly treated, they become permanently contracted — some so much so as to take the foot entirely from the ground; then crutches must be used, and consequently both hands must be employed in walking. In other cases the toes can just be touched to the ground, and with some the heel is raised a little, requiring simply a high-heeled shoe.

All of these different degrees of deformity are seen every day in every village and city. How much better it would be to have a permanently straight leg, if it must be stiff, than to have it permanently crooked and stiff. The straight limb can be obtained in most instances of diseased knee, if it is seasonably, properly and perseveringly treated by a Surgeon.

Now the reason why we have so many of these deformities everywhere about us, is, that patients either do not call on a surgeon until the muscles are permanently contracted, or they call on the surgeon once or twice before the contraction begins to take place, and not afterwards; the result is the same in both cases. But if patients would continue the attendance of the surgeon, and as soon as those cords begin to pain them and contract, (the pain in them shows that they are disposed to contract,) and have the pasteboard splint put upon the limb, with the starched bandage, the splint reaching from just above the ankle to near the hip, and allowed to dry in a straight position—patients would be sure to have straight limbs, at least.

The splint, after it is dry, can be cut open on one side, so as to be taken off daily for the application of liniments and friction to the limb.

I don't mention this splint as anything new, because it has been in use for twenty years—but to warn patients to have surgical advice in season, and continue it and this splint until their limbs are well, as the only sure way of avoiding crooked limbs.

As the knee is the largest joint in the system, and most disposed to take on a permanently morbid condition, it becomes necessary to wear this splint from three months to as many years, according to circumstances.

However long it may be, it will not do to give up the use of the splint until the limbs are entirely well, or until the disposition of the muscles to contract has entirely disappeared. By the use of this splint the muscles are not only prevented from contracting, but patients are enabled to sleep at night and be more comfortable during the day. N.

NOVEL CHURCH EXERCISE.—At the Park Street church, Boston, Sunday afternoon, the Transcript says, the announcement was made by the preacher, before the dismissal of the congregation, that at different meetings of the church three individuals had been excommunicated by a unanimous vote. The names of these persons were given by the clergyman. The first, it appears, was charged with non-attendance upon divine service, and disbelief in the atonement; another, absenting himself from meeting and the communion, and believing in Spiritualism; and the third with unkind treatment of his wife. Whatever grounds there may have been for the action of the church, the public proclamation of the different cases, and the circumstances connected with them, is quite an innovation upon recent customs, although the practice was one quite common in the Congregational churches in New England, years ago.

FIRE AT IPSWICH.—On Sunday morning last, the house of Mr. John H. Fowler, in the centre village of New Ipswich, N. H., took fire from a defect in the chimney, and in a few minutes was consumed, together with a shed and barn. The house of Wm. E. Boynton, across the street, was also burned. Mrs. Fowler's loss is about $800; nearly covered by insurance. Mr. Boynton's is about the same, and is fully insured.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, Apr. 16.

SENATE.—Mr. Willson introduced a bill for the more effectual suppression of the slave trade. It is a bill of nine sections.—It provides for the construction of five steam screw sloops-of-war adapted to the African coast; increases the bounty from $25 to $100; offers a reward of $100 for the delivery to the U. S. Marshal of any slave landed in the country; makes the fitting out, or ownership of vessels engaged in the slave trade piracy, and punishes with imprisonment for life instead of death; makes it criminal for a ship not registered to display the American flag as a badge of nationality; makes it the duty of an officer of a ship, before going to the African coast, to report to the U. S. Attornies for examination, and provides that American vessels sold abroad shall return to the United States for a new register before going to the coast of Africa.

Mr. Mason presented the return of the U. S. Marshal (Johnson) on the warrant for the arrest of John Brown, Jr., in Ohio. The return states that it is impossible to arrest Brown unless an armed force is used for that purpose.

Mr. Mason also presented the return on warrant for the arrest of B. F. Sanborn, which recapitulates the facts as stated heretofore, and adds that no arrests can be made, owing to the Judicial proceedings of the State of Massachusetts.

Both warrants and returns were referred to the Committee on Judiciary, with instructions to inquire and report if any further proceedings are necessary to vindicate the authority of the Senate, and to effect the arrest of witnesses.

Mr. Sumner moved to refer the memorial of Mr. Sanborn to the same committee.

Mr. Mason moved that it be rejected.

Mr. Sumner felt it to be his duty to protest against such a suggestion. It was related of one of the Judges of Hell, that he punished first and heard afterwards. The Senator from Virginia had taken that as a precedent.

Mr. Mason said the Senator had used language in making opposition to a motion, which so far as his intercourse with gentlemen went, he had never heard used outside of the Senate. He could not take it as personally offensive. The Senate was the best judge of what was due its decorum.

Mr. Sumner said the Senator from Virginia, in his self confidence, had undertaken to lecture him on manners. In reply he would say that when any outrage comes before the Senate, he should speak of it as it deserved; and if any precedent from a bad place should apply, he should not hesitate to use it.

Mr. Mason briefly replied, but his remarks were inaudible.

Without disposing of the matter, the special order came up, being Mr. Brown's territorial resolutions.

Mr. Latham argued at length, to show that there was no irrepressible conflict between labor and capital. There was no capital State without its being a labor State. He deprecated the means by which the Republican party rode into power.—He believed that if the Judiciary and Executive failed to afford ample protection to property in the Territories, it was the duty of Congress to afford such protection.

Mr. Brown said he wanted a vote now, on these resolutions.

The resolutions were postponed—yeas 27, nays 25.

HOUSE.—Mr. Elliott introduced a bill to prohibit the Coolie trade by Americans in American vessels. Referred.

The bill appropriating $36,000 to indemnify the Shawnee Indians for depredations committed by whites, was passed.

An appropriation of $50,000, to defray expenses of the Japanese Embassy, was passed.

A bill was passed appropriating $25,000 for mail facilities in Western Kansas.

The report of the Judiciary Committee upon the President's protest came up, and was postponed until the 1st of May.

A joint resolution was passed appropriating $48,000 to defray the expenses of the Investigating Committee.

A bill was passed organizing the Census Board.

Mr. Bonham offered a resolution proposing an adjournment from Friday next to the 1st of May.

Mr. Conklin moved to table it. Negatived—79 to 38.

Mr. Washburn moved an adjournment till Wednesday next, but finally withdrew it.

☞ The Levant Herald, an English paper, published at Constantinople, says:

"We risk nobody's contradiction in affirming that the American missionaries have done more to advance civilization and pure religion throughout Turkey, than all the other agencies, diplomatic or missionary, which European policy propagandism has ever set to work upon the country."

NO DUEL.—The Pryor and Potter difficulty has caused the shedding of some ink, but no blood. Pryor said it was not gentlemanly to cut with bowie knives; and before they could manage any other way to take him off, Mr. Potter was put under bonds of $5000 not to fight. Pryor was treated in the same manner.

THE MASONIC FRATERNITY.—Few persons are aware of the magnitude of this Order in the United States. There are 4,792 Lodges, and 195,170 members. In New Hampshire, 39 lodges, 1800 members.

Wisdom is always at home to those who call.—The firmest friends are those who ask fewest favors.

TO BE PITIED.—The officers of a Brazilian corvette are going through the ordeal of receiving the hospitalities of the municipal authorities of New York. They can be assured that they have the sympathy of all kind hearted people in the land.—Providence Jour.

A like sad fate awaits the Japan embassy, Little do they dream, and still less know, of the afflictions of the future in Yankee land.

WASHINGTON, April the 16th.—Mr. Pryor was arrested to-day, and will to-morrow give security to keep the peace.

All the Democrats, with the exception of about 12, present in the House to-day, together with 31 of the Opposition, favored Mr. Bonham's proposition to adjourn over during the week of the Charleston Convention. This will be definitely voted on, to-morrow. Should it pass, the Senate, it is confidently expected, will concur.

POSTMASTERS.—The following appointments of Postmasters have been confirmed by the Senate:—Daniel Melcher, Exeter, N. H.; Herbert Clark, Andover, Mass.;—J. H. Baker, Milford, Mass.; John Burnham, Woonsocket, R. I.

☞ The slavery question has been for two or three days the subject of exciting discussion in the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The contest is carried on with excessive warmth, and a division of the conference seems inevitable.

NINETEENTH OF APRIL.—The anniversary of the battle of Lexington will be observed by the people of that place.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. Early in January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and illustrates the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer for Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and life to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

EXETER, Tuesday, April 17.

Judge Fowler, presiding—The case, State v. Elias Taylor, was commenced this morning. Respondent is indicted for perjury—in swearing to a complaint before John W. Clark, Esq., knowing the allegations in said complaint to be false. A large number of witnesses have been examined on both sides, and Mr. Hatch was arguing the case for the respondent, when our report closed.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.—Wednesday, April 11.—No. 306, Ferdinand N. Clark vs. Wm. H. Y. Hackett. Mr. Justice Wayne delivered the opinion of the Court, that the fund to which the motion relates being on the registry of the District Court of the United States for the District of New Hampshire, it may, notwithstanding the appeal upon motion in that Court, be properly ordered by the judge of that Court to be paid over to William H. Y. Hackett, the defendant, who, under the former decree of this Court, was declared entitled to receive it as trustee. But this Court, thinking that the case is properly before it, to be tried upon its merits when reached in its order upon the docket, ordered that the motion to dismiss this case be overruled.

☞ Since the plan of building a Railroad to the Shoals has been given up, it is gratifying to knew that we are to have a Steamboat on the route this summer. We learn that Mr. T. H. Odion has completed arrangements to this end, and is now absent from the city to purchase or charter a suitable craft; which being procured, and rightly managed, cannot fail to pay well, and will be one of the greatest conveniences and luxuries to our citizens and visitors. It will place the Shoals, as a summer resort, within the reach of five times as many persons as can or will visit them now, each year.

☞ Whether the great Heenan v. Sayers fight came off in England on Monday, or not—there was a small set-to on Congress street in this city, in the forenoon of that day, which caused considerable excitement. It must be productive of much more harm than good, for young men thus to forget themselves; and a friend who witnessed the affair, says, no man should insult another unless he can thrash him, and of course that case it would not be brave to do so. This is good policy, and would leave small room for quarrels.

☞ If any parents should forget that Mr. Lamprey's Dancing School commences this afternoon, the children will not—at Irving Hall.

Mr. Cootey also announces his Juvenile Class to open at Rechab Hall, this afternoon. See advertisements.

☞ A Temperance Convention is called at Raymond, on THURSDAY, April 19th, at noon—of the friends of the cause, residing in the first Councillor District; to deliberate, and adopt a plan for carrying into effect the Law for the suppression of Intemperance passed June, 1855. Friends of the cause throughout the District are invited to attend, and give their aid in carrying it forward.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A great number of delegates to Charleston have reached this city to-night, and all is animation and excitement. It is said that Douglas stock has declined through a diversion of New England delegates for Gov. Toucey, under the lead of Gen. Whitney, Collector of Boston.

The Douglas rooms at the National are crowded, and speeches have been made by Senator Clingman and by Messrs. Hamilton of Texas, Vallandigham, T. Butler King of Georgia, Rust of Alabama, and others. The States newspaper administers severe castigation to Collector Whitney for the alleged abandonment of Douglas.

The Marshal of Ohio reports that the inhabitants of Ashtabula county, Ohio, are ready to take up arms to resist the authority of the Senate for bringing John Brown, &c., before the Committee of Investigation.

☞ Mr. Plitt's testimony before the Cooke investigation, has established that $70,000 had passed through his hands, as treasurer of the Democratic Committee in 1856, for the purpose of carrying Pennsylvania. He said the books, vouchers and papers were all burnt, so that no evidence exists in his possession to prove how this large sum was spent.

☞ A one dollar bill of the "Cocheco Bank," Dover, so ingeniously altered to a ten as to defy any but the most sharp-sighted and experienced to detect the fraud, was put to one of the Salem banks on Monday for deposit, by a person who had been deceived in taking it.

☞ Pigeons in large flocks have been observed flying over many sections of Northern New Hampshire for several days.

A shoemaker in Cleveland recently absconded because his wife had borne him twins. He said she had "played the same paper before, and he wouldn't live with a woman that served him so."

He that is too good for good advice, is too good for his neighbor's company.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

☞ The Natchez Free Trader, of the 17th ult., says:—

"The largest sale ever made in this county was consummated yesterday. D. D. Withers sold out his place in the lower part of this county, (9000 acres of land with improvements, and 515 slaves,) to John K. Elgee, of Louisiana, for the sum of $1,001,200."

The reason of M. Jullien, the musician, returned to him some hours before his death; his last words related to a hymn which he had not long since composed, and called a Napoleoneinne, from its being in honor of the Emperor of the French.—"Let it be sent," he said, "to his majesty.—It will, perhaps, procure bread for my poor wife." M. Jullien has left a wife and two adopted children, in whose behalf a subscription has been commenced in England.

In Alexander Hamilton's first political speech occur these eloquent words: "The sacred rights of mankind are not to be rummaged for among old parchments or musty records; they are written as with a sunbeam in the whole volume of human nature, by the hand of Divinity itself, and can never be erased or obscured by mortal power."

In addition to the eighteen free States, it is said that Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri, will be represented in the Chicago Convention. Secionalism is spreading; what will it be when it includes all the States?—Newburyport Herald.

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 16th inst. has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefitted by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 60 years, the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about four months since a bald patch was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dye. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald.

Very Respectfully,
BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Stanaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A man may have his hair nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative" his hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all!

Yours truly,
W. H. K. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like.—By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1853, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FIELEY MOULTON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion than the small for six bottles.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the act of 1837.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made in American or Foreign Patents, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, beyond cavil or question, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast amount of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full access to models and patents granted in the United States and Europe, render his facilities for ready question, to other superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them the early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him for the securing of patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept. 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on your behalf twenty applications. SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1860. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and manifests itself in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor believe one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, last but not least, inherited infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children, unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or viscerous matter, which, in the lungs, glands and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which pervades the blood, depresses our energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions are only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by the taint in the system. Most of the consumptive which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous:—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must purify the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most powerful vegetables that the bounty of the Providence has placed in our country of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is the generation of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this compound is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so compatible and so powerful in change of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties the invalid will find relief down with pain or physical debility is astonished and his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so powerful and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous disorders which the agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis any American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Inactive Bowels, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Fever and Ague, Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its operations, and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to adopt for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies have deceived the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends at every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFALLIBLE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLICK, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which other remedies for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFALLIBLE CORDIAL; this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON combined with Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and without the healthy complexion, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been prescribed, it is a most valuable curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATION, CONSUMPTION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MENSTRUAL IRRITATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of the nervous and muscular energy, or chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description of written testimony would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly appeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, considered victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, for reasons well known to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorous in tone, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, yet decidedly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it has been found to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local congestion, which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innoxious as it is, as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently mortal, the most effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and multiform ills which are generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has been and far more than the great effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

N. H. METHODIST CONFERENCE ON THE SLAVERY QUESTION.—Your committee think it unnecessary to repeat the old time-worn language, that "we are as much as ever opposed to slavery," and we deem it equally a useless labor to enter into the details of the barbarous system. Yet every year convinces us more and more that slavery is a great evil, whose bitter fruits cannot possibly be concealed. But we are opposed to slavery, not merely because it is an evil, and a great evil, not because of all and any of its particular fruits, but because it is wrong, a sin against God and a terrible wrong against man.

And as Christian Ministers we do therefore utter and proclaim most emphatically, and without qualification, and without fear or hope of favor, our condemnation, both of the principle and the practice of slavery.

And in conclusion we offer the following resolutions:—

1. That we will be just and fear not; the day of compromises is past.

2. That we instruct our delegates to the approaching General Conference to use their influence in that body to bring out the sentiment above expressed, in the most clear and unmistakable manner, as the voice of our church.

3. That we concur in the resolution of the Erie Conference—making the Rule of Discipline read, "The buying, selling, holding, or transferring any human being to be used as a slave." G. S. DEARBORN,
R. E. DANFORTH,
O. H. JASPER,
E. SCOTT.

HUMANITY AT DISCOUNT.—Capt. Avis, the jailor who endeared himself to the hearts of the humane everywhere, by mingling some grains of humanity in his dealings with John Brown and others, while prisoners under his charge, is about to suffer for his kindness of heart. Upon presenting his bills for outlays in the matter of fuel, lights, &c., to the Auditor of the public accounts, he had the mortification of seeing the bill rejected. Strange to say, the bills were for expenses incurred for the benefit of the jail guard having in charge the prisoners. Virginia has tens of thousands to bestow upon the folly of Gov. Wise, but not one cent for necessary expenses incurred.—Newark Advertiser.

Miss Sanborn's friends have given her a Colt's revolver, by way of testifying that they approve of her heroical conduct in helping to rescue her brother from the hands of kidnappers. If she is half as clever with the Colt as she was with the horses, she'll use it to some purpose, and make certain persons step round.—Trav.

THE PISTOL, according to Mr. Pryor, is the appropriate instrument to settle affairs of honor; while he thinks the bowie-knife can only settle affairs of dis-honor, and seems indisposed on both grounds to be settled himself.—Transcript.

Our wealth does not so much consist in our acquisitions as in our performances, and he is sometimes the richest man who has left himself nothing.—W. G. Simms.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say "It cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

THE ENGLISH NATIONAL DEBT.—The beginning of the English national debt was in the reign of Charles the Second, about the year 1672, when £650,000, or $3,000,000, was borrowed of the bankers and other capitalists of London, on pledge of the taxes, but the government not keeping its promise of repayment from the taxes, many of those who advanced the money were ruined. The revolution of 1688, and the establishment of William and Mary on the throne, added about £2,000,000 or $10,000,000 more to the sum. In 1721 the wars with France and Spain were found to have run up the debt to £54,000,000, or nearly $270,000,000. In 1784, the war with France and Spain and the American Revolution had increased the debt to £240,000,000, or about $1,200,000,000. And in 1815, at the close of the long war with France, it reached the highest figure at which it has ever stood, viz., £860,000,000, or $4,300,000,000. From this time up to the commencement of the Crimean war, it was reduced about £100,000,000, or $500,000,000; but the Crimean war added £45,000,000 more, bringing it up to £805,000,000, or $4,020,000,000. The interest on the debt has been much reduced. At the beginning of the last century this was 8 per cent. Now it is only 3 1-2 per cent.

Such has been the increase of wealth in in England, says the Traveller, that it is computed the debt is not now so burdensome to the nation as it was a hundred years ago, when it was not one-tenth part of its present magnitude. Within this period of forty-five years, the immense manufactures of England have almost entirely grown up. Foreign commerce is vastly greater than then, and internal commerce has received a great impulse by the introduction of steam and the railways.

WHAT IS A "LAST?"—The word last has figured often in the public prints since the commencement of the shoemaker's strike, and endless have been the puns—both pithy and poor—upon this flexible word. At last, however, it has engaged the attention of our community, though in a measure, in a somewhat different sense than that in vogue among the cordwainers. The announcement of the arrival at Boston of the ship Escort, with a cargo "of 358 lasts of salt," caused some inquiry among the curious as to what a "last" might be.

The word is a metrical term of German origin, and is used chiefly in regard to articles of a bulky nature. McCulloch says that it is generally estimated at 4000 lbs. but varies exceedingly as to different articles. The English Enclopedia says that "a last of codfish, white herrings, meal and ashes, is twelve barrels; a last of corn is ten quarters or eighty bushels; of gunpowder, twenty-four barrels; of red herring, twenty cades; of hides twelve dozen; of leather, twenty dickers; of pitch and tar, fourteen barrels; of wool twelve sacks; of flax or feathers, 1700 lbs." It is also sometimes applied to the load of a ship. The Prussian ship-last is 4000 Prussian lbs—4124 lbs. avoird. At Dantzic the last of timber is 80 cubic feet. A last of mackerel is 10,000,000 fish. It will thus be seen that "last" is one of the most elastic words in the English tongue.

CANADA MAKES AN OFFER.—In consequence of an alleged agitation which the Canadians affect to believe exists at Washington, for the purpose of inducing Queen Victoria either to sell or quiety relinquish her claim to Canada in favor of the United States, Mr. Simpson has give notice of the following motion in the Canadian Parliament:—

"Address to her Majesty the Queen:—Praying that, in the event of receiving any proposition from the Congress of the United States, for the acquisition of British North America, or any portion thereof, her Majesty will be graciously pleased to reply, that considerations connected with the happiness of the human race in general, and with the well being and liberties of North America in particular, forbid the acceding thereto; but that, in order to show her Majesty's appreciation of the trading propensity of Congress, and the willingness to indulge it so far as is consistent with the feeling and interest of her subjects in North America, the Queen is prepared to receive a proposition for the acquisition by Canada of the States of Maine and Michigan, or either of them."

A year ago we predicted that "the little bonnets of the present day are sure to be followed by the large scoop-shovels which used to hide the faces of the fair wearers fifteen or twenty years ago." Editors, like poets, are prophets ex officio, and the fulfilment of our vaticination is already foreshadowed in the spring fashions. Not long ago, you couldn't see a woman's bonnet for her face; and soon you won't be able to see her face for her bonnet, but

"Searching long in vain, You'll spy her features down a Leghorn lane!"

MATTERS AT WASHINGTON.—Postmaster Cook of Illinois offered at the dinner table to bet $5000 that Douglas, if nominated, would lose Illinois. Judge Colton, of New Orleans, introduced himself, and proposed taking the bet. Mr. Cook declined, on the ground that he didn't know the individual. Afterwards he became very abusive of Senator Douglas, in Brown's Hotel, when Hon. Mr. Logan stepped up and pronounced him a "lying thief from Chicago." Mr. Cook turned away, evidently not bearing the remark. Thus things are becoming lively.

Messrs. Pryor and Potter appeared in the Hall on Monday, as usual, and no demonstration of any kind was perceptible.—The correspondence is the subject of much criticism. One thing is evident—each party is perfectly satisfied as it stands, which is most fortunate.

The New York Herald's Washington correspondent says:

All sorts of betting is going on, but the heaviest is against Douglas, and his friends frequently become desperate and lose their temper, while the opponents of the "Little Giant" seem as happy as clams at high water. The contest between the two delegations from Illinois is quite amusing. The "nationals," so called, have clearly the inside track, and bet their money, first, that Douglas cannot be nominated, and secondly, if he be, that he cannot carry Illinois.

The Southern delegates who are in Washington declare that they will sustain the administration men from the North who have stood by them, and that they would be false to their own principles if they did not do so.

I am authorized by Gen. Whitney to say that he was not elected a delegate to Charleston under a pledge to vote for Judge Douglas, and that he is not a supporter of Judge Douglas, although a personal friend. I learn, also, that Gen. Whitney will carry a majority of the Massachusetts delegation against Douglas.

I am satisfied that many delegates who declare Douglas to be their first choice will stick by him for a certain number of ballots, until they see that he is likely to be nominated, when they will abandon him for some one else. Guthrie and Breckinridge are among the most prominent candidates talked of.

A distinguished legal gentleman of Massachutts, a delegate to Charleston, gives it as his deliberate opinion that there seems to be but one thing settled in regard to the Charleston Convention—namely, that Douglas cannot be nominated. His want of fidelity to the South in the Lecompton struggle will destroy their confidence in him at this important issue.

On the other hand, the Tribune, in an editorial article, predicts that Douglas will get 170 votes on the first ballot, and on the second 254; and unless "there is scandalous cheating around the board, Douglas is bound to be nominated."

☞ In the U. S. Senate, April 17, the subject of adjournment over the Charleston Convention was considered and defeated—20 against 30.

Mr. Slidell offered a resolution providing for the adjournment of the Senate, three days at a time, from April 19 to May 1.

Mr. Johnson of Tennessee, reported the Homestead Bill in a modified form, limiting the class of persons provided for to heads of families, requiring payment of 25 cents per acre and five years residence, after which a title shall be given; also limiting the lands of those only subject to private entry. The bill further provides that the land shall not be sold for the debts of the settler until the United States parts with the title, also that an alien must file his declaration of his intention to become a citizen before he could avail himself of the benefits of the bill.

Mr. Johnson of Arkansas argued at length in favor of the Senate bill.

In the House, Mr. Bonham's resolution to adjourn from Friday to May 1 was rejected—69 against 116.

The House then went into Committee on the Deficiency Appropriation.

Mr. Conkling reviewed the President's position in regard to Slavery in the Territories, as exposed in his annual message.

The Committee rose, and without final action, the House adjourned.

☞ Mr. Isaac Foster, of West Medway, Mass., fell from a standing position while listening to a gentleman's remarks in town meeting, and almost immediately expired. The event was announced to the meeting, and in respect to the deceased, it adjourned to a future day. Mr. Foster's age was 67.

Another sudden and singular death resulted from the above painful occurrence. Mr. Warren Foster, of Hopkinton, son of the deceased, when informed of the death of his father, fell back and expired. His age was 25 years.

☞ The assignees of Phillips, Sampson & Co., Boston, have announced a dividend of 55 per cent. on all approved claims.—The Transcript says some claims against the firm were offered at ten cents upon the dollar, soon after the suspension, and a large portion of the debts could have been purchased six months ago for one-half the sum the creditors will soon receive as their first dividend.

☞ In the United States there are about 200,000 Jews, while there are in England only 35,000.

EMIGRATION OF CHILDREN.

The following article on the "Work of the Children's Mission, and the Departure of the Children for the West"—is copied by request from the Boston Herald of Wednesday. Five of the children mentioned as leaving went from Portsmouth—and this fact, with the agency of our City Missionary in the matter, gives the subject an interest here. The Herald says:

No charitable institution among the many of our city, does so much good, according to the amount of money expended, as the Children's Mission to the Children of the Destitute. The annual expenses of the society amount to about $1500, and with this more real good is done than by $15,000 paid to support churches, or $150,000 to maintain foreign missions. The Association searches out destitute children in our city, those who have a discouraging future before them, when no hand is stretched out to save them. It deals with a class too often overlooked by those who seek soil in which to sow good seed.

Within two or three years past, children thus gathered and cared for have been settled in good, wholesome, healthy homes in the country, where they can grow up to be good men and women, removed from the influence of bad associations and bad examples. Many were settled in New England towns, but the West was found to be a field far more promising. Substantial and thrifty farmers in that growing section eagerly seize upon the consignment sent out, and they are able to do much better for the children on that liberal soil than the farmers of our sterile land. The Mission is an Unitarian Association, but the managers seek homes for their charge among Christians of all denominations. The Methodists in Ohio have taken large numbers of them, and are still calling for more.

Thirty-six children—26 boys and 10 girls—started yesterday, under the care of Benjamin S. Green and J. E. Berry, agents of the Mission, and Mrs. Gwin, matron of the Home in Kneeland street, bound for Lebanon, Warren county, Ohio. Before leaving the city, interesting exercises were held in the hall of the Mission, No. 28 Eliot st. The children were neatly dressed, and looked remarkably cheerful and well pleased with the prospects of their journey. Those who had parents were attended by them, and many good friends of the mission filled the hall.

Hon. Albert Fearing presiding, and remarks were made by that gentleman, Rev. Mr. Mielbery of Portsmouth, N. H., Mayor Lincoln, George Merrill, Secretary, Rev. Dr. Dewey, and Rev. Messrs. Cruft and Edmunds of Boston. Much good advice was given to the children, and they were safely put aboard the train at half-past five, bade a cheerful "good bye" to their friends, and started out on their life journey.—Many who parted with them with tearful eyes will anxiously watch their progress through life, and unite with them in blessing the Association which built them this highway to comfort, prosperity and success.

A letter written from Augustu, Ga., says there is an African church there which owns its minister! Notwithstanding that, however, the church pays him a thousand dollars a year, which the letter very correctly says, is better than a great many abo ition congregations do.—Herald.

Very important, if true. Interpreted by the laws of Georgia, it means, that a congregation of slaves chiefly, bought their preacher out of his bonds, but cannot formally free him there, being prevented by their laws, so-called. His slavery is nominal only:—but the item, brief as it is, exhibits "the institution" in a deplorable aspect.

FOREIGN SPIRITS IN THE UNITED STATES.—The importation of foreign distilled spirits into the United States in the year 1359, amounted to $5,300,680, or nearly a million and a half more than in 1858. Of this amount $3,262,058 was brandy, the largest amount of this article ever received in one year.

The total consumption of all important beverages during the last year, was as follows:—

Distilled Spirits	$5,300,680
Wines	3'502,148
Beer, Ale and Porter	771,199
Total	$9,574,027

☞ In the Superior Court, Boston, April 18, Hannibal C. King was fined $50 and costs, Charles Lyons $30 and costs, Morris Fitzgeral $20 and costs, and Wm. Hennessey $20 and costs, severally, for maintaining a liquor nuisance. Jeremiah McLaughlin was convicted of maintaining a liquor nuisance. Geo. C. Brown plead guilty of keeping a liquor nuisance, and was fined $20 and costs.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The following is a description of the property stolen from Adams & Co.'s safe:—Ten $500 bills on the Atlantic Bank, Boston; $3000 in bills newly issued on the Langdon Bank, Dover, N. H.; a number of notes belonging to Rathbone Bros., and other notes, and some smaller amounts of money. Adams & Co. promptly paid this morning all amounts called for.

☞ The Grand Trunk Railroad will run two extra trains from Portland to Chicago and back, to carry passengers to the Republican Convention. These trains will leave Portland May 10th and 14th. The distance is about thirteen hundred miles, and the price of tickets $30.

☞ There are two disadvantages attending long communications to newspapers. In the first place they run great risk of being rejected; in the second place, if inserted, very few people will read them.

JEFF DAVIS AND GEN. WILSON.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post thus describes the scene in the Senate, last Thursday, when the Republican senators proposed that a part of the appropriations for schools in the District of Columbia should go for the education of the free colored children:

The support of this amendment by Mr. Hale and Mr. Wilson roused the fiery Mississippi Senator into a burst of passion, and he complained that he had to sit there and listen to such doctrines of negro equality. He was reminded instantly by Mr. Wilson that he must listen to what Republican Senators saw fit to utter, or leave the chamber. Mr. Wilson administered a severe rebuke to the Southern Senator, upon his dictatorial manner,. This called out a fling at Wilson for his well known condemnation of the code, and the Massachusetts Senator answered with great spirit that he condemned that which both the laws of God and man branded as a crime; yet he shall not hesitate to speak his mind fully, plainly, and boldly, to the Senator from Mississippi, be the consequences what they might. Perceiving that he could not domineer successfully over Mr. Wilson, Mr. Davis subsided into a more calm and courteous state."

WASHINGTON, Apr. 17.—The President to-day transmitted to the Senate copies of additional correspondence with foreign governments concerning the rights of American naturalized citizens abroad. It is conducted throughout in good temper, the United States in all cases repudiating the doctrine of perpetual allegiance. It appears from these documents that twelve years ago the British government, at the instance of Mr. Brancroft, released two naturalized Irishmen, who were suspected of aiding in the rebellion, and engaged in treasonable practices. Lord Palmerston, however, declared that foreign born subjects of Great Britain who may have become naturalized in a foreign country, but who return to the United Kingdom, are as amenable as any other of Her Majesty's subjects to any laws which may be in force either of a permanent or temporary nature.

AN ELEGANT STORE.—At the corner of Tremont and Winter streets, Messrs. Harris and Chapman have opened one of the finest and most elaborately furnished apothecary stores we have ever seen. It surpasses in elegance anything of the sort in Boston. On our last page of this week's Novelette, we present an exterior view of this brilliant establishment. It is a positive curiosity in the internal fitting.—Ballou's Novelette.

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these wenkening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Fort Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. PRIME BEEF.—A yoke of mammoth oxen were butchered for the provision store of Mr. John Stokell, in Merchants' Row, a day or two since, which weighed, dressed, 3169 pounds; and if there is any reliance to be placed on looks, that beef will prove "extra." The animals were from the farm of Mr. Wm. Hill, Eliot, and are rarely surpassed for size or quality anywhere. Beef-eaters should't fail to have a roast off one of them.

☞ Lovers of Dancing, and a good sociable time, should not miss the Ball at Irving Hall to-night. It was postponed from last week, and is expected to be one of the most successful of the season—which is almost over. With a beautiful Hall, excellent music and a good company—there will be no such thing as not enjoying yourself.

☞ A Temperance Convention is called at Raymond, on THURSDAY, April 19th, at noon—of the friends of the cause, residing in the first Councillor District; to deliberate, and adopt a plan for carrying into effect the Law for the suppression of Intemperance passed June, 1855. Friends of the cause throughout the District are invited to attend, and give their aid in carrying it forward.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

NEW YORK, April 17.—A party of northern oystermen got into a shooting affray on Wednesday at Carter's Creek, Va.—Three men belonging to the schooner Charlotte, of Boston, were shot dead—viz., two brothers Hardwood of New York, and a man named Jordan of Elizabethtown. The Charlotte put to sea immediately after the affray.

The female body found gagged and anchored at Jersey City is believed to be that of a Miss Kirby, who arrived three or four weeks ago from Boston in search of a situation. She stated at an intelligence office that her mother keeps boarders in New York. She has been missing for a number of days.

MURDER AT GRAND FALLS, ME.—A man named Murphy was shot at Grand Falls, on Thursday night, March 29th, by one Millet of that place. Murphy made an attempt to enter the house of a French woman where Millet was spending the night. While Murphy was in the act of raising the window, the woman loaded the gun, and Millet shot him. The ball passed near the heart. He was found dead a few rods from the house. The following morning the woman gave herself up to the magistrate, saying she shot him in self defence. The woman and Millet are in jail awaiting their trial, which will be next September. This is one of the sad results of intemperance.—Pioneer.

IN A DELICATE FIX!—At the last session of the Circuit Court, held in Goshen, Ia., a good looking young lady had a divorce bill filed and ready for the Judge to act on. Previous to this, however, the lady had become reconciled to her husband, and had despatched a letter to her attorney, instructing him to discontinue the legal proceedings. This letter failed to reach him before the prayer of the fair petitioner was granted. When she heard of her predicament—having been living outside the matrimonial line with a divorced lover—she concluded to make the best of it; so a new license was obtained and the pair were respliced as good as new!

A QUARTETTE.—Four gentlemen met in the Newburyport city clerk's office last week, an ex-mayor, a present alderman, the city clerk, and a physician who looks exactly like the city clerk, whose combined weight was half a ton. The heaviest weighed 271 pounds, and the lightest 220.

☞ It is stated that Henry Ward Beecher apologized last Sunday to the trustees of his church for calling them "perjured cowards" for refusing the use of the church to Wendell Phillips. He said he had been misinformed, and that the trustees were perfect gentlemen.

MEMORABLE ANNIVERSARY.—It was seventy years on Tuesday, April 17th, since the death of Dr. Benjamin Franklin, who is universally acknowled to be the greatest native son of Boston—says the Transcript.

☞ A man has been fined two dollars in Portland for stealing an umbrella.—Judging from which, the Bath Times thinks the moral standard of the community is rising.

☞ We learn from Hanover, N. H., that Hon. Edward Everett has accepted the invitation of the United Literary Societies of Dartmouth College, to address them at next Commencement.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Apr. 17.—The business part of the town of Woodstock, N. B., was entirely desroyed by fire last night.—Over one hundred buildings were burned. Loss estimated at over three hundred thousand dollars. The insurance amounts to over seventy-five thousand dollars.

The story of a Washington correspondent about the arrangements that were made to rescue Mr. Sanborn, was a hoax.]

When pride and poverty marry together, their children are want and crime.—When hard work kills ten, idleness kills a hundred men.—Folly and pride walk side by side.

☞ Coleridge describes love as the absorption of self in an idea dearer than self.

TESTIMONIALS.

[From the wife of the Hon. Jefferson Davis.]

Mrs. Jefferson Davis presents her compliments to Messrs. Grover & Baker, and takes pleasure in saying that she has used one of their box Sewing Machines for two years, and finds it still in good order—makes a beautiful stitch, and does easily any kind of work.

[From J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.]

My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

[From the Rev. Jonathan Cross, Agent American Tract Society.]

My wife has been using one of your Sewing Machines for the last three months, and pronounces it faultless. She can sew more on it in one day, than in ten the old way, and without fatigue. The work is beautiful and durable.—She says she would not exchange it for any other one. It is certainly one of the grandest inventions ever made for the relief of woman-kind, and I would recommend every family to get one as soon as possible.

Baltimore, July 14, 1859.

PORTSMOUTH, April 12, 1859.

Having tested the merits of the various popular Sewing Machines, in the manufacture of our Capes and Raglans, we unhesitatingly recommend the Grover & Baker, as far superior to all others. ALLEN & PAINE.

PORTSMOUTH, July 16, 1859.

If you wish to purchase a machine that will do work handsomely and strongly, and will not be liable to get out of repair, call on Mr. Whittemore in Daniel street, see the operation of Grover & Baker's machine, and then place one in your family. They will never consent to part with it, after they understand its operation.

CHARLES W BREWSTER.

"Zion's Herald," Nov. 10th, 1859, says,—"We would recommend to families and to those about to organize a homestead, to be sure and have a Family Bible, and also one of Grover & Baker's SEWING MACHINES.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

CHILD'S ANECDOTE.—The following anecdote is related by one of our contributors, in this city, who vouches for its truth:

A little girl came home from school one day, and said, "Won't you cut open a penny for me, father?" "Cut open a penny! What do you want me to do that for?" asked the father.

"Cause," said the little girl, "my teacher says that in every penny there are four farthings, and I want to see them."—Lynn Reporter.

Somebody is publishing the "creeds" of the parties now existing in the United States. In giving that of the Republicans, somebody, who is evidently a nobody, and knows nothing—says "they recognize the right of every State to establish or abolish slavery." They do no such thing. They recognize the power to establish slavery that every State possesses, but they do not confound power and right.—Traveller.

☞ Mrs. Edward Shippen Bond, who died in Philadelphia a few days since, left the bulk of her large estate to be devoted to the founding of an orphan asylum under the care and management of the officers of the St. Stephen's (Protestant Episcopal) Church in that city.

THE NEWBURY PULPIT is the title of a proposed volume from Rev. Dr. Withington and Joshua Coffin, Esq., to be issued by M. O. Hall, Newburyport. No men are better qualified for such a work, and the material must be abundant.

☞ A building in Pelham, N. H., belonging to French Fox, and occupied by him and J. B. Welder, wheelwright, was set on fire and entirely destroyed Wednesday night. Loss about $2500, no insurance.

The best evidence in the world that Christianity is advancing, is found in the fact that the walls between the sects are growing weaker, or falling in ruins.—Holland.

PROVERBS WORTH PRESERVING.—Hasty people drink the wine of life scalding hot. —Death is the only master who takes his servants without a character.—Content is the mother of good digestion.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, Assistant Commissioner of Patents.

76 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of foreign and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy than Mr. EDMUND BURKE, to whom application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office," apply to him in preference to any other. JOHN TAGGART, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, two of which have already been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him in preference to any other, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on average rejection of only ONE APPLICATION, APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the fluid becomes vitiated, weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor whatever one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, intemperance, debilitating habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Boston, Jan. 1, 1859. R. H. EDDY.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or serous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions and sores. This foul corruption, which generates in the blood, destroys the vital energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in the scrofulous contamination, and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevalent and destructive taint. It combines from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the restoration of the system from its destructive consequences. Without it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, TETTER, RINGWORM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DYSPEPSIA OR DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from a IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "purifying the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this preparation is to cleanse, and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their peculiarity properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these results, they are found to cure many diseases with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so pleasant and efficacious.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The Chemist below gives is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gravel, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for a family cathartic.

COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thru upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents the same essential elements, and gives of course the True Standard.—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—hence its astonishing success. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS inducing CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVERTAXED or GENERAL DEBILITY, and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by Drops and carried immediately into the circulation, so that what you gain you retain. The No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for this. For SALT RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of the "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing inflamation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of opiates of which other remedies for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the anxious attention of Mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

For Children Teething.

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine,—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak, in this matter, "what we do know," after ten years experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England and has been used with never-failing success, in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives toneand energy to the whole system. It will almostinstantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the safest and surest REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—Do not let your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Principal Office, No. 2 Cedar st. New York.

Price only 25 cents per bottle.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combination with the Chalybeate principle, which the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily prove that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been administered—it is the most efficacious curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

IN DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATION, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULAR DISEASES, SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued exhaustion of nervous and muscular energy, from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description can adequately portray, which would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have gone forth, rejoicing in the blessed health so lately returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attributable to the female sufferer, emaciated victim of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

IN NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for persons familiar with medical men, the operation of this preparation of Iron must commendably be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating, and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate case of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a griping or bowel complaint.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably efficient and permanent a restorative, for it acts upon what is termed to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.

IN DYSPEPSIA, Dismemberment are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including its attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, these effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitated appetite, and which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians in some several very gratifying and interesting instances.

IN SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such strong, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 60 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

THE BEARD.—A writer in the Lynn Reporter says:—

"The deaths by consumption have decreased some fifty per cent. per annum among the stone cutters of Quincy, Milton, Rockport and the marble works of Vermont, since they have ceased shaving and given nature her sway in matters she may be supposed to understand. Workmen in Western flour mills; colliers in the numerous mines of the Mindle State; miners at Galena, Dubuque and the copper regions of Lake Superior, employees in drug mills, drivers, engineers, arctic navigators; residents in low wet countries, and thousands of artisans whose employment is prejudicial to healthy lungs, generally wear the mustache as a sanitary rather than an ornamental appendage to the face of manhood."

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over a I others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION.

In the present posture of our national affairs, this question excites the deepest interest. The candidate fit to be nominated for the highest and most responsible office in the Republic,ought to possess the highest qualifications,long experience in the national councils, an extensive knowledge of our foreign relations, the manner in which the different departments of the government are conducted, a firm attachment to the principles on which our free institutions are based, undoubted integrity, independence of opinion, and eminent talents. This no upright statesman will question.

But we hear much talk about availability. Is availability of more importance than the principles we hold to be most sacred? Of what avail would be a victory to secure the loaves and fishes of office at the expense of principles? Will not the two millions of voters in our free States prefer the highest qualifications, to the mere gratification of such politicians as are the hungry aspirants for office?

We all know that at this "impending crisis" the Republic is in some danger, even threatened with a dissolution—that our free institutions are attacked—and that the expansion of slavery is demanded by the combined oligarchy; and therefore it behooves our Northern freemen, as a solid phalanx, to gird on their political armor in defence of freedom, the sacred cause of their country. Never was there a period in our national history when a fit man at the helm was more imperiously demanded.

Where in the free States is such a man, with the requisite qualifications, to be found? The Republicans of the great State of Ohio have nominated Gov. CHASE, U. S. Senator elect, a very popular man. Senator SEWARD is proposed, and strongly advocated through the medium of the press in many parts of the free States, and it is generally conceded that he is the most able statesman in the Union, and firm and consistent in his principles, never disguised, since his first election as Governor of the Empire State. These two candidates proposed, each with long experience in public affairs, each advocating the same political doctrines, and well qualified for the highest station in the gift of the people, are so fully worthy of the public confidence that it would be difficult to express any preference. The Northern people generally would cheerfully vote in support of either who should be the nominee of the Chicago Convention.

We are fully convinced that either would receive the major votes of Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. The electoral colleges of these three States give 85 votes, and without their united support the expectation of electing a Republican candidate would be vain. It may be set down as a fixed fact, that no candidate with Northern principles can receive the support of any electoral college of a slave State; and thus the united support of the electoral colleges of the most populous free States is requisite to elect a Northern candidate.

The total votes of 18 free States are 183; of the 15 slave States the votes are 120;—majority of free States 63

Of the qualifications of Col. FREMONT, fully discussed at the last Presidential campaign, nothing need now be said except in his favor. That the principles he avowed did not come fully up to the Northern mark, will be remembered, and also that he did not receive the support of Pennsylvania.—His ability is not questioned, but his limited experience in our national affairs must be admitted. Should he be willing to accept the office of Secretary of War, or the Navy Department, no doubt he would discharge the duties with fidelity, honor, and that persevering efficiency which is one of his characteristics.

We submit the remark with no unkind feelings, that after a candidate has been defeated, it is often difficult to induce those who voted against him to change their opinions. The leading statesmen and politicians of the country exercise an influence over all others. To call forth their most active exertions, and enlist their enthusiasm in support of a Presidential candidate, it is requisite that he should be distinguished for his public services and patriotism, and possess the highest qualifications for the office.

THE MORMON MASSACRE.—The bleached remains of the emigrants murdered at Mountain Meadow, Utah, have been collected in one grave, and a stone monument, 50 feet in hight, now marks the spot where they rest. This is surmounted by a cross of red cedar, twelve feet in hight, on which is carved the following inscription:—"Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord." On the base of the monument, is a granite slab, into which are cut the words—"Here 120 men, women and children were massacred in cold blood, early in September, 1857. They were from Arkansas."

Never do that in prosperity whereof you may repent in adversity.

REV. DR. POMEROY.—We understand from good authority that the First Church in Bangor, Me., of which Dr. P. has long been a member,—after a careful and anxious investigation of his case, through a period of nearly four months, have recently communicated to him the assurance of their cordial and entire forgiveness—declaring him entitled to all the rights and privileges of a member in good and regular standing, and affectionately commending him to the sympathy and confidence and fellowship of the churches of Christ throughout the world. Tha final action was with entire unanimity.—Boston Jour.

That church is a long way from the scene of crime or folly; and its action at this late day may be set down to the account of that christian charity which "hopeth all things, and believeth all things" hopeful, even when somewhat improbable,—and which "never faileth." It gives him "regular standing" and it says "good,"—but the public will query how good it is. The affection, sympathy, and fellowship of his old parishioners, and fellow church members, in Bangor, we doubt not are sincere,—but the confidence which they ask of others abroad, is a plant of slow growth,—and the old gentleman will hardly live long enough to see it grow up to a tree so large that the fowls of the air may lodge in the branches of it.

The old Doctor should not be persecuted: but suffered to live and die in peaceful retirement; but he can never be as he has been.

INCENDIARY CASE.—Charles Harris, a young man of Swampscott, went to the selectmen, on Tuesday, and informed them them that himself and another young man, named Alonzo Nesbit, set fire to widow Blaney's barn, which was partially burned on Monday night. They were arrested, and taken before Justice Newhall, of Lynn, who held Harris as a witness, in the sum of $500, and Nesbit in $800 for trial at the next term of the Superior Court. Their parents furnished the necessary bail for their appearance.

FIRE.—The round house and machine shop of the Illinois Central Railroad, were totally destroyed by fire, in Chicago, on Wednesday morning. Four locomotives and a large number of lathes, forges, patterns and machinery, were also destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been kindled from the copper-room. Loss $150,000; covered by insurance in the Liverpool and London companies.

Never carry a sword in your tongue to wound the reputation of any man.

SENTENCED.—At the Supreme Judicial Cout, holden at Haverhill, Judge Bell presiding, Frank Wright, for the butchery of his wife at Haverhill, last Fall, plead guilty of murder in the second degree, and was sentenced to the State Prison for a term of thirty years.

It is easier to declaim against a thousand sins in others, than to mortify one in ourselves.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A collision occurred, Tuesday night,on the Grand Trunk Railroad, one mile east of Strafford, C. W., between a freight and lumber train. One man was killed, and four or five seriously injured; several others were slightly injured.

In order to live justly and be respected, we must refrain from doing that we blame in others.

EXTENDED PAPER LIQUIDATED.—L. J. Levy & Co., the large retail dry goods house of Philadelphia, who suspended in 1857, on Wednesday paid $50,000, the last instalment on their extended paper. The whole amount of their indebtness was over $1,000,000.

Be not affronted at a jest. If one throws salt at thee, thou wilt receive no harm unless thou hast sore places.

☞ Peter Kimball, the young man who suffered the loss of a foot, in consequence of jumping from the cars, near the Depot, in Concord, last week, died on Wednesday morning. He was the son of Capt. David Kimball, formerly a resident of Boscawen, but now of Chicago, and was visiting friends in Concord.

He that voluntarily continues in ignorance, is guilty of all the crimes which ignorance produces.

TERRIBLE BEREAVEMENT.—On the night of April 2d, the house of Mrs. Ragan, in Sextonville, Richland county, Wis., was burned to the ground, and six children perished in the flames. The largest was 11 years of age.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Miss Kerbey, who was supposed to be identical with the murdered woman found in the water at Jersey City, is believed to pe alive and residing in Brooklyn.

☞ At the Republican Convention, for the 1st District in Maine, held at Biddeford, H. Mark and T. Wentworth of Kittery were chosen Delegates to Chicago. They go unpledged.

Pride requires very costly food—its keeper's happiness.

☞ The steamship Key Stone State sailed for Charleston, Wednesday afternoon, from Philadelphia, with about ninety passengers to attend the National Democratic Convention, including several Delegates from Western States.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, April 18.

Mr. Sumner presented numerous petitions from Massachusetts, praying for the repeal of the fugitive slave law, and abolishing Slavery in the District of Columbia and the several Territories. Laid on the table—25 to 15—a strict party vote.

Mr. Wilson called up his resolution instructing the Military Committee to inquire into the contracts for iron made by the War Department.

Mr. Davis thought the resolution should be addressed to the War Department.

Mr. Wilson thought not. A similar resolution of inquiry was passed at a former session, but nineteen months had elapsed before a reply was received. He wanted different information than that which would come from the War Department. His resolution had created a sensation in certain quarters, and strong efforts had been made to change its direction, and he had been approached even by political friends to induce him to do so.

Mr. Davis knew nothing of that. If the records of the War Department concealed anything, then he would vote for the fullest investigation.

Mr. Wilson disclaimed any insinuation of improper motives on the part of the Senator from Mississippi, for he was the last man to whom he would attribute anything of the sort. It was notorious, however, that the administration of the War Department had laid itself open to suspicion.

After some further debate, the resolution was laid over.

The resolution providing for adjournments of three days at a time, from Thursday till the first of May, was adopted—26 against 22; and that for adjournment from the 19th to the 30th of April rejected, 21 against 22.

The Homestead bill was then taken up, and Mr. Gwin's amendment to legalize the occupation of the mineral lands of California and Oregon by miners, considered.—Without reaching a vote the Senate adj.

HOUSE.—The deficiency appropriation bill was discussed and passed—79 to 63.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Military Academy bill as returned from the Senate, with an amendment authorizing the calling out of a mounted regiment of Texas Volunteers. After a debate,without action, the Committee rose.

Mr. Bonham's resolution for adjournment from the 19th to the 30th inst., was read for information.

Mr. Washburne of Maine and other Republicans objected.

MILCH COWS AND DAIRY FARMING.—Messrs. Crosby, Nichols, Lee & Co., Boston, have just published, and Joseph H. Foster has for sale, a new edition of the truly val uable volume of Charles H. Flint, Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, entitled "Milch Cows and Dairy Farming; comprising the Breeds, Breeding, and Management, in Health and Disease, of Dairy and other Stock; the Selection of Milch Cows, with a full explanation of Guenon's Method; the Culture of Forage Plants, and the Production of Milk, Butter and Cheese; embodying the most recent Improvements, and adapted to Farming in the United States and British Provinces. With a Treatise upon the Dairy and Husbandry of Holland; to which is added Horsfall's System of Dairy Management. Liberally Illustrated."

It is no less creditable to the intelligence of our farmers than to the knowledge and ability of the author, that the first edition of this valuable work has been so soon exhausted. It is a thorough discussion of the subjects connected with the dairy business of stock, the diseases to which they are subject, the established principles of breeding, the feeding and management of milch cows, the raising of calves intended for the dairy, and the culture of grasses and plants to be used as fodder The chapter on the Dutch Dairy, translated from the German, will be found of great practical value, as suggesting much that is applicable to our American dairies. The explanation of Guenon's method of judging and selecting milch cows is translated from the French.—The work contains an account of the most enlightened dairy practice in this country; the details of the husbandry of Holland, and the most recent and productive modes of management in English dairy farming, embracing a large amount of practical and scentific information, not hitherto presented to the American public in an available form.

FIRE.—The house of Winthrop Gordon, in Brentwood, was destroyed by fire, on Sunday morning last. The house was occupied by Mr. Gordon and wife, an aged couple, the former having been an invalid for years. A spark from the chimney set fire to a shed adjoining, and the wind blowing furiously, the efforts of the old lady to arrest the flames were fruitless. The old gentleman, who had been out of the house but once, we are told, in five or six years, got out on this occasion en dishabille, and sat on a rock, exposed to the pitiless blasts, until some neighbors came to his assistance. The old lady saved her bed and a few other articles, but the old house and most of the furniture in it was de-troyed. The fire communicated to the woods adjecent, and was only subdued by the arduous exertions of the neighbors.—Ballot.

BURNT TO DEATH.—In Chester on Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock, a feeble old widow lady named Fitts, 84 years of age, having been left alone some fifteen minutes, was found on the return of her attendant burnt to death. It is supposed her clothes accidentally caught fire, and that she was unable to extinguish the flames or call assistance.—Ballott.

CONCORD, N. H., April 19.—Charles J. F. Stone, Esq., a prominent lawyer of Plymouth, committed suicide this morning, at his residence. Mr. Stone was the representative elect from that town. Financial difficulties are supposed to be the principal cause.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTES.—It will be seen that a Teachers' Institute for Rockingham County, is appointed at Derry, the last of this month. We regard gatherings of this sort, for teachers who have not got above being also learners; as among the most agreeable and useful of social advantages—whether in a musical or literary line. We know some objection has been raised against them—and perhaps sometimes with good reason; but in the hands of such men as our present Commissioner, there can be no question as to their value. And it is a significant fact, that those who oppose them most, — either Musical Conventions or Teachers' Institutes,—are not those persons best practically acquainted with their operation.

For the Weekly Chronicle.

THE MINISTERS AND TEMPERANCE.—"He is a good temperance man." So it was said of a minister who was about to remove to one of our cpuntry towns,and take charge of a society there. Many were glad to hear it, as the help of strong men was needed to stay the evils of intemperance, for some time increasing in the place. Several church members have been known to 'drink with the druuken,' and to oppose temperance efforts. They will not hear lectures on the subject. This minister, it is thought, will give them the Bible doctrine of temperance.

But is it the case that it is a compliment to a minister to say that he is a good temperance man? Are there any who are not such? Would that there were not. I believe, and am happy to say it, that as a class the ministers in New England stand in the front rank of the temperance enterprise. But still some are not so bold, outspoken and active as they should be. I know some who do not reason of temperance as Paul did, for fear it might offend some of their supporters. I know of some who think very highly of cider as a drink, and of ardent spirits as a medicine for the stomach ache, and other "often infirmities." This number, however, is small, and their influence for good is about lost.—Glad to hear all around that so many ministers are good temperance men.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

WM. MARKHAM.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething,which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach, in the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

CITY COUNCIL, THURSDAY EVE.

IN COMMON COUNCIL,

Resolved, That the Chief Engineer be requested to demand that all property unlawfully removed from the Hall of Atlantic Engine Co., No. 6 be restored to said Hall by the persons who removed the same.

And that the Board of Aldermen be requested to retain all sums of money due the said Company, until such times as the Chief Engineer shall report to their Board that the property has been replaced in said Hall, in as good order as before removal.

Resolved, (the Aldermen concurring,) That the sum of $500 be appropriated for celebrating the coming 4th of July—on condition that the sum of $300 be raised by the citizens to be added to the above sum.

And that a joint committee of five of the Council, with such as the citizens may join, be appointed to make all necessary arrangements.

[Non-concurred in by the Aldermen.]

Ordered, That the Clerk be directed to proceed to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, and enquire what disposition has been made in regard to the Ordinance abolishing the office of Street Commissioner passed in concurrence in the City Council, some weeks since; and if it has received the signature of the Mayor, in compliance with city charter, sec. 13,—as amended June 12, 1857.

[The City Clerk brought verbal answer that the Mayor had not signed the said bill, but was waiting opportunity to consult counsel as to its legality. The Clerk of the Com. Council was directed to return the resolution to the Mayor and Aldermen, with request for written reply.]

The Appropriation Bill was again taken up, and still further reduced. For repairs and rents of School Houses, $1200 was reduced to $850; for Printing, $400 was cut down to $300; for the Celebration of 4th of July, increased from $100, to $500 provided the citizens subscribe $300 more. Without finishing the bill, the Com. Council adj.

FIRE.—The dwelling notoriously known as the Pike's Peak House, situated on the Norton Road, (leading from Lafayette Road to Mr. Jedediah Rand's store in Rye,) and located within the limits of Portsmouth, tho' just at Rye line—was burnt on Thursday afternoon, we are informed, with most or all the contents. We have no information as to the cause—perhaps spontaneous combustion.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

The following indictments were found, in addition to those we have already published:

Elias Taylor—indicted for perjury in falsely swearing to a complaint against one Samuel Hodgdon, charging said Hodgdon with stealing a buffalo, the property of plf. Arraigned—plea, not guilty.

David H. Young—entering store of Edward P. Prescott, in Candia, and stealing therefrom.

Rufus Goodwin—fraudulently disposing of shoe stock.

Monroe Colcord—fraudulently disposing of shoe stock.

Charles W. Butman—Assault upon Ezra S. Durgin, with intent to kill, at Exeter, Oct. 20th, 1859.—Plea not guilty.—Recognized in $1000 for his appearance at Oct. term.

Huldah Chase—Receiving and concealing stolen property. Plea not guilty—Recognized in $500 for her appearance at Oct. term.

George F. Calden—Selling liquor. Plea nol. con.

H. G. O. Rundlett—2 indictments for selling liquor.

Polly Moore—Selling liquor.

The trial of Elias Taylor for perjury, for falsely swearing to a complaint the allegations of which he knew to be untrue—was commenced on Monday afternoon, and terminated on Wednesday morning. The jury found respondent guilty. His counsel will move for arrest of judgment and for a new trial.

On Wednesday morning, after a hearing upon the motion for continuance in the case State v. Richardson and Healey, the court granted the motion, in consequence of the ill health of Mrs. Healey, and the short time that has elapsed since the preliminary examination before the magistrates—and the case stands continued to the Oct. term. —Ballot.

The Court was occupied the remainder of the day in the trial of action No. 145, Rebecca H. Morrison v. Hiram K. Bryant. An action of trover—to recover sundry agricultural implements and articles of husbandry, alleged to have been the property of plf., and wrongfully taken by deft.

THURSDAY, April 19.

In the action Morrison v. Bryant, the jury returned a verdict for the Plf. for $154.14.

The Court then commenced the case State v. Rufus Goodwin,—an indictment for unlawfully disposing of shoe stock delivered to the respondent by a shoe firm at Haverhill. In the course of trial, it appeared that the name of one member of the firm was not correctly stated in the indictment, and the question will be sent to the full bench upon an agreed case.

Joseph Nickett, indicted for fraudulently disposing of shoe stock,—plead nol. con. and was sentenced to 3 months imprisonment in jail, and costs.

Case 155, Reuben Peaslee v. Rufus Dow—an action on a promissory note—was tried and resulted in a verdict for plf. for the amount of the note and interest.

Case 168. John Doe v. Jacob K. Purington.—This is an action for slander. The trial was commenced in the afternoon,—and will occupy a part of to-day.

The criminal docket having been disposed of, with the exception of a few appeal cases, the remainder of the term will be occupied in the trial of civil actions.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

SANDY HOOK, April 18.—The steamship Arago, from Havre and Southampton, on the 4th inst., has arrived off this point, with 2 days later news.

Parliament had adjourned to the 16th of April.

Warrants have been issued against Heenan and Sayers, binding them to keep the peace for one year.

The Great Powers would probably hold a conference on the Swiss and Italian questions.

A revolutionary movement was on foot in Spain. Gen. Ostega with 3000 men had proclaimed Don Carlos King.

Austria had solemnly protested against the annexation.

Parliament had passed the income tax bill.

In the House of Commons, in reply to a question, Lord John Russell said her Majesty had been advised to recognize the recent acquisitions of the King of Sardinia.

It is understood that the warrants against Heenan and Sayers will be executed at once, and the parties required to find sureties to a heavy amount, as the magistrates are determined if possible, to prevent the fight from coming off in Hertfordshire.

The French government has revoked the articles of the concordat, so that no bull, brief, rescript, mandate or provision, or other document from the Court of Rome, even regarding private persons, can be received, published or otherwise put into execution, without the authorization of the government.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Commissioner of Patents has granted the application for the extension of the House Telegraph Patent for seven years from to-day. Also for the Wells' improvement in manufacturing hat bodies, for a like period.

The steamer Roanoke will land the Japanese Embassy at the city of New York, in accordance with the original order of the Secretary of the Navy. They would have been brought directly to Washington, as recommended by Consul General Harris, but for the apprehended difficulty of piloting the vessel through the channel of the Potomac river.

The House Committee on Elections today have passed a resolution that, in the contested election case of Williamson and Sickles, the points raised and argued by Mr. Sickles in relation to the notice of specifications served by the contestant be reserved for decision until the final hearing, without prejudice to the rights of Mr. Sickles, and that Mr. Williamson proceed to take testimony upon his notice at his peril.

The House Post Office Committee today agreed to a reduction of the charge on all letters delivered by local carriers, to one cent.

A large number of delegates and others left here to-day for Charleston, including Fernando Wood and a number of the Hard-shell delegates from New York.

MARRIED.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!
of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an-hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S
PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

A STRICT WESTERN STEAMBOAT.—The usual amount of gambling and other expedients for getting rid of time were resorted to, and one evening some of the passengers asked the captain if he had any objections to their holding a prayer meeting in the cabin.—"None at all, gentlemen," was his bland reply, "amuse yourselves in any way you like; only remember it is the rule of the boat that all games must cease at ten o'clock."

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefitted by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased, with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling of arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations Lowe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it, at the growing gray or getting bald.

Very Respectfully,
BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Alamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on my hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all! Yours truly,
W. M. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like.—By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage soon. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1851, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the only thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds at least 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents as with the same essential elements, and gives of course the True Standard.—Analyze the Blood of sick people, suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the original standard. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—hence its marvellous efficacy. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection of the throat or LUNGS inducing CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVER-USE, GENERAL DEBILITY, and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by Drops and carried immediately into the circulation, so that what you take is what you obtain. The No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for the use of SALT RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. The remedy is called BLOOD FOOD, $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING; DIARRHŒA, CHOLIC, SICK HEADACHE, PAIN IN THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and Stomach, &c. It is perfectly being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of the Nostrums of ignorant pretenders, in Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this article is free from all injurious ingredients, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being the circulating fluid it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor believe one which it may not select as its victim. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, confinement, in filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children, unless the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or tuberous matter, which, in the lungs, is called tubercle, in the glands, tumor, tubercle; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which confers in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination, and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by scrofulous cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the restoration of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND DYSPEPTIC COMPLAINTS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "purgatives of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this purgative is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC are so compounded that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and purify every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who has bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so gentle, certain and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous disorders. The agent herein named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism and Gout, Dropsy, Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and as the best family cathartic.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the range of its influence, and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

DR MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified from impurities, and free from combination in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the Highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIALRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MESENTERIA TION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, TIMPLES, ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of its restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long dead, hidden or to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from premature graves to a new hand. Some very striking instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguinaneous emigration, chronic diarrhœa, and the complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old quiders, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinctive specific action, by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has always the charm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this elegant and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of Mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

For Children Teething,

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of unqualified praise of its medical effects and medical virtues. We speak, in this matter, what we do know, after ten years experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be obtained in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England and has been used with never failing success, in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tonead energy to the whole system. It will almostinstantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it is the OLDEST AND BEST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—Do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC,

A STRIKING CONTRAST.—By the annual report of the Massachusetts General Hospital in this city, and the McLean Asylum in Somerville, we notice that the whole number of patients admitted to both during the past year was 1371, and that the expenses were $98,789. The number admitted during the same period at the Boston Indian Medical Institute, in Broomfield street, was 1629, at an expense of only about $42,000. These figures show that the number of patients admitted at the Indian Medical Institute, was nearly one-fifth larger than the number admitted at the Hospital and the McLean Asylum counted together; and yet they were treated at less than one-half the expense.—These facts, and the contrast here presented are the strongest arguments that can be produced in favor of the "Institute," and cannot fail to attract the attention of all interested in such matters. Had we space to enter into the different modes of treatment, and the relative number cured, the contrast would be still more striking. It is well known that many diseases, especially those of Cancer, have been treated successfully at this Institution, after they had without benefit, visited the hospitals in New York as well as in New England. We have recently examined their records, and conversed with many of their patients, and know wherof we affirm. The same privilege is extended to all who wish to investigate the merits of this important subject.—Those of our readers who cannot visit the Institute personally, can obtain the facts, and all necessary information free, by addressing R. Greene, M. D., 86 Broomfield St., Boston, Mass.—Boston Atlas & Bee.

The above facts show very conclusively, that the public are beginning to understand that the treatment of patients at the "Massachusetts General Hospital," as well as at the "McLean Asylum," is exceeding defective. In other words, that several diseases which prevail quite extensively are not understood at the medical schools, and hence the prescriptions of medical gentlemen connected with those schools, are, to a great extent, mere matters of experiment. Where is the suffering patient who is willing to place himself under the medical treatment of a class of men who are quite as likely to aggravate his disease, as they are to remove it? And yet this is obviously what many people do without being aware of it. The large number treated during the past year at the Indian Medical Institute, shows, however, that this state of things will not continue much longer.—Indian Arcana.

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been

THOROUGHLY TESTED

by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them

The Best in the Market!

These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1860.

THE PURITANS: or the Church, Court and Parliament of England, during the reigns of Edward VI. and Queen Elizabeth. By Samuel Hopkins. "The Liberties of our House, it behooveth us to leave to our posterities in the same freedom we have received them."—Committee of the Puritan Commons to the Lords, 1575-6. In three volumes. Vol. II., pages 539. Boston: Gould & Lincoln.

Having examined the first volume, and noticed it favorably, several months ago, we have lately given it a renewed and more thorough reading, in the midst of which we welcomed the second volume, just out of the press; and we have since devoted all the time we could to a careful perusal of the new volume.

No work of the kind that we have seen, approaches this in thoroughness of examination, or in attempted or intended impartiality. Mr. Hopkins is evidently himself a puritan; and therefore, when he must construe conflicting opinions and statements, we find him naturally and almost inevitably putting as favorable a construction upon the acts and movements of the puritans, as the facts will possibly allow.

Yet he means to deal fairly also with Queen Elizabeth and her courtiers, with the precisians and prelates, and with the Romanists. And he generally succeeds in doing so.

Two other excellent features in this work are the abundant reference to authorities on disputed points, and the accurate quotation or statement of those writers from whom the author feels constrained to differ.

Every reader, therefore, who cares to know how puritanism began, and who began it, may read this book with the certainty that his stock of knowledge will be increased by it, and that improved views of the actors who were on the stage three hundred years ago will give him a clearer insight into their character and motives.

He may see, in the old puritans of that remote day, a progenitor of the civil and religious freedom which prevails in Old England and New at the present day.

The second volume begins with the Parliament of 1575-6, and the burning of two Anabaptists at Smithfield. And it ends with the Parliament of 1584-5, and the hanging of Parry, a Romanist, who religiously conspired against the Queen's life.

The reader will perceive this to have been a stormy period, full of important changes; and as he reads this instructive book, he may see the little beginnings from which came some of the more powerful denominations among modern protestant christians, as distinctly as he could see, on a map, the little sources whence flow great rivers and broad streams.

In reading the book, we have pencilled many remarkable passages. We have room now for only one of them, viz., the English reason given for keeping Lent, which is the more seasonable as Lent this year has just closed. In volume 2, year 1576, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, Mr. Hopkins informs us—

A remarkable English reason for observing Fast-days, and particularly the Lent Fast, is forced upon our notice by an order of the Council to the Archives on the thirteenth day of December.

It was a matter of State policy—and wise, being insular policy—that "the numbers of cattle should be increased, and that the abundance of fish which the sea yieldeth should be generally received. Besides, there should be consideration had for the preservation of a navy and maintenance of convenient numbers of sea-faring men;—both which would otherwise decay, if some means were not found whereby they might be increased." King Edward and his Council were of this mind. By Proclamation, Jan. 19th, 1547-8, "The king allowed that men should on Fast-days abstain from food of flesh to subdue the body unto the soul and spirit. And also for worldly and civil policy, to spare flesh and use fish for the benefits of the Commonwealth, where many be fishers, ... and that the nourishment of the land might be increased by saving flesh, and especially at the Spring time, when Lent doth commonly fall, and when the most common and plenteous breeding of flesh is, ... and that divers of the king's subjects do have good livings and riches in uttering and selling such meat as the sea and waters do minister unto us." These reasons were so highly appreciated, that the Parliament which met in the next November enacted a law for observing Fast-days, which contained the very reasons given in this Proclamation.

But the Puritan aversion to everything which savored of superstition and of slavery to Rome, had turned against ceremonial, periodical Fastings; and thus the Fish-days of the Church had fallen into general disrepute and desuetude. The fishermen found their occupation on the wane, and prayed to the Council for help.

The Council, therefore, interfered; and in terms unusually clear set forth their reasons. Addressing a letter to the Archbishop, they wrote: "The laws for the observation of Embring and Fifty Days are not so duly observed as they ought to be, and as is requisite in policy for the maintenance of Mariners, Fishermen, and the Navy of the Realm. Her Highness hath therefore given strait charge unto her own Household for the observance of those Days; and also to the Lord Mayor of the City of London and other her Majesty's Officers and loving subjects abroad, to the intent . . . . . the State might take such benefit by the laws as was at the time of making intended. Which, we can assure your Lordship, is the only cause why at this time the observation of these Days is so much urged. . . . . We have thought good to require your Lordship to give order within your Province, that the Ministers and Preachers be commanded in their sermons to the people to instruct them to conform themselves and their Families to the said Laws; and further to declare unto them, that the same is not required for any liking of Popish ceremonies heretofore used, (which are utterly detested,) but only to maintain the Mariners and Navy in this Land, by setting men a Fishing."

Her brother Edward had two reasons;—her majesty but one. For an island realm, it was a good one.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, April 19.

SENATE.—The Homestead bill was taken up, and Mr. Gwinn's amendment concerning mining lands rejected—9 against 33.

Mr. Wade moved to substitute the House bill.

Messrs. Fitch and Crittenden offered amendments, and after some debate the Senate postponed the bill to Wednesday week, and went into executive session. Adj. till Monday.

HOUSE.—The House went into Committee on the Senate's amendment to the Military Academy bill, authorizing the employment in Texas of mounted volunteers.

After some debate Mr. Otero offered an amendment appropriating a like sum of money (nearly a million) for a similar regiment for New Mexico.

The Senate's amendment was rejected—50 against 69.

Mr. Otero's amendment was also rejected.

The amendment reducing the term of study at West Point to four years was adopted.

The Committee rose.

The House non-concurred in the Senate's Texas Regiment amendment—yeas 74, nays 92

A motion was made to reconsider the vote.

Mr. Bonham called up his resolution that when the House adjourn on Friday it be to the 30th inst., and it was tabled—88 against 53. Adj.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Senate to-day confirmed the appointment of Frank E. Wooten as Secretary of State for Utah.

The Committee on Elections have reported in favor of Mr. Howard and against Mr. Cooper, the sitting member, in the Michigan contested case. Messrs. Gartrell, Stevenson and Boyce unite in a minority report.

This completes the 100th day the House has been in actual session.

There is no doubt from present indications, that a quorum will be present during the next week. As much, however, cannot be said of the Senate, many of its members having already left the city.

Nearly all the Republicans voted against the Senate's amendment appropriating nearly $1,000,000 to enable the President to call into service a regiment of Texas mounted volunteers. Carter, Curtis, Jenkins, Morris of Pa., and Schwartz, voted with the Democrats and Southern Opposition, in its favor.

☞ President Buchanan's letter to Gov. Walker of Kansas, dated July 12, 1857, is just published at Washington. In this letter, the president avows the popular sovereignty doctrine, insists on submitting the Constitution to the people, &c. He says:

Again, on the question of submitting the Constitution to the bona fide residents of Kansas I am willing to stand or fall. It is the principle of the Kansas Nebraska bill, the principle of popular sovereignty, and the principle at the foundation of all popular government.

The author stands in a miserable plight of self-contradiction between this letter and his subsequent acts and words on Kansas.

☞ A few days ago Mrs. Bartram, residing in Sansom street, Philadelphia, was dreadfully injured by the explosion of a coffepot. A proper escape for the steam had not been allowed, and on Mrs. Bartram's taking hold of the pot, it exploded with tremendous force, destroying perhaps forever her eyesight, and injuring her body seriously.

THE LAST STRIKE.—The organist and a member of the choir at Rev. Mr. Lamphear's Church, (Second Parish,) Exeter, struck recently for higher wages. The Wardens, after considering the matter, decided that they would see the singers dumb before they would pay any more for their music, and last Sunday the experiment of congregational singing was made with success.—Ballot.

SOUTHERN ENTERPRISE.—Messrs. John Frazer & Co., of Charleston, S. C., are about to commence running their ship as a line of sailing packets from that port to Liverpool and return, leaving each port on regular days. This is a new development of Southern commercial enterprise.

☞ The editor of the Spiritual Eclectic, speaking of promiscuous spiritual circles, says that they "have been very generally discontinued, and not seldom in consequence of the breaking out of moral disorders of the most flagrant character."

☞ The Lafayette Journal says the Sheriff of that county recently took a young fellow to the Lunatic Asylum from that place, who is remarkably handsome, and whose insanity is believed to have been produced by a morbid development of his self-conceit.

☞ A clairvoyant in New York declares that one of the pugilists, Heenan, she thinks, who fought for the championship of England, has been killed.

☞ The South Carolina Democratic State Convention reaffirmed the Baltimore and Cincinnati Platforms and the Dred Scott decision. The proceedings were conservative.

LETTER FROM EXETER.

EXETER, N. H., April 19, '60.

Dear Chronicle:—The routine of every day life in a quiet New England Village like this, presents little news of interest to outsiders; consequently, the letters of your Exeter correspondent—like some of the walking demijohns he meets on the street—are rather dry.

Since my last, the Temperance movement has received a new impetus. Last Saturday, notice was given that Wm. Adams, Jr., an agent of the Massachusetts Temperance Alliance, would lecture in the evening. It was well attended, and on Sabbath afternoon at 4 o'clock, he addressed the children and gave notice of a meeting Wednesday, P.M., for the organization of a Band of Hope. On Sabbath evening, Mr. A. lectured in the Town Hall to an audience that filled every available seat, and many went away unable to get a chance to hear. On Wednesday afternoon the children came together in great numbers, filled with enthusiasm, and signed the pledge to abstain from intoxicating drinks, tobacco and profanity. God grant that none of them may ever become the slaves of the least of these habits.

This Band of Hope is to be a regular organized society, with meetings for exercising in singing, speaking, declamation, &c.—Wednesday evening the Hall was again filled to overflowing, and after the lecture the pledge was circulated, and one hundred and sixty signatures obtained. We learn that Mr. Adams came here without invitation from those engaged in the present movement, and we suppose, as Dr. Johnson is a firm Spiritualist, that he will regard his coming as a special mark of the assistance and co-operation of the spirits.—And truly, if there is "rejoicing in Heaven" over the repenting sinners of earth, I do not see how we can avoid believing in the sympathy and assistance of the angels in every good work. There has not been since the commencement of this movement, such a general and deep interest in it as now. We regret to learn that Dr. Johnson has been confined to his house for some days, by illness, but hope soon to see him again strong and well, battling for the right.

The Court is working its slow length along, dealing out justice to those troublesome and ever-present fellows, Plaintiff and Defendant.

Our traders who were burnt out by the late fire, have generally found new locations. The heaviest loser is Mr. C. H. Goodwin, the "grease-juice" man—he is soon to leave for California. Most of the others that were not insured have had their losses made up to them by subscription.—Mr. Boutelle has also gone to try his luck in some new location.

A new brick block is to replace the old wooden buildings burnt, so that a lesser evil will work out a greater good, and the community gain by individual loss.

Business is generally dull; farmers are busy in their fields at home; the Court keeps the lawyers and hotel-keepers busy, and the rest are quietly "watching the chances." ALEXIS.

CONCERT.—The Epping Cornet Band is to give a concert in that town, on Tuesday evening, May 8th, assisted by Prof. Bond of Boston, and his two daughters, Fannie G. and Lucy A. Bond, vocalists.—Miss Fannie has enjoyed the best musical advantages in Boston, and though not a public, yet is a cultivated singer. The concert bids fair to be one of rare excellence and worthy of liberal patronage. L.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The politicians are fast leaving for Charleston.—Among those who left this morning were the managers of Mr. Douglas's fortunes, and they go with the defiant words upon their lips, threatening that unless the "Little Giant" is nominated and placed upon the Cincinnati platform, no Democrat shall be elected. It remains to be seen what the effects of their "bluffing" will be upon the friends of the other candidates.

Mr. Guthrie's friends were thrown into some excitement by a dispatch from Charleston which stated that the South will oppose Mr. Guthrie's nomination, unless the slave code is recognized in the platform. Unless this is conceded they will go for Hunter of Va., with Seymour of N. Y. for Vice, and give the platform the go-by altogether.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The Tribune Washington corr. says it is stated that Ex-Gov. Walker has sent a challenge to Judge Black, and the Judge declined it. The affair originated with the expression of Judge B. relative to the President's letter, that if such a letter was in existence it was a forgery.

☞ We are requested to state that a part of that prime Beef we spoke of a day or two since, as fatted by Mr. Wm. Hill of Eliot, may be seen and purchased at the Provision Store of Joseph Holmes, on the corner of Penhallow and Bow streets, fronting Market street, where also is exhibited for sale as great a variety and as good quality of other meats, veal, lamb, pork, etc., with vegetables in their season, as can be found in any market in the city.

☞ The house of George H. Whitney in Providence, was entered on Sunday night by rogues, who carried off silver plate valued at upwards of $500.

LAST CALL.

All persons indebted to the late firm of JOSEPH HARVEY & SON are requested to call at my office, No. 47 Congress Street, and pay their bills and notes before the 25th of April.

All accounts not paid by that time will positively be put in suit for collection, as the business of the firm must be closed.

JOHN S. HARVEY, Assignee.

April 6, 1860.

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

BETSEY SANBORN.

Kensington, Sept. 25, 1855.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., No. 1 School St., for his Panacea, Cough Drops, Conserve, Rheumatic Compound and Family Pills, and other of his popular remedies, will be promptly attended to.

☞ Why will people go and have a poor miserable picture taken of themselves? Because, all those do not know that they can procure for the same money, a fine finished picture, faithful and true as life itself, at in Congress Block, where the most superior likenesses are taken, and in all cases perfect satisfaction given.

N. B.—The beautiful little "give away" (cheap) pictures, are taken at this establishment, with a double lens Camera, (100 per day) by the celebrated Parisian artist—Monsieur Heavtoutitorumenos.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,
WM. MARKHAM.

TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Boundbrook, N. J., says it is the best medicine for Consumption in every stage, that has ever been known.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., BOSTON, and for sale by Wm. R. Preston, David Kimball, Nathan P. Thacher, J. H. Thacher, and B. Hutchings, Portsmouth; J. P. Hackett, Greenland; and dealers everywhere. spnot 4wd&w

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon its mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the invalid. We recommend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

☞ Some time last Fall, as the readers of the Chronicle will remember, a man named Ford, of Portland, Me., was arrested, examined, and bound over to the Supreme Judicial Court now in session at Exeter. We presume he was discharged; at any rate, he made his debut in this city on Thursday evening, and celebrated his advent by getting very drunk, and was arrested Thursday night by officer Carter and taken to the lock-up; not, however, without making so much resistance that he was obliged to be handcuffed, to secure him.

Marshal Beck, thinking that he had been at the County's expense long enough, (as he has been in jail ever since he stole the cloak) concluded to get rid of him. The fellow said he would like to go home—to Portland. Accordingly, on Friday morning the Marshal escorted him to Portsmouth Bridge, paid his toll, gave him a few necessaries, and after making him promise to do better and never show himself here again, sent him on his way.

He does not seem disposed to commit any desperate acts, but succeeds in making himself a public nuisance; of which we have now a great many more than we can afford to support. These pests in society are a tax on the working class, and should be put and kept where they will earn their living.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors :—We must have a Celebration on the coming 4th of July. It is time now to talk about the matter and get the people interested. A good Celebration is enjoyed by every one, if it does cost a trifle. The city government should by all means appropriate $500 towards defraying the expenses; and with $300 or more, from our citizens, which will bring in treble the amount in trade; gratuitous services of workmen, and assistance of the ladies, we can get up a very good programme. A procession combining the floral, and a representation of scenes of the Revolution "for the amusement of the young people;" an exhibition of our Fire Department, and it would be well to invite one or two Companies from neighboring towns to participate in the festivities; the military companies in Kittery, Newcastle and Rye, with a volunteer corps here, together with the Odd Fellows, Masons, Sons of Malta, Mercantile, Mechanics, and Young Men's Christian Associations, and other Societies; the public schools in Portsmouth and the neighboring towns; and if possible, a platoon of the Horse Guard, will make a good display—A balloon ascension, boat race, trial of engines, an oration, fire works, and grand promenade concert or ball, will be attractions that will be acceptable to all, and pay for the trouble and expense. H.

STREET BEGGING.—The attention of our community has several times been called to the subject of street begging, and yet we have failed by any combined effort effectually to break it up. Several children have been kept from school all winter, for the sole purpose of begging, whose present moral condition might well call forth more tears of real or supposed misery which they have been taught to recite. We could also give the name of more than one adult, who has with false statements imposed upon the benevolence of our citizens within the past few months.

A person of this description is at present soliciting aid from our citizens under varying pretences. And, as she has used my name in several places as one who has aided her, I would take the liberty to state that she called on me on Monday evening last, representing herself as a widow from Portland, asking to be lodged and helped on her way to Newburyport. I furnished her with means for procuring a lodging, with the understanding that she was to leave our city the next morning. Her subsequent course has proved her to be unworthy of confidence. N. MEDBERY, Portsmouth, April 20. City Missionary.

☞ The body of Mr. Rand, who has been missing for several weeks, was found in the woods on Friday. Supposed to have died in a fit. His remains were brought to this city for burial. He was about 24 years of age.

☞ The alarm of fire on Friday evening was doubtless occasioned by some brush burning, in the vicinity of the Eastern depot.

☞ The Rockingham Weekly Chronicle, containing a summary of the news of the week, this day published, and for sale at the Chronicle Counting Room: price 3 cents; $1 per year, in advance.

A FEW CERTIFICATES OF THE GREAT SUCCESS
of the
Grover & Baker's Sewing Machines.

[From the wife of the Hon. Jefferson Davis.]

Mrs. Jefferson Davis presents her compliments to Messrs. Grover & Baker, and takes pleasure in saying that she has used one of their box Sewing Machines for two years, and finds it still in good order—makes a beautiful stitch, and does easily any kind of work.

[From J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.]

My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

[From the Rev. Jonathan Cross, Agent American Tract Society.]

My wife has been using one of your Sewing Machines for the last three months, and pronounces it faultless. She can sew more on it in one day, than in ten the old way, and without fatigue. The work is beautiful and durable.—She says she would not exchange it for any other one. It is certainly one of the grandest inventions ever made for the relief of woman-kind, and I would recommend every family to get one as soon as possible.

Baltimore, July 14, 1859.

PORTSMOUTH, April 12, 1859.

Having tested the merits of the various popular Sewing Machines, in the manufacture of our Capes and Raglans, we unhesitatingly recommend the Grover & Baker, as far superior to all others.
ALLEN & PAINE.

PORTSMOUTH, July 16, 1859.

If you wish to purchase a machine that will do work handsomely and strongly, and will not be liable to get out of repair, call on Mr. Whittemore in Daniel street, see the operation of Grover & Baker's machine, and then place one in your family. They will never consent to part with it, after they understand its operation.
CHARLES W. BREWSTER.

"Zion's Herald," Nov. 10th, 1859, says.—"We would recommend to families and to those about to organize a homestead, to be sure and have a Family Bible, and also one of Grover & Baker's SEWING MACHINES.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!
of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.
COFFEE.
Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S
PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

The Charleston Convention.

The Democratic National Convention for the nomination of the Democratic Presidential candidates will assemble at Charleston, South Carolina, on Monday, and possibly we may be able to announce the result of their deliberations in our next paper. We shall not be surprised, however, if the entire week is consumed in effecting the nominations.

We have little to add to what we have already said in reference to the action of the Convention. We deem it of the first consequence to the interests and welfare of the country that the Democratic party shall succeed in the coming national struggle, and hence we are anxious that the proceedings of the Convention should be careful and rational and result harmoniously, and we have little doubt that our hopes will be realized.

The leading Black Republican presses of the country, of which the New York Tribune is foremost, manifest an anxious desire for the nomination of Mr. Douglas, and are doing what they can to aid such a consummation by predicting that it is certain to take place. This seems to us so show pretty conclusively, if there were no other evidences of the fact, that Mr. Douglas is not the man for the time. The Black leaders certainly would not desire his nomination if they believed him to be the most formidable candidate that could be put in the field against them. They manifestly think his success at Charleston would prove disastrous to the Democracy, and contribute to the success of the Black Republican party.

As we remarked on a former occasion, the candidates which the Convention shall nominate should be men against whom there is no ill-feeling in any quarter, from any cause. They should be men who will unite and cordially and enthusiastically bring out to their support the entire Democratic party of the country, unimpaired by the loss of a single vote; and the platform put forth should be sound in principle, conservative and just to all sections. We believe the Convention will act wisely and discreetly, and whatever the result we hardly need say that the Gazette will cordially and zealously support the nominees.

HALFPENNY'S CONVICTION.—Justice has for once been administered in the Black Republican Courts of New Hampshire, maugre political considerations, and we are disposed to give full credit for it. Next to the wilful murderer, if any criminal deserves to be dealt with summarily and severely it is the malicious or wanton incendiary, who applies his torch at dead of night, not knowing or caring where the conflagration he kindles will end, or what the amount of destruction it will cause. Such a fellow is Halfpenny, and in his prompt conviction and sentence he has got his just deserts. No dramatic scenes were enacted in the court room to excite sympathy in his behalf; no renowned advocate stepped forward to his rescue; even the ordinary plea of counsel was omitted, and justice allowed to take her course in his case silently and without interruption.

We have no idea that Halfpenny was alone in causing the many fires and alarms which have occurred in this city during the past winter; but while he has been placed beyond the power of committing further mischief for a long time to come, the speedy justice which has overtaken him will be likely to deter others of the incendiary tribe from continuing their fiendish acts. In his fate they see what is sure to overtake them if they persist in their career of crime.

A WASHINGTON DUEL.—The war of words in the House last week, between Mr. Lovejoy and others almost led to tragical results. When the Globe of the next morning appeared, it was found to contain language attributed to Mr. Potter of Wisconsin, which he did not utter, or at least, which nobody heard, nor even the reporters. It had been interpolated by Potter himself, and was grossly offensive towards Mr. Pryor, who is known as a fighting man.

Upon the appearance of the Globe, Pryor called attention to this language, and Potter admitted that he had procured its insertion. Pryor instantly sent him a challenge, which Potter accepted, naming bowie knives as the weapons—well knowing that implement was not recognized in the code of the duelist, and hoping to escape the issue in that way. Pryor's friend, Chisman, declined the terms, as was expected, when Landor, Potter's friend, proposed to fight Pryor with pistol. He was told there was no quarrel with him, and it is likely the affair will end, as both parties have been put under bonds to preserve the peace.

CHURCH DISCIPLINE.—The Hartford Times professes to give a report of a scene which came off in a Methodist church in the town of Portland, on Sunday, the day preceding the late election. A divinity student from Wesleyan University, Middletown, went over there to preach. The Times goes on to say that the town is strongly Democratic, giving four hundred majority for Seymour, and calls the student a rank abolitionist, &c., &c. We give the following in the language of the Times:

Mr. Kellogg Strong, of that town, an old Jeffersonian Democrat, stood it as long as he could, and then rose in his place in the church, and spoke in a loud voice to the preacher:

"Young man, you came here to preach the Gospel. I came here to hear it. And unless you cease this preaching of politics, I shall go up in that pulpit and take you out of it."

The preacher stopped in his discourse. One of the congregation said to Mr. Strong, "Brother Strong, he is a young man. Perhaps you are a little too hard on him."

Mr. Strong replied, "It is because he is a young man that I desire to teach him better."

The preaching was then resumed—but no more politics was preached during that sermon!

MAPLE PLACE.—This beautiful field belonging to the Governor, in front of his mansion, which is the first green spot upon which the eye rests as we go out from Market Square, is being surrounded by a handsome open fence, which will make the treat to the eye, as valuable to every passer-by as it is to the philanthropic owner.

DISCHARGES AT CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—On Saturday the entire gang of carpenters, number about 100 workmen, together with 10 blacksmiths, were discharged from the Navy Yard.

Rev. E. B. Eddy of Winchester, Mass. will preach at the Middle st. church next Sabbath.

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefitted by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact. If I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclining to be curly. About six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceases to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Sizmastou, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all! Yours truly,

WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like—by publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1853, I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and in words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents us with the same essential elements, and gives of course the True Standard.—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—hence its success. There are SIX DIFFERENT PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS inducing CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Impotency, Sperm, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVER-USE, GENERAL DEBILITY, and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2 is for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by Drops and carried immediately into the circulation, so that when you gain you retain. The No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for this. For SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of either "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, SOUR STOMACH, DISORDERLY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of Opiates, we would earnestly recommend Infantile Cordials as composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this you can rely upon, for it is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Sold by all Druggists.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of Mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,
For Children Teething.

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine,—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter, what we do know, after ten years experience, and pledge our reputation for the truth of what we assert. We can truly say in this instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England and has been used with never-failing success, in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe there is no other medicine combines all the virtues in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—Do not let your own prejudices, or the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine; if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC,

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

Principal Office, No. 8 Cedar st. New York.

Price only 25 cents per bottle.

HEALTH AND COMFORT.—HEALTH VS. WEALTH.—"Nessmuk, a spicy writer in Porter's Spirit, says:

Occasionally, when looking at a man whose blood has been dried and digestion ruined by stove heat, close air, and harrassing anxiety—in a word, by "business,"—I catch myself trying to compute—to get at the value, by dollars and cents, of a good appetite and perfect digestion. If life be valuable just in proportion to the enjoyment of that life, how many dollars, in round numbers, ought a man to take for his capacity to enjoy "as well in possession as in expectancy."

Once, when on a visit to the goodly city of Gotham, a "sawbones" of my acquaintance pointed out to me a New York celebrity by the name of Astor—Wm. B. Astor, if I mistake not. This man's property was immense. His net income—so the doctor told me—amounted to more than a dollar a minute. He was obligeit to take care of, to look after, and to see to all this. He endured each day not less than twelve hours' hard, soul-pressing, man-killing work and anxiety, from which there could be no let up, no relaxation, as any business man knows. And he got for all this what clothes he chose to wear,—no great item, for he was not a dandy,—and so much coarse rye bread as, under the advice of his physician, he thought it safe or expedient to eat; for he had (of course he had) the dyspepsia most miserably. And he actually suffered all this for less than hod carrier's wages.

Served him right! No man has any business with such an amount of "accumulated labor;" and if he will grasp and hold, he must give his undivided attention to it, until his efforts having sufficiently culminated in dollars and dyspepsia, the one shall finish him and his heirs shall finish the other, to the huge delight of the scarlet feminine and other sinful personages, and the elevation of public morals generally. Wherefore, oh, Nessmuk, eat thy venison in peace, and thank God for poverty.

☞ The one-wife Mormon, Joe Smith, Jr., and his followers, have decided to settle in Kirtland, Lake county, Ohio.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over a l others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

WALKER AND BUCHANAN.

Nobody now ought to blame Mr. Buchanan for his dread of Mr. Covode's Committee of Investigation. Before that Committee, has been brought to light, the celebrated letter of instructions from President Buchanan to Hon. Robert J. Walker, on his appointment as Governor of Kansas. The existence of this letter has been persistently denied in high quarters, and it was only brought to light by the assertions of Attorney General Black, that such a letter did not exist, and could not be produced.

On Tuesday, Gov. Walker was before the Committee, and positively declined to give the letter up, declaring he would go to jail rather than surrender it. Subsequently, Mr. Ellis B. Schnable testified before the committee that he had seen the letter in question, and he recapitulated its contents so far as he could remember them. He also informed the committee that on Friday last he accidentally met Attorney General Black at the office of the Constitution, when a discussion took place upon the truth of the existence of such a letter. In reply to Judge Black's assertion that no such document ever existed, Mr. Schnable informed him that he had seen it, whereupon the Judge became much excited, and challenged its production, declaring that "the President never wrote such a document; and if Gov. Walker, or any other person, pretended to have such a document, it was a mere pretence to cover up a perpetrated or intended treason to the Democratic party, or a mere pretext for deserting to the Black Republican ranks. He further added, that if any one attacked the Administration on this ground, (to use his exact words,) "We will put a shirt upon him from which he will never escape!"

The committee thus having proof of the existence of the letter, Gov. Walker was again summoned before them, and being shown the testimony of Mr. Schable, he decided to make the letter public. Previous to submitting the letter to the Committee, Governor Walker made quite a lengthy speech; explaining his whole connection with the office of Governor of Kansas.—Governor Walker says that on his return from Kansas he was strongly inclined to publish the letter, but he regarded the Union as in danger, and he concluded to withhold it from the public, though he was conscious that by so doing he was injuring himself in the eyes of the public.

So much for Gov. Walker—now for the President.

For pursuing the very course which he marked out for Gov. Walker, the President has since proscribed many who have for years been his best friends. In his message to Congress, dated Dec. 6, 1858, he cats his own words to Gov. Walker, and enters into a labored argument to show that he had no right or power to pursue the policy he had himself recommended to Gov. Walker, and says, "To have done this (advised a rejection of the constitution because it had not been submitted to the people) would have been a violation of the Kansas-Nebraska act." Just the reverse of what he had written to Gov. Walker. And further, "It would have been in opposition to many precedents in our history, commencing in the very best age of the Republic, of the admission of territories as States into the Union, without a previous vote of the people approving their constitution." Again the reverse of his teachings in his letter to the Governor.

The whole publication shows that the president advised Walker to do the very thing for which he afterwards ejected him from office,—and wound himself up in a ball of contradiction.

☞ It is said the President has caused it to be announced that he will veto any bill appropriating money to pay the expenses of the investigating committees in the House. This will, of course, defeat any appropriation to pay the expenses of the Senate committee on the Virginia invasion.

☞ The U. S. steamer Powhattan has lost but four men since leaving Norfolk in 1857. A Japanese servant of Mr. Alcock, British minister at Jeddo, was murdered by his countrymen shortly before the Powhattan left. The minister took no official notice of it.

☞ The Japanese steamer Candinmarah will remain at San Francisco till advices are received of the arrival of the Embassy at Washington, and then return to Japan to announce to the Emperor the news of their reception at the Federal Capital.

The British steamer Topaz had arrived at Honolulu, but sailed again, not being able to enter the harbor on account of the insufficient depth of water, requiring 23 feet, and the harbor having but 22.

☞ There is a young woman living in Alstead, N. H., who weighs over 700 lbs., and it takes about 20 yards of calico for her dress.

MR. BUCHANAN'S LETTER.

The following is a copy of Mr. Buchanan's celebrated letter to Robert J. Walker, when Governor of Kansas. It came out in testimony before the Covode Committee:

WASHINGTON, July 12, 1857.

My Dear Sir:—I duly received your letter of the 28th ult., on Friday last, and read it to the Cabinet, then in session. The views which it contained were not calculated to assure us of your success, though we do not despond. Hence you may judge with what satisfaction we received an account of the National Democratic Convention, held at Lecompton on the 3d inst. The point on which your own success depends is the submission of the constitution to the people of Kansas; and by the people I mean, and I have no doubt you mean, the actual bona fide residents who have been long enough in the Territory to identify themselves with its fate. The Legislature determined three months as the period of residence to entitle individuals to vote for members of the convention, and if the convention should think proper to adopt the same period to entitle individuals to vote for or against the constitution, it appears to me this would be reasonable. On the question of submitting the Constitution to the bona fide residents of Kansas I am willing to stand or fall. It is the principle of the Kansas Nebraska bill, the principle of popular sovereignty, and the principle at the foundation of all popular government. The more it is discussed the stronger it will become. Should the convention of Kansas adopt this principle, all will be settled harmoniously; and, with the blessing of Providence, you will return triumphantly from your arduous, important and responsible station. The strictures of the Georgia and Mississippi conventions will then pass away, and be speedily forgotten.

In regard to Georgia, our news from that State is becoming better every day. We have not yet had time to hear from Mississippi. Should you answer the resolution of the latter, I would advise you to make the great principle of the submission of the Constitution to the bona fide residents of Kansas conspicuously prominent. On this you will be irresistible. With the question of climate every person is acquainted, and the more you insist upon this, the more will our opponents urge that we are violating the principle of non-interference at the foundation of the Kansas and Nebraska bill. It is strange that people at a distance, who have no practical acquaintance with the condition of Kansas, should undertake to be wiser than those on the spot. It is beyond all question the true policy to build up a great Democratic party there to maintain the Constitution and the laws, composed of pro-slavery and free State Democrats, and if the majority should be against slavery, to obtain such constitutional provisions as will secure the rights of slaveholders in Missouri and other States, and maintain all the laws guarding the just rights of the South.

You are right in your conjecture as to the cause of Judge Williams' appointment.—We supposed it would be peculiarly acceptable to yourself, and that he might aid in carrying out your policy.

Col. Cumming has been appointed Governor of Utah. This will cause his place to be vacant after the brief period required for settling up his business, and I certainly shall be disposed to fill it by the appointment of Mr. Stevens.

Gen. Harney has been ordered to command the expedition to Utah, but we must continue to have him with you, at least until you are out of the woods. Kansas is vastly more important at the present moment than Utah. The pressure upon me continues without intermission. I pray that Divine Providence in which I place my trust, may graciously preserve my life and my health until the end of my term. But God's will be done, in any event.

With every sentiment of esteem,

I remain always sincerely your friend,
(Signed) JAMES BUCHANAN.
To Hon. ROBERT J. WALKER.

SLAUGHTER OF INFECTED CATTLE IN MASSACHUSETTS.—The Commissioners, after a full survey of the infected district, commenced the work of slaughter on Wednesday. At the farm of Mr. Alden Woodis, twenty-one Durham cows, with eight or ten calves, were killed. At the farm of Mr. Alanson A. Needham, who has lost seven animals by the disease, the twenty-three remaining were killed. After death they were all buried in one deep hole. The stock of Mr. Leonard Stoddard, some fifty or sixty in number, will probably all be killed. Mr. Stoddard, who understands very well the value of manure, has dug a hole at the side of every tree in his orchard, and intends to deposit one slaughtered animal at the foot of each tree.

THE CATTLE DISEASE in Massachusetts, is a very serious evil. Under the existing difficulties it is thought to be injudicious and unadvisable to hold a State Fair this year, and from the same cause, the annual county cattle shows will not probably be held.

For a very obvious reason, the New Hampshire cattle shows near the Massachusetts border, may be suspended this year.

In the midst of this excitement, says the Springfield Republican, the past is vividly drawn on, and some roadmakers in Barre having exhumed a lot of cattle bones, one old man is found who distinctly remembers that in 1789, nearly 200 head of cattle died of murrain, and were here buried in one grave.

☞ In the verbatim report, given by the Globe, of Senators Mason and Sumner's debate, both gentlemen appear better than they did in the telegraphic sketch. Mason was courteous and dignified, though terribly tyrannical, arbitrary and lordly. Sumner was sharp and severe, but parliamentary and classical.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, April 20.

SENATE not in session.

HOUSE.—Mr. Campbell, from the Committee on Elections, made a report on the Nebraska contested seat case, concluding with a resolution that Samuel G. Daily, instead of Mr. Easterbrook, is entitled to the seat as the delegate.

A number of private bills were passed.

Mr. Burlingame introduced a resolution, which was passed, instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire into the expediency of raising the Sardinia Mission to one of the first class.

A motion to adjourn to Tuesday was negatived—25 to 94.

The Senate bill, granting a pension of $50 per month each to the widows respectively of Generals Macomb, Smith and Riley, was passed.

Adjourned till Monday.

FROM CHARLESTON.—A letter to the Boston Herald says:

In this city, where water is prejudicial to health, the rigor of the license law will be relaxed during the National Convention, and none of the hotel bars will be interfered with for accommodating their guests on Sunday. Several new drinking saloons have been and will be opened on that occasion, not the least inviting of which is that opposite Institute Hall, which will captivate its customers by claiming to be the "Democratic Headquarters."

Ex-Gov. Aiken, who resides in Charleston, owns the largest plantation in the State, about thirty miles from here, and has upwards of a thousand negroes. His servants' cottages are the neatest in the South, and are "white as the driven snow." It is related that as Gov. Aiken was riding one day, he met a well dressed negro, and accosted him, "Whose boy are you?" The reply was, "I b'longs to Massa Aiken, sir?" They were mutually unknown to each other, and it is said that the Governor hardly knows one of his numerous plantation servants.

The police force of Charleston has been temporarily increased. Its regular numbers are one hundred and fifty foot police, and a mounted guard of twelve men. An increase of seventy-five has been put on, to remain on duty until the Convention closes its session.

GREAT FIRE IN JAPAN.—On the morning of the 26th of Dec., the foreigners of Nagasaki awoke to find the places of two of our most prominent merchants burned to the ground. The Governor and suit were present, and also any quantity of Japanese, with wooden engines with single action, throwing water by jerks about thirty feet; also a number of Japanese with huge fans placed on the adjoining houses, and fanning the fire to keep it away. The fire dresses of the officials, of whom there were some hundreds on the ground, were of the utmost magnificence, and the whole scene of the flames and the brilliant and splendid clothing of the Japanese, formed a picture that must be witnessed to be appreciated.

MORE CONVICTIONS OF LIQUOR SELLERS.—Each of the juries of the Superior Court, Boston, have rendered verdicts of "guilty" against parties convicted of maintaining common liquor nuisances. Jeremiah McLaughlin, No. 7 Oliver street, was convicted by the first jury, and Wm. Hennessy, 51 Kneeland street, by the second jury. There was but little doubt of the action of the last-named jury, as they had already convicted one party of this offence; but as regards the other there was some uncertainty, as there are persons in the panel whom it was believed would stand out against a conviction.—Traveller.

ST. LOUIS, Apr. 20.—A tornado passed over Corlenville, Ill., on Monday evening, unroofing and blowing down houses, barns, trees and fences. The roof of the Lutheran Church was blown some distance and the walls were much injured. The roof of a dwelling was carried nearly a mile and a half through the air; children were picked up and carried a considerable distance by the wind; stock was killed in every direction; one man named Lowe was killed by lightning, and many persons were wounded. The destruction of property was very great.

A similar storm occurred in Lousiana and Missouri the same evening, doing much damage to property and injuring many persons.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 20.—Evidence is to be produced before the Covode Investigating Committee, with a view to impeach the testimony which led to the difficulty between Gov. Walker and Judge Black. It is said that the members of the Cabinet are perfectly willing that Gov. Walker shall designate those to whom he referred, as, in his opinion, shaping the affairs of Kansas in 1857.

The Committee on Elections were almost unanimous in their report in favor of Daily against Easterbrook as delegate from Nebraska.

FROM CALIFORNIA.—Springfield, Mo., April 20.—The overland mail, with San Francisco dates of March 30, arrived this morning. The main features of the news have been mostly anticipated by the pony express.

The whalers Ocean Bird and Charity returned to San Francisco on the 29th, with 1800 barrels coast whale oil.

The emigration to the Washoe mines was increasing.

☞ Four churches in Lincoln county, N. C., were set fire to by a half-witted fellow last week, and destroyed. He confessed the deed.

☞ A dispatch from Fort Smith says the excitement in the Cherokee nation on the slavery question is increasing, and it is feared that serious trouble is brewing.

Queen Victoria has, from her private funds, paid the last farthing of her father's heavy debts. Her grandfather, George III, it is said, refused to discharge the debts of his father, which amounted to quite a sum.

CRINOLINE IN FRANCE.—"I think I must say," writes the Traveller's Paris correspondent, "that there are indications that crinoline is less in favor than it was. Ladies have appeared at Court altogether without crinoline, and the favored beauties of those harems of the town, the public balls, have discarded crinoline for petticoats frilled and large only at the extremity of the skirt."

☞ The Supreme Court of Mississippi has affirmed the validity of the law making it penal for retailers to sell liquor to a drunken man, and declaring that the owner of the establishment is responsible for the act of his barkeeper on his behalf.

NEW YORK CITY RAILROADS.—The New York Legislature has passed the city railroad bills over the veto of the Governor.

☞ Mrs. Eager, widow of Mr. Ephraim Eager of Northboro', was found dead in her bed on Monday morning. She was 86 years of age.

LAST CALL.

All persons indebted to the late firm of JOSEPH HARVEY & SON are requested to call at my office, No. 47 Congress Street, and pay their bills and notes before the 25th of April.

All accounts not paid by that time will positively be put in suit for collection, as the business of the firm must be closed.

JOHN S. HARVEY, Assignee.

April 6, 1860.

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

BETSEY SANBORN.

Kensington, Sept. 26, 1835.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., No. 1 School St., for his Panacea, Cough Drops, Conserve, Rheumatic Compound and Family Pills, and other of his popular remedies, will be promptly attended to.

☞ Why will people go and have a poor miserable picture taken of themselves? Because, all those do not know that they can procure for the same money, a fine finished picture, faithful and true as life itself, at in Congress Block, where the most superior likenesses are taken, and in all cases perfect satisfaction given.

N. B.—The beautiful little "give away" (cheap) pictures are taken at this establishment, with a double lens Camera, (100 per day) by the celebrated Parisian artist—Monsieur Heavtontitorumenos.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1859.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,
WM. MARKHAM.

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the patient. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the best success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

ISRAELITES AND ROMANISTS IN CON- FLICT.—Dr. Lillenthal, Rabbi of the Broad- way Synagogue at Cincinnati, as stated in he Columbus Journal of the 14th, has ad- dressed a letter to Archbishop Purcell, stat- ng that absolution has been refused by some of the priests under his charge to Catholic servant girls living in Jewish familes; after some entreaties the rite was performed, but under the condition that they should leave these families, Dr. Lillenthal considers this act as an insult to our American insti- tutions, and, if repeated, a league will be formed by the Hebrew merchants of that city, for the purpose of discharging at once all the thousands of Catholic workmen at present engaged by their large mercantile houses. He urges the Bishop to use his in- fluence to prevent such a calamity.

The girls in question would behave well enough, but for the puppyism of the priest. And the emigrants who came to this land to better their condition, in this case were fol- lowed by their greatest curse, in the person of such a meddler.

[From the wife of the Hon. Jefferson Davis.]

Mrs. Jefferson Davis presents her compliments to Messrs. Grover & Baker, and takes pleasure in saying that she has used one of their box Sewing Machines for two years, and finds it still in good order—makes a beautiful stitch, and does easily any kind of work.

[From J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.]

My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

[From the Rev. Jonathan Cross, Agent American Tract Society.]

My wife has been using one of your Sewing Machines for the last three months, and pronounces it faultless. She can sew more on it in one day, than in ten the old way, and without fatigue. The work is beautiful and durable.—She says she would not exchange it for any other one. It is certainly one of the grandest inventions ever made for the relief of woman-kind, and I would recommend every family to get one as soon as possible.

Baltimore, July 14, 1859.

PORTSMOUTH, April 12, 1859.

Having tested the merits of the various popular Sewing Machines, in the manufacture of our Capes and Raglans, we unhesitatingly recommend the Grover & Baker, as far superior to all others. ALLEN & PAINE.

PORTSMOUTH, July 16, 1859.

If you wish to purchase a machine that will do work handsomely and strongly, and will not be liable to get out of repair, call on Mr. Whittemore in Daniel street, see the operation of Grover & Baker's machine, and then place one in your family. They will never consent to part with it, after they understand its operation.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD IN N. H.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Eastern Railroad in New-Hampshire, held on the 7th inst. the following communication was received from Governor Goodwin:

PORTSMOUTH, April 7, 1860.

Dear Sirs,—After serving as a Director and President in the Eastern Railroad in New-Hampshire since its organization, a period of about twenty-five years, I feel compelled, from the various responsibilities resting upon me, to resign my place in the Board, as President and as a Director.

It is indeed painful to me to separate myself officially from gentlemen with whom I have been so happily associated for so long a period. One of the pleasing reflections, and one never to be forgotten, is that our intercourse, both socially and officially, has been ever marked by the kindest feelings and the most perfect harmony.

Please accept my sincere wishes for the prosperity and success of the Road; and for yourselves individually, all that happiness which this world can give.

I am gentlemen, with great regard, your friend,

ICHABOD GOODWIN.

To Messrs. B. T. Reed, Stephen A. Chase, George M. Browne, and Daniel P. Drown, Esqrs. Directors of the E. R. in N. H.

His resignation having been accepted, the following vote was passed unanimously:

Voted, That the thanks of the Board in behalf of the corporation, be presented to his Excellency Governor Goodwin, whose resignation as President and Director we have this day most reluctantly received, for his faithful, wise and eminently useful services, as an officer of this corporation from its first organization to the present time;—and that the Clerk be instructed to communicate this vote to his Excellency, together with our best wishes for his continued prosperity, and for all that honorable success in the higher stations which his country has now called him to fill, and which his distinguished merits so richly deserve.

BENJAMIN T. REED, Esq. was then elected President of the corporation.

DUELLING.—It appears that although death and destruction are contemplated by those who engage in duelling, yet it is not gentlemanly to do the butchering by bowie-knives. Fools! The public do not ask, when two cats fight, whether they tear each other to pieces with their claws, or go to the bloody work directly with their teeth. Those who will fight duels are contemptible fellows, at any rate. We like much better the spirit once shown in Congress, when a member was offended by a remark made in debate by the Hon. George Thacher, of Biddeford, Maine, subsequently a judge of the Supreme Court of Mass. He was the grand-father of Messrs. J. H. and N. P. Thacher, now of this city.

It was on the 18th of July, 1797, that the Hon. Thomas Blount, from North Carolina, introduced a series of resolutions on the subject of "Defensive Measures," one of which contemplated the putting of eighty thousand of the militia of the country "in a state of requisition." Mr. Thacher, in the course of his remarks to the House, commented upon the phrase "requisition," as a French term of which he was not fond, and said that, while he had no objection to holding such a number of men "in readiness," he entertained the hope that the sentiment would be expressed in "American language." Mr. Blount thereupon defended the offensive word by an appeal to the proceedings of the Congress of the Confederation, and to the calls of that body upon the States for troops, during the war of the Revolution; and concluded with saying, that he "thought the objection a trifling one, and such as the gentleman ought to be ashamed of making." Mr. Thacher replied, that he did not often say any thing of which he was ashamed; and closed with repeating the old adage, "that a guilty conscience needs no accuser." Mr. Blount rose in great warmth, and declared, that he "should take from no man, with impunity, such language as that," when, interrupted by a loud call to order, he took his seat. Here the dispute in the House appears to have ended. But Mr. Blount, in due time, sent a hostile message. Mr. Thacher's answer afforded much amusement at the expense of his chivalrous adversary, and was, in substance, that, being a husband and a father, his family had an interest in his life, and that he could not think of accepting the invitation without the consent of his wife, then at home at the north, whom he would immediately consult.

"CRYSTAL PALACE."—In the west garden of George W. Haven, Esq., a Grapery has just been erected, which for beauty exceeds any thing of the kind we have ever met with. It is 42 feet in length, 18 in breadth, and 14 feet high. It is formed by an iron frame work of forty-one iron sash stringers, 32 feet in length, connecting at the top, with a Gothic or acorn sweep. These stringers are a foot apart, and between them the whole is glazed—the panes of glass supported by projections from the iron, without any transverse sashes. The ends of the house are of glass, in wooden sashes. Twenty-two hundred lights of 10 by 12 glass are used in the structure. The position is admirable for the purpose, and there is no doubt that it will soon repay in luscious grapes the interest on the thousand dollars it will probably cost.

A RETURN OF WINTER.—The wind came round sharp to northwest on Saturday afternoon, and brought with it a cold turn such as rarely seen in the month of April. The mercury went down from about 50 on Saturday noon to 12 on Sunday morning. The ground was frozen several inches deep, the river became full of new floating ice, and everything bore the aspect of early winter. We have no recollection of such weather in April. —Bangor Whig.

In Portsmouth, the mercury descended from 50 to 31 between 11 P. M. Saturday and 6 A. M. Sunday.

SNOW STORM IN APRIL.—The uncomfortably cold weather on Saturday afternoon and evening was doubtless caused by a heavy snow storm at the North, which commenced early in the morning, extending from Lake Erie to within a few miles of the Hudson river. There was also a snow storm at Halifax on Monday.

NOT A REPUBLICAN.—F. B. Sanborn, the occasion of the last Concord fight, has addressed a letter to the Boston Post, denying that he is a Republican, and says that although he has sometimes voted with the party, he has often "attacked its policy, in convention, in speeches and in letters." He states that he and all his family "formerly belonged to the Democratic party."

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given, our circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefited by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you most cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeables was accompanied with dime, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make it bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find, after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Stamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all!

Yours truly,
WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like.—By publishing in our great Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1853, I was induced to try a trial of your preparation, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retailing at two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always contains the WHOLE of the essential elements, and gives of course the True Nourishment. Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory, hence its astonishing success. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. MOTHERS.

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commands the confidence of every intelligent mother now known for CHILDREN TEETHING; DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflamation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain. It has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or after Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, see to it that no ignorance or prejudice shall cause you to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics and all other remedies for children's complaints are composed, EXCEPTING BUT DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this you can rely upon as a perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial poison, by the venereal virus, or an healthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it could be said, to the child him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects are manifested by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that the constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the constitution. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

Once imparted, all our organs are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse a tainted constitution, purify the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active medicines that have been elaborated for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERYSIPELAS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND VENEREAL AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, BLOTCHES, ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the food" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which good health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so compound that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who has been long in pain, and in physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

We do not claim for they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Liver Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the Blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, and other AFFECTIONS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the extent of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been cured from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,
LOWELL, MASS.

PRICE, $1 PER BOTTLE; SIX BOTTLES FOR $5.

All our remedies are for sale by W. H. PRESTON, Portsmouth, and by all druggists and merchants in the civilized world. dec20 6m d&w

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

DR. MOTT'S
CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON (carried of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impoverished or vitiated blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Instances in all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, FIBRILES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued exertion of devotion to the mental or muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, colonial changes, and that complication of nervous and bodily ailments, rest and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons similar to those which the operation of this preparation of Iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, numerous as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and frequently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and other morbid effects which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicine has had more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in diseases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a most powerful and decurgetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 25 cents, and in vials of 1 Drachm and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of Mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,
For Children Teething.

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine,—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter, "what we do know," after ten years experience, and pledge our reputation for the truth of what we assert. We speak advisedly when we say that almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED AND SKILLFUL NURSES in New England and has been used with never-failing success, in thousands of cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects, acidity, and gives vigor to the child and to the whole system. It will almostinstantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it is the best and safest medicine in the world, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—Do not let your own prejudices, or the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC,

Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Principal Office, No. 3 Cedar st. New York.

Price only 25 cents per bottle.

TARDY JUSTICE.—In the Washington correspondence of the Boston Journal, we read this item:—

Every one who has been at all familiar with Congressional business, during the last twenty years; must recollect the claim of David Myerie who has all the while been industriously pressing it, and who has grown old and infirm while waiting for justice. When James K. Paulding was Secretary of the Navy, he prevailed on Mr. Myerie to introduce water-rotted hemp for naval purposes, and agreed to take five hundred tons of it, at the Charleston rope-walk. Mr. Myerie, at a heavy expense, introduced the process of water-rotting into Kentucky, and in due time delivered the stipulated amount. But the Inspectors of the Charleston Navy Yard rejected it—improperly it is asserted—and Mr. Myerie became a broken-down, ruined man. High officials declare that he had a just claim, and seventeen favorable reports have been made on it by different Congressional committees. It has been endorsed by the Court of Claims, and bills for his relief have at different times been passed—four by the Senate, and three by the House—yet he has never been able to get a bill through both bodies during the same session. This winter, Hon. M. W. Tappan has taken the case in hand, and it is to be hoped that by his energetic action, Mr. Myerie will be enabled to receive, at this late day, a partial recompense for his losses, sustained by having listened to the solicitations of a Secretary of the Navy.

WHAT CONSTITUTES THE SLAVE TRADE.—A despatch from Charleston says an important decision was given in that city recently, in the U. S. District Court, by Judge Magrath, in the case of the United States against Capt. Corrie, of the celebrated slave yacht Wanderer. The Judge ruled that it is not the slave trade, i. e., the transportation of negroes from Africa to this country, but the stealing of negroes on foreign shores and landing them as slaves in the United States, which is declared piracy by the Act of May 15, 1820. This interpretation of the Act will undoubtedly attract attention throughout the country.

☞ "Occasional" writes to the Philadelphia Press:

I have just heard that the administration intends removing Lander from the position he holds under the government, on account of his connection with Potter in the late difficulty.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, APRIL 24, 1860.

☞ A friend asked us, on our publication of the suicide of Mr. Stone, representative elect from Plymouth—what were his politics? We answered that we presumed he was a Republican, as Plymouth usually went that way.

But the Manchester American says he was "chosen on the Democratic ticket, tho' the town is Republican by a decided majority." And the N. H. Patriot of March 14 claims him in these words—"Plymouth, Chas. F. Stone, gain."

WALKER'S REVELATIONS.—Speaking of the President's Letter, and Walker's exposé, the Atlas says:—

The President is not the only man who appears badly in this matter. What was Mr. Robert J. Walker's errand to Kansas? To make a slave State of it, if he could; if not, to make a pro-slavery Democratic State of it. This was the plot in which Buchanan, Walker, Douglas and the whole Democratic party, it Congress, and out of it, were engaged in the early party of 1857. Mr. Walker confesses it. He says "I should have greatly preferred that a majority of the people of Kansas would have made it a slave State. I avowed these views very fully in my public communications in Kansas. I never disguised my opinions upon this subject, and I especially reiterated the opinion that I was thus in favor of maintaining the equilibrium of the government by giving the South a majority in the Senate, while the North would always necessarily have a majority in the House of Representatives. I did my best to secure a Democratic majority in Legislature, and exerted myself most anxiously, making stump speeches."

That Mr. Buchanan was in the plot we know from his letter. He says:—"It is beyond all question the true policy to build up a great Democratic party there to sustain the constitution and the laws, composed of pro-slavery and free State Democrats; and if the majority should be against slavery, to obtain such constitutional provisions as will secure the right of slaveholders in Missouri and other States, and maintain all the laws guarding the just rights of the South." Douglas, who was on confidential terms with Buchanan and Walker at this time, was also in the same scheme. The plot was a shrewd one undoubtedly. * * * We shall hear a great deal, during the campaign which is now approaching, of the honesty of Mr. Walker and Mr. Douglas, and of their services in resisting the ultra schemes of the slaveholders. We think the people understand the matter. We are confident that they will see that it is the Democratic party, and not any particular clique of it, which has been faithless on this great question.

From the hour when Douglas reported a bill to repeal the Missouri Compromise to the hour when it was found that the people of Kansas had adopted an anti-slavery constitution, all the resources of the party were used to make of that Territory a slave State. There was a difference of opinion between the President and Mr. Walker as to the best means of bring about this result, but the end in view was always the same. * * * This governmental war, first of force, second of fraudulent election returns, and third of political intrigue, was kept up five or six years, and it has only just now been discovered to have failed. Kansas is free. But what lesson do we learn from the struggle she has gone through? To trust the Democratic party? Are we so fond of experiments of this sort that we desire to try similar ones in every Territory which may hereafter be organized? If we are, let us keep the Democratic party in power. If not, let us make a thorough and radical change.

☞ A young girl named Adeline Plimpton was burned to death in New Orleans last Thursday by her clothing taking fire, and a young lady named Clara Wing met her death in a similar manner at Charleston on Monday. In Saugerties, near Albany, a few days ago, a little daughter of Merritt Smith was burnt so badly by her clothes being consumed, while in a field, that she died next day.

☞ The new daily newspaper of the moral and religious order in New York is to be called "The World." The projectors have subscribed $100,000 as a capital to start with. The editor is to be Mr. Spaulding, late of the Courier & Enquirer, confessedly one of the most able, dignified and gentlemanly newspaper writers of the present day.

☞ All the Georgia lottery grants are foreclosed by prohibition of the drawings, under a penal enactment of the State Legislature, to take effect on the first day of June next. The act was passed in November, at the last legislative session, and the owners of the legalized grants are making arrangements to close up the business.

☞ Capt. Charles G. Smith, of Holmes Hole, was suddenly but agreeably surprised on Thursday last, by the rushing into his house of three sons, who had all at once arrived home from whaling, in three different ships, at New Bedford, that day.

☞ Harper's Monthly for May, 1860, contains an article on Roanoke Island, illustrated; Ancient Monuments, and The Silk Worm, also illustrated. Master Charley's Prize Fight occupies two pages of the richest Punchy pictures we have seen for a long time. Sold by A. Williams & Co., Boston, and J. F. Shores, jr., Portsmouth.

CHARLESTON, April 21—(Herald corr.) The candidate most spoken of at present is Mr. Douglas. The outside pressure for him is immense; but as delegations come in and compare notes, his strength turns out greatly reduced. Among his friends from New York is Belmont. Judge Smalley, the chairman and two other members of the National Democratic Committee, out of 4 present, issued tickets last night for seats to the New York delegation, headed by Dean Richmond, and refused them to the Wood delegation, pending the decision of the Convention. Such was the feeling created by this action among southern delegations, that the members of the committee thought it advisable to reconsider their decision, but not having a quorum they were unable to act, and adjourned till to-night. There is every reason to believe that the decision will be reversed.

The anti-Douglas delegates from Illinois have not yet received their tickets.

Senator Slidell arrived this morning, bringing a letter from Senator Davis, withdrawing his name and offering to support any of some six men whom he names; among them, Hunter, Dickinson and Guthrie. Senator Davis says, in no case will Mississippi support Douglas, and it is his belief that no State in the South will do so. Delegations from several States, after organizing, have adjourned till Monday, at 9 o'clock, the object being to prevent their programme being known.

J. E. Lovejoy is here. Col. Heard arrives to-morrow, with Gen. Cushing.

The Pennsylvania delegation has just adjourned, after an exciting struggle about Douglas, in which the Douglas men were defeated by a large majority, and the delegation resolved to cast their vote as a unit. The Douglas minority protested, and declared that they would appeal to the Convention. Indications are that the vote of the Pennsylvania delegates will be for Breckinridge.

CHARLESTON, April 22.—The city is thronged with delegates in full attendance, of nearly every State. The New York contesting delegation are both confident.—Mr. Wood is working with great energy, and has made considerable headway with the Southern delegates, charging the Syracuse delegation with abolitionism.

The New York fight absorbs for the present, more interest than the Presidency. No one seems to have the slightest opinion as to the nominee of the Southern delegates who resist Douglas.

NAPLES, April 7.—The official journal de Napolo announces that the rebels who attacked the royal troops on the 4th had been dispersed.

ROME, April 7.—The Union de Rome has the appointment of Gen. Lamoriere as Commander-in-Chief of the Royal troops.

The official journal of the two Sicilies contains news up to the 5th inst., to the effect that the insurrection had been suppressed, after an obstinate combat in the streets and houses.

The insurrection at Messina had not yet been subdued.

CARSON CITY, April 11, 10 P. M.—The winter in Western Utah has been very severe, and the spring is cold and tardy, and at least a month backward. There is scarcely sufficient grass to keep the cattle from starvation. Mining operations are also retarded by the weather. Had the season been favorable, not less than 15,000 would be at work in the Washoe mines, but as it is there are only about 8000. The mining prospects are encouraging; the original lead increases in richness as it continues to be opened, and new ones of determined value are being discovered every few days. The probabilities are that we shall have a population of 4000 on the Eastern slope before the 1st of June next. Nothing can prevent this unless it be the dangerous condition in which we are placed, owing to the absence of all government or legal authorities, with anarchy and bloodshed staring them in the face.

A DEFAULTING SON OF MALTA.—The Pittsburg Chronicle of the 19th has the following:—

We published an item a few days since, to the effect that an agent in whose hands about ten thousand dollars of the funds of certain lodges of the order of Sons of Malta, in the State of Ohio, had been placed, for the purpose of making certain purchases of lands in Cuba, had departed and left the said lodges bankrupt.

A Columbus paper has since learned by despatch to one of the lodges of that city, that the agent of the lodge, sent after the Cuban banker, had found the individual in a prison at New Orleans, whither he had been traced by the agent of the Sandusky lodge and arrested. A trifle less than eight thousand dollars of the money has been paid back, which will put the lodge in good condition again, and enable the order to dispense its charities as before.

THE JULY ECLIPSE.—Lieut. Gillis, of the United States Navy, is to take observations in Labrador, on the great July eclipse of the sun. As the expedition for the exploration of the Yellow Stone region will be somewhere in the vicinity of the belt of greatest obscuration, at that time, and as this belt crosses British territory, application has been made to the British Minister at Washington, for permission for a government party to enter that territory for scientific purposes. Lord Lyons has signified the assent of his Government to the proposition.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The members of the cabinet are highly indignant towards Robert J. Walker, for charging the device of referring the slavery clause in the Lecompton Constitution, to their shielding the President. When Mr. Walker heard the report that the members of the cabinet had thus expressed themselves, he announced himself personally responsible for his declarations.

☞ Mr. Albert Stein has been found guilty of supplying the citizens of Mobile with poisonous water, and fined $2000, he having used lead instead of iron pipes for leads in the water works of that city.

FOR LIBERIA.—The barque Mendi sailed from New York on Thursday, for Monrovia, taking as passengers Rev. M. M. Clark, wife and son, and two licentiates, one of the Baptist and the other of the Methodist church; Mr. Clark goes out as a missionary. The Mendi is owned by Liberia merchants, and is run as a regular packet between New York and Monrovia. In a few weeks, a fine little steamer, called the "Seth Grosvenor," built by the New York Colonization Society, as a mail packet to connect the Liberian coast settlements, will leave for Liberia. She measures but 68 tons. The packet Mary Caroline Stevens, was to sail from Baltimore with over two hundred emigrants for Liberia, many of whom were emancipated by their masters. Forty to fifty emigrants of intelligence, industry and means were expected from Pennsylvania.

☞ Nine-tenths of the gossip which comes from Washington and Charleston (says the Atlas & Bee) is written for effect on the Convention; and nine-tenths of the other tenth is written in ignorance or half-knowledge of the real facts in the case. It must be borne in mind that the Convention is, in the main, a great scheme, the prizes in which are three hundred millions of dollars a year, more or less, of government spoils. How can anything be safely predicted of such a body?

☞ Before the New England delegates to the Charleston Convention left Boston, a large crowd of Democrats assembled to see the delegates off by the steamer Spaulding. Speeches were made by several, among others by Sidney Webster, who was Pres. Pierce's Private Secretary. In the conclusion he hoped they, the delegates, would conduct themselves with propriety, and 'assure the Charleston people that we do not extend our liquors" at "home." He then gave this toast:—

The New England Democracy—No matter who they nominate and no matter what the platform, may they support it with alacrity, as we are sure they will.

☞ E. F. Drake, 26 years old, son of Col. Drake, of Lake Village, N. H., was instantly killed at Volcanoville, El Dorado county, Cal., Wednesday, March 7. He, in company with a Mr. Folsom, of Gilford, were engaged in opening a cut for the purpose of running a drift into the hillside, when the embankment gave way and buried him, resulting as above stated.

☞ A soldier recently died in Washington Territory under peculiar circumstances. A post mortem examination discloses the fact that death was caused by poison, in the form of oxalic acid, taken while eating strawberries from metal cans, in which they come enclosed. The poison had formed from the acidity of the fruit coming in contact with the metal.

☞ The frame for the lantern that is to be placed upon the top of Minot's Ledge Lighthouse, has been completed. It is made of brass, and is 18 feet high and 10 feet in diameter, weighing 8000 pounds.—The cost of the work was $6000. The main structure will be ready to receive the frame in three or four weeks.

A RACE AT A FUNERAL.—The police of the Sixth Precinct, in New York, on Thursday, arrested a whole funeral party, when returning from the Cavalry Cemetery, for racing in the public streets. The drivers of the carriages were fined $5 each, and were then sent home with an admonition.

STRONG ARGUMENT AGAINST WEARING VEILS.—The Police Gazette says that in New York, shrewd detectives take it for granted that every woman who habitually wears a vail in public is engaged in picking pockets, or in an intrigue of some sort, and they watch her accordingly.

☞ A young man from Bristol, R. I., son of a gentleman of the highest respectability, has been arrested in Havana for forgery, but was saved from the chain-gang by the American Consul General, who thinks his father will refund the money obtained.

☞ The celebrated six-year old trotting horse, "Ben Higdon," died at St. Louis, of lung fever, on Monday. He had trotted a mile in 2:27, the fastest time ever made by a six-year old. Three weeks ago, his owners, Dunham & Higdon, of Cincinnati, had refused $4000 for him.

☞ The Adventists in America have 584 preachers, of whom 61 are said to be in New Hampshire; a larger number than in any other State. 86 of the 584 are pastors; the rest itinerants. Church members supposed 50,000. Attendants on their preaching, supposed 150,000.

☞ A Mrs. Fitz, residing at Chester, N. H., was burned to death on Sunday, the 15th inst. She was a widow lady, 84 years of age.

☞ The Keene, N. H. Sentinel publishes a list of births, as well as marriages and deaths.

☞ A fugitive slave passed thro' Springfield on Monday, en route for Canada. He was from Baltimore.

☞ On Front street, Harrisburg, Pa., on Monday morning, a family of road tramps was seen in the following position: the husband was lying flat on the damp ground drunk; the wife was sitting on the ground, leaning against the side of a tree, with the sun glaring in her face, fast asleep; an infant was crying in her arms, and two children were playing in a puddle of water, by which the group was almost surrounded.

☞ By the steamer North American, at Portland, we have Liverpool dates to the 11th of April.

Heenan, the prize-fighter, has been released on very small bail. It was considered certain that the fight would come off on the day appointed, the 16th.

The answer of Austria on the annexation of Savoy, like that of Russia, raises no objection to the annexation, so long as the free concession of Piedmont is given not to appeal to the universal suffrage. She desires the neutrality of Piedmont.

☞ William Wells, Esq., formerly senior partner of the well known firm of Wells & Lilly, publishers, of Boston, died at Cambridge on Monday, aged 84. Mr. Wells was an eminent scholar, an accomplished gentleman and a true christian. He was a friend and associate of Ware and Channing, and was highly esteemed in their literary and religious circle, forty years ago.

☞ Early on Sunday morning, an incendiary fire occurred at Chelsea, which resulted in the destruction of a valuable stable, 24 horses, a cow, 12 carriages, 5 buildings, and other property, amounting in all to over $15,000.

The master builder of the new cars is Allen P. Webb, whose workmanship in this case is a credit to himself and the company which employs him.

INSANE.—A gentleman engaged in brokerage business on State street, Boston, has for a few days passed manifested a depressed state of mind, said to have been caused by religious excitement resulting from the preaching of a noted revivalist—Thursday morning he became very violent, and attacked his wife, considerably injuring her. It was considered unsafe for him to be at liberty, and he was taken into custody, and subsequently conveyed to the Lunatic Asylum at South Boston.—Bos. Jour.

Hon. John F. Potter, who has rendered himself famous at Washington by selecting bowie knives with which to fight a duel, is a native of Augusta, and a son of John Potter, Esq., of that city. Mr. Pryor pried open the wrong door when he foolishly sought a quarrel with him.—Bath Times.

Make Sunday a cheerful day for the children. A distinguished citizen writes to us,

"Master Tommy T——— was a bright, mischievous little boy, not quite four years old. His mother found it necessary to keep him in the house on Sunday, and also to put him under her own watchful care.

"Although this maternal discipline was quite proper to restrain Tommy's mischievous propensities, yet its effect was to impress upon Tommy's mind the idea that Sunday was not a very pleasant day for little boys.

"The following Monday, Tommy's mother sent him into the yard to call his older brother, Fred, from his play, into the house, because it was likely to rain.

"Tommy delivered his message, but his brother was rather slow to obey. Tommy remembered his experience of the previous day, and resolved to use the most powerful argument he could think of to quicken Fred's tardy movements. Drawing himself up, and pointing his finger to Fred, he addressed to him this earnest appeal:—

"'Fred, you must come in the house right away this very minute. If you don't come, God will send four, five, six Sundays.'"

FAMILY AFFAIR.—The Western Times puts upon record the following domestic event:—

The wife of Thomas Morris, living at the Merino village, on the 14th inst., gave birth to three plump girls, each one of which weighed seven and three-quarters pounds. Mother and offspring are doing well. Mrs. Morris has on two previous occasions presented her husband with twins.

☞ The new Universalist meeting-house at Ayer's Village, West Haverhill, will be dedicated on Wednesday afternoon, April 25th, at 2 o'clock. Sermon by Rev. T. B. Thayer. This house cost about $4000.

☞ Only eighteen miles, says the East Floridian, are to be laid, and the long desired connection between the waters of the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico will then be established.

☞ A ship was seen off Scilly Islands, on the 2d inst., on fire. She was apparently an American cotton ship; her masts were all gone, and a schooner was near her.

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Fort Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

WM. MARKHAM.

TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., BOSTON, and for sale by Wm. R. Preston, David Kimball, Nathan P. Thacher, J. H. Thacher, and B. Hodgings, Portsmouth; J. P. Packer, Greenland; and dealers everywhere. spnot 4wd&w

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it to more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

☞ A splendid train of three new Passenger Cars and one Baggage Car, passed through this city, eastward on Monday morning, and westward on Monday evening. These cars were built for the Eastern Railroad, at their own works in East Boston, and are truly model cars in strength, convenience and comfort, as well as in elegance of design and excellence of finish.

The whole rolling stock of this road, as well as the road itself, is in prime order;—and the conductors, and depot and baggage masters, with other employees, are the right men in the right places.

Messrs. Editors:—I have been reading your column of political extracts from the N. H. Gazette,—and I believe with it that Mr. Douglas is not the man for the time.—He was one of the principal conspirators against liberty, who broke open the door to let in slavery upon Kansas, with the lie in the bill, which said it was not intended to legislate slavery into or out of it,—tho' he knew of no other intent than to let it in.

Nevertheless, the Gazette will cordially support him or anybody else the convention nominates.

The Gazette pays a tribute of full credit to the exact justice of the Black Republican Courts, in trying so important a politician as Happenny, the incendiary, and says:

"No dramatic scenes were enacted in the court room to excite sympathy in his behalf; no renowned advocate stepped forward to his rescue; even the ordinary plea of counsel was omitted, and justice allowed to take her course in his case silently and without interruption.

This brings to my recollection the trial of an offender against the laws, who did not happen to be a very Black Republican, when "dramatic scenes were enacted in the court room" on behalf of the brutal and malignant criminal; when "a renowned advocate did step forward to his rescue;" and when the ordinary plea of counsel was not omitted, and justice was not "allowed to take her course silently,"—but when the renowned advocate made an extra-ordinary plea!

The church discipline case, in which some old codger threatened to take a young preacher from a pulpit by force and arms, must have been as edifying to the audience as it is to the reader. It would not be strange, however, if the old bully was one of those thick-skulls who mistook a chapter of the Bible for an abolition preachment.

HOMO.

☞ We have looked into a new Optical Instrument of rare power, which exhibits views of buildings, streets, statues, domestic and comic scenes, &c., with great clearness, precision and beauty. The instrument is so contrived that four spectators can view the scenes at once; and thirty views are shown in about half an hour.

The instrument operates best in clear sunshine, and will probably be exhibited on Market square for a day or two.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

POLITICAL.—New York, Apr. 22.—It is reported from Washington that Corcoran the banker, and Senators Slidell and Bright are ready to spend $2,000,000 to defeat Douglas.

A letter from Henry A. Wise is published in the Richmond Enquirer saying that he withdraws his name from the Convention, and asks his friends to act cordially with the majority of the delegation, and cast the vote of Virginia as a unit.

PIOUS HUMBUG.—The Newburyport Herald says, "we have received from Rev. C. M. Brown, Island Missionary, Mt. Desert, a letter exposing a piece of religious swindling which has been carried on for years by a Mrs. Hannah Rhoboth Bartlett Lunt, (we believe that is the whole name) during which she has collected some two thousand dollars in cash and four thousand dollars in clothing and various articles, the money ostensibly to be appropriated to the purchasing of a parsonage and the materiel for the relief of the physical wants of the poor people of the Island, though in point of fact everything is converted to her own private use and behoof. As she is travelling hitherward, and our citizens have no desire to be humbugged, even in a pious way, will do well when she presents her petition, to file this notice in offset.

PREYING AND PRAYING. — We have rarely seen a better hit than the following, at the foolish idea that any one party has all the piety, or all the corruption:

"Not a Praying Man on Board!"—The Whig echoes the solemn exclamation of Darius Forbes's late Portland Republican, that the steamer S. R. Spaulding, freighted with the representatives of New England democracy, will have "not a praying man on board." Considering that our friends on the other side are so well stocked in this respect, could they not have offered to loan a Peck, a Weaver, or a Kalloch, so that the New England democracy might not only have praying but preying men on board? Why monopolize all the piety!—Bangor Times.

—of the—

Grover & Baker's Sewing Machines.

[From the wife of the Hon. Jefferson Davis.]

MRS. Jefferson Davis presents her compliments to Messrs. Grover & Baker, and takes pleasure in saying that she has used one of their box Sewing Machines for two years, and finds it still in good order—makes a beautiful stitch, and does easily any kind of work.

[From J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.]

My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

[From the Rev. Jonathan Cross, Agent American Tract Society.]

My wife has been using one of your Sewing Machines for the last three months, and pronounces it faultless. She can sew more on it in one day, than in ten the old way, and without fatigue. The work is beautiful and durable.—She says she would not exchange it for any other one. It is certainly one of the grandest inventions ever made for the relief of woman-kind, and I would recommend every family to get one as soon as possible.

Baltimore, July 14, 1859.

Having tested the merits of the various popular Sewing Machines, in the manufacture of our Capes and Raglans, we unhesitatingly recommend the Grover & Baker, as far superior to all others. ALLEN & PAINE.

PORTSMOUTH, July 16, 1859.

If you wish to purchase a machine that will do work handsomely and strongly, and will not be liable to get out of repair, call on Mr. Whittemore in Daniel street, see the operation of Grover & Baker's machine, and then place one in your family. They will never consent to part with it, after they understand its operation.

CHARLES W. BREWSTER.

"Zion's Herald," Nov. 10th, 1859, says.—"We would recommend to families and to those about to organize a homestead, to be sure and have a Family Bible, and also one of Grover & Baker's SEWING MACHINES.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of roasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the system becomes vitiated, weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease in any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, the venereal, discovered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Some have to be in origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed so strong is the hold of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the extirpation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which good health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can scarcely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or languor, disease or infirmity, will find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they purge the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis, to any American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a cleanser Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cures of its virtues, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,
LOWELL, MASS.

PRICE, $1 PER BOTTLE; SIX BOTTLES FOR $5.

All our remedies are for sale by W. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth, and by all druggists and merchants in the civilized world. dec20 6m d&w

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and other sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been used—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of the vital and nervous energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description but written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron, is peculiarly salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; it acts on the system regularly, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without over being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.

In DYSPESIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent fever, which generally ushered in INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a powerful remedy and curative agent, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully-curative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of Mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

For Children Teething.

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine,—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any mother who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magic effects and medical virtues. We speak, in this matter, "what we do know," after ten years experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here assert. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found within one or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England and has been used with never-failing success, in MANY THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tonic and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST and SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—Do not let your own prejudices, or the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE — yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine. Directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper. Sold by druggists throughout the world. Principal Office, No. 3 Cedar st. New York.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC.

Price only 25 cents per bottle.

PRE-EXISTENCE.—We clipped the following from the Spiritual Eclectic. "Straws show which way the current is moving."

"Ma," said a sweet-souled little girl, of five summers, to her mother, not long since, "Ma, did the angels have a funeral when I came away?"

"Why, child!" replied the puzzled and astonished mother, 'what are you talking about? What do you mean?"

"Why, ma," rejoined the thoughtful child, "you know I used to live in heaven, don't you? And I want to know if they had a funeral when I came away. Don't you suppose that God felt bad to have me go away off to this world? I know, if I should die and go back to heaven, you and Pa, and Edward, and Maria, and Frank, would feel real bad; and I thought perhaps they felt so up there."

☞ The Kentucky Methodist Conference, which has just closed its annual meeting at Germantown, adopted a report declaring it inexpedient to make the general rule on slavery more stringent, but at the same time declaring the system to be "morally wrong, and relatively mischievous in all its tendencies."

☞ The Wheeling (Va.) Intelligencer states that a child in that vicinity, who had not twice severely bitten by a dog, altho' heretofore active and intelligent, has become idiotic, and has fallen into the gross habits and actions of a dog, much to the distress of the parents and the astonishment of those who are unacquainted with the case, and are, of course, unable to account for it.

"Do you believe, sir, that the dead ever walk after death?" "No doubt of it, madam; I have heard the 'Dead March in Saul.'"

Natural wants are few and easily gratified; only those which are artificial perplex us by their multiplicity.—Boyes.

The secret of one's success or failure in nearly every enterprise is usually contained in the answer to the question—How earnest is he?

Men sometimes mistake difficulties for impossibilities; this is the difference between those who succeed and those who do not.

Kidd, the pirate was executed in England May 9th, 1701. He was not convicted for piracy but for murdering one of his own crew.—The Sea.

MOTHER.—"Here, Tommy, here is some nice castor oil, with orange juice in it."

DOCTOR.—Now remember, don't give it all to Tommy, leave some for me."

TOMMY—(who has been there.)—Doctor's a nice man, ma, give it all to the doctor."

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been

THOROUGHLY TESTED

by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them

The Best in the Market!

These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1860.

A WAIF FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 20.

Friend Chronicle:—Loitering in the reporters' gallery, the House being under call upon a motion to adjourn, shall I give you a few jottings of Washington matters?

The Democratic delegates were off for Charleston, Thursday morning, all for Douglas, who will unquestionably be nominated if public sentiment is of any value.—The politicians will endeavor to kill him off and substitute Gen. Joe Lane, the only man who can be substituted and elected.

Although your representative, Gilman Marston has made no public appearance on the floor, except by his votes, yet he has not been idle. His time has been much occupied on the Committe on Elections, whose duties are very arduous. The report upon the Blair case comprises the examination of 150 witnesses, and occupies 930 pages. He will not make a speech on this case unless it shall be urgently demanded.

A matter of direct interest to Portsmouth people, upon which he is now engaged, is securing a new fort for your harbor. A memorial in favor of it has received the approbation of the entire delegation from Maine and New Hampshire, and will be reported shortly to the House. The estimated cost of the fort is $300,000, and it will mount thirteen guns. Its success will be quite a windfall for your mechanics.

Geo. Marston, of Sanbornton, ousted from the Treasury Department on account of his Anti-Lecompton proclivities, and present Doorkeeper of the House, is one of the most popular officers in Washington. New Hampshire visitors will be sure to meet with more than common civility from him.

Ex-Gov. Steele, Hon. Clement March, and Col. E. O. Foss are at the National Hotel, where all New England people stop. It is kept by F. Tenney & Co., of Manchester, and is officered throughout by New England boys, in an A No. 1 manner.

The House have finished the call, and refused to adjourn over for the Democratic Convention; and are now having a pandemonium, twenty or thirty speaking and gesticulating all at once. So I'll leave.

Yours, REPORTER.

OFFICIAL RETURNS OF THE CONNECTICUT ELECTION.—The official count of the votes gives Gov. Buckingam 531 majority. The majority on Lieut. Governor is 607;—on Secretary of State, 322; and on Comptroller, 470. There were only ten scattering votes for Governor in the State. The official returns foot up a total of 88,385, which cannot be much increased in November. More than ever will the contest rage in that State after the Presidential nominations are completed.

UNCERTAINTIES OF THE LAW.—The Cincinnati Enquirer, remarking upon the uncertainties of the law, as exhibited in the Carstang-Shaw case, says:

We once heard the eminent Judge Jacob Burnet observe that his long experience at the bar and on the bench warranted him in saying that, in nine cases out of ten in contested cases, he would, were he interested in them, prefer that they should be decided by the tossing of a copper, rather than by the instrumentalities of a court. Such was his idea of the "glorious uncertainties of the law."

☞ The following from Wigfall's recent speech in the Senate on the Homestead bill, is an illustration of the compliments which the Northern people receive from the Disunionists:—

"These Northern people, of all parties, are a mean, despicable set of starvelings, unable to see beyond a dollar, and caring for no consideration except money. Threaten them, and they will crouch to your feet like so many hounds. Only swear that you are going to dissove the Union, and the timid creatures will get down on all-fours, bite the dust, and kiss the rod raised to chastise them."

THE EFFECTS OF RUM AND BAD COMPANY.—In the Salem Police Court, on Friday last, I. Watson Andrews, a young man who a few years since on reaching his majority received a patrimony of $90,000, was arraigned for being a common drunkard, and for want of two dollars to pay his fine, was committed to Salem jail for thirty days.

AN EXAMPLE TO BE FOLLOWED.—The members of the Whitefield Society, Newburyport, within a few days, have cleared their society from debt by contributing $900; and by a further contribution of $900, have made the organ the property of the society. They have not left one dollar due in the church or against the society.

☞ A suit has been brought in Chicago to recover the board of eighteen men for eleven days, who were colonized in one of the wards by the Democratic Committee. The board was to be fifty cents a day. It was in evidence that the Democrats had 100 men so distributed in three of the wards.

LETTER FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, April 15.

A great day for New Orleans, a great day for the South, a great day for the whole Union, was last Thursday. A great day for New Orleans, because on that day was offered up an ovation to honor, worth and service rendered, not equaled since the day which witnessed the triumphal entry of the hero of the battle of New Orleans. A great day for the South and for the Union, as being the anniversary of the birth of a man who had "rather be right than be President," a man whose honor even politics could not sully, and whose integrity was unimpaired in a long career of public service —Henry Clay.

The sun shone brightly on the day which was to witness the inauguration of the statue, erected in this city, to the memory of "Harry of the West," and, except the dust, there was no drawback on the part of the elements. The city was filled with strangers, and the avenues which lead to the place of inauguration were almost impassible. Business was more generally suspended than is usual on even the Fourth of July—as for Sunday, that is one of the best days in the week, for retail trade—and every one seemed desirous to have a genuine holiday. The procession was very long, and the presence of great bodies of masons, military and firemen, rendered it quite showy. A full-rigged ship, going through some evolutions, and a printing press in operation, were noticeable features, but they don't get up these shows with the taste displayed at the East.

The statue stands in a favorite attitude of Mr. Clay's when speaking, facing the noble river whose free navigation he made such strenuous and successful efforts to secure, at the treaty of Ghent.

Joel T. Hart, the sculptor whose talent has given to us this faithful statue of the departed statesman, was present on the occasion, and bore his honors meekly.

On the 7th inst., after a session of eight days, the Spring Meeting of the Metaire Jockey Club came to a close. Old favorites were present, hoping to gain new laurels, and strangers contended for the bays which would, if gained, form a foundation for the wreath which might in future be theirs.—On Wednesday, the 4th, Alendorf, a four year old, made a mile in 1:44 1-2, said to be the best time on record. Time for four miles—1:48 1-4; 1:44 1-2; 1:46 1-2, 1:47 1-2—6:26 3-4.

The two Marin prize steamers created considerable curiosity on their arrival, but have long ago shared the fate common to "nine days wonders."

If the evil and adulterous generation which seeketh after a sign, were in New Orleans, I think they would find one to suit most any case—"W. Kick, Boot Maker;" "M. Stitch, tailor;" "P. Goldstein, jeweler," "Fout and Clinch, Attorneys;" all of which I see daily. On the streets near the Levee the schoolmaster seems to have been called away, and placards announce "Frozen Limonaid" and "Oyster Sapo stuel frie" for sale; while on Poydras street I notice an establishment where "Jeweler neatly repaired" is hung out, as a hint, I suppose, that the class should mend their ways.

The summer is rapidly approaching, and though the health of the city continues good, the places of amusement will soon close their doors. Rumsey & Newcomb's Minstrels close an engagement to-night.—Mrs. John Wood is playing at the Varieties. Mrs. Gazzaniga has shown us a sample of her execution recently. Page's Venus received the usual commendations which it elicits from all who see it.

We have here a dealer in those indispensable articles of gentlemen's apparel—shirts,—Moody by name, and a firm believer in the utility of advertising, not in one way, merely, but in every possible manner. Pursuant to this belief, he has been in the habit of securing the names of the strangers arriving at the hotels, who might be supposed to sport such an article of dress, and enclose them a card with the advice "Get your Shirts at Moody's." Now it happened that Mr. O., from Arkansas, had committed some of his shirts to the (not very) tender care of the washerwoman, and the same not having been returned, though fully time, he naturally became anxious. Just at this juncture he receives one of Moody's missives, and is overjoyed to read "get your shirts at Moody's," From the St. Charles to Moody's is quickly traversed:

Mr. O.—"I want my shirts."

Clerk.—"Yes, sir. What name, please?"

Mr. O. gives his name, and after a thorough search the clerk informs him there must be some mistake, as they have had no order from him.

Mr. O. (rather indignant)—"Well, I reckon, stranger, you had best give me my shirts; it's time they were washed a week ago; you've got 'em, and I can prove it; (triumphantly exhibiting the card) see there!"

The clerk saw the mistake of Mr. O., but told him to call the next day and strict search should be made. The affair leaked out, Mr. O. found he had "sold" himself, and straightway went on board an up river boat. IOX.

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

☞ The National Democratic Convention assembled at Charleston Monday noon. It was called to order by Judge Smalley. Francis Flournoy, of Arkansas, was appointed temporary chairman. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Hanchett of Charleston. Wm. F. Ritchie was appointed temporary Secretary. The preliminary proceedings were of a tempestuous nature, and very much after the Democratic style.—The double delegation from New York, as was apprehended, inaugurated a world of trouble at the start. The following is a copy of the protest presented to the convention by the Hard Shell delegates:

ST. ANDREWS HALL, Apr. 23, '60.

Chairman of the National Convention:

SIR—The undersigned, Chairman and Secretaries of the delegation from the State of New York, representing the organization of the Democratic party in said State, have been directed by the delegation to present to the convention over which you preside:—That, by the action of Mr. Smalley, chairman of the late National Committee, they have been excluded from the hall in which the convention has assembled, and persons, in no way entitled, have been allowed to occupy their places. Therefore, in behalf of the delegation from the State of New York, we protest against their exclusion, whilst the persons referred to who appear as contestants to our rights, are permitted to occupy our seats in advance of an investigation by the convention; and whilst we claim no advantage over our opponents, we shall not submit to any advantage wrongfully obtained over us.

Respectfully your obt. servts.

(Signed.) FERNANDO WOOD, Chairman.
F. B. Follett, G. J. Tucker, Secretaries.

NEW YORK, Apr. 23.—The Tribune's Charleston correspondent says the delegates from New York and the Northwest have combined for Douglas, thus transferring to him 101 votes. New Jersey stands 11 for Breckinridge to 3 for Douglas.—The latter will get only 4 1-2 votes from Missouri, and 2 from Maryland on the 1st ballot. The Massachusetts delegation will give him 6 votes. The Convention will decide on a platform first. The Alabama delegation met last evening, and has resolved, to submit a platform, and unless it is adopted will withdraw. The Mississippi delegation may follow.

Caleb Cushing is president of the national democratic convention at Charleston.

Early on Tuesday a special dispatch from Washington says:—

The friends of Douglas are becoming more and more boisterous in their vauntings.

Later in the day, Perley says:

The hopes of the Douglas men are very much dampened since the reception of dispatches announcing the election of Caleb Cushing as presiding officer of the Convention.

The Alabama men are in high spirits, and telegraph confidently that the Southern opposition to Mr. Douglas will succeed.

A despatch from Charleston, April 24, to the Tribune, says:—

The South is concentrating on Mr. Hunter. Rumor says that New York will also go for Hunter.

The South Carolina delegation reconsidered the purpose to vote for Davis, and agreed on Hunter.

The Pennsylvania delegation had another stormy session last night. The majority are ready to abandon Breckinridge for Guthrie.

The Southern delegations also had a most exciting meeting. Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana announced emphatically that they would bolt unless their platform was adopted.—South Carolina was not authorized to speak, but would doubtless follow Mississippi.

☞ The U. S. Senate was not in session Tuesday, April 24. In the House a message was received from the President in reply to a resolution of the House, saying that no act of his had recognized an organized government in the Territory of Minnesota remaining outside of that State.

There is no quorum in the House, but speech-making is continued.

Lieut. Dudley is being examined before the com. on Public expenditures, relative to the contracts and charges for the army in Utah.

ARREST OF A WEALTHY SCOUNDREL. A Magistrate at the Head of a Gang of Counterfeiters.—Joseph L. Ball, a Police Justice in Jefferson County, Ohio, has been indicted in the U. S. Court, for making and passing counterfeit coin. For a long time he has been suspected of being connected with an extensive gang of counterfeiters, but his position and power in the neighborhood were such that no one dared give information against him. Ball is a magistrate, and his position was used to shelter the counterfeiters and oppress any one that was suspected of interfering with their operations.

☞ Advices from Vera Cruz to the 15th state that Miramon had sent a bitter letter to Secretary Cass relative to the captured steamers.

Advices from Havana state that the Captain General has sent a Commissioner to Washington to confer with the Spanish Minister touching the captured steamers.

☞ Blackwood's Magazine for April contains a very interesting article on Lady Hamilton. Leonard Scott & Co., publishers, New York.

☞ News comes by the Arago that Macready, the retired tragedian, has again entered the state connubial, having been recently married in London.

☞ The particulars of suicide, of C. J. F. Stone, Plymouth, N. H., are thus given. On Thursday of last week he procured strychnine of an apothecary, who questioned him as to the use of it, and received an answer which satisfied him. Mr. Stone went home and filled two glasses with cider, one of which he handed to his wife, drinking the other himself, which contained the poison. Soon afterwards he went to the druggist and informed him what he had done, saying he should not live ten minutes. A physician was immediately called for, but it was too late. Mr. Stone left the store and expired in the street.

The Manchester Mirror says he leaves quite a large amount of forged paper—from $10,000 to $15,000 in amount, it is tho't. The names of the sureties on his paper are all forged. The Mirror understands that all the banks in Concord have his notes, and the Savings Bank there has a forged mortgage of some real estate owned by Stone's wife, to secure it; she never signed it. A knowledge of his forgeries was becoming too public, and he knew that the State Prison must be his home if he lived, and he took the fatal draught. His age was 33.

The Manchester Union Democrat says, "He was a young man of very impulsive temperament and genial social qualities.—He had hosts of friends wherever he was known. Though a staunch Democrat, he was elected in a Republican town a member of the ensuing Leglslature, where he would doubtless have acted a prominent part."

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the Scrofulous Humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

BETSEY SANBORN.

Kensington, Sept. 25, 1855.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, attesting the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., No. 1 School St., for his Panacea, Cough Drops, Conserve, Rheumatic Compound and Family Pills, and other of his popular remedies, will be promptly attended to.

☞ Why will people go and have a poor miserable picture taken of themselves? Because, all those do not know that they can procure for the same money, a fine finished picture, faithful and true as life itself, at

SALEN'S DAGUERREAN GALLERY,
In Congress Block, where the most superior likenesses are taken, and in all cases perfect satisfaction given.

N. B.—The beautiful little "give away" (cheap) pictures, are taken at this establishment, with a double lens Camera, (100 per day) by the celebrated Parisian artist—Monsieur Heavtontitorumenos.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12. Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with my account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,
WM. MARKHAM.

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.—Agreeably to a call, a Convention was held at Raymond, April 19. Winthrop Hilton, Esq., of Deerfield, was chosen Chairman.

A resolution was passed to the effect that, in order to secure the enforcement of the prohibitory law, there should be a County Prosecuting Committee of five; and town committees, consisting of five in Portsmouth and three in each of the other towns, to be chosen by friends of temperance in each town; and vigilance committees in each town, of at least ten nor more than twenty-five, to be appointed by the town committees; the vigilance committee to furnish facts and evidence to the town committees; and the town committees to keep the county committee well posted in all matters said committee should understand.

A committee was chosen to nominate the County Prosecuting Committee, to report at an adjourned Convention, to be held at Raymond, May 3d, at 1 o'clock, P. M. It is urgently desired that the friends of temperance attend largely from every town.

JOSEPH FULLONTON, Sec.

PORTSMOUTH, April 23, 1860.

At a meeting of the Hosiery Knitters, held in Portsmouth, March 24th, it was agreed to solicit our employers for an advance of ten per cent. on our wages, and to give them two week's notice;—and should they refuse to grant our request, we should cease work until they thought well to do so. The cause which led to this, was, that three reductions had taken place. The last two were in the panic of '57—'58. We have never asked for any advance until the present time, although when the reductions took place, our employers promised us our former prices as soon as trade revived. Almost every trade in the country has obtained an advance in wages since that time, so that we who have to consume their productions, are obliged to pay a higher price for them; consequently, we are under the necessity of soliciting a higher price for our labor. The advance sought for by us is but small to the consumer, as it will not be more than three-fourths of a cent extra per pair for their Hosiery; and we think that those who have already been advanced, in their wages, will not complain at paying so small a sum extra for them.

In Massachusetts, this branch of business is suspended for the same advance, and the operatives, previous to their strike, were receiving more for the same kind of work than we were.—Moreover, they have been receiving their pay monthly; whereas, we were working three, six, and even twelve months, before coming to any settlement. In this case, we have had to take our pay in store orders, which the public know are inferior to ready cash, by 15 or 20 per cent. It will be seen by this, that our strike is far more plausible than that of the same class of men in Massachusetts.

It is a business in which good interest may be realized on capital; but in Portsmouth, the boss manufacturers are generally men of small means, who work for a small remuneration, for firms in Boston and elsewhere. We wish that some one in Portsmouth with a little more means, had the privilege of it.

Our employers acknowledge that the demand is greater than before the panic; and as our labor is a marketable commodity, regulated by supply and demand, we assure them they will have to pay the advance asked for before we resume work.

FROM THE HOSIERY KNITTERS.

CITY EXPENSES.—The Herald has a long expose of the details of the expenditures of Newburyport—and as those of Portsmouth are similar in amount and kind, a few extracts will interest our readers. It really does seem extravagant for such quiet villages as these to spend upwards of $50,000 each per year, to keep the machinery of government running.

The Herald says when the late Wm. Bartlett was on the financial committee, "Some one proposed to increase the amount for the poor, which was $4000. 'Four thousand is enough,' said the old man;—'the more money we appropriate, the more they will spend.' Nothing is truer; the more money you put in the hands of city officials, the more they willl require.—Our city government might expend $100,000, or they could get along with $50,000."

Concerning the gradual growth of expenditures in thirty years—from $8000 under the town government, in 1830, to $60,000 or more, in 1860, the Herald says:

If we had space, it would be interesting to show the increase in each department; as for, instance the fire department now costs three times as much as it did fifteen years ago; the highways four times as much; the poor twice as much; the police twenty-five times as much; and every department more than it should. The useless expenditure is nowhere more striking than in the police department. If we pay police officers salaries, they come out of the city treasury; if we make them dependent upon their fees, the cost comes partly out of the county; and on this plan the police cost of some cities of Massachusetts, twice as large as this, is not a fifth part of ours.

We think this subject worthy of consideration, at any rate—but the Herald seems to overlook the influx of foreigners, who make a large proportion of all our police expenses.

BLACKING.—Not political, we don't mean that—though it is the most fashionable now-a-days. But "Brown & Brothers Liquid Blacking," for boots, which comes in pots like Day & Martin,—the neatest and handiest shape for blacking—and is recommended at the great city hotels as "the best in the world." Like some of the objects to whom the political blacking is being especially applied—your boots shine with all the brighter lustre for it. It is for sale by Master Wm. Vennard, a clerk at J. H. Thacher's Apothecary Store, corner of State and Pleasant Streets.

MAN MISSING.—Eugene Sullivan, an Irishman, aged about 30 years, well known as a hostler in this city, has been missing since Fast Night. He was seen at the Spring late on that night, and has not been heard of since; and it is supposed he fell overboard. Any information concerning him, dead or alive, will be thankfully received by his friends in this city—and may be sent to the City Marshal, or the Chronicle. He was above medium size, with dark hair and eyes, and was dressed in dark clothes.

☞ A lady correspondent complains to us by letter, that a grocer in this city (whom she does not name) treated her discourteously when she requested a package to be done up in a certain way to suit an invalid's whim—and wants us to censure such conduct. Of course no gentleman could fail to regret that any tradesman should so far forget himself and his own interest, as to be impolite to a lady, and a customer; but we don't see that we have any special jurisdiction in the case—and if we had, how could we judge, having only heard one side. There are always two sides to everything; and the vexations of any man in business are neither few nor small—so it becomes us all to "bear and forbear."

☞ J. H. Locke, Market Square, has the Household Monthly; frontispiece, The Old Homestead.

He has also furnished us with Harper's Monthly for May.

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the act of 1837.

78 STATE, OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove more MORE SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him t. accumulate a vast amount of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, re here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, February 8, 1858.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases; and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

From Sept. 17, 1857, to June 17, 1858, the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on TWICE rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in HIS FAVOR, by the Commissioner of Patents.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

We would recommend to housekeepers a trial of the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot," which some families have had in use for over a year, and say they would on no consideration be without it, as it retains the whole of the strength as well as the aroma of the berry. One-fourth less coffee is required; and this is a consideration in these times.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. A few testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1858.

GENTLEMEN:—Your note of the 15th inst., has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefited by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling of arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to procure by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

BENJ. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Sizmaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC its effects on the hair, which are great. A number of women may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will return more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all! Yours truly,

W. M. B. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like—By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. M. B. K.

WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor O. J. Wood:—Dear Sir:—Having had the misfortune to lose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the yellow fever, in New Orleans in 1853, I was induced to try your hair restorative, and found it to be the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my feelings, thus to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, and retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents us with the same essential elements, and gives of course the True Standard—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and we find in every instance certain deficiencies in the Blood, and by supplying these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this theory—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from any of the THROAT or LUNGS inducing CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Impurity of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVERUSE, GENERAL DEBILITY, and NERVOUS EXHAUSTION; also for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by Drops and carried immediately into the circulation, so that what you gain you retain. The No. 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESS, &c. Pamphlets free, sent for this. For SALT RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of the "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford immediate relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PARCOTIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by destroying the life of your child. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, CONVULSIONS, AND ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing all inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of convulsions, or spasms. Do you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences that so often follow a resort to the use of narcotics of which other remedies for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but the EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, for this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the vital fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, improper diet, confined or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Hence its vigor, since it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" or the reverse, from the child to him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects manifest themselves by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which renders in the blood, depresses the energies of life; and scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and assist nature in the healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can offer against this overwhelming prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the purpose of cleansing the vital channel from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is based on truth, for scrofulous is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratuitously almanacs, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Female Complaints, Liver Complaint, Worms, Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even despairing sickness and suffering by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation. Its wonderful virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the throat and lungs, so prevalent to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

DR. MOTT'S
CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that we preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable form of disease. In all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

DYSPEPSIA, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSTEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued slow operation of time, and numerous complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description could adequately represent, or credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly appeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attributed to female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent consumption, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise known in the physician by the name of

IN NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of Iron is peculiarly be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-stimulating, and it may be administered even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting the disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it is supposed to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Constipation.

In SCALDED DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviative, and as a remedy to prevent the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects—good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free by mail, on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of Mothers, her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

For Children Teething.

Which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine,—NEVER HAS IT PROVED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak, in this matter, what we know, after long years experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the child is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with never-failing success, in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives toneand energy to the whole system. It will almostinstantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST and surest REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—Do not let your own prejudices, or the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE and SAFE. ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper. Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Principal Office, No. 3 Cedar st. New York.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC;

Price only 25 cents per bottle.

The Lemmon case has been decided at last, and everything is squeezed out of it by the patent squeezers of the law. The New York Court of Appeals, affirming the judgment of the Court below, has decided that an owner of slaves cannot hold them while passing through that State.—That the point ever should have been in dispute, is a disgrace to the times.—Trav.

Chicago opens the season of navigation with an export of dwelling-houses, of which "product" there is an almost inexhaustible supply. The first cargo, a substantial two story house, went off on scows drawn by tugs, last week. The Press and Tribune, says "villages and country towns supplied."

A Connecticut schoolmaster asked a lad from Newport, "how many Gods are there?" The boy, after scratching his head sometime, rejoined:—"I don't know how many you have in Connecticut, but we have none in Rhode Island."

The widow of a celebrated musician had inscribed upon his monument—"He has gone where only his music can be excelled." The widow of a pyrotechnist saw this, and had inscribed on her husband's tomb—"He has gone where only his fire-works can be excelled."

NOISE AND FAME.—Mr. Sala says that if "a man has strong lungs, and keeps bawling day after day that he is a genius, the people will at last believe him."

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been

THOROUGHLY TESTED

by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them

The Best in the Market!

These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much lighter than any other in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

FREEDOM—SLAVERY.

The signs of the times clearly indicate that the God-abborred institution will soon come to an end. It has been suffered to continue far longer than we formerly expected. The science, literature, civilization and christianity of the world are combined for its overthrow. The civilized nations of Europe point the unmoving finger of scorn at us for upholding a system which is a relic of the most barbaric age.

Now we turn our attention to our national legislature, in which freedom of speech is, at length, fearlessly and boldly asserted by the Representatives and Senators from the free States. Bowie-knives, pistols, and challenges to meet on the "field of honor," no longer alarm our Representatives, who now proclaim to the world the evils and the sin and the crime of slavery against God and humanity. But when some of the Northern orators state the facts in respect to the institution, they are called by some of the oligarchs "scoundrels and liars," and asked whether they will meet Southern "gentlemen" outside the District of Columbia!

It is therefore evident that although their consciences may be seared as with a hot iron, a little remains, and they have at least a sense of shame, for they cannot calmly hear the plain truth told. Such was the courteous language which some of the chivalry recently applied to Messrs. Van Wyck of New York, and Lovejoy of Illinois, a brother of the murdered Lovejoy, while delivering their very able speeches on the floor of Congress. But is such language more revolting than their oft-repeated declaration that it would be good policy to convert our Northern laborers into slaves! How can our laborers vote for men who would put chains upon their limbs?

Our position is, that as freedom of speech is now fearlessly asserted in Congress, and the threats of the oligarchy regarded as the idle wind, the unholy institution must fall before the irresistible power of public opinion, which is a lever that can move the world. When the free States shall clearly understand that about five millions of the Southern white population are about as miserable and degraded as the four millions of slaves, they will no longer support any advocate of slavery for any office under the federal government—and thus, by the simple exercise of the elective franchise, the government can be restored to its original principles, and the federal laws sustaining slavery, which are numerous, would be repealed, of course. Its expansion would be arrested. The Southern statesmen admit that without expansion it would soon die out. This point is very clear. J. Q. Adams said that "confined within its own impregnable fortress, it would soon die out."

Now, against the opinion of the civilized world, against the opinion of all christian philanthropists, against the doctrines of the ... statesmen who established the government, against the secret hopes and wishes of thousands of the whites in the slave states, and against the honest convictions of a vast majority of the eighteen millions of our free States,—it is impossible, in the nature of things, that the institution can much longer remain a foul stigma upon our national escutcheon. Besides, there is no possibility of arresting the "irrepressible conflict" between liberty and slavery. The one or the other must perish in the conflict. Our trust is in the ruler of nations, that our star-spangled banner, as the emblem of freedom, shall continue to wave in the breeze over countless millions, until the end of time.

PHILANTHROPIST.

☞ In the Manchester Police Court, April 23, Joanna Nolan, for selling one pint of liquor to Bridget Kough, was ordered to give bonds in the sum of $200 for further appearance; also ordered to give $300 bonds to answer on a complaint of keeping liquor for sale.

Manasseh H. Perkins and Treat Potter were complained of for keeping liquor for sale, and were bound over in $300.

☞ The Pennsylvania papers say that already two hundred oil wells have been found in that State, and that speculation is increasing with each newly discovered deposit. Of course, everything goes smoothly in these oily affairs, for the present; but if some of the speculators do not find it is oil of vitriol they have got their fingers in, we are mistaken.

The pictures of Heenan in the London shop windows have a little biographical sketch beneath them, in which it is stated that the "boy was born in Troy State, New York."

You can no more mount to fortune on a stair of wishes, than you can go to heaven in a balloon made of Bible leaves inflated with sectarian gas.

"There is only one thing," says the proverb, "easier than fighting a coward; it is to frighten him."

HEALTH AND STRENGTH.

DR. WINDSHIP ON PHYSICAL CULTURE. The N. Y. Spirit of the Times has a long and valuable article on physical culture, from the pen of Dr. Windship, from which we make a few extracts. As a moral reformer, who practices what he preaches, his advice is peculiarly valuable. He says improvement of one's physical state can never be entered upon too early, and, so long as there is an atom of life and strength, never too late. At an early age he was told that to practice a heroic degree of self-denial, and to rise from the table hungry, was the way to secure health; but he prefers to eat and drink as much as he desires, and then, by subsequent self-management, to make himself need every particle swallowed. The digestive power, like the muscular, will be weakened, if not vigorously exercised.

Dr. Windship counsels plenty of fresh air, sun, wholesome food; no liquors, no tobacco, no stimulants or narcotics; half an hour's severe exercise in the open air daily,—of which lifting is the best and most important; plenty of sleep—eight hours at least, and he takes ten. He recommends bathing once a week in winter and twice in summer; says whatever increases strength, promotes health—whatever makes muscle, improves digestion; advises loose clothing always and for everybody, and to conform to the rules of society only so far as they conduce to comfort and health. Never exhaust or over-exert yourself, bodily or mentally.

According to a section of the N. Y. act just passed, all persons now under sentence of death must be sent to the State Prison for one year, and then the Governor must direct the execution, by his warrant, before it can take place. The special case which this provision was intended to reach was that of Mrs. Hartung, now under sentence of death.

The same sort of provision was some years ago a part of the capital punishment law of Vermont, and was repealed. Upon the first conviction under the law, the Governor (Mattocks, we believe,) refused to issue a warrant for the execution of the prisoner—alleging, very properly, that the executive prerogative should be one of mercy, not that of a hangman.—Boston Post.

The same sort of provision exists in Maine, where it has been established by law for a dozen years or so, and where it works admirably. No governor there has ordered an execution under this law,—and as every intelligent reader knows, the crime of murder has not increased, but in proportion to the population remained small, and rather diminished.

☞ Attorney General Black intends prosecuting Schnabel, on a charge of perjury, growing out of his testimony before the Covode Committee. His most intimate friends say he distinctly admitted the existence of the President's letter, recently published, but denied the existence of one of the character the witness described, in the course of conversation, and which Mr. Walker never even pretended to have in his possession.—It is further stated that Mr. Black, acting by the advice of friends, has made no reply to Mr. Walker, but in a note addressed to Mr. Walker's friend, Senator Brown, he denied the existence of any reason why Mr. Walker should request him to go out of the District to receive a hostile message, even if he were not conscientiously opposed to that mode of adjusting difficulties.

☞ On Monday, as Capt. Zacheus P. Thurlow and wife, of Amesbury, were driving through Newburyport, in a covered carriage, the horse was frightened by the dropping of a load of wood, and turning suddenly round, the carriage was upset and smashed, and the persons thrown to the ground, but not seriously injured. The horse ran down to the wharf and jumped into the dock, sticking hard in the mud, from which, the Herald says, he was removed with some difficulty. Better have let him stick there, than trust so stupid a brute for family use again. A horse that can be frightened so easily, is not fit for family driving.

WHAT A DOG DID.—At a fire in Chelsea, on Sunday morning, while Engine No. 5 of Charleston was rolling in to the fire and directly opposite the burning buildings, a dog ran between the legs of one of the men who had the head of the rope, throwing him and several others to the ground; but fortunately the speed of the engine was checked in season to prevent running over the men. Two men who were behind the engine, pushing, were severely cut in the face by the brakes, the engine being turned quickly in order to save the men who had fallen from the rope.

☞ At Aurora, Pike's Peak, on the 12th ult., Moses Young and William West had a quarrel about a title held by West as security for a debt of $125, due from Young.—Without coming to any settlement, Young left the house, procured a gun, returned and shot West dead. He was arrested the next day, the 13th, tried and sentenced to be hung on the 14th, and hung on the 15th.

THE BEST SEWING MACHINES.

THE BUSINESS OF THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.—The Boston Traveller of April 12th says the business of this Company has attained a magnitude which must surprise every one who examines the subject thoroughly, and remembers of how recent a date is the first patent issued for sewing machines. In eight or nine years, from nothing it has grown up to an important position among our manufacturing interests, and the machines are in demand not only in every part of the Union, but in every civilized country in the world. A hundred machines is but an ordinary number to send abroad in a single invoice: the steamer of last Wednesday took more than that number: and those that go to the Middle, the Southern and the Western States of our confederacy number many thousands annually. This company have already made and sold no less than 35,000 machines; and at their factory, on the corner of Waltham and Washington streets, they are making about three hundred machines every week. This great demand is caused by the strength and neatness of the peculiar lock stitch of the Grover & Baker patents, and by the durability and freedom from disarrangement of the machines. One of the members of the company was among the earliest improvers and inventors, and from the combination of his with other valuable patents, came the unrivalled machine which is the property of the company.

The Grover & Baker family machine has one advantage which is worthy of especial mention, in addition to the peculiar character of the stitch, and that is its adaptation to either light or medium heavy work. The machine which at one moment is used on the most delicate fabric, in a few moments after can be brought to bear with equal facility on cottonades and towels of the coarsest description. Its adaptation to family work is thus remarkable, and gives it a superiority over every other style of machine in the market. In another column of this paper may be found the opinions on this subject of many very reliable authorities, including the wives of Hon. Jefferson Davis, of Mississippi, Gov. Harris, of Tennessee, Chief Justice Voorhees, and various others, and among these the letters of W. J. Stowell, of the P. W., and Baltimore Railroad, and of Col. Slocum, of the Cuban Army Clothing Department, are of special interest as testifying to the value of the two chief styles of machines made by the company. In the South the family machine is used extensively for plantation sewing, for which it answers admirably. The total number of patterns is about thirty, adapted every possible want, from those of leather and duck to those of cambric, lace and gossamer, in boudoir, or parlor.

The head quarters of the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company are at 18 Summer street, Boston, under the Mercantile Library halls. It is a very central location, near Washington street. In addition, they have large salerooms in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, Mobile, New Orleans San Francisco, with agencies in other cities. Their newly contemplated iron front building at 495 Broadway, New York, near Spring, is one of these, and a most magnificent building it is. The cost was about $36,000, and every visitor to New York should make it a point visit this unique and elegantly designed establishment. The machines are shipped in boxes to each of these places, and are there set up and the cabinet work made for each branch house.

Taking these salesrooms and the head-quarters in Boston, with the three hundred men occupied in the factory, the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company give employment to something like seven hundred persons. The Boston salesroom is a spacious hall, fronting on Summer street, and about three times as much room is occupied in the same building for store rooms, cabinet rooms, and packing rooms.

The factory itself, at the corner of Washington street and Waltham street, covers a large space of territory, and contains over three hundred windows. About one thousand lathes, drills, stamps, and other machines, are kept in operation, requiring the services of three hundred men, although no cabinet work and no castings are made in the building. These furnish work for about seventy five men in other parts of the city. The power is supplied by a magnificent engine of fifty horse power, and in the basement is one of the largest boilers in the city, which gives heat not only to the engine, but for the japanning ovens, and warming purposes. The building has now been in use about four years of the eight during which these machines have been manufactured, and yet during that four years, with so many belts and machines constantly in motion, no accident has occurred, and but two deaths of workmen.

The men employed appear to be all of the best class mechanics, intelligent and industrious, and from a glance at the books it appears they make excellent wages. Great care is taken in the selection of workmen, and none but sober and steady men are taken. This, however, is not the only warrant of the perfection of the work; every piece produced, from the bed plate to the smallest screw or pin, is subjected to a vigorous test before being accepted. Every thing used in a sewing machine (except castings and cabinet work) is made in the building, including screws, needles, and all the finer parts, and much of the machinery is also produced there to make these articles.

The company have had the services of Mr. J. B. Wetherell, as superintendent, for eight years, who for twenty years previously was the superintendent of the Pettes Iron Works at Newton. He has invented quite a number of machines, to simplify labor in the establishment, some of which are very ingenious, and are in use nowhere else; and he gives all the results of his rare devotion to mechanical invention to the improvement of the means of manufacturing. The ornamental work, the silver plating, the painting, the gold and pearl inlaying, and the japanning of the sewing machines, is done under the same roof, and gives employment to many persons.

The building has five floors, and is 200 feet long, by 65 on the front. The heavier work is done on the basement and lower floors, and the lighter work above stairs.—The machines are completed and tested on the upper floor, put in wooden boxes, and sent down to 18 Summer st., with the iron legs in separate boxes; and are there supplied with the cabinet work and prepared for sale and export.

At the salesroom at 18 Summer st., there are constantly kept on exhibition machines of the different patterns and styles of finish, for the convenience of purchasers. Young ladies, experienced in their use, and courteous in their manners, are always on hand to receive lady visitors or purchasers; and one or more members of the firm, with their clerks, can usually be found at the rear of the hall, to converse with those who wish to make purchases on a more extended scale. The company, from first to last, have everything thoroughly systematized, and from the numerous labor-saving lathes and engines that they have, and the perfect organization of the manufacturing department, are enabled to produce, at a just price, a sewing machine which could not be built in any other factory but at much larger cost, and a machine that will at the same time be durable, noiseless in its operation, and not liable to derangement.

We will conclude with a brief extract from an article in the Scientific American of Nov. 5, 1859, which we think is fully entitled to be conclusive, from the high character of that paper, which is considered as the best authority, on all such subjects as that under consideration.

"The machines manufactured by this company are too well known by the public at large to need any recommendations at our hands, and we will simply add that we have had one of them in use in our family for some time past, and it is considered the most useful article in the house next to the cradle, and no less indispensable than that. In No. 2 of the present volume (1859) of the Scientific American, we published an illustration showing the mechanical principles of the Grover & Baker machine. By reference to that illustration, the form of the stitch will be seen, and its security from ripping, as well as its superior elasticity, will be readily understood."

☞ The Bangor Whig reports that a little daughter of Mr. James Spratt, of that city, about two and a half years old, was poisoned at Veazie on Saturday last, under most painful circumstances. The child was on a visit to its grandmother, who intended to give it a little gunpowder and milk, but accidentally mixed fly poison instead of powder. The child died in a few hours after taking it.

The Vermont Patriot tells a story of an old usurer who went, one day, to visit a former borrower, who has since, fortunately, grown from poverty to independence. They went into the garden. Passing along a walk flanked on either side with flowers of great beauty and variety, the visitor made no remark until he came to a potato patch, when he exclaimed, "My friend, you'll have a fine crop of potatoes there!" "That's just like you," said the proprietor, "when gentlemen and ladies pass through my garden, they look at the flowers,—but when a hog comes in, all he can see is potatoes!"

THE HOSIERY-KNITTERS' STRIKE.

PORTSMOUTH, April 23, 1860.

At a meeting of the Hosiery Knitters, held in Portsmouth, March 24th, it was agreed to solicit our employers for an advance of ten per cent. on our wages, and to give them two weeks notice;—and should they refuse to grant our request, we should cease work until they thought well to do so. The cause which led to this, was, that three reductions had taken place. The last two were in the panic of '57—'58. We have never asked for any advance until the present time, although when the reductions took place, our employers promised us our former prices as soon as trade revived. Almost every trade in the country has obtained an advance in wages since that time, so that we who have to consume their productions, are obliged to pay a higher price for them; consequently, we are under the necessity of soliciting a higher price for our labor. The advance sought for by us is but small, to the consumer, as it will not be more than three-fourths of a cent extra per pair for their Hosiery; and we think that those who have already been advanced, in their wages, will not complain at paying so small a sum extra for them.

In Massachusetts, this branch of business is suspended for the same advance, and the operatives, previous to their strike, were receiving more for the same kind of work than we were.—Moreover, they have been receiving their pay monthly; whereas, we were working three, six, and even twelve months, before coming to any settlement. In this case, we have had to take our pay in store orders, which the public know are inferior to ready cash, by 15 or 20 per cent. It will be seen by this, that our strike is far more plausible than that of the same class of men in Massachusetts.

It is a business in which good interest may be realized on capital; but in Portsmouth, the boss manufacturers are generally men of small means, who work for a small remuneration, for firms in Boston and elsewhere. We wish that some one in Portsmouth with a little more means, had the privilege of it.

Our employers acknowledge that the demand is greater than before the panic; and as our labor is a marketable commodity, regulated by supply and demand, we assure them they will have to pay the advance asked for before we resume work.

ASSIGNEE'S NOTICE.

All persons indebted to ALLEN TREAT, prior to June 21, 1859, are hereby requested to settle the same with J. M. EDMONDS, No. 5 Daniel Street; and those having claims against said Treat, prior to said date, are requested to present the same to said Edmonds.

SAMUEL TREAT, Assignee.

Portsmouth, April 24th, 1860.

WANTED,

TWENTY-FIVE MECHANICS to work on Railroad Bridges—45 miles from Vicksburg, Miss. Highest wages paid. Inquire at No. 9 Mechanic Street. apr24 1w*

"This may certify, that for a number of years I have been afflicted with the troublesome humor, which caused a swelling of my neck and several ulcers, which were very painful, and that by the use of several bottles of Dr. Swett's Panacea, they have been entirely removed, and the swelling has all gone from my neck, and it is now over two years since the cure."

BETSEY SANBORN.

Kensington, Sept. 26, 1885.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, Portsmouth, N. H., No. 1 School St., for his Panacea, Cough Drops, Conserve, Rheumatic Compound and Family Pills, and other of his popular remedies, will be promptly attended to.

☞ Why will people go and have a poor miserable picture taken of themselves? Because, all those do not know that they can procure for the same money, a fine finished picture, faithful and true as life itself, at in Congress Block, where the most superior likenesses are taken, and in all cases perfect satisfaction given.

N. B.—The beautiful little "give away" (cheap) pictures, are taken at this establishment, with a double lens Camera, (100 per day) by the celebrated Parisian artist—Monsieur Heavtontitorumenos.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

WM. MARKHAM.

TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Fredleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Boundbrook, N. J., says it is the best medicine for Consumption in every stage, that has ever been known.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., BOSTON, and for sale by Wm. R. Preston, David Kimball, Nathan P. Thacher, J. H. Thacher, and B. Hutchings, Portsmouth; J. P. Packer, Greenland; and dealers everywhere. spnot 4wd&w

☞ Mrs. Winslow. an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of every invalid. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach, in the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

Containing the news of the week, at home and abroad, as published in the six previous issues of the Daily Chronicle,—is printed on Friday morning, and immediately delivered by our carriers to subscribers in the city, or sent by mail to any part of the State or the world.

As the Weekly Chronicle contains most of the matter from our "local" Daily columns, it will be found an attractive paper for natives of Portsmouth living abroad, and all others interested in our city.

Terms of subscription to the Weekly Chronicle, only $1 per year in advance—sent by carrier without extra charge, to any part of the city and vicinity; or by mail, postage free, to any part of Rockingham County. Direct letters, "Chronicle, Portsmouth, N. H."

Local.

☞ The last two alarms of fire, we have not deemed it worth while to chronicle—one on Friday evening of last week, and another on Monday evening. We could learn of no direct or immediate cause or excuse for either—and whoever was accountable for them, it certainly was not poor Happenny.

☞ We had intended to procure telegraphic intelligence from the Charleston Convention, each night during its session, and also to use the wires regularly for the future; but the great difficulties attending it, have deterred us. It would, we find, keep the telegraphic operator here, and our workmen, at their posts until 3 o'clock each night, at least; and would cost us from $5 to $10 extra per day—for which increased trouble and expense we could hardly reasonably hope to be compensated.

☞ The occultation of Venus, on Tuesday evening, was very clearly seen here, by many star-gazers.

This evening the Moon will pass near the planet Jupiter, and actually eclipse it, in part of Maine, New Hampshire, and some of the British Provinces, a little before midnight.

TEMPERANCE LECTURES.—The lectures of Mr. William Adams, at the Exeter Town Hall, Sunday afternoon and on Wednesday afternoon and evening, were fully attended. He formed a Band of Hope among the children and young persons of the town, two hundred, it is said, having signed the pledge. Other persons, we understand have taken the pledge, and the dense audience on Wednesday evening, when from 800 to 1000 were present, is an indication that a deep interest is felt in the cause. If it does not stop the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, it will do great good by checking its use.

Mr. Adams is an agent of the Temperance Alliance of Massachusetts; and in that State the formation of Bands of Hope and other measures have already done much towards suppressing the sale of intoxicating liquors. —News Letter.

THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The correspondent of the Tribune, at Charleston, to-day, says the defeat of Douglas or the disruption of the Convention seems inevitable. All the speeches at the meeting of the Southern delegations last night, were decidedly uncompromising.

If a combination could be formed to give Douglas the necessary number of votes, six States would instantly withdraw, and probably nominate Mr. Davis, seconded by Mr. Davis and his followers.

Mr. Buchanan's letter of withdrawal is in the pocket of a delegate.

THIRD DAY.

CHARLESTON, April 25.—The Convention assembled at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Robinson, chairman of the Vermont delegation, died of apoplexy this morning.

Resolutions restricting the speakers to fifteen minutes on all subjects excepting that of the national platform, are under discussion. The Southern delegates demand that there shall be no gag law on any subject. The resolutions were adopted.

The Committee on Credentials announced that they would be ready to report in the afternoon.

The Convention then adjourned till afternoon.

The committee will report in favor of the Soft delegation from New York. Wood's delegation had but six votes, viz.: Mississippi, Texas, North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and California.

The Platform Committee is still holding an excited session.

A private dispatch from a well-informed source at Charleston says—"I think Guthrie has the inside track, as he is the only man to whom neither party strongly objects."

A dispatch from Perley, at Washington, says, if the Convention holds together, it is clear Mr. Douglas cannot be nominated, and it is impossible now to form any opinion as to who the choice of the Convention will finally fall upon. The Douglas men think that if the six Southern States which threatened to bolt, do so, under the lead of Judge Meeks, it will improve their chances.

Other guessers deem Douglas's chance as good as anybody's—or a little better.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The "Constitution" newspaper deprecates the defence of the President by the New York Herald, to prejudice the Cabinet. It declares the latter a unit, and impeaches the character of the friendship of Mr. Bennett for the President.

Mr. Walker is gathering documentary evidence from his Kansas papers, to substantiate his charges against the Cabinet of complicity in concocting the Lecompton Constitution.

PRIZE FIGHT.—New York, April 24.—The prize fight between Harry Gribbin and Ed. Wilson took place this morning, at Pikus Island, East River. The fight lasted over an hour, and sixty-one rounds were fought, resulting in a drawn battle. A number of fights subsequently occurred among the friends of the respective parties.

☞ The Boston Traveller understands that "Rev. I. S. Kalloch, pastor of the Tremont Temple Church, has either resigned his charge, or is about to do so. He will, under appointment of the Baptist Home Missionary Society, take charge of a church in Leavenworth city,"—and that the Baptist pastors of Boston have recommended him for that post!

A FEW CERTIFICATES OF THE GREAT SUCCESS —of the— Grover & Baker's Sewing Machines.

[From the wife of the Hon. Jefferson Davis.]

Mrs. Jefferson Davis presents her compliments to Messrs. Grover & Baker, and takes pleasure in saying that she has used one of their Box Sewing Machines for two years, and finds it still in good order—makes a beautiful stitch, and does easily any kind of work.

[From J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.]

My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

[From the Rev. Jonathan Cross, Agent American Tract Society.]

My wife has been using one of your Sewing Machines for the last three months, and pronounces it faultless. She can sew more on it in one day, than in ten the old way, and without fatigue. The work is beautiful and durable.—She says she would not exchange it for any other one. It is certainly one of the grandest inventions ever made for the relief of woman-kind, and I would recommend every family to get one as soon as possible.

Baltimore, July 14, 1859.

PORTSMOUTH, April 12, 1859.

Having tested the merits of the various popular Sewing Machines, in the manufacture of our Capes and Raglans, we unhesitatingly recommend the Grover & Baker, as far superior to all others. ALLEN & PAINE.

PORTSMOUTH, July 16, 1859.

If you wish to purchase a machine that will do work handsomely and strongly, and will not be liable to get out of repair, call on Mr. Whittemore in Daniel street, see the operation of Grover & Baker's machine, and then place one in your family. They will never consent to part with it, after they understand its operation.

CHARLES W. BERWSTER.

"Zion's Herald," Nov. 10th, 1859, says,—"We would recommend to families and to those about to organize a household, to be sure and have a Family Bible, and also one of Grover & Baker's SEWING MACHINES.

OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It acts as if by magic, and one bottle alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves the sufferer without the danger of being stupified by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now in use for CHILDREN SUFFERING DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and all those ailments attending the Gums, reducing inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no equal—being an unanswerable fact, it is used with unhesitating success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to see them grow up healthy and blessed by consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which other remedies for Infantile Complaints generally contain, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and consequently the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously manifested, sometimes it shows itself in a lingering, disorder or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by hereditary transmission. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation!" indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects are various, since it may deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; in the skin, surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which renders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the lungs, liver, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the sluggish constitution, and to purge it from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its dreadful consequences, Hood's Sarsaparilla should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases, Ulcers, Pimples, Blotches, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Rheumatism and Syphilitic Affections, Mercurial Disease, Dropsy, Neuralgia or Tic Douloureux, Debility, Dyspepsia and Dropsical Swellings, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Impurity of the Blood. The great belief in "the virtue of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify the blood, regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

for all the purposes of a family physic are so compounded that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of their use, many a sick and suffering child who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so efficacious and safe.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous disorders. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Pain in the Side, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for purifying the blood.

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,
LOWELL, MASS.

Price, $1 per Bottle; Six Bottles for $5.

All our remedies are for sale by W. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth, and by all druggists and merchants in the civilized world. dec20 6m d&w

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

DR. MOTT'S
CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable form. Innoxious in all cases it is believe it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued attrition of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which, no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attributed to the Pills, when prescribed to victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous sympathetic aversion to all exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorous yet tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever using a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it an invaluable adjunct or auxiliary remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the congestion, which constitutes them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, continued, emaciating and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, delirious cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, and several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has proved invaluable, both as regards its alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of signal utility and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole Materia Medica, which so rapidly exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an equanimity both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

"A LITTLE FARM WELL TILLED,"—Elihu Burritt gives an account in the Homestead, of a visit to the farm of Wm. Birnie, of Springfield, Mass., a "small farmer," with only fifty acres of land, who yet keeps more stock and raises more grain and grass than many hundred-acre farmers. Mr. Burritt says, "he keeps thirty-two head of cattle, three horses, and several hogs, all fed from the produce. The past year he raised 4,000 bushels of roots—ruta bagas, mangel wartzel, and yellow turnips. Besides corn, oats, rye, and potatoes, he also grew $400 worth of tobacco. There is," adds Mr. Burritt, "no good reason to doubt, if the number of farms in Connecticut were doubled by making two of each, and concentrating the labor and manure now spread over 100 acres upon 50 acres, the production of the half would exceed that of the whole on the old system of agriculture." Mr. Birnie cuts and steams all the fodder for his stock, and thinks he thus effects a saving of 33 per cent. in the cost of wintering his stock.

SCENE IN THE HOUSE.—While the Pryor-Potter controversy was going on in Washington, a vote in the House was called upon some minor matters. When Mr. Potter's name was called, an old Dutch member from Pennsylvania, who never takes up time unless he has something to say to the point, rose in his place and excused Mr. Potter thus: "Mishter Speaker, I will shust say ash how Mishter Potter hash a Pryor engagement." Both sides of the House and the galleries united in an uproarious explosion of mirth at the honorable member's salty of wit, which was only checked to be redoubled, when, after the name of Mr. Pryor was called, the same old Hans arose and said: "Vel, Mishter Speaker, Mr. Pryor has gone to pe ash clay in te hands of te Potter." For some moments the scene in the House was indescribable, and, for once, five-pound bowie knives and slotted rifles were at a discount.

NAPOLEON BIRDS.—The barque "Justice Story," which has but recently arrived at Boston from St. Helena, has on board some eight or ten Napoleon birds, as they are called by sailors. They are found in great numbers on that island, and the sailors say, mostly frequent the vicinity of Napoleon's grave. They are much petted and beloved by the sailors, who regard them somewhat superstitiously.

One only of the number has died since its expatriation, and that sickened suddenly, within a day or two; its decease occurring, fortunately, according to the views of the sailors, after their arrival in port. These birds are very small and pretty; have short red bills, and mouse-colored feathers, with the exception of the breast, which had a reddish tinge.—Trav.

CLIPPER PLOWS
Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.
We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "it cannot be done."
Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common practice, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1860.

CONDITION OF ITALY.

The following remarks on Italy, extracted from an editorial in the Boston Pilot, have special interest at this moment, coming as they do from the Irish organ of the Roman Church in New England.

But now, what do the Americans think, will be the result of these partial and incomplete elections in Italy?—freedom! peace! happiness!—oh! they are mistaken. Let them believe us, when we tell them that, in all probability, a war will break out, a civil war, a religious war, a Reign of Terror will desolate the country, the scenes of the French Revolution will be enacted again, and a deluge of blood will flow to wash off from the fair land of Italy the impurities of irreligion and infidelity gathered to its bosom. Woe to the land of Carbonarism! Woe to those degenerate Italians who have prostrated themselves to the mocking embrace of perfidious England. Woe to the sensual and blasphemous Victor Emmanuel! Woe, woe to poor unfortunate Italy.

Here we do not know the ferociousness of the Italian character. We are wont to value that character by the stupid indolence of the seller of images and of the organ grinder, or by the sorrowing gentleness of the Italian refugee who groans and pleurs over the misery of his poor, dear Italy, and strikes such havoc in the feelings of some very sympathetic lawyer, parson, or other men in male breeches. Ah! my friends, we are mistaken. It is all gammon and hypocrisy!

But let the present revolutionary party get a more footing, let them push on their work of plunder, desecration, and demoralization, and the more their thirst and their hunger is whetted the more they will hunger and thirst. The Italians are at this moment a degraded nation. Not even the revolutionary party could have been stirred but the gold that has flown into Central Italy from the treasures gathered by Piedmont by action—for the pricking of the Ligurian magnets—for the under-hand goading of Napoleon III.—and for the golden promises which their leaders are fools enough to receive from the Emperor of the French. Without the working of these outside agents the malcontents would never have dared things to the pass to which they have come. But they are up now: they have tasted of the inebriating cup of satisfied ambition, and have gained possession of power and wealth. They have secured this position by an act of down-right dishonesty and overbearance at the very layers of the corner stone of the foundation of Italian Liberty; they find power, gold, and Imperial influence ready to back them, and to maintain them in their new usurpation; their brain must needs be dizzy and their heart, gloating in the possession of ill-gotten goods, will become cursed and cruel.

And who are those who will suffer by this usurpation of a successful usurper? of those the unsuccessful aspirer and the man of opposite political creed. The 136 true Roman men, whose purses have always been open to works of beneficence, whose hands never been outstretched to help the arts and of industry and science, and whose halls and galleries, and homes, have always welcomed the wandering foreigner—the unassuming and zealous, but retiring clergy—the defenceless nuns in their cloisters—those men who, by a choice of free will, have bid adieu to the wealth and ease of their homes, and have sought in the life of prayer the peace of heart which study and prayer alone can give—the Bishops and the Prelates—the Cardinals—the Pope—they all will suffer at the hand of the successful Italian revolutionist! And to a degree will they suffer? to the degree of poverty, prison, exile, death. That we are not overcoloring the picture, we can prove by the events of '31 and '48.

What can you expect from a man when he has lost every sense of religion, of honor and of decency. And this is exactly the character of the Italian patriots of the present day. Remember they inaugurated the era of treason. By an act of downright tyranny. They have told the voters: "If you are not of our party we will not allow you to vote: but remember, by the secrecy system of voting, as we have planned it, we have the means to spot you, and we will most surely spot you, Papalini."

Could to Heaven a man arose in Italy, a mighty in words and deeds, another Cola Perretti, in whose honor the Roman people erected a statue in the Capitol—one having crushed the lawlessness of the usurpers and foreigners, and thereby restored public peace" (A. D. 1350.) Such a man, with a strong Vigilance Committee, being bold of facinorous men, having them publicly tried and speedily punished, would restore Security and Liberty to Italy in a very short time.

But what use to hope for what seems beyond all hopes? Ye Catholics, pray, and pray fervently, with sorrowing and trusting hearts. The storm is gathering, the sky is lowering, our Holy Father is in great danger.

"Let us pray for Our Sovereign Pontiff, Pius IX. The Lord preserve, give him life, and make him blessed upon the earth; and deliver him not up to the will of his enemies. Amen."

WASHINGTON IRVING'S EARLY LOVE EXPERIENCE.—This is the way the sole love episode in the career of the late Washington Irving, is described by Mr. Bryant, who lately pronounced his eulogium in New York:

He became attached to a young lady, whom he was to have married. She died unwedded in the flower of her age. There was a sorrowful leave-taking between her and her lover, as the grave was about to separate them, on the eve of what was to have been their bridal; and Irving ever after, to the close of his life, tenderly and faithfully cherished her memory. In one of the biographical notices published immediately after Irving's death, an old, well-worn copy of the bible is spoken of, which was kept lying on the table in his chamber, within reach of his bedside, bearing her name on the title page, in a delicate female hand—a relic which we may presume to have been his constant companion.

Those who are fond of searching in the biographies of eminent men for the circumstances which determined the bent of their genius, find in this and event, and the cloud it threw over the hopeful and cheerful period of early manhood, an explanation of the transition from the unbounded playfulness of the "History of New York" to the serious, tender, and meditative vein of the "Sketch Book."

Such is an item in the history of hundreds of excellent men and honorable women, of whom the world knows little, except that they are called old bachelors and old maids.

☞ Hon. Jonathan Phillips has presented to the Rev. Dr. Gannett's society a chime of thirteen bells, to be placed in the tower of their new church, corner of Arlington and Boylston streets, Boston. These bells are to be furnished by Messrs. Hooper & Co., from their foundry, at a cost of $6000. Mr. Phillips has been a member of Dr. Gannett's church for a long period, and held the office of Deacon until the infirmities of age compelled him to resign. The chime are to be stamped as the Phillips Bells. The largest is to weigh 4000 lbs., and Messrs. Hooper & Co. promise that the whole shall equal if not surpass any chime in the world.

☞ Hon. Beverly T. Clark of Kentucky, United States Minister resident to Guatemala and Honduras, died on the 17th ult., after several months' suffering from diabetes. The funeral ceremonies were conducted with great pomp by the Catholic clergy. It is reported that Mr. Clark was absolved from his marriage vows two days before his death, that he might join the order of the Franciscan Monks. Mr. Clark made a public confession of Catholicism in the city of Guatemala, on the 14th of December last, and took the baptismal name of Augustin. Mr. Clark is the third United States Minister who has died in Guatemala within four years.

☞ It will be remembered that a man named George H. Lamb was hanged at the West a short time since, for the murder of his wife, a deed committed with circumstances of peculiar atrocity. He first attempted to poison her; then took her upon the Mississippi river in a boat, and there drowned her with a stone about her neck. This he confessed before sentence was executed upon him, but yet the body of the murdered woman was never found, and some insisted that he was not proved guilty. We now learn that, on Friday, at the spot designated in the confession of Lamb, the headless body of a woman was found under the water. The stone and rope were also found, and it seemed clear that this was the corpse of Mrs. Lamb.

☞ Rev. Horace Hall Reid, formerly rector of the Episcopal Church at Milburn, N. Y., was found on the 17th ult., lying lifeless and cold on the stone floor of a hotel in Geneva, Switzerland, at which he was stopping. He is supposed to have risen during the night, fallen over the bannisters from the second story upon the hall floor, and been killed immediately. Mr. Reid was a ripe scholar and a zealous clergyman.

☞ In New Orleans, a few days since, Mr. Brown, who has a salary of $2500 per annum, was sued for $645, the amount of a bill of dress goods sold to his wife within ten days, in November last. The articles were not necessarry, under the most liberal use of that term, and it appeared in evidence that the husband had forbidden the plaintiff to trust his wife. The Court decided that the plaintiff could not recover.

☞ A new Thermometer has been invented by M. Victor Beaumont, which is said to be far superior to the mercurial thermometer. It consists of a strip of steel and one of brass, soldered together, and bent in the form of a segment of a circle. Brass is affected twice as much as steel by the temperature, and hence, by graduating the movements at the end of the compound strip, the variations of the temperature are recorded.

☞ On Monday night a fire occurred at Henniker, destroying two barns, a shed, a pair of horses, a yoke of oxen, 20 tons of hay, and a lot of farming tools, belonging to Rufus Howe. The fire, supposed to be incendiary, occurred on the Noyes Tavern Stand. Loss $2000; no insurance.

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

On Wednesday afternoon, the committee on credentials reported in favor of the sitting delegates from Massachusetts, (including Doherty and Chaffee,) New York, (the anti-Wood delegation,) Maryland and Illinois. A minority report was presented, the question upon each point being taken separately. The minority report was rejected by vote of 55 to 210, and so Mr. Wood and his followers are denied the privilege of acting in the convention.

On the Illinois question, the Douglas delegates were admitted.

On Maryland question, Messrs. Brandt and Lanahan were awarded seats.

Resolutions of condolence with the family of Gov. Robinson of Vt., were adopted, and after voting to accompany the remains to the steamer, the convention adjourned at 7 o'clock.

CHARLESTON, April 25.—The Committee on Platform have repudiated the Cincinnati platform, by a vote of 17 to 15, the Southern delegates demanding a platform that will not be liable to two constructions. The nomination of Douglas is considered certain. The entire New York and part of the South Carolina delegation will vote for him.

There appears to be a better feeling between the North and South, and the Committee on the Platform are laboring for harmony.

The large vote on excluding the Wood delegation is regarded as favorable to Mr. Douglas, and no one but the extreme Southerners now dispute his nomination.

The correspondent of the N. Y. Herald says:—

The resolution about having the platform before the nomination, is against Douglas, though his friends this afternoon say the length he is ready to go with the South will surprise it. But it is too late.

The Committee on Resolutions have met, and had a very exciting debate, the Southern members insisting on having a plank in the platform to protect their rights in the Territories, and the Northern men objecting to a slave code. Here the fight has begun on which hangs the fate of the democratic party. It will probably end in a secession, and a junction with the Baltimore Convention.

A dispatch to the N. Y. Journal of Commerce says:

The feeling in several Southern States for an extended platform, and against Douglas, is very strong. Still friends of Mr. Douglas appear confident of success, but without any apparent certain reliance upon Southern votes. There is no reliable indication as to the termination.

☞ We have read a long string of contradictory speculations and dispatches from Charleston and Washington, of which we only copy one or two.

CHARLESTON, April 26.—The Committee on the Platform had an exciting meeting last night, which continued from seven o'clock to eleven.

There will be two reports to the Convention—one favoring the Southern view, to strike out from the Cincinnati Platform the doctrine of popular sovereignty, or else to interpolate the slave code.

The free States will demand the re-affirmation of the old platform, or a single resolution declaring fidelity to the Constitution and Union to be the Democratic creed.

The debate in Committee on these propositions has been intensely bitter, and it will be as much so in the Convention.

People generally are beginning to think that they made a mistake in not following the lead of Maine, and nominate first and then make a platform.

The policy adopted is damaging Douglas, as it embitters the South against his friends.

A Washington item says:—

It is proper to say that many believe that Douglas will not be heard of after the first ballot. A dispatch just received at the House of Representatives says bets are running two to one in favor of Douglas.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, April 25.

SENATE not in session.

HOUSE.—Mr. Colfax introduced, by unanimous consent, a bill providing that regular newspaper and periodical dealers may receive packages by mail at pro rata rates.

Mr. Florence briefly explained his tariff substitute. He contended that it is free from compound duties, has no minimums, and gives specifics duties for the staple products of our country, leaving for further legislation, any extension of the system.

Mr. Eliot said it would be the happiest day in his life when at a proper time and under proper surroundings, and at a proper request of the citizens of the District of Columbia, he could aid them to strike off the shackles of the slaves here. If he were to say outside the halls of Congress what he was now saying in the hall, what security would he have that he would not be put under bonds to keep the peace?

☞ Job and Card Printing, of all descriptions, neatly and promptly executed, at the Chronicle Office. Engraved Cards furnished to order, in the best styles, at the lowest rates.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.—Brunswick, Me., April 26.—On Saturday last two men took lodgings at the Tontine Hotel, in this place. On Sunday night both disappeared, taking with them no outside garments, leaving a light burning in their room, and also leaving behind them a valuable horse and buggy, together with wearing apparel and other articles of value.—Nothing has yet been seen or heard of them. Foul play is suspected.

☞ Thirty buildings were destroyed by fire in Gardiner, Me., on Wednesday night. Five saw mills, 13 dwellings, a bridge, planing mills, mechanics' shops, &c. Loss estimated at $5500.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT, EXETER. Rebecca H. Morrison vs. Hiram K. Bryant. This was an action of trover brought to recover a large amount of personal property, stock, furniture and farming utensils. Verdict for plaintiff for $154.14.

John Doe vs. Jacob K. Purington. Action for slander, charging the deft. with having unjustly and maliciously accusing the plff. of stealing some furs. Verdict for plff. for $250.

Reuben Peaslee vs. Rufus Dow, action brought to recover on a promissory note.—Verdict for plff.

J. B. Wadleigh vs. George Janvrin, action for trespass, for taking and carrying away a cider mill and lumber from plff.'s farm. The deft sold his farm to plff. and claimed that he reserved the property here named. Verdict for plff. for $50. Case Transferred.

James Derby vs. B. T. Fifield, O. Purington, C. O. Cummings—action of trespass for taking and carrying away one steam boiler. Jury remained out over night, and returned without a verdict. The Court directed a verdict for deft., subject to the decision of the S. J. Court, Law term.

The following sentences have been imposed in criminal cases:

Joseph Nickett, for fraudulently disposing of shoe stock—Three months' imprisonment in jail, fine of $30 and costs.

Polly Moore—violation of liquor law—$50 and costs.

Elias Taylor—Perjury—Two days' solitary confinement, and three years' hard labor in State Prison.

Samuel C. Lamos—Four years' hard labor in State Prison, on each of the two indictments on which he was convicted.

Levi B. Webster, appellant, upon complaint of Ezekiel E. Dustin for assault, was found guilty, and the judgment of the Justice was affirmed by a fine of $8 and costs.

No cases being ready for jury trial, the jurors were discharged on Wednesday morning. Some hours were spent in calling over the docket, several cases were disposed of, and in the afternoon the court adjourned to the second Tuesday of July, when a special term will be held in Exeter for the trial of the Bassett flowage and Farmer will cases.—Ballot.

The Chronicle, which affects to be the Temperance organ of the State—under the head "What shall we Drink?" advertises Cognac Brandy, Port Wine, Madeira Wine, Sherry Wine, and Jamaica Rum. Readers will understand, however, that these liquids are not what the editors drink, but only what they are paid for commending to their readers.—Ballot.

Won't our friends of the Ballot be so kind as to state when and where "the Chronicle affected to be the organ" of anybody or thing; and when "the editors commended" the drinking of anybody's liquors?

Our advertising colums are open to the public; and that business men far and near appreciate the facilities thereby available, is shown by a look at our paper any morning. But probably all our patrons do not endorse our ideas or opinions; and we certainly can't always agree with them. All we ask is freedom of thought and speech—and we are willing to grant the same.

SWEETENING FOR THE INTERIOR.—We noticed at the Depot of the C. & P. Railroad, two dozen hogsheads of molasses bound for Concord; and on enquiry learned that it came from Portland over the P. S. & P. Railroad, and that a like quantity had gone over the road daily for several days previous. It is said that Portland merchants can import molasses and sugar from the West Indies and sell it a price so much lower than that demanded by Boston importers, that traders in the interior can buy of them and freight it over two roads at less cost than they can otherwise obtain it. What a pity that Portsmouth, with a better harbor, plenty of vessels, and abundance of capital, should suffer the trade that legitimately belongs to her, to be thus diverted.—Ballot.

☞ A letter from Rome in the Tribune reiterates the story of Mrs. Brennan, the missing wife of Captain Brennan, being alive and in Italy. She has been seen and recognized by several individuals, and always in company with a man calling himself Powell T. Wyman. A person of this name is now First Lieutenant in the First Artillery, in which Brennan is captain.

☞ In the petition of sundry parties for the extension of State street, the exceptions to the Report of the County Commissioners laying out the highway, taken by the city of Portsmouth, were overruled, and the report accepted. Hackett for petitioners, Hatch for Portsmouth.

☞ Installed at Mason Centre, April 18th, Rev. Daniel Goodwin, over the Congregational church in that place. Sermon by Rev. Wm. Clark, Secretary N. H. M. S.; Installing Prayer by Rev. Samuel Lee, New Ipswich.

☞ The Chicago Press and Tribune says:—From present appearances there will be a decided panic among landlords to procure good tenants, and those who have them will do well to make all reasonable concession to keep them. As compared with the rates of 1857, even twenty-five per cent. is far better than to let rooms and houses stand idle

Poetry is said to be the flower of literature; prose is the corn, potatoes and meat; satire is the aqua fortis; wit is the spice and pepper; love letters are honey and sugar; letters containing remittances are the apple dumplings.

☞ The dress of Mrs. Fassett, of Winchester, N. H., caught fire from a stove last Monday, and her body was so badly burned that she died the next morning.

☞ The New Haven Palladium asserts positively that over 1100 persons voted in that city whose names were not registered. It further states that men were admitted to the polls in defiance of the law; when the challengers demanded evidence that the person was a resident, and the Board refused to ask any questions, but gave him his certificate at once. There is to be an investigation into the abuses.

A dry consolation we got from an old weather observer this morning when we spoke of the dusty times. "We shan't have any rain, to speak of, for three weeks," said he. "Why?" we asked. "If it don't rain on the new moon, it is almost impossible to get any for three weeks," said he.—Manchester Mirror.

☞ A correspondent of the Woodstock Standard says that in Mt. Holly, recently, a woman, partly intoxicated, fell down stairs with a pail of water. Her brother, who was also intoxicated, thinking she was killed, started for her husband, drove his horse a mile and a half on the wrong road, upset, and was thrown out, breaking his collar bone and dislocating his shoulder.

☞ Gen. Cass has conveyed to the city of Detroit a lot of land valued at fifteen thousand dollars, for a "Union School House."

Party men always hate a slightly differing friend more than a downright enemy.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12. Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Fort Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

WM. MARKHAM.

TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Boundbrook, N. J., says it is the best medicine for Consumption in every stage, that has ever been known.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., BOSTON, and for sale by Wm. R. Preston, David Kimball, Nathan P. Thacher, J. H. Thacher, and B. Hutchings, Portsmouth; J. P. Packer, Greenland; and dealers everywhere. spnot 4wd&w

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

GROVER & BAKER'S

Celebrated Family Sewing Machines.

FOR FAMILY USE.

From the very flattering manner in which our Machines have been received by the public, resulting in the sale of 35,000,

we are led to believe that our endeavors to manufacture a RELIABLE MACHINE have been appreciated. We take this opportunity to remark that the policy will be unchanged, and that

FAMILY SEWING.

A FEW CERTIFICATES OF THE GREAT SUCCESS —of the— Grover & Baker's Sewing Machines.

[From the wife of the Hon. Jefferson Davis]

Mrs. Jefferson Davis presents her compliments to Messrs. Grover & Baker, and takes pleasure in saying that she has used one of their box Sewing Machines for two years, and finds it still in good order—much of its beautiful stitch, and does easily any kind of work.

[From J. G. Harris, Governor of Tennessee.]

My wife has had one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing Machines for some time, and I am satisfied it is one of the best labor-saving machines that has been invented. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

[From the Rev. Jonathan Cross, Agent American Tract Society.]

My wife has been using one of your Sewing Machines for the last three months, and pronounces it faultless. She can sew more on it in one day, than in ten the old way, and without fatigue. The work is beautiful and durable.—She says she would not exchange it for any other one. It is certainly one of the greatest inventions ever made for the relief of woman-kind, and I would recommend every family to get one as soon as possible.

Baltimore, July 14, 1859.

PORTSMOUTH, April 12, 1859.

Having tested the merits of various popular Sewing Machines, in the manufacture of our Capes and Raglans, we unhesitatingly recommend the Grover & Baker, as far superior to all others. ALLEN & PAINE.

PORTSMOUTH, July 16, 1859.

If you wish to purchase a machine that will do work handsomely and expeditiously, and will not be liable to get out of repair, call on Mr. Whittemore in Daniel street, see the operation of Grover & Baker's machine, and purchase one for your family. They will never consent to part with it, after they understand its operation.

CHARLES W. BREWSTER.

"Zion's Herald," Nov. 16th, 1859, says.—"We would recommend to families and to those about to organize a homestead, to be sure and have a Family Bible, and also one of Grover & Baker's SEWING MACHINES.

SHALER'S SPIRAL BRUSHES,
A new style of FLOOR, SCRUB & WINDOW BRUSHES—very durable.

Just received, a fresh invoice of the world-renowned
OLD DOMINION COFFEE-POTS!!
of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S
PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron sypbon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

A teacher who has a vein humor in him, writes to Harper's Magazine:

"Having tried repeatedly to impress on the minds of a junior class in arithmetic the definition of a unit—a single thing—I found all my efforts were of no avail; they wouldn't remember it. 'Why,' said I, '"a single thing" is just as easy to remember as any three words I know, and just as easy to repeat.' 'I know three easier to repeat than those,' said Ben S——, a bright lad in the class. 'What are they?' said I. '"I don't know,"' said he, with a sang froid that was inimitable."

And the same teacher writes again:

"The spelling class was up. The word 'Rebutter' passed all around; none could tell the definition. At last little Joe P——, near the foot of the class, called out, 'I can tell, Sir!' 'What is it?' said I. 'It means,' said he, 'to butter on both sides.' 'How?' 'To butter on both sides. 'Re' signifies a repetition; and if you butter it again, you must certainly butter it on the other side!' I cared."

FOR STATESMEN, JUDGES, CLERGYMEN

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and gentlemen of the Press are unanimous in its praise. Such testimonials cannot be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20, 1852.

GENTLEMEN:—You Note of the 15th inst. has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefited by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative, and requesting my certificate of the fact if I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some five or six years since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form, upon it. Both of these disagreeabilities increased with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling on the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling out of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could ever be restored to its original color except by dye. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling of arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form or be felt. I very much regret the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her so it, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the adoration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald. Very Respectfully,

BENJ. A. LAVENDER.

To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, N. Y.

Stamaston, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir:—Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish to make known to the PUBLIC the effects on the hair, which are great. A man or woman may be nearly deprived of hair, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the hair will grow more beautiful than ever; at least this is my experience. Believe it all! Yours truly,

WM. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you like.—By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I see several of your certificates in the Mobile Mercury, a strong Southern paper. W. H. K.

My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

FINLEY JOHNSON.

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine,—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who made the trial, on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and wonderful powers in this matter, "what we do know," after ten years experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of every thing we utter. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the MOST EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England and has been used with never-failing success, in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tonic and energy to the whole system. It will almostinstantly relieve and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints: Do not let your own prejudices, or the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, in which the vital fluid becomes vitiated, weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease in any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, the use of the lancet, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems as if the Deity had in him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children.

Its effects commence with a deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tuberculous; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, and induces tuberculous consumption not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases, consequently a much greater number by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must remove the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active vegetable ingredients that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, TETTER, ERYSIPELAS, SCALD HEAD, ULCERATIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA, SCROFULOUS CONSUMPTION, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "purging of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are compounded that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of their operation, the invalid who has long worked down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy so simple and easy of access.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The great believer in them is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Dizziness and Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a diuner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefit on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,
LOWELL, MASS.

PRICE, $1 PER BOTTLE; SIX BOTTLES FOR $5.

All our remedies are for sale by W. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth, and by all druggists and merchants in the civilized world. dec20 6m d&w

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

DR. MOTT'S
CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON,

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with its Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

IN DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, CHLOROSIS (BLOOSIS), RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, FEMALES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have been forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very great instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, crippled with pain, AFFECTIONS of a kind are nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

Dr. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE PILLS are for all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of Iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old Oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting, and over heating; and gently, regularly aperient, acting in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinctly specific influence by dispersing the local tendency, which forms them.

IN DYSPEPSIA, innumerable are its cases, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of stomach and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent fleetic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has proved the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

IN SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liability to

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

IN RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory, in the joints, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

IN INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in these new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good digestion, complete digestion, and consequent restoration of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

Morning Chronicle.

Old Dr. H—— flourished twenty-five years ago in D—— County, in this State, and many hundreds of people yet live to tell of his witty sayings and queer doings in the absent-minded way. One bitter morning in January the Doctor led his horse to the house by the mane (he never used a halter) proposing to make the nag carry a heavy grist to the mill. The bag was in the house, and the good man ran in, shouldered the two bushels of wheat, took his horse by the mane, and walked off half a mile to mill. He didn't know that he'd carried his grist himself all the way till he got home, and found "the girls" enjoying a hearty laugh over his humanity in saving horseflesh.

THE JOHN BROWN FUND.—We have seen two West India merchants who have just arrived from Hayti. One of them, who is an accomplished and educated gentleman and a cousin of President Geffrard, informs us that when he left Port-au-Prince, two weeks ago, the contributions of coffee for the benefit of John Brown's family, amounted to about 2000 bags of 120 pounds each, and it was the general opinion that another thousand bags would be added, as everybody regarded it as a duty and privilege to contribute. As these bags are worth from $12 to $14 each, it is probable that the Republic of Hayti will add to the John Brown fund from $30,000 to $40,000.—New York Tribune.

MORE DISCLOSURES.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune says:—

"The Covode Committee has more startling disclosures of corruption in the binding contracts. Even Judge Black himself declared if certain testimony was true, the conduct of the President was infamous.—The same testimony has since been corroborated by five competent and reliable witnesses. The testimony referred to fixes upon the President the direction of the binding profits to support papers and influence elections in violation of law, the same as was done with those of the printing."

Two persons were once disputing so loudly on the subject of religion, that they awoke a big dog which had been sleeping, on the hearth before them, and he forthwith commence barking furiously. An old divine present, who had been quietly sipping his tea while the disputants were talking, gave the dog a kick, and exclaimed, "Hold your tongue, you silly brute! you know no more about it than they do."

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been
THOROUGHLY TESTED
by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them
The Best in the Market!
These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1860.

THE LEMMON CASE.

About three years ago, Mrs. Lemmon, in her passage from Virginia to Texas, chose to go by way of New York, taking with her half a dozen slaves, whom, while in the city, she confined as prisoners. One of them, named Louis Napoleon, in behalf of the rest, petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus. A writ was issued, and was returned before a judge of the Supreme Court of New York city and county, who affirmed the right of the petitioner to freedom. An appeal was taken to the general term of the court, which affirmed the decision of the judge at chambers, and the case was then taken to the Court of Appeals at Albany. There the case was argued early this winter, the State of Virginia having made an appropriation to provide counsel for Mrs. Lemmon, and retained Charles O'Connor, the ablest civil lawyer at the New York bar, to advocate the cause of slavery in the free States at that tribunal.

On behalf of Mrs. Lemmon, it was urged that the Constitution of the United States secured her, her property "ubicunque sit sub volunate," that she had a right to carry slaves or other property wherever in the Union she chose to go. In fact Judge Black's argument as to slavery in the territories was reinforced with regard to slavery in transitu in the States. This attack upon freedom (says the Atlas & Bee) has met with its deserved repulse, and the Court of Appeals has, by a majority of five to three, (Denio, Davies, Wright, Bacon and Wells, to Comstock, Selden and Clerke,) affirmed the decision of the general term of the first judicial district, and declared the relators free. The opinion of the majority was delivered by Judge Denio, and is an able, forcible and thorough resume of the whole subjects of State and Federal rights, power and authority.

The answer to the proposition that by the clause securing to citizens of one State the rights of citizens in every other, was secured the right of slave transit, of introducing into a free State a property not known to its laws, and which a citizen could not hold, is clear and thoroughly satisfactory, supported by logic, common sense and authority. This clause, it is decided, secures to the citizen of Virginia in the State of New York, the rights of a citizen of New York, not of a citizen of Virginia. The slaveholder coming to New York with slaves subjects his property therein to New York law, the lex loci attaches on arrival at the locus, and the right to hold slaves is not an immunity of a citizen of New York, and cannot therefore be exercised there by a citizen of Virginia.

Framed after the decision of the Somerset case, Judge Denio says, the constitution was made in contemplation of the rules of law laid down in that, and unless that case is controlled by some provision of the constitution, its doctrine will apply. In that case, Lord Mansfield held that a person claimed as a slave, coming from a slave community to a free one, ipse facto became free, or at least could not be adjudged otherwise by the tribunals of a free country.—The constitution made one exception to this rule in the case of fugitive slaves—it did not provide for sojourners—and this being a casus omissus, the rule in Somerset's case applies, and free soil makes free men.

CATTLE MALADY.—We have given, says the Manchester Mirror, account of the cattle malady in Massachusetts, and two weeks ago we spoke of a distemper existing in a few herds within 15 or 20 miles of Manchester, which had already resulted in the death of eight creatures; as many more have had the disease and recovered.

The distemper commenced about the first of this month. By it D. B. Willson of Manchester, lost a cow; Mr. Manning of Bedford, a heifer; a man in Hudson, a cow; Mr. Fellows of Derry, two cows and a heifer; Mr. Wheeler of Derry, a steer.

Dr. Butterfield has had charge of these cases, and thinks they are like the murrain that prevailed some 18 years ago, and also about 30 years ago.

The first symptoms are wildness, phrenzy. Upon examination after death it is found there is stoppage between the stomach and bowels; nothing is found in the bowels, and there is no blood in the arteries.

It seems to be entirely different from what is now causing so much consternation in Massachusetts, and may not spread farther.

It may be recollected that a horse distemper raged four years ago, in that section, and some parts of Massachusetts, and many horses were lost, but it never went north of Manchester, and its visit was short.

☞ The Maine Christian Advocate informs us that on a rainy Sunday, a few weeks ago, at South Berwick, Rev. Mr. Jameson baptized 56 persons in 46 minutes

Marriage has recently been defined as "a prodigal desire on the part of a young man to pay some young woman's board."

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION is making as much progress as could be expected, with the diversity of opinion and preferences for candidates that prevails. Gen. Cushing, as President, gives great satisfaction by the impartiality of his decisions. In another place, we give such details as we can accommodate. It was at first expected that the Convention would nominate and rise as early as Saturday: and our report shows how much probability there is of this. Concerning the nomination, the Newburyport Herald says:

If it be his wish of the Northern Democrats to save themselves at home, and to save their party from destruction, they will insist on the nomination of Douglas; and with him in the field, the Republicans must be up early and work smart. It would be no more than justice if they were defeated by him; for when he broke with the administration, he came as far towards them as man could safely, and they turned their backs upon him. In spite of them and the administration combined, he became Senator. If they had simply extended their hand to him, he would be a Republican Senator now, and a Republican President would have been sure.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A private dispatch from Charleston is published in the Constitution, Mr. Buchanan's organ, which says that the expectation cherished of harmony in the Convention is sadly disappointed.

Another despatch to Secretary Cobb says that Douglas cannot be nominated unless a portion of the South secede.

CHARLESTON, April 27—10 A. M.—The Committee on the Platform have got hold of a compromise, upon which they are now voting, and which they shall finally be able to adopt; and also that they can induce the Convention to do the same.

From an Extra Traveller of last evening, we learn that on Friday the most intense excitement prevailed. The Convention was engaged in discussing the reports from the Platform Committee. Mr. Clark of Mo. said although he signed the majority report, he would not vote for the third resolution, in which it is resolved that it is the duty of the federal government to protect the rights of persons and property in the Territories, or wherever its authority extends. Mr. Avery said the majority report represented 127 certain Democratic electoral votes, while the minority report does not represent one certain electoral vote; he regarded squatter sovereignty as subversive of the rights of the South as Congressional intervention.

The Traveller says—"Private dispatches say that a row of some kind may be safely calculated, and that a bolt and a second nomination, either South or North, is sure." Nous Verrons.

WHAT IS THE ISSUE?—The N. Y. Herald, commenting on the Charleston Convention, says:—

"Thus far the South has been firm and uncompromising in its course; and whatever may be the result in the Convention, the slavery issue is the one that is before the people, and on which the coming battle will be fought."

Here we have the best Democratic authority as to the question at issue.

WHY WAS IT REJECTED?—The New York Herald says of the Convention at Charleston and its action:—

"The Cincinnati platform was rejected on the ground that it had been interpreted in two senses, and this the South deems a highly objectionable feature."

Why, does not every man know that the Cincinnati platform was formed expressly for the purpose of having it interpreted in two senses, and if it had not been thus interpreted, Buchanan could never have been elected.—Atlas.

INSANE MAN AND WIFE ON A JOURNEY.—On Friday last, Barney McMahon, with his wife and two children, arrived at Buffalo from the West. The man and woman exhibited unmistakable symptoms of insanity. The man was placed in the Insane Asylum, and the woman and her two children in the Poor House. On the way out, the woman handed her husband about $3 in change, which he threw away. She afterwards handed him a razor. In the course of the night he nearly tore his throat to pieces with a piece of sheet iron, and his wife jumped out of a third story window of the Poor House in the morning.

☞ The Empress of the French is to give a grand fancy ball on the 27th, when she will appear as the goddess Diana, equipped for the chase, and her dress will be composed of a short skirt of tulle, and of a body of flesh-colored silk, liberally embroidered with diamonds. A large diamond crescent and two stars to match will sparkle on the forehead of the goddess; the feathers of her arrows will be bedropped with diamonds, as a gossamer with dew; and the pretty little pink boots, that are to give a finish to the costume, will likewise be adorned with precious gems set in anklets of gold.

☞ There is living in Massachusetts a stout old gentleman, one Capt. Solomon Hart, who is described as weighing nearly 200 pounds, a strict temperance man and a true Republican, who is the patriarchial head of a tribe of Harts, big and little, numbering 12 children, 49 grandchildren, 75 great-grandchildren, and one youngster of the fifth generation,—making a highly reputable total of 137 persons. The patriarch Solomon is still vigorous, and his age is 94.

CONGRESS.

SENATE.—No business of importance transacted. Adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.—Mr. Smith of Va. rose to a question of privilege, and read an extract from Bingham's speech, in which the latter said Maryland tolerated active efforts among her citizens for the abolition of domestic slavery, and Virginia felt and saw she must either throw off the giant wrong, or perish by reason of its continuance.

A discussion ensued between Messrs. Bingham and Smith, which on the part of the latter was conducted with asperity of language, statements of Bingham being denounced as false, and the man a deliberate calumniator.

The House went into Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Jenkins of Va. argued that the success of the Republican party would tend to a dissolution of the Union.

Mr. Washburn of Wis. replied to his colleague (Larrabee), showing that the Democratic party in his State claimed to be more radically anti slavery than the Republicans. He also denounced the fugitive slave law. Adj.

MARYLAND REPUBLICAN CONVENTION. Baltimore, April 26.—The Republican Convention met to-day, Mr. Montgomery Blair presiding. There were about thirty present.

A large crowd of spectators were in attendance, including a considerable sprinkling of roughs, who commenced a disturbance, and, led on by one Erasmus Levy, made a rush upon the members, upsetting the President's table, knocking down several Republicans, and tearing up their papers and documents.

The police interfered and made several arrests.

The Convention then adjourned till afternoon.

On retiring, the members were greeted outside by a large crowd, who followed, hooting. Mr. Gunnison, a prominent abolitionist, was pursued by an immense crowd, shouting, "There goes the man who stole a nigger!" "Lynch him!" "Hang him!"—Gunnison took refuge in the Marine Bank, whence the police escorted him to a place of safety; and the crowd dispersed.

At 2 o'clock a large crowd met in front of the hall where the Convention was to meet. The Commissioners, with a large force of police, were on hand to preserve order, but the Convention did not assemble, the owner of the house having refused to permit its longer use.

The Republicans had held a private conference and decided to hold the Convention elsewhere, and it is presumed that they are now in session, but where it is not known.

UNION CONVENTION.—The Union Convention assembled at Waterville, Me., on Thursday. The names of John J. Crittenden of Kentucky, and Francis Granger of New York, were suggested as satisfactory candidates for the Presidency. The resolutions disclaim any wish to benefit either party, denouncing their principles and candidates. They also particularly denounce the present State administration. The whole number present, including spectators, reporters and delegates, was 31.

THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPEDIA, Vol. 9, embracing from Ha to Je, is just issued. E. C. Eastman of Concord, general agent; J. H. Foster, agent in Portsmouth.

There is not a family but would find this "Popular Dictionary of General Knowledge" a profitable investment, and if one-half of the money bestowed upon sensation literature and trashy newspapers were to be invested in this publication, we should see the effects before another generation came upon the carpet. It is the want of a book of reliable reference that keeps many minds narrow and limited to a small field.

A work of this description is not intended for rapid perusal, but for reference. No one but a reviewer would pretend to pass through it, for the great variety of topics and subjects would serve to confuse the mind were its perusal attempted. Each new volume, however, will supply material for an unoccupied half hour—those half hours which Burritt, Banks and others so well improved, and which in reading the biographies of all self-made men, seem to form in the aggregate the basis of their greatness.

"DOVER SENTINEL."—A prospectus from John T. Gibbs, Esq., late publisher of the Dover Gazette, announces that he shall issue, on or about the first of May, a new paper, with the above title, "Democratic in every sense of the word," and with "the Constitution as construed by the Judiciary for its platform."

☞ The Pulpit and Rostrum, No. 18, contains Addresses on Italian Independence by Rev. Joseph P. Thompson, H. W. Bellows and H. W. Beecher, with letters on the same, from Prof. Silliman, Geo. S. Hillard, and Chas. Sumner.—H. H. Lloyd & Co. publishers, New York.

☞ The Eclectic Magazine for May is received. It contains a spirited sketch of the Life and Works of William Cowper, the poet.

☞ We have just received Parts 2 and 3 of Cassell's Popular Natural History,—also Parts 3 and 4 of Cassell's Illustrated Family Bible.

☞ Burning fluid is a mixture of alcohol and camphene, in the proportion of about four gallons of alcohol to one of camphene. Camphene is simply spirits of turpentine rediestilled.

A QUAINT INVENTORY.—Not a thousand miles from Charlestown, N. H., there lived a personage more celebrated for wit than wealth, who, upon being strongly importuned concerning his taxable effects, made out the following list and presented the same in due form to the proper authorities, which list is now to be found in the archives of the town:—

Into your list I give my poll,
With one red cow that's six years old,
With one small house and acre of land,
The soil of which is filled with sand.

Six dung-hill fowls, and one old cat
Which clears the house of every rat,
One sow-pig, and fifteen sheep
Which jump so bad I'm plagued to keep.

My loving wife, it's known full well,
She works like sin, and scolds pell mell;
Three boys, two girls, so smart you'll find
They are a comfort to my mind.

That's all I've got. I have no more
This eighteen hundred thirty-four.
To you, dear sirs, my list I bring,
And subscribe myself ELISHA FLING.

Kensington, Sept. 25, 1855.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., No. 1 School St., for his Panacea, Cough Drops, Cosmetic, Aromatic Compound and Family Pills, and other of his popular remedies, will be promptly attended to.

Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

MILTON DAGGETT, No 12, Essex Street.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Dear Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry; three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,
WM. MARKHAM.

TESTIMONY OF PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Freleigh, of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years' standing that would not yield to the usual remedies.

Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Boundbrook, N. J., says it is the best medicine for Consumption in every stage; that has ever been known.

None genuine unless signed I. BUTTS on the wrapper.

Prepared by S. W. FOWLE & CO., BOSTON. and for sale by Wm. R. Preston, David Kimball, Nathan P. Thacher, J. H. Thacher, and B. Hutchings, Portsmouth; J. F. Baker, Greenland; and dealers everywhere. apnot 4wd&w

☞ Mrs. Winslow, an experienced nurse and female physician, has a Soothing Syrup for children teething, which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation—will allay all pain, and it is sure to regulate the bowels. Depend upon it mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and relief and health to your infants. Perfectly safe in all cases. See advertisement in another column.

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. Its renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

☞ Mr. Wm. Fernald Laighton, master carpenter in the U. S. Navy, left this city on Friday morning, for New York, where he is to take passage for Cadiz via Southampton, and join the U. S. steamer San Jacinto, now lying at Cadiz. It is expected that the steamer will be ordered to the coast of Africa.

☞ Our report of the Republican State Convention, elected Wm. H. Rollins as a delegate to Chicago. It should have read E. H. Rollins (of Concord).

PECK AND HALF PECK.—The Independent Democrat says of the late Mr. Stone, of Plymouth:

That no inconsiderable portion of the money raised by him on forged securities, was devoted to the service of the "Democracy," is well known. That some of the Democratic leaders have long known of his forgeries, is generally believed. But there is no justice in charging the whole party with his offenses. Grievously hath he sinned, and grievously hath he answered for it.

NEW SECOND ADVENT PAPER.—Rev. Joshua V. Himes, the well-known preacher of the Second Advent, has commenced the publication of a new paper called Voice of the Prophets, in which these doctrines are to be expounded. The paper is to be issued quarterly, and is very neatly printed. Among the contributors are Rev. Dr. Cumming and Rev. R. C. Shimeall.

We infer from the engraved title that Elder Himes has adopted Dr. Cumming's theory of the termination of the prophetic era in 1867–8, when the millenium will commence.

Some would make the minister a student; some a visiting pastor; some a public speaker. Undoubtedly the same rule cannot be applied to all. Different modes of labor are appropriate to different men, and to different conditions of society. Still, the great idea of the Christian minister is plain. He is to be a teacher; and in order that he may teach, he must learn. His peculiar work is to quicken the community by the promulgation of exalted truth. The acquisition of this truth, and the clear, powerful expression of it, are then, his chief labors, and these imply much solitary thought.—He is to be a thinker. To this severe toil his life is to be mainly given.—Channing.

☞ A business firm in Utica, last week, is improving the front of their store, put in a couple of plate glass windows, valued at a hundred dollars each. A little girl, after making some purchases, hastily started to leave the store, and, mistaking one of the windows for an outlet, rushed against it, shivering the glass.

EXTREME ABSENCE. — Sir Isaac Newton invited a friend to dinner, and forgot all about it. The friend arrived, and found the philosopher in a fit of abstraction.—Dinner was brought up for one only. The friend, without disturbing Newton, sat down and dispatched it. Newton recovered from his reverie, looked at the empty dishes, and said, "Well, really, if it wasn't for the proof before my eyes, I could have sworn that I had not yet dined."

WATER IN KEENE.—Keene is about as smart a town as the Granite State can boast of. She is lighted by gas; and now she wants a supply of good water. It is going to cost about $30,000, and the Representatives have been instructed to use their best efforts to procure from the Legislature, the necessary act to effectuate the purpose.

A son of the Emerald Isle was told to spell hostility. "H-o-r-s-e, horse," commenced Pat. "Not horse-tility," said the teacher, "but hos-tility." "Sure," said Pat, "an' didn't ye tell me the other day not to say hoss? Be jabers, it's wan thing the wan day, and another the nixt!"

☞ As May-day is the time for moving in New York and Brooklyn, one of the ministers in the latter city has preached a sermon on "Moving as a Means of Discipline." He tried to console his hearers by the suggestion that it took the Israelites forty years to get settled.

"Bridget, bring me the castor oil—the baby is sick."

"It's all gone, marm, not a drop left."

"All gone! why, we have not opened the bottle."

"Sure you have had it every day, and I've seen you use it myself on your salad."

"Why, you don't say we have been eating castor oil every day during the salad season?"

"Sure you have."

"But did you not see that the bottle was labelled castor oil?"

"Sure and I did, marm; and didn't I put it into the castor?"

☞ News from Europe, via Queenstown, to April 15.

Rumors were current that Heenan and Sayers fought on the 14th, but they were not believed. It was supposed the event will come off on the 16th.

The insurrection at Palermo and Messina had been suppressed. At Messina the government threatened to bombard the city, and the citizens only yielded on obtaining a promise that the police—the principal cause of irritation—should be removed.

At Palermo the monks fought like lions. Several were killed, and many arrested.—The whole nation is disgusted and desperate.

Government dispatches from Sicily assert that all is tranquil, while other authorities report the insurrectionary movement as spreading.

RELIEVED FROM ANXIETY.—There are many persons who give themselves a great deal of imaginary trouble, quite as useless as that of the man who was afraid he had lost money by the failure of a bank:

"As soon as I heard of it, my heart jumped right up into my mouth. 'Now,' thinks I, 'sposin' I've got any bill on that bank? I'm gone if I have—that's a fact.'—So I put on my coat, and I started for home as fast as my legs could carry me; the fact is, I ran all the way. And when I got there, I looked keerfully and found that I hadn't got any bills on that bank, or any other.—Then I felt easier."

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.

COFFEE.

Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.

Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.

There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.

made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.

WOOD'S

PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.

A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of roasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.

It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

TWO PLATFORMS TO BE REPORTED. THE MAJORITY AND MINORITY REPORTS.

CHARLESTON, April 26.—Evening.—A great sectional excitement is raging here to-night. The Southern Cotton States are rampant, and threaten to leave the Convention in a body, and nominate Jefferson Davis for President, and Ferdinando Wood for Vice President, if the platform does not repudiate Squatter Sovereignty.

Mr. Douglas has telegraphed to his friends to accept the Cincinnati platform and the Dred Scott decision, but not go one step beyond this.

The Committee on the Platform meet again at 7 o'clock this evening, and each member of the Committee is instructed by his delegation as to how he shall act.

It is stated that Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana, Florida, and Alabama, will leave the Convention in case of a flare-up, and probably Georgia and South Carolina will follow.

To-morrow, Friday, will be an exciting day.

CHARLESTON, 1 o'clock, Friday Morning.

The majority of the Platform Committee have agreed to report the following resolutions to the Convention:—

Resolved, That the Cincinnati Platform be approved, with the following resolutions:—

Resolved, That the National Democracy of the United States hold these cardinal principles on the subject of slavery in the territories:—First, that Congress has no power to abolish slavery in the territories. Second, that the Territorial Legislature has no power to abolish slavery in the territories, nor to prohibit the introduction of slavery therein, nor to exclude slaves from the territory, nor any power to destroy or impair the right of property in slaves by any legislation whatever.

REPORT OF THE MINORITY.

The minority of the committee agreed to submit the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we, the Democracy of the Union, in Convention assembled, affirm the Democratic resolutions unanimously adopted and declared in the platform of principles laid down at Cincinnati in 1856, believing that Democratic principles are unchangeable in their nature when applied to the same subject matter; and we recommend as the only further resolutions the following:

Resolved, That all questions in regard to the rights of property, whether in States or Territories, are judicial in their character, and the Democratic party is pledged to abide by and faithfully carry out such determination on such questions as have been or may be made by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the United States Government to afford ample and complete protection to all its citizens, whether at home or abroad, and whether native or foreign born.

Resolved, That one of the necessities of the age, in a military, commercial and social point of view, is the speedy communication between the Atlantic and Pacific States; and the Democratic party pledge such constitutional and government aid as will ensure the completion of a railroad to the Pacific Coast at the earliest practicable period.

Resolved, That we favor the acquisition of Cuba on such terms as shall be honorable to ourselves and just to Spain.

The fifth resolution relates to the Personal Liberty bill nullifying the Fugitive Slave Law.

It is understood that the Kentucky delegation did not endorse the majority report, but that it was agreed to by the member of the Committee from that State.

The Tennessee and Missouri delegates will accept the resolutions of the minority report.

LATER—1½ o'clock.—The minority have just concluded their report, and arrangements have been perfected to secure its adoption by the Convention.

Merrick, of the Illinois delegation, has been speaking in front of the Mills House to a large multitude, eliciting great cheering for the Champion of the West.

HORRIBLE NEGLECT.—On Su day last a poor Irish woman far advanced in pregnancy, was admitted to Bellevue Hospital, New York City, and placed with a number of other women in the "waiting ward." She was attended by one of the resident physicians up to a late hour, when he left her for the night.

The following morning it was ascertained that she had given birth to a child and that the infant had been attacked by rats, which had eaten off its nose, upper lip and the toes and about half of the left foot.

The child was of course dead, but the mother was not aware of it, being too feeble and exhausted to give any attention to her child. She stated that she had felt the rats in bed during the night, but had not sufficient strength to drive them away.

The Covode investigating committee have drawn from ex-Governor Walker a letter written by President Buchanan in 1857, in which he urges the submission of the Constitution of Kansas to a vote of the people of the Territory. The letter contains no facts not already known to the country, and will hardly make the sensation that the Republicans desire. Everybody knows that the President and the Democratic party favored the submission of the Kansas Constitution, and also that the Republicans were alone to blame in factiously refusing to vote when they could have carried everything their own way. But we have the decided advantage of our opponents. They are welcome to Kansas, while we have their John Browns and Helpers to edify the people upon.—Newark Journal.

A Washington letter says:—"It is evident nothing has happened in the whole course of Mr. Buchanan's administration which has disturbed him so much as this revelation by Mr. Walker. He has walked the streets every morning and afternoon, stopping on the corners to talk of it indiscriminately. He denounces the treachery of Walker in betraying his confidence, in the most unmeasured terms."

BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE for April, re-published by L. Scott & Co., New York, presents the following table of contents: Wellington's career; Lady Hamilton; Our Position with China; Stabat Mater; Alison's History of Europe from 1815 to 1852; Norman Sinclair—an autobiography, Part IV; Poetic Aberrations; The Rulers of the Land; Our Worthy Friend Nap; What we have done for the Princes of India; Parliamentary Duelling. It is an excellent number.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE.—This magazine stands at the head of the cheap magazines, both for its illustrations, the ability of its articles, and moral tone. Indeed, it follows very hard upon the high priced magazines, in all these particulars.

EX-PRESIDENT PIERCE.—Washington, April 20.—Thomas M. Smith, Esq., of this city, has received a letter from ex-President Pierce, dated April 13th, at Nassau, N. P. Mrs. Pierce's appreciation of the singularly equable climate of that island is illustrated by her materially improved health. Gen. Pierce intends sailing for New York early in May, and will immediately proceed to New Hampshire.

GREAT FIRE.—Gardiner, Me., April 26.—The most destructive fire ever known on the Kennebec occurred here last night. More than thirty buildings were destroyed, including five saw mills, thirteen dwellings, a bridge, planing mills, mechanics' shops, &c. The loss amounts to $55,000.

AN OLD COUPLE BROKEN BY DEATH. Died, at Amesbury, Mass., March 30, Mrs. Lydia Merrill, aged 80 years, wife of Joseph Merrill. They were married in 1800, having sustained the position of husband and wife 57 years. Her husband survives her, aged 88 years and 10 months; and four sons, of whom Isaac Merrill, Esq., of Farmington, is the oldest.

The addition of "ah!" to a sentence in exhortation is considered by some an essential aid; but sometimes it has a very ludicrous effect—as in the case of the man who said, that though in the early part of his life he had been opposed to good, for twenty years he had been living on the Lord's side-ah!

BLOOD FOOD.

Healthy human Blood upon being ANALYZED always presents us with the same essential elements, and gives rise to the True Standard.—Analyze the Blood of a person suffering from Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Scrofula, &c., and you will find the same certain deficiencies in the red globules of Blood. Supply these deficiencies, and you are made well. The "BLOOD FOOD" is founded upon this incontrovertible fact, and its astonishing success. There are FIVE PREPARATIONS adapted to the deficiencies of the Blood in different diseases. For COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, or any affection whatever of the THROAT or LUNGS inducing CONSUMPTION, use No. 1, which is also the No. for Depression of Spirits, Loss of Appetite, and for all CHRONIC COMPLAINTS arising from OVER-USE, GENERAL DEBILITY and NERVOUS PROSTRATION. No. 2, for LIVER COMPLAINTS; No. 3, for DYSPEPSIA. Being already prepared for absorption it is taken by Drops and carried immediately into the circulation, so that what you gain you retain. The No 4 is for FEMALE IRREGULARITIES, HYSTERIA, WEAKNESSES, &c. See special directions for the use. For SALT RHEUM, SCROFULOUS, KIDNEY, and BLADDER COMPLAINTS, take No. 5. In all cases, the directions must be strictly followed. Price of the "BLOOD FOOD," $1 per bottle.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, when given in time. It is as safe as it is pleasant, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore believes by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only reliable preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING: DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WIND, COLD IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflammation, regulating the Bowels, and relieving pain, it has no—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics at which other preparations for Infantile Complaints are composed, take none but DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL; this you may rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which the child becomes stunted, weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whether be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rot of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all of the human frame, are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are tainted, their blood is impure; their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this ever-where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the eradication of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, DEBILITY, MALAGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Placed in every family for the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, or Costive Diseases, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the fame of its medicinal and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of the kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and fatal affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies that have gained notoriety have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the hand-to-hand diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the tumors, which forms them.

In DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when administered in a

COLT AND POVERTY.—Col. Sam. Colt, of Hartford, Conn., the inventor of revolving fire-arms, wants to get his patent extended, on the plea of "poverty." How this "poor man" lives, is thus described by the Chicago Press. It remains to be seen whether the Colonel's "poor dodge" will humbug the patent managers at Washington. The Press says:

"Col. Sam. Colt, of Hartford, Conn., the inventor of revolving fire-arms, lives in the most luxurious manner of any man in New England. In his grounds he has a range of glass houses more than 1800 feet in length, where, besides flowering plants and shrubs, are successfully cultivated the winter thro' the fruits of the tropics and our orchards, as well as the choicest of our summer vegetables. A friend who lately passed through them, tells of the strawberries, pineapples, nectarines, peaches, &c., which he saw ripening in plenty and perfection; and in token of the truth of his marvellous tale, he laid before our eyes a cucumber, cut at random from the vine, which measured two feet lacking an inch."

A BAD COMPLAINT.—The first physician in a certain case was discharged by his patient because he was honest enough to tell the patient he had a sore throat; and the second doctor, having some hint of the fact, answered the sick man, when questioned, that his case was highly abnormal, and had degenerated into synanche tonsilaris. "Oh, doctor," cried the patient, "do say that word again." "Why, sir, I said that you were at present laboring under synanche tonsilaris." "Why, think, doctor, that fool told me that I had nothing but a sore throat, and I told him I had no use for such a dunce. Doctor, what did you call it?" "I told you sir, in plain terms, that the morbid condition of your system was obvious, and that it had terminated in synanche tonsilaris." "Oh, doctor, it must be a monstrous bad complaint; think you can cure me, doctor?" "Now, though your diagnosis is clear, your prognosis is doubtful, yet I think, by prudent care and skilful treatment, you may recover."—"Oh, well, doctor, do stay all night, and I will pay you anything you ask."

FORTY NEEDLES IN A WOMAN'S BODY. At Wednesbury, a young woman, named Mary Ann Rogers, domestic servant at Mr. Andrew Dawes's, chemist, expired, having been somewhat unwell. An inquest resulted in a verdict of died from natural causes; but it transpired that during the past month or six weeks a great number of needles had been taken from deceased's side by Mr. Howett and Mr. Dawes. How the needles got into her system did not appear, as the woman when question, refused to tell. Upwards of forty have been extracted from her body, and this has caused considerable gossip in the town, and a great deal of speculation as to the cause of deceased's stange conduct.—Late English Paper.

☞ The Morning Herald newspaper office, in Scranton, Pa., was attacked by a dozen persons from the neighboring town of Dunmore, Wednesday night. The editor and employees were severely handled. The difficulty grew out of an expose of a gambling house in Dunmore, and the mob wanted to know the author.

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been

THOROUGHLY TESTED

by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them

The Best in the Market!

These Plows surpass NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow is drawn easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size, of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in these points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will make our business sufficiently remunerative.

MONDAY, APRIL 30, 1860.

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

CHARLESTON, April 27.—Special Dispatch to Boston Post.—Intense excitement exists. A large crowd is collected in front the Mills House, listening to disunion speeches. The crowd rushed into the rooms of the New York delegation, but were driven out by the police.

The minority, or compromise report, will be adopted by a large majority.

Five States will bolt, and nominate Davis, or Lane, and Wood.

The friends of Douglas predict his nomination to-morrow. He has twenty-three votes in the New York delegation, including Dean Richmond, Belmont, Stevens, Ludlow, Church, and the Western members.—Cochrane, Butterworth, Fowler and Barlow are against him, but the delegation votes as a unit.

The New York delegation have rejected the platform by a large majority. All but Rynders, Jewett, and a few of the freeholders, favored the minority report, for which Cochrane voted. A committee was appointed to prepare a New York platform, to be submitted as a substitute.

The Pennsylvania and New Jersey members of the Platform Committee did not sign the minority report. They are preparing a substitute.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Bayard of Del. offered another platform, which differs little from the majority report. An animated debate ensued.

Saturday, 28th.—The speech of Mr. Yancey of Alabama, in the Convention last night, surprised all those who knew little of his abilities, by its great power. At the same time the Northerners here say that the Republicans will print it and frank it all over the free States as a campaign document.

Mr. Pugh of Ohio got him into close quarters, at which quite a number of the Alabamians were apparently very much annoyed.

The South came to the conclusion that its prospects were badly damaged in the debate, and went in for an adjournment.

The scene was one of intense excitement during a portion of the debate, hundreds of persons being on the floor at the same time, and yelling hideously, "Adjourn! adjourn!" "We will not stop here to discuss any more!" "Adjourn at all hazards!" etc.

Had not the motion to adjourn been carried, there would inevitably have been trouble in the Convention. Many desired to propose amendments to the majority report, but 11 o'clock P. M. was found to be a poor time for deliberation, and the motion to adjourn prevailed.

The vote of last night is generally considered to be indicative of the defeat of Douglas, but it does not go for much, any way.

If a vote can be got at by noon to-day, it is not unlikely that the majority report may be amended and passed.

There was quite an exhibition at the Mills House last night, and one shot fired, but nobody was hurt. It was a sort of promiscuous quarrel in a crowd.

The general feeling to-day is in accordance with what advanced by several speakers, that with the Cincinnati platform a Northern State can be gained for every Southern State lost.

"Perley" of the Boston Journal says some think a platform will be so constituted that Douglas can stand upon it, and not be objectionable to either North or South; others think a split is inevitable, and that the South will put up Davis and Wood.

The Traveller still thinks Douglas will be nominated; though it is possible he may not be. And that's just what we think.

There was a rumor about town Saturday night, that the Cincinnati platform was adopted, leaving the territorial question to the Judiciary; but we could get no authority for it by telegraph, up to midnight.—We had made arrangements in Boston, to be furnished with the doings of the Convention up to the adjournment Saturday night—but found it utterly impossible to get the news over the telegraph. After the issue of the Saturday evening papers, nothing further was expected per telegraph from the South till after midnight; and though we paid for keeping an extra operator at his post in Boston several hours, and also to keep the office here open, yet our efforts availed us nothing. The operator here (though always very accommodating and obliging,) had conscientious scruples against operating on Sunday—and so couldn't wait after midnight, which the Boston operator was willing to do; and though the Portsmouth operator was ready to serve us any time after midnight of Sunday again, nobody at the Boston station would agree to this,—and we were reluctantly obliged to "give it up so." Our only resource was the Pony Express, which we should certainly have employed, had there been any certainty of procuring any decisive intelligence.

We state this matter thus particularly, not so much to complain or find fault with anybody, (though we never yet saw the time when we couldn't be hired to set up or get up at any hour to work,) as to show the difficulties attending our getting the latest news, oftentimes, when we would gladly pay double for it.

"THE IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT," that the democrats so much feared from Seward, is raging terribly in their own Convention at Charleston, and a crisis seems approaching that may try their patriotism and possibly rupture their party ties. The everlasting negro has popped his head into their conclave, and the wool flies between the squatter sovereigns of the Northwest and the fire-eaters.—Newburyport Herald.

PAYING UP THE BONDS.—A few days ago a paper in Maine, we believe the Bangor Union, stated that there was "a fatal defect in Peck's last bond to the State, which will completely release the bondsmen." Out of this statement there was some attempt to make political capital.—Now this is destroyed by a statement from the Kennebec Journal, which says:

We understand that the Commissioners appointed to settle with the sureties of the late State Treasurer, have effected an adjustment with those of the bond of 1859.—We learn that the adjustment was entirely satifactory to the Commissioners, and that their action was unanimous.

The Portland Advertiser learns that the bondsmen of 1859 have just paid and secured to the State the sum of thirty-seven thousand dollars. Mr. Dow had already paid eight thousand dollars, and the Merchants' Bank eleven hundred, making $46,600. The following sums are considered to be due: from Neal Dow $3000, J. Wyman $1675, Walter Brown $2832.30—making $7507.39. Mr. Dow has offered and stands ready to pay his $3000, if the Supreme Court determine, without litigation, that he ought to pay it; and it is understood that Messrs. Wyman and Brown are ready to pay upon the same conditions, making in the whole $54,107.39 which the State would receive from the bondsmen of 1859. This would leave less than $40,000 to be collected from the bondsmen of 1860.

☞ In the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, at Worcester, the cases of E. R. Gibbs et al. v. city of Boston, and same v. Daniel J. Coburn, Chief of Police, have been finished. The plaintiffs (Gibbs and Palmer of Clinton, Mass.,) sought to recover a reward of $1000 offered by the city, and also another of $1000 offered by the police department, for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Hodsdon, the policeman killed at East Boston, Oct. 18, 1857. They claimed to have ascertained the whereabouts of McNulty, and given such information as led to his apprehension, and produced his conviction, and that they were therefore entitled to both rewards.

The defendants denied this, and contended that the police department should not pay all theirs, and were entitled to a share of the reward offered by the city, and that other persons ought also to share in the rewards. The committee of the City Council awarded plaintiffs only $250 of the amount, the Benson boy $250, the police department $300, Eastman, the warden of the New Hampshire State Prison, $150, and Mr. Patch $50.

The plaintiffs refused to settle so, but offered to take, in compromise $1000 in all, ($500 of each party,) which was refused, unless plaintiffs would give a bond of indemnity against one of the other claimants, and they sued for the whole. Both cases were tried together and lasted four days.—The jury, after an absence of half an hour, returned a verdict for plaintiffs in each case—$1045 in one and $1042.50 in the other, being the whole amount with interest.

☞ A singular marriage took place in Cincinnati recently. A negro led to the altar a young and not bad looking white girl. The disparity in color was only equalled by the difference in ages—the bridegroom verging on threescore years and ten, while twenty summers have not yet passed over the head of the bride.

The fact that the marriage was to take place attracted a crowd large in numbers and promiscuous in character. The name of the old swain is Winston, and the girl, Mary Cain, the latter being known as the daughter of John Cain, who killed Richard Singleton years ago for her seduction.

Winston is the proprietor of an eating and drinking house of a very low order, while Mary has been a notoriously abandoned character, and a frequent inmate of the city prisons. They have been living together as man and wife for a long time, and regard each other with a fondness worthy of imitation by those marrying their own color and race.

THE POWER OF MUSIC.—A few evenings since a lady in Lexington, Michigan, was playing upon a melodeon, when a mouse emerged from a corner of the room, ran up tremblingly to the instrument, then ascended the dress of the performer into her lap, and finally nestled under her basque. The little animal was in such a high state of ecstacy that it was utterly powerless, and had the performer continued longer it would probably have expired.

☞ Rev. James E. Bruce, of Sippecan, has accepted the unanimous call of the Universalist Society of Newburyport, to become their pastor, and is to begin his ministry there on the first Sunday in May, i. e., next Sunday.

☞ Mr. Isaac Farmer, now living at a hale old age, in West Concord, N. H., has been present and voted at every annual March meeting in Concord for sixty-one years.

☞ An Irishman was found dead in East Putney, on the 12th inst. He had fallen into a brook while intoxicated.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, April 27.

SENATE not in session.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, and Mr. Carey spoke in favor of the immediate reorganization of the Agricultural Bureau. He advocated the interests of the farmers of the country, and opposed slavery extension.

A few political speeches were made, including one by Mr. Robinson of R. I., in defence of the Republican party. Adjourned till Monday.

A SLAVE CASE.—Troy, N. Y. April 27. Deputy Marshall Holmes this forenoon arrested a colored man named Charles Nalle, a fugitive from B. W. Bamsborough, Culpepper county, Va. He was brought before Commissioner Beach, identified, and remanded to his owners. Judge Gadd issued a writ of habeas corpus to bring the man before him, which was served.

A crowd of a thousand persons gathered, and took the negro forcibly from the officers carried him to the river, and rowed across. He was re-arrested by a West Troy Constable. Another crowd assembled, and rescued the fugitive, who was taken off in a carriage.

Pistols were used, but no one was seriously hurt. Negroes were most active in the affair.

Intense excitement prevails in regard to the arrest and rescue.

SOLID OIL IN THE SHAPE OF COAL. We have been favored with a small specimen of coal from the neighborhood of Cairo station, Ritchie county, Virginia, on the Northwestern Virginia Railroad, which is of a peculiar quality. It has been tested by various chemists, and has been found to be as it were, crystallized mineral oil, being without stratification, and free from any foreign substance. The tests have shown that it will yield one hundred and sixty-five gallons of crude oil to the ton. By taking a portion of the coal and laying it on a hot stove or shovel, its extraordinary quality is obvious. It melts and runs like wax.—Pittsburg Post.

The Portland Advertiser, after copying the above, remarks:—

We fear our Pennsylvania and Virginia friends are getting as much excited in natural oil beds, as we down easters once were respecting pine trees; and this story of solid oil reminds us of an occurrence in our State during the land fever.

After most of the lands had been sold over several times, other projects were started; and among them that of finding coal along the primitive formation of our sea coast in Maine. The existence of red sandstone on the river St. Croix, led some to believe that coal might be found beneath it, and hence a company was formed "down east" and the work of boring for coal commenced.

The stock was talked up by the Bulls of that day to five dollars per share: when one Monday in drawing up the boring apparatus pieces of black shale were found, similar in character to those which overlie the coal formation in Pennsylvania. This indication of coal carried up the stock to ten dollars per share, and all the neighborhood was in a great foment respecting shares in the new coal mine.

The week's work went on, but without further indications of coal. Next Monday, however, upon drawing up the auger after boring a short time, it came up filled with white bread and butter. This was a little richer than the solid oil of Virginia, above named; and although upon discovery of indications of coal, the stock went up to $10 per share, the bread and butter strata carried it down to nothing, and actually killed the Company outright.

Some wag on Sunday had first dropped into the hole the pieces of shale: and next Sunday followed it by a loaf of bread well buttered, which threw so much ridicule upon the whole project that it was abandoned.

A NEW YORK CONFIDENCE MAN IN BUFFALO.—A young Irish girl called on the editor of The Commercial yesterday morning, and related a story, which, if true, reveals a case in which a rail and feathers and a pot of tar, would seem to be righteously called into requisition. The girl, whose name is Mary Norton, states that she is a cook in the Shamrock, on Exchange street, where, among other guests, came a man to lodge who gave his name as Robert Beckett. His card represents him to be a dealer in soda, saleratus, &c., in New York. This gentleman speedily professed to be smitten with the charms of Mary, and he very soon took occasion to say that he would be extremely happy to have her leave the kitchen and become Mrs. Beckett. The result of it all was that the couple was married by Justice Waldron. Before he could take his bride to New York, Mr. Beckett had some soda water and saleratus to dispose of, which lay at the railroad office. There was a trifle of freight to pay on this, and Mrs. Beckett freely forked over $20 of her hard earned savings to accommodate her husband. Mr. B. went to the R. R. office, and undoubtedly through a mistake got carried away on the cars, as he has not been seen since.

We hope the scoundrel will be caught.—A piece of such deliberate and execrable heartlessness will surely be brought to judgment. We are inclined to say with Aunt Chloe, "if the devil don't take such a man, what in the world 's the devil good for?"—Buffalo Post.

MOUNT HOPE CEMETERY.—The city of Concord, N. H., has purchased a tract of thirty acres, for burial purposes. The city appropriates the ground for perpetual occupancy as a burial place of the dead; and it is provided that all the money coming into the hands of the committee, for sale of lots, until it amount to fifteen hundred dollars, shall be appropriated to the preparation and adornment of the grounds, and half of all the receipts ever afterwards.

☞ On Monday, April 16, Mr. Caleb F. Bartlett, of Claremont, N. H., fell from the staging erected around his house for the purpose of repairs, and was instantly killed. He leaves a wife and children.

GROSS OUTRAGE UPON A SAILOR.—Shortly after the arrival of the sloop-of-war Vincennes at Boston, from the coast of Africa, John McLaughlin, one of her crew, a gunner about fifty years old, went to board at the house of John C. McCann, in Fleet street, called "Liberty Hall." About a week afterwards, McLaughlin drew his pay, which amounted to about $600, and desiring to go to New York, went to Cann to settle his bill, before leaving the house. Cann refused to let McLaughlin leave, and he finally offered him $120 if he would let him go. Cann took the money, and McLaughlin was about to leave, when Cann forced him into an upper room in the house—and kept him in confinement there until Friday, when officer Newcomb, of the Harbor Police, learned of the affair, and at once liberated McLaughlin, and arrested Cann on a charge of robbery by force and violence. Cann was committed for examination this morning. This is but one of the many outrages that are daily perpetrated upon unsuspecting sailors, and it is to be hoped that the villainous "shark" will receive his deserts.—Advertiser.

STEAMER BURNED.—Memphis, April 27.—The steamboat A. T. Lacey, from St. Louis for New Orleans, was burned last night, at the foot of island No. 16. The passengers and officers were saved, with the exception of seven children and six of the crew, who were known to be lost. The boat and cargo are a total loss; the former was valued at $60,000; insurred $40,000; the latter was valued at $120,000; uninsurred. The books and papers of the boat were lost.

SLAVE CASE TRIAL.—Norfolk, Va., Apr. 27. In the United States District Court, yesterday, Capt. Bradley and mate, of the British schooner Alice Rogers, were tried for attempting to sell a free negro.—The jury were unable to agree. The vessel has been forfeited, and the cargo released to the owners.

Hundreds of testimonials on hand might be added, evincing the many cures by Dr. Swett's medicine. All orders directed to DR. SIMEON SWETT, POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Piles.

All diseases of atony or loss of tone in the bowels, such as Piles, Prolapsus Uteri, Fistula, &c., are benefitted by the PERUVIAN SYRUP. It purifies the products of digestion, favors the healthy action of the intestines, and prevents the accumulation of refuse matters, and the costiveness which are the cause of so many of these weakening diseases.

BOSTON, Sept. 8, 1858.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. In January last I commenced taking the "Peruvian Syrup," and after taking three bottles of it I became perfectly cured of the dyspepsia and piles, and my general health is now all that I can desire it to be.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

This preparation is a certain cure for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Incipient Consumption, &c. In confirmation of the highest medical authority that "Consumption can be cured," numerous instances of complete restoration from this disease by the use of the Balsam can be given.

The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. We have searched London for it in vain.

Believe me yours, truly,

The wide reputation which Dr. J. Hostetter's "Stomach Bitters" have attained during the past year, bespeaks its excellence in a more forcible manner than we can offer. It renovates, purifies, and strengthens the system, and aids the stomach in the performance of its functions. It is regarded on all sides as a sovereign specific, and therefore, to procure it in the best possible way, should be the object of the public. We commend it with more than usual zeal and confidence, believing and knowing, as we do, that it stands foremost among the many preparations of the day, for imparting strength, vigor and tone to the system, and possessing the curative powers for all similar diseases arising from a disordered stomach. In the most severe cases of cramps, diarrhœa and weakness in the stomach, the "Bitters" have been rigidly tested, and always with the greatest success.

☞ The finding of the dead body of the unfortunate young man, Boardman Rand, at South Berwick, a few days since, created considerable excitement. Mr. Ebenezer Wadleigh was at work building fence, and went into the bushes for some stakes, when he came in contact with the body, which lay very near the spot where a murdered man was found a few years since. Several persons had passed within a few rods of the place where he lay, within the time he had probably lain there. An examination of the body immediately took place under the direction of coroner E. F. Nealley, who returned a verdict of death from a fit, as he was subject to them; and without doubt it was the cause of his death.

☞ The Portland papers say, "So clear was the atmosphere at Portland on Thursday morning, that the steamer North American was seen from the Observatory at a distance of thirty-five miles." A view we enjoyed from the hill on South Road, Thursday afternoon, shew distant objects more distinctly than we ever noticed them before; while the waters of the harbor and ocean beyond, were more "deeply, darkly, beautifully blue" than ever we saw them colored before, either in nature or art. In fact, should any artist save He who holds the seas in the hollow of his hand, dye his ocean so brightly, he would be criticized rather severely.

FOURTH OF JULY.—Messrs. Editors:—Your correspondent "H." of last week's issue, writes in favor of having a celebration of the coming 4th of July. I, for another patriot, coincide with him in his views expressed on that subject. A little money expended by our City Fathers and subscribed by our citizens, would on that day be returned in ten-fold ratio. There was never a celebration gotten up here but that the city has been benefitted by it. On an occasion of this kind many people from our neighboring towns and cities visit us, who would not be induced so to do by any other call. All of them leave a portion of money here. And many are induced to trade, and afterward remain permanent customers. We know of quite a number of public spirited young ladies and gents who are ready to take hold of the work, and carry it out in good style, provided the city will assist by appropriating $500. We trust the bill will be passed by both Boards, and that we shall have a grand gala day on the 4th of July. E. F.

MAY-DAY.—We notice that the schools in several cities will have a holiday on Tuesday next, that being the 1st of May.—How about Portsmouth?

THE GREAT PRIZE FIGHT.

The steamer Vanderbilt, which arrived at New York, Saturday, brings particulars of the Heenan vs. Sayers ring contest. As the news comes to Boston by instalments over the telegraph, it is rather confused; enough is known to show that the Benicia Boy "stood the racket" better than was expected by many; and though neither can be called victor, yet not to be defeated by Tom Sayers, is no little glory, such as it is.

The fight took place early on the morning of the 17th inst., at Farnborough, near Aldershott, and lasted two hours and six minutes.

In the first dozen rounds Sayers was knocked completely off his legs. Tom's arms, owing to the severe fighting, suffered much.

Thirty-seven rounds were fought, when the people rushed into the ring, and Sayers' referee was crowded out. The pugilists were then ordered to desist from fighting by the referee.

Both men went to grass on the last round. Sayers fell almost every round. Heenan's eyes were quite blocked up towards the last, and at the last round he was quite blind.—He showed some splendid fighting through the contest. He shows much more punishment than Sayers.

Tom drew the first blood, on the tenth round. Heenan completely lifted Tom from the ground and threw him heavily with the greatest ease.

The eighth round lasted twenty minutes, ending in Sayers going down. Seventh round lasted 13 minutes.

Wonderful skill was displayed on both sides, but Tom was easily knocked off his pins. It is not known whether they will fight again or not. The fight was decided to be a drawn one.

Although the referee sent orders for a cessation of hostilities, five more rounds were fought, with equal advantage. The ring was half full of people. The final round was a mere scramble.

After they were ordered to desist, Heenan rushed away from the ring with the activity of a deer, but had to pull up in consequence of being totally blind.

The fight was decided to be a "drawn" game. Opinion was divided as to which was "the best man." It was not known whether they would fight again.

BAD NEWS FOR SOME BETTERS ON HEENAN.—It having been understood hereabouts that Heenan is of Irish parentage, quite a number of the "foreign element" have bet their pile upon him; but it turns out that Tom Sayers is a born Irishman, born in the parish of Dingle, county of Kerry, Ireland.—Exchange.

POLITICAL REJOICINGS.—New York, April 27.—500 guns were fired from the Battery this afternoon, in honor of the adoption of the Tammany delegation to Charleston.

THE PECULIAR INSTITUTION.—The Charleston correspondent of the New York Herald says that an interesting episode in the serenade of the Gilmore Band, in that city, was the suppression, by order of the police authorities, of the drums,—bass and tenor,—it being against the law to have such music in the streets of Charleston after ten o'clock. The roll of the drum is to be the signal to arms in case of a servile insurrection at night. What a sensation the drum corps would create in Charleston at midnight!

☞ The Dover Gazette says, a few days since, a two-horse team attached to a large wagon took fright in that city and ran over an ox team, badly injuring a valuable ox;—thence they ran astride a lamp-post, which completely separated the horses, and relieved one of them of every shred of harness except the collar, breaking the lamp-post in twain, smashing the lamp, glass screens, &c., to atoms, and tearing up a stone post near by. This "brought up" the animals in short order. The owner had left the horses unhitched, with blinders off, baiting by the side of the street,—the most supreme carelessness.

FIRE IN PORTLAND.—On Thursday night, about half past ten o'clock, a fire broke out in a shed near the old unused Methodist church on Chestnut street, which destroyed the church and parsonage in the rear.

of which so many thousands have been sold during the past year.
COFFEE.
Boiled coffee, it is well known, is superior to coffee made after the French fashion, by straining; but, when boiled in an ordinary coffee pot, the fine aroma goes off with the vapor, leaving the infusion flat or bitter, hence a resort by many housekeepers to the French biggin.
Several attempts have been made to construct a coffee pot that would accomplish this desirable object, but, until the "Old Dominion Coffee Pot" appeared, none was found entirely adapted to the purpose. It is simple in construction, easily used, and will always give good coffee at one fourth less cost than by the old modes of boiling.
There is in coffee both an aromatic and a bitter principle. In boiling, the aromatic (which is very volatile) escapes if the boiler is open, and the bitter remains. The excellence of coffee depends on the amount of aroma retained in boiling; but all know that this delicious fragrance of the berry is allowed to pervade the whole house for half-an-hour or so before breakfast, during the boiling process, and that, in too many cases, the flavor of the coffee is so impaired, that little or no enjoyment is found in the drinking. Coffee thus deprived of its aroma, is neither so pleasant nor so healthy as a beverage.
made upon the same principle as the Coffee-pots.
WOOD'S
PATENT COFFEE-ROASTER.
A great loss of the aroma of the coffee berry is suffered by the common method of wasting it in an open pan. This is entirely obviated by the use of the Patent Roaster.
It is a simple, hollow iron syphon, or globe, intended to be placed over the fire in a stove or range, and so constructed as to be easily turned during the process of burning—so that every particle of coffee is equally roasted, and in this manner retains much more of its strength, than if burned in the ordinary way. No family that uses Coffee should be without a Coffee Roaster and an Old Dominion Coffee Pot.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

Mr. Editor:—In Presidential campaigns there is ordinarily a tendency to slacken efforts in the support of the high and heaven approved cause of temperance; but in this State, the passing season, I trust it will not be so. An early movement has been made in Rockingham County, which promises much good, and I trust the influence of it will be felt, for good, all over the State. The opening meeting was held in the town of Raymond, on the 19th inst. and after a very interesting discussion and the transaction of more or less business, the convention adjourned to meet again in Raymond, Thursday, the 3d day of next month, at 1 o'clk P. M. to hear the report of a committee appointed to recommend to the Convention, a good County Committee of Five, to be known as the Prosecuting Committee, and to transact any other business that may properly come before the convention for its approval.

The plan under consideration is one to secure a fair, honest and impartial enforcement of the law for the suppression of intemperance, in all parts of the county of Rockingham. The committee above alluded to as the Prosecuting Committee, will have little or nothing to do, if there be no reckless men who are law-breakers; and if there are such in the county, it is time they were required "to cease doing evil and were made to do well."

The town Committees will have but little duty to perform, saving the appointment of "Vigilance Committee,"—and the last named committees, in the various towns, will easily furnish the means of closing up the unlawful selling of intoxicating liquors in their respective towns; and when this shall have been generally accomplished, all over the county, crimes, imprisonment, pauperism, litigation, and high taxes will rapidly decline. As matters now are, if a single town rids itself of the evil which is really the cause of most of the tears and sobs and sighs that escape from the eyes and hearts of weeping mothers, wives, sisters and daughters, some neighboring town, where there are but few brave temperance men, will furnish the means of ruin and early death to the erring ones whose residence is in the redeemed towns.—Raymond, Brentwood and other towns suffer from the Kingstons, the Eppings and the Newmarkets, and greatly will the towns, where liquor selling is not tolerated, rejoice when all the towns around them shall be free from the crime of crimes—the parent of all vices.

I trust, Mr. Editor, Portsmouth and the towns around your city, will be well represented at Raymond, on the 3d proximo, and that great good will result to all parts of Rockingham county from the important movement there and then to be considered. Let the Ladies be there in great numbers; for they have a deep interest in this matter, and they can do very much to aid it onward. A. B. C.

From the N. H. Gazette.

AWAKENING.—The "friends of temperance" in Rockingham County, having been stirred up by Col. D. S. Palmer, of Concord, the great apostle of prosecution, held a Convention at Raymond, on the 19th inst., for the purpose of devising some plan for the execution of the liquor law of New Hampshire, and passed a comprehensive resolution, which if carried out to its full extent, will make some work for the Courts, and a large addition to the county tax. The resolution provides in substance that there should be a County Prosecuting Committee of five; and town committees, consisting of five in Portsmouth and three in each of the other towns, to be chosen by friends of temperance in each town; and vigilance committees (spies) in each town, of at least ten nor more than twenty-five, to be appointed by the town committees; the vigilance committee (spies) to furnish facts and evidence to the town committees; and the town committees to keep the county committee well posted in all matters said committee should understand.

It will probably not be difficult to find persons enough in each town who are more fond of watching their neighbors than attending to their own affairs to make up the spy committees recomended.

CONCORD OUT OF THE UNION.—Mr. Davis, the Postmaster at Concord, Mass., has been subjected to the loss of his barn, with hay, machinery, tools and wagons, by the act of an incendiary. The Concord fanatics esteem it a sufficient justification for the act that Mr. Davis was suspected of informing the United States officers where Sanborn was to be found. So that in Concord, to be suspected of a disposition to obey the laws of the United States is sufficient ground for burning up a man's property—why not for hanging him? It is evident that Concord, Mass., is not in the United States, because the wonderful Sanborn lives there. Why not let Concord step out of the Union if she wants to, and let her go without a post office and everything else she borrows from the United States?—Boston Post.

☞ Thomas Jefferson once said, that "the old federalists would at some future day attempt to get into power by stealing the name of republican." The fulfillment of the prophecy has been reserved for our day and generation.

From the Journal.

PRISONERS' LIBRARY.—The Portsmouth Young Men's Temperance Society, having dissolved its organization, has presented its library of about one hundred volumes to the county jail in this city for the benefit of the prisoners. The bestowment has been made very judiciously, and will form a basis for further contributions of such books as may profitably employ the idle hours of the prisoners in enlightening their mind and correcting their morals.

PERSONAL.—Frederick Douglas having been refused a passport to enable him to visit Paris, by Mr. Dallas, the American Minister at London, on the ground that the United States do not recognize persons of color as citizens, the required permission was furnished by the French Consul at Newcastle.

John Randolph's slave bore the passport of an "American citizen," from the Department of State at Washington. Douglas has the right to vote in New England, and yet is not allowed to be a citizen!

A block of silver ore, estimated to weigh five hundred pounds, has been taken out solid from a new mine discovered by the Stone surveying party, as a contribution to the Washington Monument, Mr. White the sutler at Fort Buchanan, having generously offered to defray the entire cost of transportation.

MOTHERS,

Thousands are daily speaking in the praise of DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, and why? Because it never fails to afford instantaneous relief, where it is used. It is no humbug, nor magic, and one trial alone will convince you that what we say is true. It contains NO PAREGORIC OR OPIATE of any kind, and therefore relieves by removing the sufferings of your child, instead of by deadening the sensibilities. For this reason, it commends itself as the only safe preparation now known for CHILDREN TEETHING, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, WORMS, CRIES IN THE HEAD, and CROUP; also, for Softening the Gums, reducing Inflamation, regulating the Bowels, and sweetening the breath, it has no equal—being an anti-spasmodic, it is used with unfailing success in all cases of Convulsions or other Fits. As you value the life and health of your children, and wish to save them from those sad and blighting consequences which are certain to result from the use of narcotics of which other remedies for Infantile Complaints are composed, use the best DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL, this you can rely upon. It is perfectly harmless, and cannot injure the most delicate infant.

Full directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cents. Prepared only by

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated weak and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the rod of him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt poisonous matter, which lays in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which renders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimades the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous;—their persons are invaded by this hurtling infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded on truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. This particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate the vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or resist them. Their penetrating properties search and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting the disease action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or oppressed by sickness, SUFFERING to find his health or energy restored, by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only are they the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratuitously, Almanacs, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gravel, Scurvy and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a dinner Pill, and for Purifying the blood.

COUGHS, COLDS, INFLUENZA, HOARSENESS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So widely is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that prevalent to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE
PILLS OF IRON.

An aperient and Stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Functions in all maladies in which it has been tried—it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

IN DEBILITY, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS, EMACIATIONS, CONSTIPATION, DIARRHŒA, DYSPEPSIA, DYSENTERY, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, SALT RHEUM, MISMENSTRUATION, WHITES, CHLOROSIS, RHEUMATISM, INTERMITTENT FEVERS, PIMPLES ON THE FACE, &c.

In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute disease or of the combined diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested by female authors of public notoriety of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic symptoms so fatal to all exercise for which the physician has no name.

In NERVOUS AFFECTIONS of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably efficacious and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which predisposes to them.

IN DYSPEPSIA, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked DIARRHŒA, even when advanced to DYSENTERY, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in so very surprising and astonishing instances.

IN SCROFULOUS TUBERCULOSIS, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

IN RHEUMATISM, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well tried, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

IN INTERMITTENT FEVERS it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole materia medica, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects.—Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

RACE WITH A BULL.—Some forty years ago the managers of a race course near Brownsville, on the Monongahela, published notice of a race, one mile heats, on a particular day, for a purse of $100, "free for anything with four legs and hair on."—

A man in the neighborhood, Hays, had a bull that he was in the habit of riding to mill with his bag of corn, and he determined to enter him for the race. He said nothing about it to any one, but he rode around the track a number of times, on several moonlight nights, until the bull had the hang of the ground pretty well, and would keep the right course. He rode with spurs, which the bull considered particularly disagreeable; so much so that he always bellowed when they were applied to his sides.

On the morning of the race, Hays came upon the ground on horseback—on his bull. Instead of a saddle, he had dried an ox-hide, the head part of which with the horns still on, he had placed on the bull's rump. He carried a short tarn in his hand. He rode to the judges' stand, and offered to enter his bull for the race; but the owners of the horses that were entered objected. Hays appealed to the terms of notice; insisting that his bull had "four legs and hair on," and that therefore he had a right to enter him. After a good deal of swearing, the judges declared themselves compelled to decide that the bull had a right to run; and he entered accordingly.

When the time for starting arrived, the bull and horses took their places. The horse-racers were out of humor at being bothered with the bull, and at the burlesque they supposed was intended,—but thought it would be over soon as the horses started.

When the signal was given, they did start. Hays gave a blast with his horn and sunk his spurs into the sides of the bull, who bounded off with a terrible bawl, at no trifling speed, the dried ox-hide flapping up and down, and rattling at every jump, making a combination of noises, that had never been heard on a race-course before. The horses flew off the track, every one seeming to be seized with a sudden determination to take the shortest cut to get out of the Redstone country, and none of them could be brought back in time to save their distance. The purse was given to Hays.

A general row ensued; but the fun of the thing put the crowd all on the side of the bull. The horsemen contended that they were swindled out of the purse, and if it had not been for Hays' horn and ox-hide, which he ought not to have been permitted to bring upon the ground, the thing would not have turned out as it did.

Upon this, Hays told them that his bull could beat any of their horses anyhow, and if they would put up $100 against the purse he had won, he would take off the ox-hide, and leave his tin horn, and run a fair race with them. His offer was accepted, and the money staked.

They again took their places at the starting post, and the signal was given. Hays gave the bull another touch with his spur, and the bull gave a tremendous bellow.—The horses remembering the dreadful sound, thought all the rest was coming as before. Away they went again, in spite of all the exertions of their riders, while Hays galloped his bull around the track again, and won the money.

CLIPPER PLOWS

Are manufactured only by the subscribers, the inventors, who offer them to the agricultural interest after they have been

THOROUGHLY TESTED

by experienced Plowmen, who pronounce them

The Best in the Market!

These Plows embrace NINE DIFFERENT SIZES, the largest of which is much in advance of anything in the United States, as regards size, and, like the other sizes of this celebrated Plow, is draft, easily by a team much smaller than is absolutely requisite to draw a Plow of less size of any other make than the Clipper.

We also assure our Farming friends that as we have hitherto endeavored to make our Plows superior to all others in those points which especially interest Plowmen, we are still endeavoring by unceasing exertions, to improve—if this be possible—upon our former successes, although those who are best acquainted in these matters say, "It cannot be done."

Notwithstanding the immense advantages which these Plows possess over all others, we offer them at THE SAME PRICES as are charged for common grades, satisfied that their great superiority will induce so large a sale, that our aggregate profits will yet make our business sufficiently remunerative.

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.

After a whole week, the Democratic Convention at Charleston arrived at the point of the decisive vote upon the platform, to be taken Monday morning. On Saturday, after an exciting morning session of four hours, the platform first reported by the committee, with pending propositions of amendment, was recommitted by a vote of 152 to 151.

No instructions were given to the committee, and the majority thereof reported back the platform at half-past five, but slightly modified, namely, re-affirming the Cincinnati platform, with the "explanation" that any citizen may migrate into a territory with slaves, which are property, and no legislation by Congress or the territorial legislature can interfere with his rights of property; that Congress ought to protect the rights of property belonging to citizens in the territories; and that the sovereignty of the people of a territory begins when they form a State constitution, with an adequate population; and being consummated by their admission into the Union, they stand on an equal footing with the people of the other States; and that a State thus organized ought to be admitted into the Union, whether its constitution prohibits or permits slavery.

In this shape, scarcely anything but the name is retained of the doctrine of "popular sovereignty," upon which the Democrats came into power four years ago, and which Douglas still maintains, or has till lately;—nor is there any trace of that "non-intervention" which it was pretended in 1854 had been so far enacted in 1850 as to destroy the Missouri Compromise of 1820, for it is now boldly declared that Congress ought to legislate to protect property (i. e., slaves inclusive,) in the territories.

Two minority reports were submitted.—The previous question was ordered, and the decisive vote was to be taken Monday morning.

The majority and minority platforms agree in promising protection to naturalized citizens, aid for the Pacific Railroad, denouncing State legislation unfriendly to the fugitive slave law, and favoring the speedy acquisition of Cuba.

A Charleston dispatch of Saturday night says:

Before the adjournment it was agreed that a vote would be taken on the majority platform on Monday, at 10 o'clock. It is almost certain to be rejected, and it is also certain that a secession of from five to nine Southern delegations will take place.

In the Committee there was a row, and Mr. Baker, Collector of Philadelphia, struck Mr. Wright of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Committee.

The most bitter feeling and the most intense excitement prevails.

Cobb and Iverson have telegraphed from Washington to the Georgia delegates, to secede unless the majority resolutions are carried. The Kentucky delegation will, it is said, also secede. Every hour the secession movement gains strength.

Mr. Burrows of Ark. dared the Northern men to reject the majority resolutions. He said the South would consider it a breach of the constitutional compact, if resolutions, adopted by a majority of a committee of one from each State, should be overridden by superior numbers of Northern men.

A special dispatch on Sunday to the Boston Herald says:

The course of business in the Convention Saturday weakened the opposition, and added corresponding strength to Douglas.

The declaration of the vote in the Convention, sustaining Bigler's motion to recommit the several platform reports, encouraged the opposition and for a moment depressed the adherents of Douglas; but the amended majority report, being more obnoxious to Northern sentiment than the original, cuts off all chance of its adoption.

The first vote of Saturday indicates that Douglas will have a majority on the first ballot, which his opponents have been unwilling to concede before.

The friends and supporters of the "Little Giant" held a meeting Saturday night, and agreed to the Butler amendment as the minority report, which also re-affirms the Cincinnati platform, and contains planks which will command support for the nominee in and out of the Convention.

The first business in order in the Convention on Monday was the vote on the main question, involving a direct vote on Butler's amendment without discussion.

After the adoption of a platform, the Convention will vote directly for a Presidential candidate.

The threats of the South to bolt if the slave code is defeated, have subsided since they have taken the sensible view that their withdrawal would not injure Douglas.

A dispatch from Charleston of Monday morning says the friends of Douglas will begin the contest in great confidence of his nomination on the third ballot. The friends of Dickinson are equally confident, as it is believed that the South will rally on him.

A special dispatch to the Boston Journal says the state of affairs in Charleston on Sunday night was anything but agreeable or creditable. The delegates were ill-natured and exasperated, and there was any amount of drunkenness, while many men were quarrelsome. In one case a pistol was drawn, but a strong arm and determined look on the other side sent it speedily back.

The efforts of the fire-eaters to induce the Southerners to bolt are very strenuous.

A Charleston despatch received in Washington says a bolt of eight Southern States was considered inevitable; that Senator Toombs has telegraphed to Charleston, advising it, and that Fernando Wood recommended it; that this is designedly done to throw the election into the House, where it is believed a union of the Democracy can be made to defeat Seward, whom they declare they would rather see put up against them than other man.

THE LATEST.

An extra Traveller states that a vote was taken and the Butler platform was rejected by a vote of nearly two-thirds against him, —105 to 198.

The Convention adopted the Douglas (minority) platform, by the following vote: yeas 165, nays 138.

THE PRIZE FIGHT.

The details of the great Heenan and Sayers contest in England, which have come to hand from the competent and impartial pen of Mr. Geo. Wilkes, of Wilkes' Spirit, who was on the spot—tell quite a different story from the telegraphic summary—as we supposed might be the case.—They fought 42 rounds, and Sayers was really whipped; though whether Heenan will receive the stakes and belt, remains to be seen. Mr. Wilkes says:

In the 38th round, it was now plain, from the noise around Sayers' corner, that it was the determination of his party to bring the fight to such a close as would save Sayers the belt; but still Heenan kept to his work, and though the ring was on the point of being broken in, he went up to Sayers, and fought as manfully and as desperately as at first. Sayers was completely at his mercy. Left to himself, Sayers must have sunk helpless to the earth, incapable to respond again to time: whereupon, finding a desperate crisis had arrived, the adherents of the Champion actually took hold of Heenan's arms, and while they kicked and struck him, dragged the beaten Champion from his hold.

Round 39—The confusion was now so great that no appeals could possibly be heard, and the ring being broken in by the friends of Sayers, at the same moment, the Referee very improperly got up and retired. Heenan, however, apprehending some new artifice to prevent him from obtaining the belt he had so fairly won, remained in the ring, and when time was called, went after Sayers again through the centre of the crowd that now swarmed within the inner rope of the arena. Sayers was pushed up towards him, but he easily hit him down or pursued him to the corner among his seconds, as a man would drive a boy.

In the 40th round this dishonorable treatment was repeated.—Sayers neither time being brought up until Heenan presented himself before him, and demanded that he should come out and fight. Finally when he went up for the last time for Round 42—Finding that though Sayers could not, or would not, rise from his seat in the corner, yet his seconds refused to award him the victory that belonged to him, by throwing up the sponge, he advanced upon him in the midst of his seconds, and struck him where he sat. Being struck in return by some one else in that corner, Heenan turned upon that other party, and in his just indignation at the outrageous manner in which the object of his ambition had been dishonorably wrested from him, he opened a free fight against them all. His friends, however, interfered, and carried him back to his corner, from whence, after declaring himself to be the winner of the fight, and the true owner of the belt and title of the Champion of England, he left the ring. Fair minded and honorable Englishmen will decide whether these rights, so dearly and bravely won, shall not be given to him because he is a stranger to their soil.

In order to understand the case, it should be known that in England there is a "Pugilsits' Benevolent Association." They provided what is termed the Champion's Belt, which cost £100, and is made of solid silver. It was got up by subscription, and was given to the present Champion of England, Tom Sayers, on condition that he should fight all comers within six months of the time of winning each battle, or failing to do so, must forfeit all claim to the Championship of England; and after holding the belt three years, it becomes his property, to do what he likes with it. Tom Sayers took it June 22, 1857; so it will be his next June, if he keeps it. But Sayers having flogged all England, John Heenan went over to try to take the belt from Sayers, and it seems has fairly won it. Sayers is a much smaller man than Heenan—probably 40 or 50 pounds lighter—and it seems was overmatched. Sayers has whipped several men as large as Heenan, but he is growing "old," being 35 or so. No wonder his friends are loth for the gallant little fellow to lose the hard-earned prize almost within his grasp; but their much-boasted fairness and impartiality ought not to be lost sight of now.

By the arrival of the Bohemian at Quebec, bringing dates to the 19th, we learn that the rumor that Sayers would have been defeated had the fight been allowed to go on, is contradicted by the London Times, on the authority of the referee, who states that they closed the fight in compliance with the wishes of the Americans, who claimed that when the ring was broken into, the fight should cease; and in spite of the wishes of Sayers' supporters, who were confident of his winning in a few minutes more. No other bostile meeting will take place between the two men; the supporters of each consent that the late contest be considered a drawn battle.

NEW ORLEANS CORRESPONDENT.

NEW ORLEANS, April 23.

It came at last; though the people did think,—and not without reason, when for the first half of the month on each successive day, they inhaled dust enough to make a clay monument—that the long-cherished idea of "April showers" was a great mistake; it came at last; the flood-gates of heaven were opened, and the rain fell.—The dust was laid, the foliage of the trees was cleansed from its russet coat; the chestnut roasters and orange peddlers, the organ grinders and street beggars, all disappeared from the public thoroughfares; theatrical managers looked askance at the moist state of the weather; while house-keepers with large cisterns, and cab-drivers, rejoiced,—the one that there was now a prospect of drinkable water, the other in anticipation of a "fare." But the rain ceased not until it had filled the streets, overflown the banquettes, and in some instances risen into the dwellings. The fair fame of April was vindicated by the shower of last Tuesday.

Though New Orleans markets afford a supply of vegetables four or five months in advance of the North, don't, I pray you, flatter yourself they are intended for that class of criminals yclept "poor people."—By no means; cauliflower at $1.50 per head; potatoes, as large as a hen's egg, five cents each—that's about $10 per bushel, I should judge; and in a like manner to the end of the chapter.

The Mississippi river, at this point, is very low, and the steamship landings have been extended far out, to enable the steamships to land their passengers and freight. Besides being low, the water is very muddy, so that those persons whose supply of water in cisterns failed were obliged to use the "Cincinnati filter"—a cane-seated chair.—The renissness of contractors and health-committees the world over, pervaded even this model city, and some public-spirited individual, incensed thereat, has placed a large sign at one of the landings, with this inscription: "Nuisance Wharf No. 2; 22 carcasses on exhibition.—No charge for smelling!"

The cause of temperance, I am afraid, does not flourish in New Orleans; for although there are several divisions of Sons of Temperance in existence, if there ever was more liquor drank here than at present, why, the people must have eschewed water as a beverage altogether. The terms "grocery" and "groggery" are synonyms in the Southern vernacular. The last apostle of temperance (?) who visited us was Charles Heidsieck, of champagne notoriety, who was here last week.

There is a little romance, told in a few words, in this advertisement:

Will be sold at public auction, WEDNESDAY, April 25, 1860, THIRTY FOUR LIKELY YOUNG SLAVES from the Golden Grove Sugar Plantation, by Shepherd & Hook.

These slaves are sold for no other cause than that they left the Plantation and came to the city, to establish their freedom, which they had been made believe had been given them at the death of their former master. They are with but two or three exceptions, as good subjects and as valuable slaves as are to be found on any plantation, and they offer an opportunity rarely to be met, for Sugar Planters to purchase young and likely slaves, accustomed to the culture of the Sugar Cane.

This plantation is 40 or 50 miles above the city, and the slaves came on foot thro' the woods and swamps, arriving here in an almost starved condition.

This one is not so romantic, but shows that "riches have wings." The diamonds, I think, are valued at $7000.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.—Ran away from the residence of Gen. W. R. Miles in this city, on Tuesday evening, the 27th March, a bright mulatto slave woman, named LOUISA. She is about 30 years of age, small in stature and delicate in appearance. Said slave stole and took with her a large amount of valuable diamonds, consisting of a Necklace and Bracelet and Cross, and all her clothing. The above reward will be paid for the apprehension and delivery of the girl and recovery of the jewelry.

A strong feeling exists here in regard to the match for the "world's championship," and the telegraphic announcement, on Saturday, that the Benicia Boy had been arrested in England, was a damper to our hatters, who anticipated an avalanche of orders on the result of the fight being made known.

Several of those devices to entrap the unwary, called "fairs," (I know not why, unless in sarcasm, for there is nothing fair about them—I beg the ladies' pardon: they are excepted,) have recently been inflicted upon the public.

To-night begins a short season of the Italian Opera, by the Parodi Troupe of forty artists, at the Amphitheatre. They are to produce Ernani, La Traviata, Norma, Lucia di Lammermoor, La Somnambula, Il Trovatore and Don Giovanni, in the seven nights of their stay; and where erst the clown in the ring and the "Bones" of the minstrels aired their vapid nonsense, music of the highest grade will be enthroned, and the change in the audience will be fully as perceptible.

The ship New Hampshire, which arrived here on Thursday last, after a good voyage from Liverpool, lost her bow-sprit when off the Hole-in-the-Wall, it having been snapped short off by a sudden squall.

The summer begins has commenced, but its effects are not visible as yet upon the streets. Freights are dull and not much offering. Business is slacking at the Levee, though up-river boats have good freights. The weather is warm, and no hopes of its being cooler are entertained. Mosquitoes are presenting their bills, which must be settled, or they will have blood. IOX.

THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND AND THE QUEEN OF SONG.—Louisa Pyne has something of a personal resemblance to Queen Victoria, which has helped her in her professional career. Victoria will complete her forty-first year in another month, and likes to imagine herself as young looking as Louisa Pyne—who is four years her junior. Victoria, with the hereditary tendency to stoutness, now impersonates the British idea of being "fat, fair, and forty." Miss Pyne is a trifle thinner, a good deal fairer, and some years younger, and the Queen, recognizing the likeness, fondly believes that the actress is a fair fac simile of herself. Repeatedly, when foreign royalty visits Victoria at Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, or Osborne House, the telegraph is put in operation to command the professional attendance of Miss Pyne, and after she has sang with her usual sweetness, the cantatrice is generally required to attend Her Majesty, in order that her guests may perceive and acknowledge the likeness between the Queen of England and the Queen of Song.

Gentlemen:—For more than thirty years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and piles. I have been frequently under medical treatment, and have tried various preparations which have been recommended to me, but received no permanent relief. The following letter was received from Colonel Markham, of the British army, and shows the estimation in which the Balsam of Wild Cherry is held abroad.

Pier Hotel, Isle of Wight, England, Sept. 30, 1850.

Sir:—I have a daughter in a delicate state of health, who has, I think, received signal benefit from Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, three bottles of which were sent her by her brother in Canada. Please put me up six bottles, and forward them by the first steamer to Southampton or Liverpool, as you may find most convenient, with any account of the medicine you may be so good as to send me. ☞ Wm. Nolan, aged 20, died instantaneously in this city on Saturday night. The deceased was a native of Ireland, and had been employed for several months in the brewery of Mr. Jones, with such regularity and good health that he had not lost a single day. After the close of his day's work on Saturday, he had just finished his supper at table with other workmen, and a glass of beer had passed round, when he suddenly expired. Dr. Folsom and the Mayor were called; but no inquest was deemed necessary. Death probably ensued from disease of the heart.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—It is known to you, and to your readers generally, that a Temperance Convention was held in Raymond on the 19th inst.; and those who attended it made it an interesting occasion, and it is to be hoped made it the beginning of an important movement in the County of Rockingham, if not also in the whole State.—Among its other doings, it appointed a committee to report, at an adjourned meeting of the Convention, to be held at Raymond on Thursday next, May 3d, at 1 o'clock, P. M., the names of five gentlemen, to act as a County Committee, to aid in sustaining the law in this State for the suppression of intemperance.

It is to be hoped that the friends of temperance in different parts of the County will find it convenient to be present at Raymond next Thursday, to aid with their advice and labors in organizing a movement that will do great good at once and for all time to come. At no time, for the last quarter of a century, have the demands for active efforts, in the good cause of temperance, been more pressing than they are at the present hour.

I trust you will not only give the notice for the meeting at Raymond, a place in your columns, but daily call attention to it, until the meeting shall be held, and by all means give it your presence, and secure to it the presence of many a good and true friend of the cause from your part of the county.

We are soon to be in the midst of a hard and exciting political contest of a national character; and to keep the cause of temperance from being injured by that contest, we must be vigilant and labor incessantly, in season and out of season. Unprincipled office-seekers are generally foes of temperance, as the more their fellow men ruin themselves by intemperance, the less difficulty they find in obtaining office; and the influence of liquor is great in obtaining votes for the unprincipled.

One of the so-called learned professions engrosses, at the present day, nearly all the lucrative positions in the nation, in the States and Counties; and two thirds of the lucrative patronage of that profession comes to it, directly or indirectly, through the agency of intoxicating liquors; and few of that profession are seen at temperance conventions, or aiding the cause of temperance. They defend the wicked traffic—they receive fees for so doing; it keeps business in their profession good; and pauperism, crime, imprisonment, and a world of suffering results from their efforts, and by the violation of the law by their patrons;—but a better day is in the future, and near at hand.

FRAUDULENT NOTICES OF MARRIAGES, ETC.—The following is among the acts passed by the Legislature of Massachusetts at its late session:—

An Act concerning Fraudulent Notices of Births, Marriages and Death.

Be it enacted, &c., as follows:—

Any person who shall willfully send to the publishers of any newspaper, for the purpose of publication, a fraudulent notice of the birth of a child, or of the marriage of any parties, or of the death of any person, shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars. Approved April 4, 1860.

☞ The sum of five hundred dollars has been sent to the State Auditor of New York, by an anonymous individual, who says he received that amount over and above all expenses for work done the State, including a moderate compensation for his own services.

SCENES IN CHARLESTON.—One writer says, of the 4000 strangers in the city, probably not more than three-fifths went to bed Friday night at all. On Saturday morning at early dawn, knots of people, eagerly talking and fearfully gesticulating, could be seen in the bar-rooms or on the corners of the streets.

At one time on Saturday Mr. Paine, of Ohio, urged them to pause before they plunged the Democratic party so deep in the mire that Douglas himself could not extricate them. Robert G. Scott entreated the Convention to remember how near destruction the Democratic party was. Gen. Butler, of Massachusetts asked, in case Seward was elected, and had the power of reorganizing the Supreme Court, would the South bow to its decisions? Gen. Butler replied to interpolations from the southern members very happily, and was enthusiastically applauded. Mr. Payne, of Ohio, said to the South, "Be on your guard, lest Jefferson in his angelic state come down with the sword, destroying and sweeping you indignantly from the face of the earth."

Mr. Bigler endeavored to make a proposition, but was coughed down. The President said that if this contest and uproar continued, he would feel bound in duty to himself and the convention to leave the chair, as it was physically impossible for him to take part in such a struggle and clamor.

The President put the question—Shall the main question be now put? A vote by States was demanded amid the greatest confusion. A motion was again made to adjourn. Cries of No! No! Capt. Isaiah Rynders contended that it was a tacit agreement to adjourn, and declared that it must be done. He would not consent to taking advantage of the minority, as that would be cheating.

Here another scene of the greatest excitement ensued. A hundred voices were addressing the chair at one and the same time, all shouting at the top of their voices.

Mr. Stewart, of Michigan, said the majority will consent to adjourn if he was allowed to make a motion to reconsider, and lay the motion to adjourn on the table.—The motion was put and carried at 10 P. M. The convention adjourned until 10 A. M., Monday.
